LSA—LIST OF CFR SECTIONS AFFECTED

The LIST OF CFR SECTIONS AFFECTED is designed to lead users of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) to amendatory actions published in the Federal Register (FR). It should be shelved with current CFR volumes. Entries are by CFR title, chapter, part, and section. Proposed rules are listed at the end of appropriate titles, except for Title 41, in which proposed rules follow each chapter.

HOW TO USE THIS FINDING AID

The CFR is revised annually according to the following schedule:

Titles 1-16—as of Jan. 1
17-27—as of April 1
28-41—as of July 1
42-50—as of Oct. 1

To bring these regulations up to date, consult this LIST OF CFR SECTIONS AFFECTED for any changes, additions, or deletions published after the revision date of the volume you are using. Then check the CUMULATIVE LIST OF PARTS AFFECTED appearing at the front of the latest Federal Register for less detailed but timely changes published after the final date included in this publication.

Cite a page reference from this publication as 42 FR for 1977 page numbers. Example: Page 5678 cite as 42 FR 5678.

ISSUES TO BE SAVED

There is no single annual issue of the LIST OF CFR SECTIONS AFFECTED. Four ANNUAL ISSUES must be saved: the DECEMBER issue is the ANNUAL for Titles 1-16; the MARCH issue is the ANNUAL for Titles 17-27; the JUNE issue is the ANNUAL for Titles 28-41; the SEPTEMBER issue is the ANNUAL for Titles 42-50. ANNUAL ISSUES to be saved are clearly designated on the cover.

PARALLEL TABLE OF STATUTORY AUTHORITIES AND RULES

A table is included after Title 50 which contains references to the U.S. Code sections cited as authority for CFR regulations added or revised since July 1, 1977.

TABLE OF FEDERAL REGISTER ISSUE PAGES AND DATES

A table is included at the end of this publication which identifies the inclusive page numbers and corresponding Federal Register issue dates for the period covered.

INDEXES

An INDEX to the daily Federal Register is published monthly, quarterly, and annually for the calendar year. A separate volume, the CFR INDEX to the entire Code of Federal Regulations, is revised as of July 1 each year.

INQUIRIES AND SUGGESTIONS

This publication was prepared under the editorial direction of Robert E. Lewis assisted by Rose Steinman, with Loren Myers and Carol Blanchard as Chief Editors. INQUIRIES, telephone 202-523-5227.

SUGGESTIONS concerning this and other publications of the Office will be welcomed by Fred J. Emery, Director, Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C. 20408.

Title 3—The President

Memorandum of January 27, 1978

Determination Under Section 202(a) of the Trade Act; High Carbon Ferrochromium

Memorandum for the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, January 27, 1978.

Pursuant to Section 202(b)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-618, 88 Stat. 1978), I have determined the action I will take with respect to the report of the United States International Trade Commission (USITC) dated December 1, 1977, concerning the results of its investigation of a petition for import relief filed by the Committee of Producers of High Carbon Ferrochromium on behalf of the domestic industry producing ferrochromium, containing over 3% by weight of carbon, provided for in item 607.31 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States.

After considering all relevant aspects of the case, including those set forth in Section 202(c) of the Trade Act of 1974, I have determined that provision of import relief is not in the national economic interest of the United States.

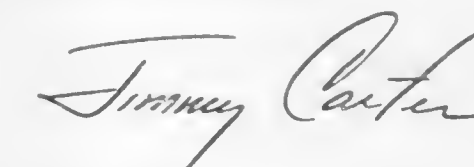

I have determined that the imposition of import relief would not be an effective means to promote adjustment in the industry since the dominant firm in the domestic industry now supplies over half of all domestic production and utilizes one of the world's largest, most technologically advanced furnaces. The other domestic producers, which now operate technologically obsolete furnaces, are unlikely to modernize their facilities.

Import relief would substantially increase costs for domestic stainless steel producers by raising prices of high carbon ferrochrome, low carbon ferrochrome, stainless steel scrap and chrome ore. Increased costs are estimated to be $27 million per year based on the USITC recommendation. In view of the quotas on stainless steel imports, such increases would be likely to be passed through to consumers of stainless steel. In a time when we are striving to control inflation, this cost is too high.

Provision of import relief is unlikely to induce substantial production or employment gains for the domestic industry producing these articles. The Department of Labor has informed me that prospect of further layoffs in the industry during 1978 are doubtful and employment prospects of those workers already laid off are considered "fair" because the stainless steel industry is expected to maintain an adequate level of demand in the coming year.

The Trade Act of 1974 requires that the President consider the effect of increased import restraints on the international economic interests of the United States. The provision of import relief to the American producers of high carbon ferrochromium would entitle Brazil, the Republic of South Africa, Yugoslavia, other major supplier countries whose exports are affected to request compensatory tariff reductions. If compensation is not provided, the affected countries could retaliate by increasing their restrictions on products which American firms export.

This determination is to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Title 7—Agriculture
CHAPTER IV—FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE CORPORATION, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Amendment No. 85]

PART 401—FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE

Support—Regulations for the 1969 and Succeeding Crop Years

CORN ENDORSEMENT

AGENCY: Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is amending its regulations by combining the elements of the programs relating to corn endorsement (grain and silage), corn-silage endorsement, and corn endorsement with production guarantees in bushels of grain and tons of silage. By this action, the Corporation's corn crop insurance program is made simpler and more effective administratively. This regulation also removes several restrictions to provide more benefits to the policyholders under the program.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 31, 1977.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Peter F. Cole, Secretary, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, 202-447-3325.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under the authority contained in the Federal Crop Insurance Act, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1501 et seq.), the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation hereby establishes a new section to Title 7, Part 401, of the Code of Federal Regulations to be known as 7 CFR § 401.154 The Corn Endorsement. This section combines three other sections dealing with the provisions of Corn Crop Insurance; 7 CFR § 401.142 The Corn Endorsement (Grain and Silage), appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 7, 1968 (33 FR 12721), § 401.143 The Corn-Silage Endorsement, appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 6, 1968 (33 FR 12670), and § 401.151 The Corn Endorsement (Grain and Silage) with production guarantees in bushels of grain and tons of silage, appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 10, 1975 (40 FR 52339). These sections are hereby deleted and reserved and all amendments thereto (Nos. 18, 19, 23, 36, 53, and 71) are superseded by this Amendment No. 85 to the Federal Crop Insurance Regulations for the 1969 and Succeeding Crop Years (7 CFR § 401.154 The Corn Endorsement). By combining the elements of the three previous regulations, the Corporation's corn crop insurance program is made simpler and more effective administratively. The provisions contained in this Amendment No. 85 remove several restrictions to provide more benefit to the policyholder. In view of this, the Corporation has found and determined that inasmuch as this Amendment No. 85 removes several restrictions to benefit the policyholder, and that reissuance of the Corn Endorsement to each policyholder, along with many other administrative details to be attended to prior to December 15, 1977, would consume more time than would be available if the procedure for notice and public participation were followed prior to the issuance of this Amendment No. 85 as a final rule, that this amendment is hereby issued without compliance with such procedure. However, in the spirit of the public policy set forth in 5 U.S.C. 553 (b) and (c), interested persons may submit written comments, views, and suggestions to the Manager, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, within 30 days from the effective date of this amendment. Material thus submitted will be evaluated and acted upon in the same manner as if this document were a proposal.

Pursuant to the authority contained in the Federal Crop Insurance Act (7 U.S.C. 1501 et seq.), as amended, the Federal Crop Insurance Regulations for the 1969 and Succeeding Crop Years, effective with the 1978 crop year, are amended by deleting and reserving § 401.142, § 401.143, and § 401.151 of Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations, and by adding a new § 401.154 to read as follows:

§ 401.154 The Corn Endorsement.

(a) Insured crop. The crop insured shall be field corn planted for harvest as grain or silage and silage-type corn only where a silage guarantee is shown on the county actuarial table (hereinafter called "actuarial table"). Insurance may attach only by written agreement with the Corporation on corn which is planted for the development or production of hybrid seed.

(b) Production guarantee. Where the insured crop is field corn, the grain guarantee per acre shown on the actuarial table shall be reduced by the lesser of 6 bushels or 20 percent for any unharvested acreage; where the insured crop is silage-type corn, the silage guarantee per acre shown on the actuarial table shall be reduced by the lesser of 1 ton or 20 percent for any unharvested acreage.

(d) Additional notice of loss requirements. (1) In addition to the requirements of section 8 of the policy, if any acreage intended for harvest as silage has been damaged to the extent that a loss is probable, the insured shall give written notice to the Corporation as follows: (i) Where the actuarial table shows only a grain guarantee, and the insured desires to harvest any acreage for silage, the insured shall give notice before the start of harvest of such acreage. (ii) Where the actuarial table shows both a grain and a silage guarantee, the insured shall give notice prior to harvest if it will not be possible to determine the harvested production, or prior to October 1 for unharvested acreage of silage-type corn or field corn intended for silage.

(2) The Corporation reserves the right to reject any claim for loss if any of the requirements of this section are not met and the Corporation determines that the amount of loss cannot be satisfactorily determined.

(e) Claims for loss. (1) Any claim for loss on an insurance unit (hereinafter called "unit") shall be submitted to the Corporation on a form prescribed by the Corporation not later than 60 days after the time of loss. The Corporation reserves the right to provide additional time if it determines that circumstances beyond the control of either party prevent compliance with this provision.

(2) It shall be a condition precedent to the payment of any loss that the insured: (i) Establish the production of the insured corn on the unit and that such loss has been directly caused by one or more of the hazards insured against during the insurance period for the crop year for which the loss is claimed, and (ii) furnish any other information regarding the manner and extent of loss as may be required by the Corporation.

(3) Losses shall be determined separately for each unit. The amount of loss with respect to any unit shall be determined by (i) multiplying the insured acreage of corn on the unit by the applicable guarantee per acre, and multiplying such result by the applicable price for computing indemnities, which product shall be the dollar amount of insurance for the unit, (ii) subtracting therefrom the dollar amount obtained by multiplying the total production to be counted for the unit by the applicable price for computing indemnities, and (iii) multiplying the result obtained in step (ii) by the insured share: Provided, That if the insured fails to report all of the insurable acreage or share for the unit, the amount of loss shall be determined with respect to all of the insurable acreage and share, and in such case, if the premium computed on the basis of the insurable acreage and share exceeds the premium computed on the acreage and share shown on the acreage report, the amount of loss shall be reduced proportionately. Where the actuarial table shows only a grain guarantee, all production and appraisals shall be determined in bushels. Where the actuarial table shows both a grain and a silage guarantee, the production and appraisals shall be determined in bushels or tons, depending upon whether the acreage is harvested for grain or silage, except that the production and appraisals of silage-type corn shall be in tons. Where a unit contains acreage to which both a grain and a silage guarantee apply, the dollar amount of insurance and dollar amount of the production to be counted shall be determined separately for each portion and then added together to determine the total amount for the unit.

(4) The total production to be counted for a unit shall be determined by the Corporation and, subject to the provisions hereinafter, shall include all harvested production and any appraisals made by the Corporation for unharvested or potential production, poor farming practices, uninsured causes of loss, or acreage abandoned or put to another use without the consent of the Corporation: Provided, That the total production to be counted on any acreage shall be as follows for the conditions described: (i) The greater of the appraised production or 50 percent of the guarantee for any acreage which, with the consent of the Corporation, is planted before harvest of corn becomes general in the current crop year to any other crop insurable on such acreage under the regulations of the Corporation (excluding small grains normally maturing for harvest in the following calendar year). (ii) Not less than the applicable guarantee for any acreage which is abandoned, put to another use without prior written consent of the Corporation, or damaged solely by an uninsured cause.

(5) If the insured intends to harvest any acreage for silage and gives notice pursuant to section 4 of this endorsement: (i) Where the actuarial table shows only a grain guarantee, the Corporation will appraise the production in bushels of grain. (ii) Where the actuarial table shows both a grain and a silage guarantee, the Corporation will appraise the production in tons of silage only if the harvested production could not be determined, and such appraisal of field corn will be used in computing the amount of loss only if such corn is actually harvested for silage. When an appraisal of production is required, the Corporation will make such appraisal before harvest starts; but, if unable to do so, the insured may harvest the acreage, provided that representative areas are left unharvested for a Corporation appraisal.

(6) The Corporation reserves the right to determine the amount of production of unharvested corn on the basis of field appraisals immediately after the end of the insurance period.

(7) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (d) of this section, in determining the production to count when the production was damaged by an insurable cause occurring within the insurance period, the total production of grain produced shall be reduced as follows: (i) 0.6 percent if the moisture is 16 percent; 1.2 percent for each full percent of moisture in excess of 16 percent up to and including 30 percent; and 2 percent for each full percent of moisture in excess of 30 percent up to and including 40 percent. (ii) If the moisture is over 40 percent, or the test weight is below 40 pounds per bushel, the percent of the production to be counted shall be that agreed upon by the Corporation and the insured or, in the absence of agreement, as determined by the Corporation: Provided, however, That for harvested production, the percent of the production to be counted shall not be less than 25 percent.

(8) Where the actuarial table shows both a grain and a silage guarantee, the Corporation has the right to increase the silage production or tonnage appraisals of corn which is harvested for silage after the normal silage-harvesting period to reflect the normal moisture content of silage.

(f) Meaning of terms. For the purpose of corn insurance, the terms:

(1) "Harvest" means removing the grain from the stalk either by hand or machine or cutting the corn for the purpose of livestock feed.

(2) "Silage" means corn harvested by severing the stalk from the land and chopping the stalk and the ear for the purpose of livestock feed.

(g) Cancellation and termination for indebtedness dates. For each year of the contract, the cancellation date is December 31, and the termination date for indebtedness is, by states, as follows: Florida, Georgia, Louisiana—March 31; California, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Virginia—April 15; Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania—April 30; all other states—April 25. These dates are those immediately preceding the beginning of the crop year for which the cancellation or termination is to become effective.

(Docket No. AO-269-A6)

PART 987—DOMESTIC DATES PRODUCED OR PACKED IN RIVERSIDE COUNTY, CALIF.

Order Amending the Order, as Amended

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This final rule amends the Federal marketing agreement and order, as amended, covering California dates, to improve procedural operations and program effectiveness. The changes are on proposals submitted by the California Date Administrative Committee, the group established under the program to administer its terms and provisions, and were considered at a public hearing last March.

EFFECTIVE DATES: All changes are effective March 15, 1978, except the amendment of § 987.72(a) which is effective October 1, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Charles R. Brader, 202-447-6393.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Prior documents in this proceeding: Notice of Hearing—Issued February 18, 1977; published February 23, 1977 (42 FR 10695). Notice of Recommended Decision—Issued September 6, 1977; published September 12, 1977 (42 FR 45680). Final Decision—Issued December 16, 1977; published December 22, 1977 (42 FR 64122).

Date growers voted to amend their order in a referendum conducted by mail ballot December 19, 1977—January 9, 1978. One of the amendatory changes revises volume regulation provisions so the order can respond to market conditions more effectively. Since the inception of the program in 1955, the export and product markets have grown in importance and a mechanism to protect these markets from excess supplies may be needed in the future.

Another revision recognizes changes which have occurred in the date industry's structure affecting representation. Membership still will include producers and handlers, but producer membership no longer will include producers who handle dates or be apportioned between cooperative date producers and date producers who do not belong to cooperatives. Producers who handle dates and date handlers who do not produce dates will be covered under the term "producer-handler". At the same time, Committee membership will be increased from eight to nine.

Other changes: (1) Permit a handler to move dates to storage for his own account in any county adjoining the area of production free from regulatory requirements; (2) lengthen committee members' terms from one year to two; (3) provide for a polling place and allow absentee ballots for nomination of Committee members; (4) authorize the committee to include a consumer consultant on its staff; (5) make other minor changes in Committee voting procedures and changes in procedures for filling vacancies; and (6) make minor changes in assessment and record-keeping provisions.

FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary, and in addition, to the previous findings and determinations which were made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto. Except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein, all of said prior findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon proposed further amendment of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 987, as amended (7 CFR Part 987), regulating the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in Riverside County, Calif.

Upon the basis of the record it is found that:

(1) The order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in Riverside County, Calif., in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of commercial and industrial activity specified in, the marketing agreement and order upon which hearings have been held;

(3) The order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, is limited in its application to the smallest regional production area which is practicable, consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act, and the issuance of several orders applicable to subdivisions of the production area would not effectively carry out the declared policy of the act;

(4) There are no differences in the production and marketing of domestic dates in the production area covered by the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, which make necessary different terms and provisions applicable to different parts of such area; and

(5) All handling of domestic dates produced or packed in the production area as defined in the marketing order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or directly burdens, obstructs or affects such commerce.

(b) Additional findings. The effective date of the amendatory change made in § 987.72(a) should be delayed beyond March 15, 1978, the effective date of the rest of the amendatory provisions. The change in § 987.72(a) would subject utility dates used in product outlets to assessments for program activities. The current 1977-78 crop year began October 1 and an assessment was fixed by the Secretary at a rate to provide adequate funds for the Committee's authorized expenses this year. No useful purpose would be served by making utility dates subject to assessments during the current crop year. They should not be assessed until next crop year. Therefore, the amendatory provisions in § 987.72(a) should not become effective until October 1, 1978, the beginning of the 1978-79 crop year.

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The "Marketing Agreement, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Domestic Dates Produced or Packed in Riverside County, California" upon which the aforesaid public hearing was held has been signed by handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping dates covered by the said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended) who, during the period October 1, 1976, through September 30, 1977, handled not less than 50 percent of the volume of such dates covered by the said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and

(2) The issuance of this amendatory order, amending the aforesaid order, as amended, is favored or approved by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of its approval and who during the period October 1, 1976, through September 30, 1977 (which has been deemed a representative period), have been engaged in the production for market of Deglet Noor, Zahidi, Halawy, and Khadrawy varieties of domestic dates produced or packed in Riverside County, Calif., such producers having also produced for market at least two-thirds of the volume of such commodity represented in the referendum.

ORDER RELATIVE TO HANDLING

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in Riverside County, Calif., shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, as follows:

1. Section 987.6 is amended to read:

§ 987.6 Crop year.

"Crop year" means the 12-month period beginning October 1 of each year and ending September 30 of the following year.

§ 987.8 [Amended]

2. Section 987.8 is amended by deleting reference to "§ 987.22" and substitute "§ 987.21".

§ 987.9 [Amended]

3. Section 987.9 is amended by deleting that part of the provision starting with "the counties of San Bernardino" through "as handling" and substitute "or counties adjoining the area of production, shall not be considered handling. The Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish monitoring procedures for storage of dates in Orange, San Diego, and Yuma Counties."

4. Section 987.11 is amended to read:

§ 987.11 Trade demand.

"Trade demand" means those quantities of marketable dates which the Committee finds are required to satisfy the need for dates in specific outlets in which marketable dates are handled.

5. Section 987.12 is revised to read:

§ 987.12 Marketable dates.

"Marketable dates" means those dates which are certified as equal to or higher than the applicable minimum grade and size requirements in effect pursuant to § 987.39, and any additional applicable requirements in effect pursuant to § 987.40. Marketable dates shall include but not be limited to the following:

(a) DAC dates. DAC dates are marketable whole or pitted dates that are inspected and certified as meeting the grade, size, container, and identification requirements established by the Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, for a specific variety for handling in the United States and Canada.

(b) Dates for further processing. Dates for further processing (FP) are marketable whole dates acquired by one handler from another handler that are certified as meeting the same grade and size requirements for DAC dates, with the exception of moisture requirements, and such identification requirements applicable to FP dates that are established by the Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, for any specific variety.

(c) Export dates. Export dates are marketable whole or pitted dates that are inspected and certified as meeting the grade, size, container, and identification requirements established by the Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, for a specific variety, to be handled in export to any country or group of countries with the exception of Canada. The Committee may establish different requirements for different countries.

(d) Product dates. Product dates are marketable dates that are inspected and certified as meeting the applicable grade and size requirements for dates to be handled in such forms as rings, chunks, pieces, butter, macerate, paste, or any other forms which the Committee deems appropriate and which will result in dates moving into consumption in a form other than that of whole or pitted dates.

6. Section 987.13 is amended to read:

§ 987.13 Free dates.

"Free dates" means dates of any variety that are at the time of certification destined for consumption in whole or pitted form in the United States and Canada (and such other countries as the Committee determines are likely to acquire them at prices reasonably comparable with prices received domestically) and which are free to be handled pursuant to any free percentage established by the Secretary in accordance with § 987.44.

§§ 987.9, 987.15, 987.47, 987.56, 987.57 and 987.64 [Amended]

7. Sections 987.9, 987.15, 987.47, 987.56, 987.57, and 987.64 are amended by substituting "utility dates" in lieu of "substandard dates."

§ 987.16 [Amended]

8. Section 987.16 as amended by deleting the words "section 798 of the Agricultural Code" and inserting in lieu thereof "Title 3, Group 4, Article 24, section 1434 of the Food and Agricultural Code."

9. Section 987.21 is revised to read:

§ 987.21 Establishment and membership.

A California Date Administrative committee consisting of nine members is hereby established to administer the terms and conditions of this part. For each member there shall be an alternate member and the provisions of this part applicable to the number, nomination, qualification and selection of members shall apply in like manner to alternate members. Three of the members, referred to in this part as "producer members", shall be producers or officers or employees of producers, and shall not be handlers, or directors, officers, or employees exercising a supervisory or managerial function of a handler. The six remaining members, referred to in this part as "producer-handlers", shall be selected from (1) handlers, or directors, officers or employees of a handler, or (2) producers who are also handlers or directors, officers, or employees exercising a supervisory or managerial function of a handler. The Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may issue rules and regulations covering matters of eligibility for producer members, or revising the composition of the Committee prescribed in this section if it no longer is representative following a substantial change in the industry.

10. Section 987.22 is deleted.

11. Section 987.23 is revised to read:

§ 987.23 Term of office.

The term of office for members and alternate members shall be 2 years beginning August 1, except such term may be shorter if the Committee composition is changed in the interim pursuant to § 987.21. Each member and alternate member shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Secretary, continue to serve until his successor has been selected and has qualified.

12. Section 987.24 is revised to read:

§ 987.24 Nomination and selection.

(a) Nomination for members and alternate members of the Committee shall be made not later than June 15 of every other year.

(b) Opportunity shall be provided producers and handlers to nominate individuals to serve on the Committee by establishing a day for polling and also for casting absentee ballots. Persons will only be able to vote in nominations for the group in which they would be qualified to serve on the Committee, and shall nominate the applicable number of individuals for the positions prescribed pursuant to § 987.21. Each producer, regardless of the number and locations of his date gardens, voting in the nominations for producer members and producer alternate members, shall be entitled to one vote for each member and alternate member position to be filled. The individual receiving the highest number of votes for a position shall be the nominee. Each person voting in the nominations for producer-handler members and producer-handler alternate members, shall be given the opportunity to vote for one member and one alternate member position. His ballot shall be weighted by the pounds of dates he had certified as marketable dates, from the beginning of the then current crop year through April which he produced in his own gardens or acquired from other producers. The individual receiving the highest weighted vote for a producer-handler position shall be the nominee. The Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may issue rules and regulations on the manner in which nominees for a position may be obtained, polling, balloting, absentee ballots, and the weighting of votes for producer-handler positions when the Committee is restructured during a term of office.

(c) In the event that nominees for all available positions are not provided by the aforesaid procedure, the then current Committee may recommend nominees for the unfilled positions.

(d) Promptly after each election, the Committee shall report to the Secretary the results thereof, including the eligibility of the nominees, and any other information requested by the Secretary. The Secretary shall select members and alternate members on the basis of representation provided in § 987.21 from nominations made pursuant to this subpart, or from other eligible persons. If nominations are not made within the time and manner prescribed herein, the Secretary may, without regard to nominations, select the members and alternate members on the basis of representation provided in § 987.21.

13. Section 987.26 is amended to read:

§ 987.26 Vacancies.

In the event of any vacancy occasioned by the failure to qualify, declination to serve, removal, resignation, disqualification, or death of any person nominated to serve on the Committee, or any member or alternate member selected by the Secretary, the Committee shall promptly submit its recommendation to the Secretary of a nominee eligible to serve in accordance with the requirements specified for the group in § 987.21. If the vacancy is for a member position, the Committee shall recommend appointment of the alternate member if that person is willing to serve in that position. If the Committee's recommendation is not submitted within 30 calendar days after such vacancy occurs, the Secretary may fill such vacancy without regard to nominations, and the selection shall be made on the basis of representation provided in § 987.21.

§ 987.27 [Amended]

14. Section 987.27 is amended by deleting from the second sentence the words "(producers or handlers as the case may be) they represent" and substitute instead "he represents".

15. Section 987.30 is amended by adding a new paragraph (h) to read:

§ 987.30 Duties.

(h) To furnish the Committee viewpoints of the consumer, the Committee may utilize a consumer consultant. The consumer consultant shall have no financial interest in the date industry and shall receive no compensation, however, such person shall be reimbursed for necessary expenses attendant to those assignments that the Committee has given prior support and approval.

16. Section 987.31 (a), (c), (d), (e) and (f) are amended to read:

§ 987.31 Procedure.

(a) A majority of the Committee shall constitute a quorum.

(b) . . .

(c) For any decision of the Committee to be valid, a concurring vote of at least five members is required, except as follows:

(1) In matters relating to restructuring Committee composition pursuant to § 987.21, concurrence by at least eight members is required;

(2) In matters relating to establishment, modification and application of free and restricted percentages pursuant to §§ 987.44 and 987.46, concurrence by at least seven members is required; and

(3) In matters relating to recommendation of any program of paid advertising or major program of market promotion pursuant to § 987.33, concurrence by at least six members is required.

(d) At all assembled meetings each vote shall be cast in person.

(e) The Committee may vote upon any proposition by mail, or telephone when confirmed in writing within 2 weeks, or telegram, upon due notice and full and identical explanation to all members, including alternates acting as members, but any such action shall not be considered valid unless unanimously approved.

(f) If the total number of members of the Committee is changed pursuant to § 987.21, the minimum voting requirements shall be in the same ratio to the revised total number of members, as nearly as practicable, as the minimum voting requirements prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section are to nine.

§ 987.33 [Amended]

17. Section 987.33 is amended by deleting the third sentence.

18. Section 987.34 is revised to read:

§ 987.34 Development.

As early as practicable, but no later than October 31, the Committee shall prepare and submit to the Secretary, a report setting forth its marketing policy, including data on which it is based, by variety, for regulation of dates in the crop year.

(a) The committee shall consider such factors as: (1) The estimated production of dates during the crop year; (2) the estimated production of DAC dates, export dates, and product dates; (3) the handler carryin on October 1 of dates of those qualities; (4) the estimated trade demand in each outlet during the crop year; and (5) the desirable carryout, by outlet.

(b) If dates to be handled as free dates are not synonymous with those to be handled in DAC outlets, the Committee shall consider such additional factors as: (1) The supply of marketable dates that will be available from the estimated production, and from the October 1 carryin, that could be used as free dates, and (2) the estimated trade demand for free dates during the current crop year, and the desirable carryout for free dates.

(c) The Committee shall submit its recommendation as to grade, size, and container regulations and its recommendation whether free and restricted percentages should be established and if so, the free and restricted percentages and the appropriate withholding factor.

19. A new § 987.38 is added to read as follows:

§ 987.38 Handlers of record.

Each crop year but no later than October 10 for continuing handlers and prior to handling dates in the case of new handlers, any person desiring to handle dates shall submit a report to the Committee on a form prescribed by it containing the following information with respect to all dates which such person expects to handle:

(a) The name and address of each producer;

(b) The location of each date garden; and

(c) The acreage and estimated current season's production thereon.

Those reports required to be filed by October 10 shall reflect producers who are signed up with the handlers as of October 1 of the then current crop year. The Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may issue rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this section.

20. The first and third sentences in § 987.39 are amended to read:

§ 987.39 The establishment of minimum standards.

In order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, all dates handled as marketable dates shall meet the requirements of U.S. Grade C, or if for further processing, U.S. Grade C (Dry) of the effective U.S. Standards for Grades of Dates, 7 CFR 52.1001: Provided, That the Secretary, may upon recommendation of the Committee, prescribe other minimum standards of grades and sizes for marketable dates of any variety to be handled in any designated outlet. . . . The provisions hereof relating to minimum standards of grades and sizes for marketable dates and inspection requirements, within the meaning of section 2(3) of the act, and any other provisions relating to the administration and enforcement thereof shall continue in effect irrespective of whether the season average price to producers for dates is or is not in excess of the parity level specified in section 2(1) of the act. . . .

21. The first and last sentences in § 987.40 are amended to read:

§ 987.40 Additional grade or size regulations.

Whenever the Committee deems it advisable to establish grade or size requirements for any variety of dates, in addition to the minimum standard provided pursuant to § 987.39, to govern dates of such variety to be handled in any designated outlet or to be withheld to meet withholding obligation, or both, it shall recommend to the Secretary requirements as to grade based on the effective United States Standards for Grades of Dates or any modification thereof, and such size requirements as it may deem appropriate. . . . On and after the effective date no handler shall handle dates of such variety in any designated outlet or withhold such dates to meet withholding obligation except in accordance with such regulations.

22. Section 987.43 is added to read:

§ 987.43 Outlets and specifications for marketable dates.

Marketable dates shall not be handled or otherwise disposed of except as provided in this subpart. This shall not preclude dates of better grades or sizes being handled or otherwise disposed of in any outlet established for dates of lesser grades or sizes. The Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may modify the designations specified in § 987.12 to reflect new major outlets and regulatory requirements needed because of changes in marketing conditions. Marketable dates shall include but not be limited to the following: DAC dates, Dates for further processing, Export dates, and Product dates.

23. Section 987.44 is amended "by revising the first sentence of paragraph (a)" to read:

§ 987.44 Free and restricted percentages.

(a) Whenever the Committee finds that the available supply of marketable dates of applicable grade and size available to supply the trade demand for free dates of any variety is likely to be excessive, and that limiting the volume of marketable dates to be handled as free dates through establishment of free and restricted percentages applicable to such variety of such dates would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, it shall recommend such percentages to the Secretary. . . .

§ 987.45 [Amended]

24. Section 987.45 is amended as follows:

In paragraph (a) delete the part of the first sentence that reads "or for further processing" and insert in lieu thereof; "as free dates (including those for further processing that are to be handled as free dates)".

In paragraph (b) after the word "handled" in the last sentence, insert "as free dates (including those for further processing that were handled as free dates)".

In paragraph (c) insert the word "free" before the word "dates" where that word appears in the first sentence, the fourth sentence and the fifth sentence.

In paragraphs (d) and (f) wherever "restricted obligation" or "restricted obligations" appear, substitute the words "withholding obligation" or "withholding obligations", as applicable.

In the first sentence of paragraph (e), delete the words "from handling".

25. Section 987.46 is amended as follows:

In the first sentence after the words "trade demand" and "available supply" insert the words, respectively, "for free dates" and "of marketable dates of applicable grade and size". In the second sentence before the word "dates" insert the word "free".

§ 987.50 [Amended]

26. Section 987.50 is amended as follows:

Insert the word "free" before the word "dates" wherever that word appears in this section.

§ 987.54 [Deleted]

27. Section 987.54 is deleted.

28. Section 987.55 is revised to read:

§ 987.55 Outlets for restricted dates.

Restricted dates may be disposed of only through exportation to such countries as the Committee may approve or by diversion in product outlets described in § 987.43 which the Committee concludes to be appropriate and which will result in dates moving into consumption in a form other than that of whole or pitted dates. To facilitate sales and promote orderly marketing of any variety of restricted dates handled in export, the Committee may participate in or negotiate for handlers, the sale of such dates to meet all or a substantial part of the needs of the particular country, and, in connection with each such sale, the Committee shall extend to all handlers an opportunity to participate therein and shall distribute the returns therefrom to participating handlers according to their respective contributions of dates. The Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe rules and regulations governing the opportunity to participate in such sales. The provisions of this section shall not preclude restricted dates being disposed of in outlets for utility and cull dates prescribed in § 987.56.

§ 987.56 [Amended]

29. Section 987.56 is amended by deleting from the first sentence the phrase "concludes are noncompetitive with the outlets for free and restricted dates", and insert in lieu thereof "with the approval of the Secretary, may specify".

30. Section 987.57 is amended by revising the title and the first sentence thereof to read:

§ 987.57 Approved manufacturers or feeders.

Diversion of dates pursuant to § 987.55 or § 987.56 shall be accomplished only by such persons (which may include handlers) as are approved manufacturers or feeders. . . .

31. Section 987.61 is revised to read:

§ 987.61 Reports of handler carryover.

Each handler shall file each year with the Committee written reports of his carryover of dates as of March 1, October 1, and at such other times as the Committee may prescribe: Provided, That during those seasons when volume regulations are established by the Secretary, the handler shall file an additional report on his January 1 carryover. Such reports shall be filed within 10 days of the date of the carryover. These reporting dates specified may be changed, upon recommendation of the Committee, together with substantiation of the need therefore, with the approval of the Secretary.

32. Section 987.64 is revised to read:

§ 987.64 Reports on disposition of restricted, other marketable, utility, and cull dates.

Each handler disposing of any dates pursuant to §§ 987.55 and 987.56 shall promptly thereafter report such disposition to the Committee in such form as the Committee may prescribe.

§ 987.68 [Amended]

33. Section 987.68 is amended by changing the third sentence to read: "All handlers shall establish and maintain complete records which accurately ly show the quantity of dates handled, disposed of, and withheld".

34. Section 987.72 is amended by changing the first sentence of paragraph (a) to read:

§ 987.72 Assessments.

(a) Requirement for payment. Each handler shall pay to the Committee upon demand, on all dates he has certified as meeting the requirements for marketable dates and utility dates utilized in product outlets including the eligible portion of any field-run dates certified and set aside or disposed of pursuant to § 987.45(f), his pro rata share of all expenses which the Secretary finds are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Committee during each crop year. Should the condition arise wherein the utility portion of dates handled in certain other outlets should not be, in the opinion of the Committee, subject to the payment of assessments on that portion, the Committee may recommend and the Secretary approve by rulemaking, such exclusion. . . .

Effective date: All changes are effective March 1, 1978, except the amendment of § 987.72(a) which becomes effective October 1, 1978.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on January 26, 1978.

Deputy Assistant Secretary.

Title 17—Commodity and Securities Exchanges

CHAPTER II—SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-1441]

PART 200—ORGANIZATION; CONDUCT AND ETHICS; AND INFORMATION AND REQUESTS

Delegation of Authority to Director of Division of Corporation Finance

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Commission is amending its rules governing the delegation of authority to the Director of its Division of Corporation Finance. The new amendment authorizes the Director to grant exemptive orders with respect to applications for exemption from the registration, reporting, proxy and insider trading provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such authority, limited to applications which appear to the Director to be routine in nature and not requiring a hearing, will reduce the processing time for these applications.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 17, 1978.
FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Barry Genkin, Division of Corporation Finance, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, 202-755-7969.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commission today announced the amendment, effective immediately, of its rules governing delegation of authority to the Director of the Division of Corporation Finance (17 CFR 200.30-1) with respect to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") (15 U.S.C. 78a et seq., as amended by Pub. L. 94-29 (June 4, 1975)).

Section 12(h) of the Exchange Act establishes a procedure whereby interested persons may file applications for exemption from the registration, reporting, proxy and insider trading provisions of that Act. Inasmuch as many applications filed under this section are routine in nature, and do not involve policy considerations or novel questions, it is not necessary for the Commission to consider each application on an individual basis. Accordingly, authority is being delegated to the Director to grant exemptive orders with respect to such applications.

17 CFR 200.30-1(d)(7) already delegates to the Director authority to issue notices of applications for exemptions under section 12(h) of the Exchange Act.

To accomplish the additional delegation of authority, the Commission hereby amends 17 CFR 200.30-1(d)(7) to read as follows:

§ 200.30-1 Delegation of authority to the Director of the Division of Corporation Finance.

(d) * * *

(7) to issue notices of applications for exemptions and to grant exemptive orders under section 12(h) of the Act (15 U.S.C. 78(h)).

The Commission finds that the foregoing action relates solely to agency management and personnel and, accordingly, that notice and prior publication for comment under the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553) are not necessary. This action, taken pursuant to Pub. L. 87-592, 76 Stat. 394 (15 U.S.C. 78d-2), becomes effective immediately.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

Title 19—Customs Duties

CHAPTER I—UNITED STATES CUSTOMS SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

[T.D. 78-38]

PART 162—INSPECTION, SEARCH, AND SEIZURE

PART 171—FINES, PENALTIES, AND FORFEITURES

Specified Information

AGENCY: United States Customs Service, Department of the Treasury.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule amends the Customs Regulations to provide that certain specified information shall be set forth in notices of fine, penalty, or forfeiture incurred and in prepenalty notices which are issued by the Customs Service. Notices occasionally have been unclear because of a lack of specific information as to the alleged violations on which liability is based. The purpose of this amendment is to enable the notified parties to make an informed response to the notices.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 3, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Richard M. Belanger, Attorney, Regulations and Legal Publications Division, United States Customs Service, 1301 Constitution Avenue Washington, D.C. 20229, 202-566-8237.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

BACKGROUND

Section 162.31(a) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 162.31(a)) provides that written notice of any fine or penalty incurred, as well as of any liability to forfeiture, shall be given to each party that the facts of record indicate has an interest in the claim or seized property. The notice shall also inform each interested party of his right to apply for relief under section 618, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1618), or any other applicable statute authorizing remission or mitigation of penalties, or remission of forfeitures, in accordance with Part 171 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR Part 171). One purpose of the notice of fine, penalty, or forfeiture is to give interested parties the opportunity to petition for relief.

Section 171.1(b) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 171.1(b)) provides that prior to the issuance of a claim for forfeiture value in excess of $25,000 for violation of section 592, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1592), with respect to the entry, or attempted entry, of merchandise, the district director shall give a written notice to the specified party of his intention to issue such a claim. The notice shall contain a description of the merchandise and shall set forth the circumstances of entry or attempted entry, specifying the provisions of law alleged to have been violated and describing the acts or omissions on which the liability is based. The purpose of the prepenalty notice procedure is to give parties against whom Customs intends to issue a claim for forfeiture value for violation of 19 U.S.C. 1592 an opportunity to respond to the allegations prior to the issuance of the claim.

In order that parties might properly present their reasons why a claim for forfeiture value should not be issued for an alleged violation of 19 U.S.C. 1592, or why relief should be granted from any fine, penalty, or forfeiture incurred, it is desirable to specify the contents of the prepenalty notice and of the notice of fine, penalty, or forfeiture. Accordingly, both notices will contain the provisions of law alleged to have been violated and a description of the specific acts or omissions forming the basis of the alleged violations. If the alleged violations involve the entry or attempted entry of merchandise, both notices will also contain a description of the merchandise, the circumstances of entry or attempted entry, and the identity of each entry. In addition, if the alleged violations involve a loss of revenue, both notices will contain the total loss of revenue and how it was computed. The notices will also contain the loss of revenue attributable to each entry, if it is readily susceptible to calculation.

Inasmuch as these amendments benefit the public by providing specific information necessary to enable a party to respond to actions taken by the Customs Service, notice and public procedure thereon is found to be unnecessary.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal author of this document was Richard M. Belanger, Attorney, Regulations and Legal Publications Division of the Office of Regulations and Rulings, U.S. Customs Service. However, personnel from other offices of the Customs Service participated in developing the document, both on matters of substance and style.

AMENDMENTS TO THE REGULATIONS

Parts 162 and 171 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR Parts 162, 171) are amended in the following manner: Section 162.31 is amended by redesignating present paragraph (b) as paragraph (c), and by adding a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 162.31 Notice of fine, penalty, or forfeiture incurred.

(b) Contents of notice. The notice shall contain the following:

- (1) The provisions of law alleged to have been violated;
- (2) A description of the specific acts or omissions forming the basis of the alleged violations;
- (3) If the alleged violations involve the entry or attempted entry of merchandise,
 - (i) A description of the merchandise and the circumstances of its entry or attempted entry; and
 - (ii) The identity of each entry, if specific entries are involved; and
- (4) If the alleged violations involve a loss of revenue,
 - (i) The total loss of revenue and how it was computed; and
 - (ii) The loss of revenue attributable to each entry, if readily susceptible to calculation.

The second sentence of paragraph (b)(1) of § 171.1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 171.1 Special procedures for certain liabilities incurred under section 592, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.

(b) Prepenalty notice procedure.—(1) Issuance of prepenalty notice. * * * The notice shall set forth the information required by section 162.31(b) of this chapter. * * *

Title 24—Housing and Urban Development

CHAPTER XIII—FEDERAL DISASTER ASSISTANCE ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

[Docket No. R-78-501]

PART 2205—FEDERAL DISASTER ASSISTANCE

Individual and Family Grant Program

AGENCY: Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

ACTION: Interim rule.

SUMMARY: This rule revises the eligibility criteria for the Individual and Family Grant Program to conform to the August 25, 1977 agreement between Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and the Small Business Administration (SBA) which permits either FmHA or SBA to make housing or personal property loans in a major disaster when farmers have suffered production and farm losses as well as housing and personal property losses.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 1, 1978.
COMMENTS DUE: March 3, 1978.

ADDRESS: Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the General Counsel, Room 5218, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

C. T. Babcock, Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, Room B-133, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410, 202-634-7860.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule updates and revises that currently published at 24 CFR 2205.48 (c)(1)(i)(A) and (c)(1)(ii). Pub. L. 94-305 amended the Small Business Act, and authorized SBA to assist small businesses engaged in farming and related activities under all of its programs including its physical and economic injury loan programs. On August 25, 1977 FmHA and SBA entered into a memorandum of understanding pertaining to disaster type loan assistance. This memorandum is aimed at improving and expanding, to the extent possible, the delivery of financial assistance to the agricultural segment of the country. One of the areas addressed is that of the farmer who has suffered housing and personal property losses. In this instance, it was agreed that when a farmer, rancher, or person engaged in aquaculture has suffered production and farm losses, as well as housing and personal property losses, either FmHA or SBA may make loans for those losses. This change necessitates a change in the eligibility criteria for the Individual and Family Grant Program to recognize that farmers, ranchers, and aquaculturists may now apply to SBA for loan assistance as well as to FmHA. The eligibility criteria specifies that a grant applicant must apply to available governmental disaster assistance programs before his eligibility for a grant is determined. Since both the FmHA and the SBA loan programs are considered governmental disaster assistance programs, under the current regulation, a farmer, rancher, or aquaculturist would have to apply to both programs before their eligibility for grant assistance could be determined.

Since the FmHA and SBA loan programs provide similar assistance, and since the eligibility criteria are also similar, FDAA has determined that a denial of loan assistance from either program (with one exception noted in § 2205.48(c)(1)(ii)) provides sufficient basis on which to determine eligibility for the Individual and Family Grant Program. This decision requires two changes to § 2205.48(c). First, at the end of subparagraph (c)(1)(i)(A) the following language is added: "(except as provided for in subparagraph (c)(1)(ii) below)". Second, subparagraph (c)(1)(ii) is revised to read as follows:

(ii) Farmers, ranchers and persons engaged in aquaculture must apply to either the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) or the Small Business Administration (SBA) for loan assistance, and obtain a denial of such assistance from either FmHA or SBA before they may be considered eligible for a grant under this section. If applicants for FmHA loan assistance are unable to obtain such assistance because in FmHA's determination, they are able to obtain necessary credit from other sources, they will be considered ineligible for grant assistance for those items or services for which assistance may be provided by the FmHA's Emergency Loan program.

In order to insure that farmers, ranchers and aquaculturists receive maximum benefits as provided by the Disaster Relief Act of 1974, and more specifically Section 408, Individual and Family Grant Programs, at the earliest practicable date, FDAA has determined that it is in the public interest to publish these changes as interim regulations effective February 1, 1978. However, interested parties and government agencies are encouraged to submit written comments, suggestions data or arguments regarding this rule-making to the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the General Counsel, Room 5218, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410. All submissions received on or before March 3, 1978, will be evaluated and acted upon in the same manner as if this document were a proposal. All comments shall be available for inspection at the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk.

With the concurrence of the appropriate Departmental officials, the Administrator has issued a Finding of Inapplicability of Environmental Impact concerning this rule, in accordance with Section 102 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the procedures in HUD Handbook 1390.1 (38 FR 19182). It is the position of the signatories to this finding that this rule in itself has no significant impact on the human environment. Copies of this finding may be inspected or obtained at the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the General Counsel, Room 5218, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410.

Accordingly, § 2205.48(c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 2205.18 Individual and family grants.

(c) National eligibility criteria. In administering the Individual and Family Grant Program, a State shall determine the eligibility of an individual or family for a grant to meet a necessary expense or serious need in accordance with the following criteria.

(1) General. (i) In order to qualify for a grant under this section, an individual or family representative must certify:

(A) That application has been made to other available governmental disaster assistance programs for assistance to meet a necessary expense or serious need and that neither he nor any member of his family has been determined to be qualified for such assistance or, for demonstrated reasons, any assistance received has not satisfied any such necessary expense or serious need (except as provided for in paragraph (c)(1)(ii) of this section).

(B) That with respect to the specific necessary expense or serious need or portion thereof for which application is made, neither he, nor to the best of his knowledge, any member of his family, has previously received or refused assistance from other means.

(C) That should the individual or family receive a grant and assistance from other means later becomes available to meet the necessary expense or serious need, the individual or family shall refund to the State that part of the grant for which assistance from other means has been received.

(ii) Farmers, ranchers, and persons engaged in aquaculture must apply to either the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) or the Small Business Administration (SBA) for loan assistance, and obtain a denial of such assistance from either FmHA or SBA before they may be considered eligible for a grant under this section. If applicants for FmHA loan assistance are unable to obtain such assistance because, in FmHA's determination, they are able to obtain necessary credit from other sources, they will be considered ineligible for grant assistance for those items or services for which assistance may be provided by the FmHA's Emergency Loan Program.

(iii) Individuals or families who incurred a necessary expense or serious need in the major disaster area may be eligible for assistance under this section without regard to their residency in the major disaster area or within the State in which the major disaster had been declared.

(Sec 408, Pub. L. 93-288, 88 Stat. 156 (42 U.S.C. 5178); E.O. 11795 as amended by E.O. 11910, 39 FR 25939; Delegation of Authority, 29 FR 28227.)

SUBCHAPTER W—MISCELLANEOUS ACTIVITIES

PART 256—OFF-RESERVATION TREATY FISHING AMENDMENT

Identification Cards

JANUARY 20, 1978.

AGENCY: Bureau of Indian Affairs,
Department of the Interior.

ACTION: Amendment of § 256.3 and waiver of 30-day effective date.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this amendment is to extend the deadline for issuing temporary identification cards to tribal members to be used in connection with treaty fishing rights. This extension is necessary to allow eligible tribal members to receive needed identification cards.

EFFECTIVE DATE: These regulations shall become effective February 1, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Ulyses S. St. Arnold, Hunting and Fishing Rights Specialist, Office of Trust Responsibilities, Bureau of Indian Affairs, U.S. Department of the Interior, 1951 Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20245, 202-343-8018.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The primary author of this document is: Ulyses S. St. Arnold, Hunting and Fishing Rights Specialist, Office of Trust Responsibilities, Bureau of Indian Affairs, U.S. Department of the Interior, 1951 Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20245, 202-343-8018.

Beginning on p. 24183 of June 5, 1975, FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 24183), there was published a notice of final rulemaking. Since this revision extends a deadline for issuing temporary identification cards to tribal members to be used in connection with treaty fishing rights, advance notice and public procedure thereon would delay extension of the deadline for issuing the identification cards and is deemed contrary to the public interest. Therefore, advance notice and public procedure are dispensed with under the exception provided in 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(3)(A)(i)(II).

Since this revision extends the deadline to allow tribal members to receive needed identification cards, the 30-day deferred effective date is dispensed with under the exception provided in 5 U.S.C. (d)(1)(1970).

Section 256.3 of Subchapter W, Chapter I, Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 256.3 Identification cards.

(b) No such card shall be issued to any Indian who is not on the official membership roll of the tribe which has been approved by the Secretary of the Interior. Provided, That until December 31, 1980, a temporary card may be issued to any member of a tribe not having an approved current membership roll who submits evidence of his entitlement thereto satisfactory to the issuing officer and, in the case of a tribally issued card, to the countersigning officer. Any Indian claiming to have been wrongfully denied a card may appeal the decision in accordance with Part 2 of this chapter.

NOTE.—The Bureau of Indian Affairs has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an inflation impact statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

SUBCHAPTER C—AIR PROGRAMS

PART 52—APPROVAL AND PROMULGATION OF IMPLEMENTATION PLANS

Ohio

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action approves a revision to the Ohio State Implementation Plan (SIP) submitted by the Governor of Ohio on October 17, 1975, and supplemented on November 17, 1976 and June 1, 1977. The revision exempts two units at Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.'s Pickaway Generating Station (CSOE) from Ohio SIP regulations which control particulate matter emissions. Approval is conditioned on the nonsimultaneous operation of these units and their scheduled retirement on or before October 1, 1980. The supporting documentation demonstrates that this SIP revision will not interfere with attainment and maintenance of National Ambient Air Quality Standards for particulate matter.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. BACKGROUND

On October 17, 1975, the Governor of the State of Ohio submitted to the Regional Administrator, Region V, a Consent and Abatement Order for CSOE as a proposed revision to the SIP. The Order, which was signed by the Director of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency and CSOE on April 4, 1975, involves the applicable compliance schedules for several CSOE units and an exemption for two units at Pickaway Generating Station.

The need to consider revision of the SIP to include the Order's terms for most of CSOE's units was mooted by the Regional Administrator's approval on September 23, 1976 of an extension of the attainment date for primary and secondary National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) for suspended particulate matter to April 15, 1977 (41 FR 41691). Only Pickaway units 3 and 4 (boilers 7 and 8) remain the subject of the SIP revision request.

For units 3 and 4 (boilers 7 and 8) at Pickaway Generating Station, the Consent Order reads as follows: "No control strategy required, provided use of both boilers is discontinued as soon as possible, consistent with load demand but no later than October 1, 1980." This provision of the Consent Order exempts units 3 and 4 (boilers 7 and 8) from compliance with Ohio regulation AP-3-11 (emissions of particulate matter from fuel-burning equipment) and AP-3-07 (visible air contaminants).

In support of the revision request, the Governor submitted on November 17, 1976, an air quality dispersion modeling analysis employing the MAX24 model and air quality monitoring data for 1974 and part of 1975. Upon review of the support materials, Region V determined that the exemption of the two Pickaway units, so long as the units are not operated simultaneously, will not interfere with the attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS for particulate matter.

In response to Region V's concern that an adequate public hearing in accordance with 40 CFR 51.4 had not been conducted, the State noticed and held a public hearing on the Consent and Abatement Order on March 16, 1977, and submitted the required certification on June 1, 1977.

The revision was proposed as rule-making and comment solicited on September 21, 1977 (42 FR 47564). The Regional Administrator stated in the proposal that any approval would be conditioned upon the nonsimultaneous operation of the units. In response, CSOE submitted a comment that a nonsimultaneous mode of operation was its understanding of the terms of the Order. In order to avoid any ambiguity in the terms of the Order, the revision specifies the intended condition.

Further, on December 15, 1977, Region V requested the opinion of the Ohio Attorney General's Office regarding the legally and enforceability of the Consent Order in light of several decisions of the Ohio Environmental Board of Review (EBR). The Ohio Attorney General's Office, by letter dated December 20, 1977, has determined that the Consent Order involved herein was legally adopted as a matter of State law and is, therefore, enforceable as required by 40 CFR 51.22.

II. PUBLIC COMMENTS

In response to the proposed revision, two comments were received. Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric, as noted above, clarified its understanding of the terms of the Consent Order and the Ohio Environmental Council (OEC), through its counsel, commented that the Administrator should disapprove the revision. The OEC supplemented its comment on December 23, 1977. The OEC stated the following reasons for disapproval: The station is too close to a non-attainment area for particulates; the public hearing was inadequate; the Consent Order does not meet the requirements of section 113(d) of the Clean Air Act; and the Order was not authorized under State law. As is set forth below, the OEC's comments would not justify disapproval of the revision and accordingly, the revision has been approved under section 110(a)(3) of the Clean Air Act and 40 CFR Part 51.

A. NEAR NONATTAINMENT AREA

OEC states that Franklin County (Columbus, Ohio), which is contiguous to Pickaway County (where the Pickaway Generating Station is located) is a nonattainment area for particulates and that this should preclude exempting the CSOE sources from particulate controls. As demonstrated by the dispersion modeling analysis, the emissions from Pickaway Units 3 and 4 (boilers 7 and 8) will not interfere with the attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS for particulates in the area around the station or in the Columbus, Ohio nonattainment area.

B. ADEQUACY OF PUBLIC HEARING

OEC states that the public hearing held on March 16, 1977 was "pro forma" since the Order which is the subject of the revision had already been signed and, therefore, the hearing does not meet the requirements of the Clean Air Act, as amended. Section 110(a)(3) requires that any revision approved by the Administrator must be adopted by the State after reasonable notice and public hearings. That requirement, as interpreted by the Agency in regulations, has been met here; moreover, the OEC had an opportunity under State law to participate in the proceedings which led to the issuance of the Order and, in fact, counsel for OEC did participate.

EPA regulations provide that one or more public hearings must be held on any discretionary revision pursuant to § 51.6(d) of Title 40, Code of Federal Regulations, prior to submission to the Administrator, as opposed to mandatory revisions pursuant to § 51.6(a), which must have public hearings prior to adoption by the State. See 40 CFR 51.4(a). The Consent and Abatement Order submitted by the State in this case is a § 51.6(d) revision. Therefore, the public hearing held March 16, 1977, prior to the final submittal to the Administrator on June 1, 1977, meets the requirements of section 110(a)(3) and 40 CFR 51.4.

The hearing required by section 110(a)(3) as outlined in 40 CFR 51.4(b) must include: reasonable notice of at least 30 days in prominent advertisement in the Region, announcing the date, time, and place of the hearing; availability of the revision for public inspection in at least one location in the Region where the affected source is located; notification to the Administrator and to affected local air pollution agencies. The State must make and retain a record of the hearing and must submit with the revision a certification that the hearing required by § 51.4(a) has been held in accordance with the notice requirements of § 51.4(b). All of these requirements have been met, as documented by the June 1, 1977 submission. The hearing meets all the requirements of 40 CFR 51.4.

In addition to the reasonable notice and public hearing provided by the March 16, 1977 hearing, the public and, in particular, counsel for the OEC, have participated in the decision-making which resulted in the Consent and Abatement Order. The CSOE Order was issued following lengthy adjudication proceedings in which several utilities and citizens, including Northern Ohio Lung Association (NOLA), contested variances and operating permits issued by the Director of Environmental Protection in May of 1973. Moreover, counsel for OEC, who represented NOLA in these proceedings, also appealed the Findings and Orders of the Director to the Environmental Board of Review on January 13, 1975.¹

C. APPLICABILITY OF SECTION 113(D)

OEC's contention that the revision (State Consent Order) must meet the requirements of section 113(d) of the Clean Air Act, 42 U.S.C. 7413, is misplaced. Section 113(d), which was added by section 112 of the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1977, Pub. L. No. 95-95, 91 Stat. 705, is designed to authorize the issuance of delayed compliance orders to sources that are not in compliance and cannot come into compliance by the SIP attainment date. The section is not intended to authorize orders which will change the emission limitation of the sources or, as here, exempt the source from compliance with emission limitations. Such actions must be taken through SIP revisions under section 110(a)(3) of the act.

The State has the authority under section 110(a)(3) of the act to revise the SIP at any time, as long as the revision will not interfere with the attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS. As the Supreme Court stated in Train v. NRDC, 421 U.S. 60 (1975), the State may change the mix of emission limitations in any fashion it wants, as long as the NAAQS are met.

The 1977 Amendments to the Clean Air Act have not altered the State's authority to revise the SIP under section 110(a)(3). The support documentation supplied by the State in this case demonstrates that the exemption of the two Pickaway units will not interfere with attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS. The revision is, therefore, properly within the authority of the State under section 110(a)(3).

D. THE LEGALITY OF THE SIP REVISION REQUEST UNDER STATE LAW

OEC also commented that the terms of the Consent Order are not authorized.

¹The Ohio Revised Code and Ohio EPA rules and regulations provide that anyone aggrieved or adversely affected by the issuance of a variance may object and become a party in the subsequent adjudication hearing. See ORC § 3745.07. In addition, any person may intervene in an adjudication hearing (OEPA Rule OAC 3745-47-15), or may informally present views during the course of the hearing under Rule OAC 3745-47-21. Appeal from the order of the Director may be taken to the Environmental Board of Review (ORC § 3745.04). Orders of the EBR are appealable to the Court of Appeals of Franklin County. See ORC § 3745.081 Notice of the Director's actions is required by ORC § 3745.07.

rized under either the Clean Air Act or Ohio State law. However, as is explained above, the OEC comment is misplaced, since it is based on a misunderstanding of the effect of the Order and the SIP revision.

OEC argued that the State does not have the authority under Ohio law to issue an Order that extends the compliance date for a noncomplying source beyond the attainment date of the plan, citing Cleveland Electric Illuminating and Northern Ohio Lung Association v. Williams, Case Nos. 76AP-929 and 934 (Franklin County Court of Appeals, December 8, 1977). The terms of the Consent Order for the sources subject to the Order and this SIP revision do not delay the compliance date for the sources beyond the attainment date as OEC contends. Rather, the Order and the SIP revision exempt the sources from any emission limitations based on the finding that such an exemption will not affect the attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS. The State has that authority under section 110(a)(3) and the court decision cited by the OEC recognizes the State's authority to revise the SIP in such a situation.

In addition, the OEC commented that under State law, Consent Orders cannot be issued and that, therefore, issuance of the Order is not a proper basis for a SIP revision under section 110(a)(3). The December 23, 1977 letter from the Ohio Attorney General's Office discussed each of the administrative decisions which might be interpreted as supporting OEC's position and concluded that State law did not preclude the Agency from considering the Consent Order as a proper request for a SIP revision. The Agency has reviewed both the opinion from the Attorney General's Office and the legal arguments presented by the OEC and has concluded that a sufficient basis for rejecting the opinion of the Attorney General's Office has not been presented. Moreover, the Agency has concluded that there is no basis, as the OEC argues, for rejecting the opinion from the Attorney General's Office because the Attorney General's Office represents the Director of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

III. REQUEST FOR A STAY

The OEC requested that if the Administrator approves this revision, he stay the regulation pending determination of a petition for review. Since the OEC presumably has not determined if it will file a petition to review this approval under section 307 of the Clean Air Act, a stay of the regulation would be inappropriate. OEC may request a stay after a petition is filed, if one is filed; however, based on the comments presented by OEC, a stay would appear to be inappropriate.

OEC has had at least two opportunities to voice its objections to the revision and its comments would not justify staying the relaxation of the Ohio regulations. Therefore, OEC's request for an administrative stay is denied.

IV. THE EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 553(d) of the Administrative Procedure Act requires that a rule will not be effective for thirty days following publication. However, a rule which grants or recognizes an exemption or relieves a restriction is specifically exempted from compliance with the 30-day rule. See 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(1). The revision in this case "relieves a restriction" and is, therefore, effective upon publication (February 1, 1978).

V. APPROVAL OF THE SIP REVISION

After review of all public comments and the supporting material to the revision, the Administrator has determined that the revision meets the requirements of section 110(a)(3) of the Clean Air Act and EPA regulations contained in 40 CFR 51.6. The revision is legally enforceable, will not interfere with attainment or maintenance of the NAAQS and has been subjected to reasonable notice and public hearing; accordingly, the revision is approved.

Part 51 of Chapter I, Title 40, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as follows:

Subpart kk—Ohio

1. Section 52.1870 is amended by adding new paragraph (c)(13) as follows:

§ 52.1870 Identification of plan.

(c) The revisions listed below were submitted on the dates specified.

(13) Consent and Abatement Order regarding Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company's Pickaway Units 3 and 4, submitted by Governor on October 17, 1975, supplemented on November 17, 1976 and June 1, 1977.

2. Section 52.1880 is amended by adding new paragraph (b) as follows:

§ 52.1880 Control strategies: particulate matter.

(b) In Pickaway County, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, or any subsequent owner or operator of the Pickaway Generating Station, shall not operate simultaneously Units 3 and 4 (boilers 7 and 8) at any time. These units will terminate operation no later than October 1, 1980.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: January 17, 1978.

Released: January 27, 1978.

In the matter of amendments of Parts 2, 81, 83, and 91—to provide frequencies, standards and procedures for on-board communications in the Industrial and Maritime Mobile Services; memorandum opinion and order.

1. The Commission released its First Report and Order (FCC 73-884) in the instant proceeding on September 6, 1973, which was published in the FE-DERAL REGISTER on September 12, 1973
(38 FR 25177).

2. Petitions for reconsideration were filed, on October 10, 1973, by the Central Committee on Communication Facilities of the American Petroleum Institute (API) and, on October 12, 1973, by the American Institute of Merchant Shipping (AIMS). With regard to the rule changes as set forth in the Appendix to the First Report and Order, API requested amendment of the supplemental eligibility requirements (section 83.813(a)(3)), and, in Part 91, the distance separating the transmitter control point (a hand carried mobile unit) and the radiating portion of the antenna (section 91.554(b)(50)). AIMS, in their petition, requested expansion of the permitted uses of on-board communications (section 83.815).

3. With regard to section 83.813(a)(3), API points out that as presently worded this subparagraph does not accommodate those practical situations where both the parent and subsidiary corporations are barred from holding their own authorization.
Further, API points out that the Commission has consistently provided in the rules special provisions permitting any qualified "member" of a corporate "family" to obtain a station authorization allowing it to provide the actual user entity with a nonprofit radio communication service. We concur that section 83.813(a)(3) can be interpreted in the manner described by API, however, such was not our intent.
On the other hand, the amendment proposed by API would fulfill our intent, and, at the same time, provide the clarification requested by API. We are, therefore, amending section 83.813(a)(3), as set forth in the attached Appendix, to include the added provision suggested by API.

4. With regard to section 83.815,
AIMS requests amendment to clarify or to include in the rules provision permitting the use of on-board communications while engaged in the maneuvering of cargo barges (lighters) in the vicinity of an anchored ship. While the Final Report of RTCM Special Committee 62¹ did not provide for this usage, neither did it recommend that it not be permitted. It is our view that this is a valid and proper use of on-board communications and are, therefore, adding a new subparagraph (4) to section 83.815(a) to permit its use, as set forth in the attached Appendix.

5. AIMS also recommends amendment of Section 83.815 to permit the use of on-board communications for bunkering, or while vessels are secured together, and requests that we reconsider the provisions of that section.
special Committee 62¹ strongly opposed the use of on-board facilities for communication between shore based personnel for the loading and unloading of cargo from vessels moored to a dock. It was the view of SC 62 that such communications were primarily a land based service, rather than a maritime mobile service. On the basis that bunkering of vessels usually occurs while the vessel is moored to a dock, we believe it is appropriate to categorize the requested usage as primarily shore-based. As a primarily shore

¹The Radio Technical Commission for Marine Services, an Industry/Government advisory group, established SC 62 to consider "On-Board Communications". SC 62's work extended over a period of 3 years. Its final report is dated January 18, 1973.

based operation, it is not properly a part of the maritime mobile service and, therefore, should be excluded.
Further, it was the view of SC 62 that communications of a vessel to vessel (intership) nature should not be on on-board channels, but should be handled on VHF channels allocated to the maritime mobile service and currently available under Part 83 of the FCC Rules. Accordingly, we are not persuaded that communications for bunkering or while vessels are secured together should be permitted on the onboard channels and they are, therefore, denied.

6. We turn now to API's petition that we reconsider the wording of section 91.554(b)(50)² as it pertains to the distance separating (a) the transmitter control point (hand carried mobile unit in this case) from (b) the radiating portion of the antenna. API expresses the view that limiting the separation between these two points to 10 feet is totally impractical and suggests that the last sentence of section 91.554(b)(50) be modified to apply the 10 feet to antenna height above the highest working deck. We concur and have, therefore, amended the concerned sentence of section 91.554(b)(50) to reflect that change, as set forth below.

7. In view of the foregoing, it is ordered, That pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i) and 303 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), and (r) of the communications Act of 1934, as amended, Parts 83 and 91 of the commission's rules, are amended, effective March 6, 1978, as set forth below.

8. It is further ordered, That the Petitions for Reconsideration submitted by the Central committee on Communication Facilities of the American Petroleum Institute and the American Institute of Merchant Shipping are granted to the extent set forth herein and are denied in all other respects.

COMMISSION,

Parts 83 and 91 of Chapter I of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations are amended as follows:

1. In § 83.813, paragraph (a)(3) is amended to read as follows:

ments.

(a) * * *

(3) A corporation proposing to furnish a nonprofit radio communications service to its parent corporation, to another subsidiary of the same parent,

²API refers, correctly, to subparagraph (49) of section 91.554(b), since that is the designation set forth in the First Report and Order. However, this designation was later corrected, as now set forth in Part 91, to subparagraph (50).

or to its own subsidiary where the party to be served is the owner or operator of the vessel aboard which the on-board station is to be installed and operated.

2. In § 83.815, a new paragraph (a)(4) is added to read as follows:

§ 83.815 Points of communication.

(a) * * *

(4) In the immediate vicinity of the same vessel for operational communications while engaged in the maneuvering of vessel cargo barges and lighters.

3. In § 91.554, paragraph (b)(50) is amended to read as follows:

§ 91.554 Frequencies available.

(b) * * *

(50) Frequencies subject to this assignment limitation are herein considered collectively for use for communications concerned with cargo handling from a dock, or cargo handling facility, to a vessel alongside. Any number of the frequencies may be authorized to one licensee for the purpose. Mobile relay stations may be temporarily installed at or in the vicinity of a dock or cargo handling facility and used when a vessel is alongside the dock or cargo handling facility.

Mobile relay (MHz): 457.525, 457.550, 457.575, and 457.600.
Mobile (MHz): 467.750, 467.775, 467.800, and 467.825.

For single frequency simplex: 457.525, 457.550, 457.575, and 457.600 MHz.
The effective radiated power (ERP) on any frequency shall not exceed 2 watts. The center of the radiating system of the on-board repeater antenna shall be located no more than

PART 1125—STANDARDS FOR DETERMINING RAIL SERVICE CONTINUATION SUBSIDIES IN THE NORTHEAST-MIDWEST REGION OF THE

Interpretations of Standards

ACTION: Publication of interpretations.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to § 1125.1(e) of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations, the Rail Services Planning Office is publishing three interpretations of its Regional Freight Standards as amended through May 10, 1977. Each interpretation gives the date it was issued.

tion Branch, Rail Services Planning

sion, 1900 L Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20036, area code 202-254-7552.

INTERPRETATION No. 1 ISSUED

MARCH 3, 1977.

On February 14, 1977, the Commonwealth of Virginia requested the Rail Services Planning Office (the Office) to issue an interpretation of § 1125.1(d) of the Standards, as amended on December 16, 1976 (41 FR 55686). The request states:

It is our interpretation and understanding that this Section provides that the subsidizer must be notified within the first ten (10) months of the contract year that the actual costs will exceed the estimated costs by more than fifteen (15) percent before any adjustment is allowed on the first year's payments. If the subsidizer is notified of such excessive costs after the first ten months of the contract year, the excess is allowed only as an adjustment to the second year's payments.

An examination of the history of § 1125.1(d) makes it clear that the Virginia interpretation is correct. The original provision, which was promulgated January 8, 1975 (40 FR 1624), read in pertinent part as follows:

The final payment will be adjusted based on data related to the subsidy period. Where an adjustment results in an increase in the estimated subsidy payment, the amount of such increase in excess of 15 percent of the estimated payment shall be treated as a carryover avoidable cost in the subsequent subsidy year.

This provision established a ceiling to the subsidy payment for a given year; the adjustment could not exceed 15 percent of the estimated payment. However, after reviewing petitions for reconsideration, the Office changed its approach concluding that "the necessity for a fixed ceiling is not as important as the Office originally believed it to be." (40 FR 14187). Consequently, the Office amended the subsection by adding the following language to the last sentence: "unless the railroad notifies the subsidizer that the estimate will be exceeded by more than 15 percent in one of the first three quarterly Financial Status Reports, required (by § 1125.9(f)), or the increase results from an expense preapproved by the subsidizer." The Standards required that quarterly reports be filed within 30 days after the end of each quarter of the subsidy year. Thus, the third quarterly report would be submitted at the end of the first ten months of the subsidy period.

In the discussion which was published with the amendment, the Office stated:

This modification will assure that the subsidizer is kept informed of the financial status of the line and will provide timely information either to secure the additional funds or to minimize the losses. It will also provide a means to cover expenses that were not anticipated but which both parties agree are necessary to the continued operation of the line. (40 FR 14187).

On December 16, 1976, the Office issued a number of amendments to the standards. In what it classified as a "technical amendment", the Office changed the requirement that the notification in § 1125.1(d) be contained in "one of the first three quarterly Financial Status Reports" and reworded the provision to read that the notification must be "based on the data contained in one of the Financial Status Reports issued during the first ten months of the subsidy year." (41 FR 55690). The change was made because, by contract, the Consolidated Rail Corporation (ConRail) has agreed to issue monthly reports in lieu of quarterly reports. Although the amended standard does not specify that the notification must be contained in one of the monthly reports submitted in the first ten months, the clear intent is that the notification must be made within that period, either in one of the reports itself or separately.

MARCH 11, 1977.

On January 16, 1977, the Hillsdale county Railway Company, Inc. (Hillsdale) requested the Rail Services Planning Office (the Office) to clarify several sections of the Standards. The following interpretations are issued in response to that request. The issues are addressed in the order in which they were presented.

The State of Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation has submitted a reply to the Hillsdale request, and, by separate letter, has requested clarification of the proper application of the amendment to § 1125.5(1) Administrative costs, which was issued December 16, 1976 (41 FR 55686). The issues raised by the State have been given full consideration by the Office in its resolution of the issues raised by Hillsdale.

1. Section 1125.4 Revenue attributable to the rail properties. Hillsdale requests a clarification as to how to treat certain interest income. Michigan states that the interest involved comes from three sources: interest on cash received upon issuance of stock; interest on an interline savings account; and interest on an operating savings account. The interest earned on the first and third accounts, capital and operations savings, is a result of the owner's investment and should not be included in the computation of the subsidy payment. Interest on the second account, the interline savings account, represents interest earned on money which is not Hillsdale's but is merely being held by Hillsdale pending its transfer to another line. This income should be included in the subsidy calculation as revenue attributable to the rail property and should be reported under § 1125.4(d) Account 143—miscellaneous. This interest income will offset operating expenses and reduce the amount of the subsidy.

Hillsdale points out that, if income of this kind is attributable to the rail properties, then it should also be utilized in the computation of management and administrative fees. The Office agrees. To the extent that this interest income increases revenues, it will also increase any management or administrative fee calculated as a percentage of those revenues.

2. Section 1125.5 Avoidable costs of providing service. Hillsdale has raised three questions regarding costs includable in this section. First, Hillsdale requests confirmation of its interpretation that reimbursement of travel and subsistence costs of outside consultants are avoidable costs and reimbursable by the subsidizer. The Office agrees that reasonable travel and subsistence costs are allowable; however, it would urge that an estimate of any such costs be included in the estimated subsidy calculation. This approach would insure that the subsidizer was aware that such costs might be incurred and would also make it less likely that the inclusion of the actual costs at the end of the subsidy year would increase the estimated subsidy payment by more than the 15 percent limit.

Second, Hillsdale requests confirmation of its interpretation that travel and subsistence reimbursements and reasonable relocation allowances for selected key management personnel are avoidable costs and reimbursable by the subsidizer. Michigan objects to the inclusion of such costs and states that one of the criteria in selecting Hillsdale as designated operator was that "... the company, including its management team, would be located at the principle business site, at no cost to the State." The Office believes that this is a question of contractual intent which must be resolved by the parties. The parties may agree to include any of these costs as avoidable costs of providing the service; whether or not such agreement was reached in the instant case is not a question for the Office to decide.

In cases where the parties do agree to include such costs in the subsidy calculation, the Office would urge the railroad to include an estimate of the costs in the estimated subsidy calculation for the same reasons specified above with regard to costs of consultants.

Third, Hillsdale requests a clarification as to whether certain preoperating activities, which it terms "essential to compliance with the April 1, 1976, start-up date", were reimbursable avoidable costs. The costs, all of which were incurred after Hillsdale's selection as designated operator and before the start-up of operations, included such activities as coordination meetings with ConRail personnel and rail users; preparation of tariff adoption notices; establishment of divisions; establishment of an accounting system; preparation of wages, bills, and other documents; preparation of employee timetables and rule books; development of an operating organization and staff, including recruitment of personnel; execution of operating and other agreements with other railroads and States; execution of agreements with the AAR and tariff publishing agents; preparation of locomotives for revenue service; review of legal documents; coordination with the ICC; and arranging for an adequate supply of rolling stock for the start-up of operations. Michigan's position is that, unless otherwise stated in the operating agreement, costs incurred prior to the date of agreement are nonreimbursable. The Office agrees with Michigan. Start-up costs are not avoidable costs of providing service; they are includable only to the extent that the subsidizer agrees to pay for them. Michigan further notes that preoperating costs which could be considered as avoidable costs under the operating agreement have been charged to the appropriate expense account for the current period, whereas the charges designated as "Organizational Costs" and "Preoperating Expenses" have been set up as assets and subsequently amortized and charged off as avoidable costs of the operation. This treatment of "Organizational Costs" and "Preoperating Expenses" is not in accord with the standards and is unjustified, unless specifically agreed to by the subsidizer.

3. Subsection 1125.5(1) Administrative costs. Hillsdale notes, in its request, that it has expended a considerable sum to develop computer programs, accounting systems, procedures, and contract preparation in order to provide the reports necessary to administer the financial requirements under the subsidy contracts. Hillsdale submits that it is entitled to an administrative fee, in addition to reimbursement of such expenses, to reflect a return on the investment made in one-time start-up fees and expenses. Michigan, in its separate request for a clarification of this subsection's application, states that specific costs were included in the operating agreement with Hillsdale in lieu of providing for an administrative fee.

The administrative fee is included in the Standards to compensate the operating railroad for certain costs of administration not included elsewhere in the Standards. If the parties to an operating agreement agree to include such costs on an actual basis in the computation of the subsidy payment, the operator is not entitled to an additional flat fee based on a percentage of revenues. Furthermore, the administrative fee is not intended to serve as a return on investment in start-up fees and expenses.

4. Subsection 1125.5(k) Off-branch costs. Hillsdale's request for clarification of this provision results from the fact that the line which Hillsdale operates is located partially in Michigan and partially in Indiana. Hillsdale considers the Michigan and Indiana portions of the line to be two different segments and seeks clarification of the method for determining off-branch costs for each segment. They also raise the question of whether a portion of the revenue associated with the overhead Indiana traffic should be allocated on a formula basis to the Michigan line segment. Michigan concurs with Hillsdale's request for clarification and asks that it be extended to cover the method of allocating all costs between the two segments. The Office does not believe that the line should be considered as two separate segments; consequently, no off-branch costs are involved. Hillsdale notes that Michigan has proposed a formula for allocating expenses, but Hillsdale does not believe the Michigan proposal to be in conformity with the standards. The Office has not reviewed the Michigan proposal; however, the Office does believe that Michigan, Indiana, and Hillsdale should agree upon a formula for allocating the costs of the subsidized operation of this line between Indiana and Michigan. The Office will provide assistance, if desired.

5. Paragraph 1125.5(j) Freight train car costs. Hillsdale is participating in an interline repair program for freight-train cars, revenues from which offset its costs and could, conceivably, produce a net profit. Hillsdale requests an interpretation as to the proper method for handling any profits from such a program. Michigan states that such activity is an integral part of the operation of the subsidized line and, as such, both the revenue and costs should be recognized in computing the subsidy. Because of its interpretation, Michigan further concludes that the revenue from this operation should be included in the determination of the management fee. Michigan is incorrect. Any revenues from the operation of an interline repair program should be credited against the cost of freight train car repairs. Any profits from the operation of the interline repair program should be used, therefore, to reduce other operating expenses and should not be considered as revenue attributable to operation of the line. Therefore, such profits should not be included in the computation of the management or administrative fees.

By letter dated November 1, 1977, Glenn L. Downing, representing the Kankakee, Beaverville & Southern Railroad Co. (KB&S), requested the Rail Services Planning Office to interpret § 1125.5(s) "Termination Costs" as it relates to a proposed agreement between KB&S and the Arrowhead & Southern Co. for the leasing of locomotives and servicing facilities. The lease proposal specifies a three year term for locomotives and a five year term for servicing facilities. It would obligate KB&S to make the remaining lease payments in the event the lease is cancelled by it prior to the end of the three and five year terms. KB&S inquires whether such a lump sum payment would constitute "Termination Costs" within the meaning of § 1125.5(s) of the Standards.

By letter dated December 5, 1977, KB&S advised RSPO that the lease proposal for locomotives has been revised to eliminate the provision requiring it to pay all remaining lease payments in the event the lease is cancelled at its request. The new lease proposal authorizes KB&S to sublease the locomotives and in any event permits it to cancel the locomotive lease on six months notice to the Arrowhead & Southern Co. KB&S requests an interpretation of § 1125.5(s) "Termination Costs" as it applies to the lease for servicing facilities and described in its November 1, 1977, letter and the modified locomotive lease as described in its December 5, 1977, letter.

Based upon the KB&S presentations and our informal communications with representatives of KB&S, the prospective subsidizer (Illinois DOT), and FRA, the Office concludes that the lease provisions in question appear to be consistent with § 1125.5(s). This standard views as avoidable "the actual costs reasonably and necessarily incurred as a result of terminating service to the subsidized branch."

The key provision of the standard is the phrase "reasonably and necessarily incurred." The servicing facilities are necessary to the subsidized operations and as fixed facilities are unlikely to be usable for other purposes and the lease payment for these facilities is relatively inconsequential. Therefore, the Office believes it reasonable to specify such payments for the remainder of the lease as termination costs in the event of cancellation.

The locomotive lease as modified appears fair to both parties. It enables KB&S to terminate service without undue financial hardship by authorizing it to sublease the locomotives and also affords the lessor a reasonable time (6 months) to secure another lease arrangement. Costs incurred by KB&S in cancelling this leasing arrangement would also appear consistent with § 1125.5(s).

As indicated the Illinois DOT was contacted concerning this matter but did not file a formal reply.

By the Commission, Rail Services Planning Office.

H. G. HOMME, Jr.,
Acting Secretary.

GEOTHERMAL RESOURCES OPERATIONS

Public, Acquired, and Withdrawn Lands

AGENCY: U.S. Geological Survey, Interior.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: This proposed rule would revise regulations concerning geothermal resources operations on public, acquired, and withdrawn lands to permit the construction and operation of geothermal steam power facilities on Federal lands leased for geothermal resources. The revision authorizes the Area Geothermal Supervisor to approve the construction of these facilities and to supervise their operation. The proposal also sets forth the procedural requirements which the operator of a proposed facility must satisfy in order to obtain the Supervisor's approval to construct and operate that facility.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before March 20, 1978.

ADDRESSES: Interested persons are invited to participate in the evaluation of the proposed revision by identifying the subject matter and submitting written comments, suggestions, or objections to the Chief, Conservation Division, U.S. Geological Survey, National Center (650), 12201 Sunrise Valley Drive, Reston, Va. 22092. Comments received will be available for public inspection in the Conservation Division on regular working days from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Billy J. Shoger, Conservation Division, U.S. Geological Survey, National Center (620), 12202 Sunrise Valley Drive, Reston, Va. 22092, 703-860-7535 (commercial), 928-7535 (FTS).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The primary author of these proposed revised regulations is Mr. Billy J. Shoger, Petroleum Engineer, U.S. Geological Survey, phone 703-860-7535.

The revision is proposed pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the Geothermal Steam Act of December 24, 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1001-1025).

The present geothermal operating regulations (Title 30 CFR Part 270) for leased Federal lands provide for drilling, producing, measurement, and payment of royalties, but do not contain procedures that would permit the construction and operation of geothermal steam power facilities on Federal lands leased for geothermal resources. Several of the Federal geothermal leases are nearing the stage at which the lessees will be capable of utilizing the discovered resources to power a facility for the generation of electricity or other beneficial use. The siting of these facilities is necessary to assure the orderly and timely development of Federal geothermal leases. Moreover, geothermal steam power facilities are needed for research and demonstration projects for the purpose of improving present technology as well as developing new methods of application to assure the efficient utilization of geothermal resources in this country.

The revised regulations will permit the Geological Survey's Area Geothermal Supervisor to approve the construction and operation of "Individual Well Facilities," "Research and Demonstration Facilities," and "Power Plant Facilities" on leased Federal land and to supervise operations for the utilization of geothermal resources. "Power Plant Facilities" will also require a license in accordance with Title 43 CFR Part 3250, which is being promulgated by the Bureau of Land Management.

As proposed, Title 30 CFR Part 270 would be modified as follows:

1. By revising § 270.1 to read:

§ 270.1 Purpose and authority.

The Geothermal Steam Act enacted on December 24, 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1001-1025), referred to in this part as "the Act," authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to prescribe rules and regulations applicable to operations conducted under a lease granted pursuant to the Act, and for the development, conservation, and utilization of geothermal steam and associated geothermal resources, the prevention of waste, the protection of the public interest, and the protection of water quality and other environmental qualities. The regulations in this part shall be administered by the Director through the Chief, Conservation Division, or his duly appointed representative.

2. By revising paragraph (c) of § 270.2 and adding paragraphs (r), (s), (t), (u), (v), and (w) to read:

§ 270.2 Definitions.

(c) "Area of Operations" means that area of the leased lands which is required for exploration, development, production, and utilization operations, and which is delineated on a map or plat that is made a part of the appropriate approved plan of operations or utilization. It encompasses the area generally needed for wells, flowlines, separators, surge tanks, drill pads, mud pits, workshops, powerplants, and other such facilities used on a lease for geothermal resources exploration, development, production, and utilization operations.

(p)-(q) [Reserved]

(r) "Individual Well Facility" means an electric power generating facility of not more than 10-megawatt net capacity located on a Federal geothermal lease and for which energy is supplied by a single well.

(s) "Research and Demonstration Facility" means a facility of not more than 20-megawatt net capacity located on a Federal geothermal lease for which the energy is supplied by one or more wells and which is utilized exclusively for the research and demonstration of applications in the development of geothermal resources during a project life of not more than 5 years.

(t) "Power Plant Facility" means any power generating facility, as defined in 43 CFR Subpart 3250, other than an Individual Well Facility or a Research and Demonstration Facility.

(u) "Utilization Facility Site" means that portion of an area of operations for which a plan of utilization filed pursuant to 30 CFR 270.34-1 has been approved for the siting of an Individual Well Facility, Research and Demonstration Facility, or Power Plant Facility, including appurtenant structures.

(v) "Facility Operator" means the lessee or the individual, corporation, association, or municipality designated by a lessee as the operator of any facility for the utilization of geothermal resources.

(w) "Joint Facility Operating Agreement" means an agreement between a lessee and another party for the siting, construction, and operation of power generation facilities for the utilization of geothermal steam and associated geothermal resources produced from the lessee's geothermal lease or leases.

3. By revising § 270.10 to read:

§ 270.10 Jurisdiction.

Drilling, production, construction, and operation of any facility for the utilization of geothermal resources, handling and measurement of production, determination and collection of royalty, and, in general, all operations conducted on a geothermal lease are subject to the regulations in this part and the applicable regulations contained in 43 CFR Group 3200. These operations are subject to the jurisdiction of the Supervisor for the area in which the leased lands are situated.

4. By revising § 270.11 to read:

§ 270.11 General functions.

The Supervisor is authorized and directed to carry out the provisions of this part. The Supervisor will require compliance with the terms of geothermal leases, with the regulations in this part, the applicable regulations in 43 CFR Group 3200, and with the applicable statutes. The Supervisor shall act on all applications, requests, and notices required in this part. In executing the functions under this part, the Supervisor shall assure that all permitted operations, within the area of operations, conform to the best practice and are conducted in a manner that protects the deposits of the leased lands and results in the maximum ultimate recovery and proper utilization of geothermal resources, with minimum waste. The Supervisor shall also assure that all permitted operations are consistent with the principles of the use of the lands for other purposes and the protection of the environment. As conditions in one area may vary widely from conditions in another area, the regulations in this part are intended to be general in nature. Detailed procedures hereunder in any particular area will be covered by GRO Orders. The requirements to be set forth in GRO Orders relating to surface resources or uses will be coordinated with the appropriate land management agency. The Supervisor may issue oral orders to govern lease operations, but such orders shall be confirmed in writing by the Supervisor as promptly as possible. The Supervisor may issue other orders and rules to govern the development, method for production, and the utilization of a deposit, field, or area. Prior to the issuance of GRO Orders, other orders and rules, or the approval of any plan of operation, the Supervisor shall consult with and receive comments from appropriate Federal and State agencies, lessees, operators, and other interested parties.

6. By adding after § 270.34 a new subsection §§ 270.34-1 to read:

§ 270.34-1 Plan of utilization.

At any time after acquisition of a lease, the lessee or the designated facility operator may conduct preliminary soil tests or studies necessary for determining the site(s) most suitable for the construction of a proposed facility. Site investigations involving trenching or the construction of additional roads will require the prior written approval of the Supervisor and the appropriate surface managing agency. Prior to commencing any site preparation, road construction, or facility construction, unless already authorized under an approved plan of operation, the lessee or facility operator shall submit in triplicate a plan of utilization and obtain the prior approval of the Supervisor and the appropriate land management agency. A plan of

Before permitting operations to be commenced on the leased lands, the Supervisor shall determine if the lease is in good standing; and whether the applicant is authorized to conduct the proposed operations; has filed an acceptable bond; and has, when required by the regulations of this part, an approved plan of operation and/or plan of utilization, notice of intent, sundry notice, or other appropriate permit application.

5. By redesignating the existing paragraph in § 270.31 as (a) and adding a new paragraph (b) to read:

§ 270.31 Designation of operator or agent.

(b) In all cases where an individual well facility, research and demonstration facility, or power plant facility is to be operated by other than the lessee, the lessee shall, for each proposed facility, submit in triplicate to the Supervisor, in a manner or in a form approved by the Supervisor, a "designation of facility operator" and three copies of the joint facility operating agreement between the lessee and the facility operator. Such designation, upon acceptance by the Supervisor, will authorize the facility operator to enter upon the proposed facility site and related sites and to conduct thereon, in accordance with 30 CFR 270.34-1, such preliminary geologic and soil studies as are appropriate for the planning and design of a power plant or other facilities necessary for the utilization of geothermal resources. A designated operator may also construct and operate such facilities as have been approved under a plan of operation or utilization and for which a permit has been issued pursuant to the regulations in this part and, if a power plant facility, for which a license has been issued in accordance with 43 CFR Part 3250.

6. By adding after § 270.34 a new subsection §§ 270.34-1 to read:

§ 270.34-1 Plan of utilization.

At any time after acquisition of a lease, the lessee or the designated facility operator may conduct preliminary soil tests or studies necessary for determining the site(s) most suitable for the construction of a proposed facility. Site investigations involving trenching or the construction of additional roads will require the prior written approval of the Supervisor and the appropriate surface managing agency. Prior to commencing any site preparation, road construction, or facility construction, unless already authorized under an approved plan of operation, the lessee or facility operator shall submit in triplicate a plan of utilization and obtain the prior approval of the Supervisor and the appropriate land management agency. A plan of utilization shall include, as appropriate:

(a) A description and/or plans for all proposed structures and facilities (other than proprietary data which may be submitted under 30 CFR 270.71-1) to be constructed, erected, or located on the facility site, including other support facilities or ancillary equipment. This portion of the plan should include:

(1) A contour map showing facility location(s);

(2) A description of the purpose and operation of each facility;

(3) A schematic flow diagram;

(4) The plan for architectural landscaping;

(5) A startup date and the schedule of construction;

(6) The planned safety provisions for emergency shutdown to protect public health and safety and for protection of the environment, including a schedule for the testing and maintenance of safety devices; and

(7) The manpower coverage to be provided during the operation of the facility.

(b) A copy of any site evaluation studies, soil reports, core logs, or laboratory reports which have been prepared for the site(s).

(c) A description of any additional tests, studies, or surveys which are planned to assess the geologic suitability of the site(s). Separate approval of any such tests, studies, or surveys may be granted by the Supervisor prior to approval of the overall plan of utilization.

(d) A map showing the existing and planned access and lateral roads and the source of road building material.

(e) The source and quality of the water supply.

(f) The identification of other areas of potential surface disturbance.

(g) The methods for disposing of waste water, solid wastes, and noncondensable gases.

(h) A narrative statement describing, as applicable, the proposed measures to be taken in protecting the environment including, but not limited to, the prevention or control of (1) fires, (2) soil erosion, (3) pollution of the surface or groundwater, (4) damage to fish and wildlife or other natural resources, (5) air and noise pollution, and (6) hazards to public health and safety during normal operations. This portion of the plan should also detail the procedures to be followed in complying with existing Federal requirements and pertinent State and local standards.

(i) The provisions made for monitoring facility-operations to assure continuing compliance with applicable noise, air, and water quality standards and regulations under this part, and for other potential environmental impacts identified by the Supervisor.

The lessee shall be responsible for the monitoring of readily identifiable localized environmental impacts associated with specific activities that are under control of the lessee.

(j) Any additional information or data which the Supervisor may require in support of the plan of utilization.

In addition to a plan of utilization, the Supervisor may also require, as appropriate, the submission and approval of a plan of operation that conforms to the requirements of 30 CFR 270.34.

7. By revising § 270.42 to read:

§ 270.42 Noise abatement.

The lessee shall minimize noise during exploration, development, production, and utilization operations. The welfare of the operating personnel and the public must not be affected as a consequence of the noise created by expanding gases. The method and degree of noise abatement shall be as prescribed or approved by the Supervisor.

8. By redesignating the existing paragraph in § 270.50 as (a) and by adding a new paragraph (b) to read:

§ 270.50 Royalty payments.

(b) With respect to the pilot operation or testing of facilities permitted pursuant to 30 CFR 270.71-1(a) or (b), the Supervisor, in accordance with the provisions of 30 U.S.C. 1012, may waive, suspend, or reduce the royalty obligation for a period not to exceed 120 days of net operation upon application therefor. No form of relief from the royalty requirements of a lease will be granted in the absence of an application therefor, and a determination by the Supervisor that such action (1) would be in the interest of conservation, (2) would encourage the greatest ultimate recovery of geothermal resources, and (3) is necessary to promote development or to insure that the lease can be operated successfully under the lease terms. Each application for relief hereunder shall be filed in triplicate with the Supervisor and, as minimum, must (i) identify the facility, its location, and the facility operator; (ii) provide the serial number(s) of the lease(s) from which the geothermal resources are produced and the name(s) of the current lessee(s) and/or operator(s); (iii) contain the number and location of each well which will be utilized during the pilot operation or testing of facilities and the estimated daily volume of geothermal resources to be produced from each well; (iv) furnish a detailed statement of the estimated costs associated with the pilot or testing operations; and (v) supply other appropriate documentation to support the contention that relief from the royalty requirements of the lease could be granted in accordance with the provisions of 30 U.S.C. 1012, as set forth in the preceding paragraph.

9. By adding after § 270.71 a new subsection § 270.71-1 to read:

§ 270.71-1 Application for utilization permit.

(a) A permit to construct and operate a individual well facility of not more than 10-megawatt net capacity, including necessary related on-lease transmission facilities and substations, must be obtained from the Supervisor prior to commencing surface disturbing activities related to the construction and operation of each individual well facility. The application for a permit must be filed in triplicate with the supervisor and must state the location of the principal facility and all related sites by distance in meters and direction from the nearest section or tract lines, as shown on the official plat of survey or protracted surveys, and the elevation of the ground level at these sites. The application must be accompanied by a proposed plan of utilization as required by 30 CFR 270.34-1. Permits granted under this subsection will satisfy the requirements of 43 CFR Part 3250.

(b) A permit to construct and operate an on-lease research and demonstration facility (involving one or more wells) for an electrical generating plant of not more than 20-megawatt net capacity, including necessary related on-lease transmission facilities or substations in which power generated may be dissipated into a dummy load or similar device or sold for beneficial use, must be obtained from the Supervisor prior to commencing any surface disturbing activities related to the construction or operation of each on-lease research and demonstration facility. Applications submitted to the supervisor for a permit to construct and operate an on-lease research and demonstration facility shall be filed in triplicate and shall be accompanied by a plan of utilization as required by 30 CFR 270.34-1. Any permit issued shall be for a term of not more than 5 years. Permits granted under this subsection will satisfy the requirements of 43 CFR Part 3250. However, the continued beneficial use of an on-lease research and demonstration facility beyond the term provided by a permit, or the conversion of the facility to a power plant facility at any time during the permit period, will require that a license be obtained from the Authorized Officer pursuant to 43 CFR Part 3250.

(c) The siting of a power plant facility, other than as provided in (a) or (b) of this section, will require a license issued by the Authorized Officer pursuant to 43 CFR Part 3250. A permit to construct and operate a power plant facility licensed under provisions of 43 CFR Part 3250 must also be obtained from the Supervisor prior to commencing any surface disturbing activities related to the construction or operation of the facility. The application for a permit shall be filed in triplicate with the Supervisor.

(d) Each application filed with the Supervisor for a permit to construct and operate a facility, as set forth in (a), (b), or (c) of this section, shall specifically identify the type of facility contemplated, the method of operation, and shall include:

[Designation No. A564]

CALIFORNIA

Designation of Emergency Areas

The Secretary of Agriculture has determined that farming, ranching, or aquaculture operations have been substantially affected in the following California Counties as a result of extremely high winds accompanied by duststorms December 20 and 21, 1977: Humboldt; Kern; San Diego.

Therefore, the Secretary has designated these areas as eligible for emergency loans pursuant to the provisions of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended, and the provisions of 7 CFR 1904 Subpart C, Exhibit D, Paragraph VB, including the recommendation of Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr., that such designation be made.

Applications for emergency loans must be received by this Department no later than July 24, 1978, for physical losses and January 23, 1979, for production losses, except that qualified borrowers who receive initial loans pursuant to this designation may be eligible for subsequent loans. The urgency of the need for loans in the designated area makes it impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give advance notice of proposed rulemaking and invite public participation.

WATCHES AND WATCH MOVEMENTS

Final Watch Quota Allocation Rules

AGENCY: Industry and Trade Administration, Bureau of Trade Regulation.

ACTION: Final watch quota allocation rules.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to §303.3 of Title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations, the Secretaries of Commerce and the Interior published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated December 21, 1977, proposed rules for the allocation of watch quotas under Pub. L. 890-805 (42 FR 63923 et seq.).

The proposed rules set forth the criteria and formulae which the Secretaries intend to use in calculating quota allocations for calendar year 1978, and propose new entrant provisions for Guam and American Samoa. A copy of the proposed rules was sent to each watch quota holder on December 15, 1977. Interested parties were invited to provide comments on or before December 29, 1977. The Secretaries have considered the single comment received (discussed below in Supplementary Information) and hereby publish the rules in final form.

DATE: These rules are effective January 26, 1978.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Richard M. Seppa, who can be reached by telephone on 202-377-2925.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: No watch quota firm offered comments on the proposed rules. However, an association which has among its members some firms with territorial subsidiaries expressed the view that, while a step in the right direction, the proposal would do little to increase the economic benefits to the insular possessions and do nothing to stop the competitive advantage enjoyed by insular watch quota firms utilizing certain low-cost movements, the assembly of which generates insignificant insular labor. The party contended that unless the Departments refrained from reallocating quota earned but unused by firms assembling higher-cost movements requiring significant insular labor input, the proposed allocation formula would not curb the increased use of the disruptive low-cost movements.

The Departments have fully considered the comment received and have concluded it provides insufficient reason to modify the rules as proposed. The reasons for the Departments' conclusions follow:

1. Watch assembly firms contribute to the insular economies in two primary ways, (i) wages paid to permanent residents and (ii) corporate income tax payments. By increasing by 10 percent the amount of quota to be allocated on the basis of these two factors and reducing by an equal percentage the amount of quota to be allocated on the basis of the firms' shipments the preceding year, firms which produce movements requiring high local labor content and firms making meaningful income tax contributions will be eligible for a larger percentage of the 1978 quota. Given an adequate demand for insular watches, the allocation formula offers the prospect of increased economic benefits for the insular economies.

2. According to industry sources, the market for conventional watches has stabilized. Also, domestic consumption of watches is expected to turn out lower in 1977 than the preceding year and this will decrease the total amount of quota available in 1978 for allocation to insular firms. These two circumstances should diminish the amount of quota available on reallocation.

3. Pursuant to §303.5(b) of title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations (42 FR 62907 et seq.), the Secretaries are authorized to reallocate unutilized quota "in a manner which . . . is best suited to contribute to the economy of the territories" taking into account "the nature of the producer's present assembly operations and any other factors which, in the judgment of the Secretaries, bear on the well-being and established character of the industry and thereby on the economy of the territory." Moreover, §303.9(b) provides that if unutilized quota becomes available, the Secretaries are not required to reallocate it or set it aside for new firms if that is "deemed in the best interest of territories and the established industry."

The Departments are of the view that if circumstances warrant, they have sufficient authority under present regulations to deal with the stated concerns of the commenting party at the reallocation stage by exercising the options contained in §303.9(b) or by taking one or a combination of other steps such as limiting reallocations to firms then (i) assembling movements having a minimum number of discrete components, (ii) performing certain alternative assembly operations or (iii) making a specified average wage contribution per movement assembled.

References to Form DIB-334P in Section 4 of the proposed rules are modified to read "Form ITA-334P" to reflect the redesignation of the Domestic and International Business Administration as the Industry and Trade Administration.

Accordingly, the proposed rules are published below, without substantive change, as final rules.

SECTION 1. (Virgin Islands and Guam) Pursuant to 15 CFR Part 303.5(a)(2) the annual quotas for calendar year 1978 for the Virgin Islands and Guam will be allocated on the basis of (1) the number of units assembled in the territory and entered by each producer duty-free into the customs territory of the United States during calendar year 1977, (2) the dollar amount of wages, up to a maximum of $14,000 per person, paid by such producer in the territory whose pay was attributable to the producer's Headnote 3(a) watch assembly operation, and (3) the total dollar amount of income taxes paid by such producer during calendar year 1977 attributable to its Headnote 3(a) watch assembly operations, excluding penalty payments and less any income tax refunds and subsidies paid by the Territorial government to such producer during calendar year 1977.

In making allocations under this formula, a weight of 25 percent will be assigned to Headnote 3(a) shipment history, a weight of 55 percent will be assigned to wages paid as specified above, and a weight of 20 percent will be assigned to the total dollar amount of income taxes paid during calendar year 1977 and attributable to Headnote 3(a) watch assembly operations, with the exclusions and deductions specified above.

SEC. 2. Applications from new firms are invited for the calendar year 1978 American Samoa quota, because the sole recipient in the territory has advised the departments that it would discontinue operations by the end of calendar year 1977. Due to the limited size of the American Samoa quota, the Departments will allocate that quota to the single firm which offers the best prospect of making a meaningful long-term contribution to the economy of the territory. See section 4 below, for application procedures.

SEC. 3. Applications from new firms are invited for 150,000 units of the calendar year 1978 Guam quota, because of the low level of quota utilization in the territory during 1977.

SEC. 4. Applicants for new entrant quotas in Guam or American Samoa must complete applicable sections of Form ITA 334P (formerly DIB-334P), copies of which may be obtained from the Statutory Import Programs Staff, Room 6694, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, and must provide such additional information as the Secretaries may require (15 CFR 303.5(b)). Detailed instructions for completing ITA-334P will be provided by the Statutory Import Programs Staff together with copies of the application form.

SEC. 5. If the Secretaries determine with respect to the new entrant provisions for quotas in Guam or in American Samoa that no application has been received by March 1, 1978, proposing a sufficient number of assembly operations or otherwise offering the prospect of a meaningful contribution to the territorial economy, the Secretaries shall notify each applicant of the specific deficiencies and may issue a new invitation or extend the date for revised applications or applications from other new firms. In the event that any or all of the new entrant quota in Guam is not allocated under this provision, the quota involved will be treated in accordance with procedures set forth in 15 CFR 303.5(b) (42 FR 62907 et seq.).

Any new firm which is selected to receive a quota will be required to comply with specified conditions and applicable rules of the Departments and with United States Customs Service regulations regarding assembly operations which must be performed in the insular possession under General Headnote 3(a), Tariff Schedules of the United States, as well as with the general requirements of the Territorial government regarding the establishment and conduct of a business.

Dated: January 26, 1978.

Director, Office of Territorial Affairs,

Department of the Treasury, Washington,
D.C. 20229

JANUARY 26, 1978.

DEAR MR. COMMISSIONER: This letter further amends, but does not cancel, the directive of May 19, 1972, from the Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, that directed you to prohibit, effective 30 days after publication of notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, entry into the United States for consumption and withdrawal from warehouse for consumption of cotton, wool, and man-made fiber textile products, produced or manufactured in the Republic of Korea for which the Republic of Korea had not issued a visa. It also further amends, but does not cancel, the directive of August 22, 1973, which established a mechanism to exempt from the levels of the bilateral agreement between the Governments of the United States and the Republic of Korea, certain textile products which have been certified for exemption by the Government of the Republic of Korea.

Under the terms of the Arrangement Regarding International Trade in Textiles done at Geneva on December 20, 1973, as extended on December 15, 1977; pursuant to the Bilateral Cotton, Wool, and Man-Made Fiber Textile Agreement of December 23, 1977, between the Governments of the United States and the Republic of Korea; and in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order 11651 of March 3, 1972, as amended by Executive Order 11951 of January 6, 1977, the directives of May 19, 1972, and August 22, 1973, as previously amended, are hereby further amended to authorize Kim Chul Su to issue visas and certifications for exempt cotton, wool, and man-made fiber textile products exported from the Republic of Korea, effective on January 1, 1978, replacing Park Yong Dow. The actions taken with respect to the Government of the Republic of Korea and with respect to imports of cotton, wool, and man-made fiber textile products from the Republic of Korea have been determined by the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements to involve foreign affairs functions of the United States. Therefore, directions to the Commissioner of Customs, being necessary to the implementation of such actions, fall within the foreign affairs exception to the rulemaking provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553. This letter will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Suspension of Hearings

In FR Doc. 75-27207, published on October 9, 1975, 40 FR 47524, the Department of the Navy published notice that, beginning in November 1975, the Naval Discharge Review Board (NDRB) would convene and conduct hearings for a number of days each quarter in announced locations. The NDRB itinerary for November 1977 through April 1978 was published in FR Doc. 77-32728, on November 11, 1977, 42 FR 58779. That notice further provided that the itinerary remained subject to modification if necessary.

Due to the reconsideration requirements mandated by Pub. L. 95-126 and the limited personnel resources available to the Board, it is necessary to modify the previously announced NDRB itinerary. Accordingly, NDRB traveling operations subsequent to completion of the February 1978 schedule will be temporarily suspended. Projected completion of the reconsideration requirements mandated by Pub. L. 95-126 should enable traveling operations to be resumed in or about June 1978. No scheduled hearings are affected by this suspension. For further information concerning the NDRB, contact:

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

ISSUANCE OF DECISIONS AND ORDER BY THE OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW

Week of November 7 Through November 11, 1977

Notice is hereby given that during the week of November 7 through November 11, 1977, the decisions and orders summarized below were issued with respect to appeals and applications for exception or other relief filed with the Office of Administrative Review of the Economic Regulatory Administration of the Department of Energy. The following summary also contains a list of submissions which were dismissed by the Office of Administrative Review and the basis for the dismissal.

APPEALS

Atlantic Richfield Co., Los Angeles, Calif.,
DFA-0013, Freedom of Information

The Atlantic Richfield Co. (Arco) appealed from a partial denial by the FEA Information Access Officer of a request for information submitted under the Freedom of Information Act (the Act). In its request, Arco sought the disclosure of documents relating to the FEA transfer pricing program. The Information Access Officer identified seven documents which were within the scope of Arco's request but declined to release any of them on the grounds that the documents were exempt from mandatory public disclosure under section 552(b)(5) of the Act. He determined that the documents were recommendatory in nature and consisted of opinions which are part of the process by which governmental decisions and policies are formulated. On appeal, the DOE determined that this determination was correct except for certain factual material contained in two documents which was segrega-ble from the other portions which consisted of policy analysis and recommendations. The DOE also determined that the public interest would be served if additional portions of two other documents were released. The Arco appeal was therefore granted in part and denied in part.

Consumers Fuel Co., Martinsburg, W. Va.,
FRA-1309, Refined Products

Consumers Fuel Co., Inc. (Consumers), filed an appeal from a remedial order which FEA Region III issued to the firm on April 28, 1977. The remedial order found that during the period November 6, 1973, through July 16, 1974, Consumers sold kerosene and fuel oil at prices which exceeded the maximum price levels permitted in 10 CFR 212.93(a). Therefore, the remedial order directed Consumers to refund overcharges of $17,547, plus interest, to its customers. In considering the firm's appeal, the DOE determined that Consumers failed to present any material during the course of the proceeding which would support its allegation that the firm's sales of No. 2 fuel oil to its transport load customers were improperly treated in the remedial order. The DOE also determined that Consumers' assertion that the remedial order made no provision for the firm's increased cost of business operations constituted a contention that the underlying price regulations were invalid and was therefore irrelevant to the appeal proceeding. Finally the DOE noted that the financial material which Consumers submitted failed to demonstrate that the firm would experience any significant difficulty in refunding the overcharges. Accordingly, the Consumers appeal was denied.

Cotten, Day & Doyle, Washington, D.C.,
DFA-0009, Freedom of Information

The law firm of Cotten, Day & Doyle (Cotten) appealed from partial denial by the FEA Information Access Officer of a request for information which the firm submitted under the Freedom of Information Act (the Act). In its request for information, Cotten sought a copy of a letter which was submitted to the FEA Office of Exceptions and Appeals by the Guam Oil & Refining Co. (Gorco) in response to a request by the FEA in Case No. FEE-4105. The Information Access Officer released a copy of the letter to Cotten but deleted certain portions on the basis that they contained confidential commercial information which is exempt from disclosure under section 552(b)(4) of the Act. The information deleted consisted of: (i) A description of a contract between Gorco and the U.S. Defense Fuel Supply Center (DFSC), and (ii) the volumes and compositions of certain feedstocks which Gorco utilized in its refinery between 1970 and 1976. In considering Cotten's appeal, the DOE determined that the information concerning the Gorco/DFSC contract which the Information Access Officer withheld had been previously disclosed to the public. The DOE concluded that the information was therefore not confidential under section 552(b)(4) of the Act and should be released to Cotten. With respect to the feedstock volumes which were deleted from the Gorco letter, the DOE determined that this data was sensitive commercial information, the release of which is likely to result in substantial harm to Gorco's competitive position. The DOE therefore concluded that this information was properly withheld under section 552(b)(4) of the Act. Cotten's appeal was accordingly granted in part and denied in part.

NOTICES

Wilson Oil Co., Wabasha, Minn., FRA-1442, Refined Products

The Wilson Oil Co. (Wilson) appealed from a remedial order which FEA Region V issued to the firm on August 10, 1977. In the remedial order, Region V found that during the period November 1, 1973, through August 31, 1974, Wilson sold motor gasoline and heating oil at prices which exceeded the maximum permissible price levels computed in accordance with 10 CFR 212.93. On the basis of these findings, the FEA ordered Wilson to refund overcharges of $23,999, plus interest, to its customers. In its appeal, Wilson contended that the remedial order had incorrectly utilized a single, firmwide computation for the purpose of calculating the firm's May 15, 1973, weighted average cost of product in inventory and its current weighted average cost of product in inventory. In this connection, Wilson maintained that it operated two retail outlets which were historically distinct and have maintained separate inventories as well as separate financial and accounting records since 1966. Wilson therefore claimed that its inventory costs should have been calculated separately for these two outlets. In considering the firm's contention, the DOE observed that Wilson's retail outlets comprised a single firm under section 212.31 of the Mandatory Petroleum Price Regulations, which defines a firm as "a parent and the consolidated or unconsolidated entities (if any) which it directly or indirectly controls." Moreover, prior to May 1, 1976, section 212.92 required a firm to calculate its cost of product in inventory on the basis of one firmwide computation, regardless of whether the firm had historically maintained separate inventories at various regional or local supply distribution centers. Consequently, the DOE concluded that the separate inventory computations which Wilson made during the period in which the violation occurred were not permissible practices. The DOE also found that the assessment of interest on the overcharges was appropriate in order to fully compensate Wilson's customers for the excessive amounts which they paid. Since Wilson failed to demonstrate that the remedial order was erroneous in fact or law or was arbitrary or capricious, the firm's appeal was denied.

REQUESTS FOR EXCEPTION

A & N Producing Services, Inc., Jackson, Miss., FFE-4478 Crude Oil

A & N Producing Services, Inc. (A&N), filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which, if granted would result in an extension of the exception relief previously granted to the firm and thereby permit it to continue to sell 100 percent of the crude oil produced from the USA well No. 2 lease (USA well) at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering A&N's exception request, the DOE found that the costs incurred in operating the USA well were continuing to increase and that, in the absence of exception relief, the working interests would therefore lack an incentive to produce crude oil from the property. In view of this situation and on the basis of the actual operating data which A&N has presented for the previous 6 months, the DOE concluded that the working interest owners should be permitted to sell at upper tier ceiling prices 56.8513 percent of the crude oil produced on their behalf from the USA well during the 6-month period ending April 30, 1978.

Gennuso's Service, Fresno, Calif., FEE-4140, Motor Gasoline

Gennuso's Service filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.9 which, if granted, would result in the termination of the firm's supplier/purchaser relationship with its base period supplier of motor gasoline, the Red Triangle Oil Co. (Red Triangle), and the assignment of a major oil company as the firm's new supplier. Gennuso's Service asserted that it was experiencing difficulties as a result of Red Triangle's refusal since January 1, 1977, to accept the Gulf Oil Corp. credit card as payment for motor gasoline. Gennuso's Service further contended that local representatives of three major oil companies which offer use of their credit cards to their dealers were all unwilling to supply Gennuso's Service with motor gasoline on a long-term basis. In considering the exception request, the DOE concluded that Gennuso's Service failed to demonstrate that its inability to utilize a credit card issued by a major oil company was in any way attributable to the requirements of the DOE regulatory program. The application for exception submitted by Gennuso's Service was accordingly denied.

B. J. Hickman, Kimball, Nebr., FEE-4126,
Crude Oil

B. J. Hickman (Hickman) filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which, if granted, would permit the firm to sell the crude oil produced from the Houtby "J" sand unit (the Houtby unit) located in Kimball, Nebr., at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the exception application, the DOE found that the cost of producing crude oil from the Houtby unit had increased significantly since 1973 to a level where those costs now exceed the revenues which the firm may realize from the sale of the crude oil at lower tier ceiling price levels. The DOE concluded that under the circumstances, Hickman does not have an incentive to continue producing crude oil from the Houtby unit. The DOE also concluded that it was unlikely that the crude oil in the reservoir underlying the unit would be recovered by any other firm in the absence of exception relief. On the basis of precedents involving similar factual situations, the DOE concluded that the application of the lower tier ceiling price rule resulted in a gross inequity to Hickman. Accordingly, on the basis of the operating data which had been submitted for the unit's most recently completed fiscal period, Hickman was granted exception relief which permits him to sell at upper tier ceiling prices 34.55 percent of the crude oil produced and sold from the Houtby unit for the benefit of the working interest owners.

Martha Jackson, Kermit, Tex., FEE-4058,
Crude Oil

Martha Jackson filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which if granted, would permit Jackson to sell her share of the crude oil produced from the Lum Daugherty "B" lease (the lease) during the period from February 1 through May 31, 1976, at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the exception application, the DOE found that Jackson had convincingly demonstrated that she had attempted to certify the lease as a stripper well property in accordance with the provisions of 10 CFR 212.131. The DOE therefore concluded that the purchaser of the crude oil should have paid upper tier ceiling prices for the crude oil involved. In addition, the DOE found that Jackson, a widow living on a fixed income, would experience a financial hardship unless the purchaser of the crude oil paid her the difference between the lower tier and upper tier prices for the crude oil involved. Accordingly, the exception application was granted and the purchaser was directed to pay this sum to Jackson.

Rickelson Oil and Gas Co., Tulsa, Okla., FEE-3597, Crude Oil

Rickelson Oil & Gas Co. (Rickelson) filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which, if granted, would permit the firm to sell additional quantities of crude oil produced from the Rosa Washington No. 3 well (the Washington well) located in Pottawatomie County, Okla., at upper tier ceiling prices to supplement the exception relief granted in Rickelson Oil & Gas Co., 3 FEA Par. 83.217 (June 7, 1976). In its exception application Rickelson stated that the relief granted in the June 7 decision was insufficient to alleviate the gross inequity which was found to exist. In considering the request, the DOE determined that the actual capital investment necessary to repair the Washington well was substantially greater than that originally projected as a result of the fact that the firm had encountered unanticipated several holes in the well casing. The DOE also found that the firm had significantly underestimated operating expenses for the Washington well. As a result of these forecasting errors, the DOE concluded that if Rickelson were to continue to produce crude oil from the Washington well, the revenues which it would realize from the sale of the crude oil would not afford the firm the 15 percent return on its investment. Exception relief was therefore approved which permits the firm to sell at upper tier ceiling prices an additional portion of the crude oil produced for the benefit of the working interest owners from the Washington well during the remaining life of the investment project.

S&W Engine Supply Co., Oklahoma City, Okla., FEE-4357, Crude Oil

S&W Engine Supply Co. filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which, if granted, would permit the firm to sell the crude oil produced from the Baker Townsend lease located in Oklahoma County, Okla., at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the exception request, the DOE found that S&W's operating costs had increased to the point where the firm no longer had an economic incentive to continue the production of crude oil from the Baker Townsend lease. The DOE also determined that if S&W abandoned its operations at the Baker Townsend lease, a substantial quantity of domestic crude oil would not be recovered. On the basis of criteria applied in previous decisions, the DOE determined that S&W should be permitted to sell 70.23 percent of the crude oil produced from the Baker Townsend lease for the benefit of the working interest owner at upper tier ceiling prices.

Skelton Operating Co., Inc., Jackson, Miss., FEE-4407, Crude Oil

Skelton Operating Co., Inc., filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which if granted would permit Skelton to sell the crude oil produced from the Lee Beard No. 2 well (the No. 2 well) at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the exception application, the DOE found that the No. 2 well had generated substantial operating profits for the working interest owners during the 12-month fiscal period June 1, 1976, through May 31, 1977, and that in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, the material which Skelton had submitted indicated that the No. 2 well would remain an economically viable operation even in the absence of exception relief. The DOE also found that Skelton had not submitted any data to indicate that the crude oil reserves underlying the No. 2 well could not be recovered from neighboring properties. Therefore, the DOE concluded that Skelton had failed to establish that the application of the lower-tier ceiling price rule adversely affected the economic incentive of the working interest owners to produce crude oil from the No. 2 well. Accordingly, the exception application was denied.

Tenneco Oil Co., Houston, Tex., FEE-4788, Crude Oil

Tenneco Oil Co. (Tenneco) filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which if granted would permit Tenneco to sell a percentage of the crude oil produced from the South Coast unit, located in St. Mary Parish, La., at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the Tenneco exception request, the DOE found that operating costs at the South Coast unit had increased to the point where they exceeded the revenues which the firm received from the sale of crude oil at lower tier ceiling prices. Consequently the DOE determined that Tenneco had no economic incentive to continue its operations at the South Coast unit in the absence of exception relief. The DOE also found that the abandonment of the South Coast unit would result in the loss of significant quantities of otherwise recoverable crude oil. Since the mandatory petroleum price regulations were not intended to result in a reduction in the supply of domestic crude oil, the DOE concluded that exception relief should be granted to Tenneco in order to provide the firm with a sufficient economic incentive to continue its production operations. On the basis of the operating data submitted by Tenneco and previous precedents involving similar factual situations, the DOE concluded that the firm should be permitted to sell at upper tier ceiling prices 47.62 percent of the crude oil produced from the South Coast unit for the benefit of the working interest owners for a 6-month period.

Texas Oil & Gas Corp., Dallas, Tex., FEE-4401, Crude Oil

Texas Oil & Gas Corp. (TXO) filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart D, which, if granted, would have permitted the firm to sell the crude oil produced from the Pete Rydolph lease (the Rydolph lease) at upper tier ceiling prices. In considering the exception application, the DOE determined that the costs of producing crude oil from the Rydolph lease have increased significantly since 1973, and, as a result of these increased costs, TXO's costs of production now exceed the prices which the firm is permitted to charge for the crude oil produced from the Rydolph lease. Consequently, the DOE concluded that TXO does not have an economic incentive to continue to operate the Rydolph lease. The DOE also found that there would be little possibility that the recoverable crude oil from the reservoir underlying the lease would be produced by another firm in the absence of exception relief. On the basis of precedents involving similar factual situations, the DOE concluded that the applications of the lower tier ceiling price resulted in a gross inequity to TXO. Accordingly, on the basis of the operating data which the firm submitted for its most recently completed fiscal period, TXO was granted exception relief which permits the firm sell at upper tier ceiling prices 7.11 percent of the crude oil produced and sold for the benefit of the working interest owners from the Pete Rydolph lease.

Whitco, Inc., Dallas, Tex., FEE-4777, Motor Gasoline

Whitco, Inc., filed an application for an extension of exception relief from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.25 (the supplier substitution rule) which the FEA had previously granted to the firm. The previous decision and order directed the Regional Administrator of FEA Region VI to determine whether Whitco would experience a serious hardship of gross inequity in the absence of additional exception relief and to recommend whether the exception relief previously granted to Whitco should be extended. On the basis of the new material submitted by Whitco in this proceeding and the recommendations of the Regional Administrator, the DOE determined that Whitco would continue to experience a serious hardship and a gross inequity in the absence of exception relief. Accordingly, the exception relief previously granted to the firm was extended through December 31, 1977.

4-Way Grocery, Molalla, Ore., FEE-4284, Motor Gasoline

The 4-Way Grocery (4-Way) filed an application for exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.9 which, if granted, would result in the termination of its relationship with its base period supplier of motor gasoline, the Stein Oil Co. (Stein), and the assignment of the Union Oil Co. of California (Union) as 4-Way's current supplier. 4-Way stated that it has been purchasing all of its motor gasoline supplies from Union under terms of a contract which only requires Union to make surplus motor gasoline available to 4-Way. 4-Way claimed that in the event of a serious shortage of motor gasoline, Union would have no surplus motor gasoline and 4-Way would be unable to obtain adequate volumes of product from Union. In considering 4-Way's exception request, the DOE found that the firm was currently operating on a profitable basis and its claim that it might in the foreseeable future be prevented from obtaining adequate supplies of surplus motor gasoline from Union was speculative. On the basis of precedents established in a number of previous decisions, the DOE concluded that 4-Way had failed to demonstrate that its adherence to the provisions of the mandatory petroleum-allocation regulations was likely to cause it to experience any serious hardship or gross inequity. The firm's application for exception was accordingly denied.

PETITIONS FOR SPECIAL REDRESS

Clark Oil & Refining Corp., Milwaukee, Wis., DSG-0003; DES-0009, Motor Gasoline

Clark Oil & Refining Corp. (Clark) filed a petition for special redress which, if granted, would have resulted in the issuance of an order quashing a subpoena that DOE

Region V issued to the firm on August 12, 1977. Clark also requested a stay of the provisions of the subpoena pending a final determination on its petition. In considering the Clark petition, the DOE noted that section 205.8(h)(4) of the DOE regulations sets forth criteria governing the review by the Office of Administrative Review of a petition in which a firm seeks to quash a subpoena. That section provides that a preliminary review of the petition will be made in order to determine whether a reasonable probability exists that the petitioner will be able to satisfy the criteria for relief. If the Office of Administrative Review determines that a petition might satisfy those criteria, the petition will be considered on its merits. On the other hand, if the determination is made that the petition fails to meet this threshold standard, the petition will be dismissed. See 41 FR 55322 (December 20, 1976). The DOE reviewed the contention which Clark advanced in its petition and concluded that Clark had failed to demonstrate that an immediate review was warranted to correct substantial errors of law, to prevent substantial injury to legal rights, or to cure a gross abuse of administrative discretion. The Clark petition was therefore dismissed and its application for stay was denied.

Gulf Oil Corp., Los Angeles, Calif., DSG-0001; DES-0004, Motor Gasoline

On November 5, 1976, the FEA Office of Regulatory Programs issued a determination granting Gulf Oil Corp.'s request for termination of its regulatory obligation to maintain supplier/purchaser relationships for the sale of motor gasoline in northern California, northern Nevada, Oregon, and Washington. That order was subsequently appealed, and on March 30, 1977, the FEA Office of Exceptions and Appeals issued a decision and order in which it remanded the November 5 order to the FEA Office of Regulatory Programs for additional findings. In the March 30 decision, the FEA found that the November 5 order failed to sufficiently consider the possible adverse impact which Gulf's withdrawal might have on the distributors and marketers previously supplied by Gulf and on competition in the affected marketing area. Accordingly, the November 5 order was remanded for additional findings regarding the adverse impact which the termination of Gulf's supply obligation could have. In the interim, Gulf was required to maintain its base period supplier/purchaser relationships in the affected area to those firms which had challenged the November 5 order. On October 12, 1977, Gulf filed an application for stay and petition for special redress with the Office of Administrative Review of the Department of Energy, and those submissions were consolidated for consideration in this proceeding. In its submission, Gulf requested that the DOE vacate the stay of the November 5 order and authorize Gulf to discontinue supplying motor gasoline to all of its base period purchasers in the Pacific Northwest. Gulf contended that in the event its request for stay were denied, it would experience an irreparable injury and incur a more immediate hardship than the firms which Gulf is presently required to supply. In response to this claim, the DOE found that Gulf had failed to demonstrate that a termination of its remaining base period supply obligations in the Pacific Northwest would not have an adverse impact on its purchasers in that area, and that until such a determination was made by the DOE, it would be contrary to the principles which the FEA set forth in the March 30 decision and inequitable to the potentially aggrieved firms if Gulf's request for stay were granted. In addition, the DOE noted that Gulf had also failed to demonstrate that a denial of its stay request would result in an irreparable injury to the firm. Therefore, Gulf's request for stay was denied. However, the DOE found that the Office of Fuels Regulations had been provided an ample opportunity to issue an amended version of the November 5 order with respect to Gulf's request for withdrawal, and that continued delay was unnecessarily detrimental to Gulf's interest. Consequently the DOE determined that all necessary steps should be taken by the DOE Office of Fuels Regulations so that a final determination would be issued in this matter within 45 days.

REQUESTS FOR STAY

Gas del Oro, Inc.; Gas del Oro International, Inc.; El Dorado Marketing Co. of Laredo, Houston, Tex., FES-1478, Natural Gas Liquid Products

Gas del Oro, Inc., Gas del Oro International, Inc., and El Dorado Marketing Co. of Laredo (Gas del Oro) requested a stay of an order approving exception relief for the Ozona gas processing plant (Ozona) on May 27, 1977. If its request were approved, the DOE Office of Administrative Review would stay the implementation of that order pending the determination of an appeal filed by Gas del Oro to rescind all price increases imposed upon Gas del Oro by Ozona pursuant to the provisions of the May 27 order, and direct Ozona to refund to Gas del Oro all revenues obtained by Ozona by virtue of those price increases. Gas del Oro contended that the financial data on which the FEA relied in issuing the May 27 order differed from data which Gas del Oro obtained from the Texas Railroad Commission, and that the data relied upon by FEA also overstated certain nonproduct costs associated with Ozona's production of natural gas liquids and natural gas liquid products. As a result, Gas del Oro claimed that the level of exception relief granted to Ozona in the May 27 order was excessive. In considering the stay request, the DOE found that Gas del Oro had failed to make a prima facie showing that there exists a substantial likelihood of success on the merits of its appeal because considerable controversy existed regarding the facts of the case. In addition, the DOE determined that the firm had failed to show that it would suffer an irreparable injury, since it had not submitted any financial data whatsoever in its application for stay to demonstrate that it would be damaged by the increased prices for natural gas liquids and natural gas liquid products which Ozona was permitted to charge Gas del Oro under the May 27 decision and order. The firm's application for stay was accordingly denied.

National Helium Corp., Liberal, Kans., DES-0010, Natural Gas Liquid Products

National Helium Corp. (NHC) requested that the provisions of 10 CFR, Part 212, Subpart K, be stayed in order to permit the firm to increase its prices for natural gas liquids and products to the extent specified in a proposed decision and order which the FEA issued to the firm on September 30, 1977. The stay, if granted, would have remained in effect during the period of time in which the DOE was considering a final determination with respect to NHC's statement of objections to the September 30, 1977, proposed decision. In considering NHC's application for stay, the DOE found that NHC had provided no financial data for any other information which demonstrated that the firm would experience an irreparable injury in the absence of a stay. The DOE also determined that NHC had failed to demonstrate that it satisfied any of the other criteria for the approval of a stay. Accordingly, NHC's application for stay was denied.

REQUEST FOR MODIFICATION OR RESCISSION
Univar Corp., Seattle, Wash., FMR-0117, Reporting Requirements

Univar Corp. filed an application for modification of an FEA notice which had been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 16, 1976. That notice identified Univar as a corporation which had consumed at least 1 trillion BTUs of energy during 1975, and was therefore among the 50 most energy-consuming firms in SIC Code 20 (41 FR 54977, December 16, 1976). As a result of that notice, Univar is required to participate in a reporting program under the provisions of section 375 of the Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA). In considering Univar's request, the DOE found that as a result of the termination of certain production activities in SIC Code 20 for the 1978 fiscal year would be substantially less than the amount of energy consumed in 1975 by all reporting firms in SIC Code 20. In addition, the DOE found that Univar's sales revenues in SIC Code 20 for the 1978 fiscal year would be reduced by approximately 27 percent. Consequently, the DOE determined that Univar had experienced "significantly changed circumstances" and concluded that the firm should be relieved of the obligation to report energy consumption data to the DOE under the provisions of section 375 of the EPCA.

SUMMARY DECISIONS

The following firms filed applications for stay of remedial orders which had been issued to them by the DOE. In considering the stay requests, the DOE referred to a recent Decision in Rickelson Oil & Gas Co., 6 FEA Par. 85,029 (August 24, 1977), in which it held that a remedial order will generally be stayed pending the determination of an appeal unless it appeared that the public interest required immediate compliance with the remedial order. Since the record in these cases did not indicate that the public interest required immediate compliance with the remedial order, the DOE granted the requests for stay pending consideration of the appeals.

[ERA Docket No. WAPA 78-1]

CENTRAL VALLEY PROJECT, WESTERN AREA POWER ADMINISTRATION

Amendment to Notice of Intent To Act on Proposal for Interim Rates

On January 17, 1978, the Department of Energy issued a Notice of Intent to Act on Proposal for Interim Rates for the Central Valley Project, Western Area Power Administration, 43 FR 3158 (January 23, 1978). The Notice invited interested parties to submit written comments relevant to the proposed interim rates by February 22, 1978.

Section 501(c)(1) of the Department of Energy Organization Act, Pub. L. 95-91, requires that an opportunity for the oral presentation of views, data, and arguments be provided if the Secretary of energy "determines that a substantial issue of fact or law exists or that such rule, regulation, or order is likely to have a substantial impact on the Nation's economy or large numbers of individuals or businesses . . .". While there has not been such a Secretarial determination, DOE wishes to afford interested parties the opportunity to make oral presentations relevant to the proposed interim rates.

The DOE, therefore, hereby amends the January 17, 1978, Notice, 43 FR 3158 (January 23, 1978), by advising the public that an opportunity for an oral presentation will be afforded upon request. Any person who has an interest in this matter or is a representative of a group or class of persons that has an interest in it, may make a written request for an opportunity to make an oral presentation at a public hearing. Such a request can be mailed or hand delivered to: Office of Regulations Management, Box RH, Department of Energy, 2000 M Street NW., Room 2214, Washington, D.C. 20461, and must be received before 4:30 p.m., e.s.t., February 15, 1978. The request shall state the name of the person making the request, identify the interest represented and if appropriate, state why he or she is a proper representative of a group or class of persons that has such an interest, give a concise summary of the proposed oral presentation, and give a telephone number where the person may be contacted.

The public hearing will be held in Room 1140, Federal Building, 2800 Cottage Way, Sacramento, Calif., on February 27, 1978, at 9:30 a.m., and will be continued if necessary.

DOE reserves the right to select the persons to be heard and to schedule their respective presentations and to establish the procedures governing the conduct of the hearings. The length of each presentation may be limited based on the number of persons requesting to be heard.

It is not contemplated that the public hearing will be adjudicative in nature. A DOE official will be designated to preside at the hearing and any further procedural rules needed for the proper conduct of the hearing will be announced by the presiding official. Each person selected to be heard will be notified by DOE before 4:30 p.m., e.s.t., on February 21, 1978.

Interested persons who wish to submit written comments are reminded that such comments are due on or before February 22, 1978, as provided in the original Notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 23, 1978 (43 FR 3158).

The hearing record will be available for inspection at the DOE Freedom of Information Office, Room 2107, Federal Building, 12th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Issued in Washington, D.C., January 26, 1978.

Assistant Administrator for Utility Systems, Economic Regula-

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

(F-14909-A)

ALASKA

Publication: Alaska Native Claims Selection

On January 13, 1964, pursuant to section 6(b) of the Alaska Statehood Act of July 7, 1958 (72 Stat. 339, 340; 48 U.S.C. Ch. 2, Sec. 6(b) (1970)), the State of Alaska filed general purposes grant selection applications for the following lands:

Serial No.	Township	Umat Meridian, Alaska
F-031814	T. 10 N., R. 4 E., all, excluding any lands lying within Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4.
F-031823	T. 10 N., R. 5 E., all, excluding any land lying within Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4.
F-031813	T. 11 N., R. 4 E., all, excluding any lands lying within Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4.
F-031812	T. 12 N., R. 4 E., all, excluding any lands lying within Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 4.

The above then unsurveyed and were tentatively approved to the State by decision dated November 23, 1964. By decisions dated February 7 and 19, and April 10, 1969, the tentative approvals were modified to conform the acreage to that shown on the official plats of survey.

On June 16, 1972, the State amended each of the above applications to include all unpatented lands in each township selected which included those lands withdrawn by Executive Order 3797-A, dated February 27, 1923, as amended, establishing what is now known as the National Petroleum Reserve in Alaska. Section 6(b) of the Alaska Statehood Act of July 7, 1958, provides that the State may select vacant, unappropriated and unreserved public lands in Alaska.

Therefore, in view of the above, the following State selection applications must be and are hereby rejected as to those lands lying within the National Petroleum Reserve in Alaska as follows:

Serial No.	Legal description	Acres
F-031814	T. 10 N., R. 4 E., tracts B and C, all.	21,768.08
F-031823	T. 10 N., R. 5 E., tracts B and C, all.	3,052.57
F-031813	T. 11 N., R. 4 E., tract B, all.	14,079.50
F-031812	T. 12 N., R. 4 E., tract B, all.	5,020.94
	Aggregating 43,921.17 acres.

On November 15, 1973, Kuugpik Corp., Inc., for the Native village of Nooksut (Nuiqsut, Nuiqsat), filed selection application F-014909-A under the provisions of section 12 of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of December 18, 1971 (85 Stat. 688, 701; 43 U.S.C. 1601, 1611 (Supp. V, 1975)) for the surface estate of certain lands in the Nooksut area including lands within the subject State selections.

Section 12(a)(1) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act provides that village selections shall be made from lands withdrawn by section 11(a). Section 11(a)(2) further withdrew for possible selection by the Native corporation those lands within the townships described in section 11(a)(1) that had been selected by, or tentatively approved to, but not yet patented to the State under the Alaska Statehood Act. Section 12(a) further provided, however, that no village corporation may select more than 69,120 acres from lands withdrawn by section 11(a)(2).

The lands described below were properly selected by Kuugpik Corp., Inc. in village selection application F-14909-A pursuant to section 12(a)(1) of the act. Accordingly, the following State selection applications, filed on January 13, 1964, as amended, must be and are hereby rejected and tentative approvals granted November 23, 1964, as modified, are hereby rescinded as to the lands described below:

Serial No.	Description
F-031814	T. 10 N., R. 4 E., all those portions of Tract "A" within (protracted) sections 2 and 11; All that portion of Tract "D" within (protracted) section 13. Containing approximately 195 acres.
F-031823	T. 10 N., R. 5 E., all those portions of Tract "A" within (protracted) sections 17, 18, 20, and 29. Containing approximately 1,433 acres.
F-031813	T. 11 N., R. 4 E., all those portions of Tract "A" within (protracted) sections 3, 10, 14, 15, 16, 22, 23, 26, 27, 34, and 35. Tract C, all. Containing approximately 3,642.43 acres.
F-031812	T. 12 N., R. 4 E., all those portions of Tract "A" within (protracted) sections 5 through 9, 16, 17, 20, and 21. Containing approximately 3,157 acres. Aggregating approximately 8,427.43 acres.

Further action on the above State selection applications as to those lands not rejected herein will be taken at a later date.

The total amount of State selected lands rejected to permit the conveyance hereinbelow approved totals approximately 8,427.43 acres, which is less than the 69,120 acres available for selection pursuant to section 12(a)(1) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act.

As to the lands described below, the application submitted by Kuugpik Corp., Inc., as amended, is properly filed and meets the requirements of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act and of the regulations issued pursuant thereto. These lands do not include any lawful entry perfected under or being maintained in compliance with Federal laws leading to acquisition of title.

In view of the foregoing, the surface estate of the following described lands, selected pursuant to section 12(a), aggregating approximately 43,020 acres, is considered proper for acquisition by Kuugpik Corp., Inc., and is hereby approved for conveyance pursuant to section 14(a) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act:

Deviations from the waterline are permitted when specific conditions so require, e.g., impassable topography or waterfront obstruction. This easement is subject to the right of the owner of the servient estate to build upon such easement a facility for public or private purposes, such right to be exercised reasonably and without undue or unnecessary interference with or obstruction of the easement. When access along the marine coastline easement is to be obstructed, the owner of the servient estate will be obligated to convey to the United States an acceptable alternate access route, at no cost to the United States, prior to the creation of such obstruction.

These easements also include the right to build any related facilities necessary for the exercise of the right to transport energy, fuel, and natural resources, including those related facilities necessary during period of planning, locating, constructing, operating, maintaining, or terminating transportation systems. The specific location of these easements shall be determined only after consultation with the owner of the servient estate. Whenever the use of such easements shall require removal or relocation of any structure owned or authorized by the owner of the servient estate, such use shall not be initiated without the consent of the owner of such improvement; provided, however, that the United States may exercise the right of eminent domain if such consent is not given. Only those portions of these easements that are actually in use or that are expressly authorized on March 3, 1996, shall continue to be in force.

(g) In addition to the foregoing, the United States incorporates by reference the agreement of May 14, 1974, between the United States Department of the Navy, Arctic Slope Regional Corporation, Kuugpik Corp., Inc., and three other Native village corporations, and reserves those easements necessary to implement said agreement. A copy of the agreement is located in Bureau of Land Management file F-14909-EE.

The grant of lands shall be subject to:

1. Issuance of a patent confirming the boundary description of the lands hereinabove granted after approval and filing by the Bureau of Land Management of the official plat of survey covering such lands;

2. Valid existing rights therein, if any, including but not limited to those created by any lease (including a lease issued under section 6(g) of the Alaska Statehood Act of July 7, 1958 (72 Stat. 339, 341; 48 U.S.C. Ch. 2, Sec. 6(g) (1970))), contract, permit, right-of-way, or easement, and the right of the lessee, contractee, permittee, or grantee to the complete enjoyment of all rights, privileges, and benefits thereby granted to him;

3. Requirements of section 14(c) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of December 18, 1971 (85 Stat. 688, 703; 43 U.S.C. 1601, 1613(c) (Supp. V, 1975)), that the grantee hereunder convey those portions, if any, of the lands hereinabove granted, as are prescribed in said section; and

4. The terms and conditions of the agreement dated August 6, 1976 between the Secretary of the Interior, Arctic Slope Regional Corp., Kuugpik Corp., Inc. and the seven other Arctic Slope village corporations. A copy of the agreement shall be attached to and become a part of the conveyance document and shall be recorded therewith. A copy of the agreement is located in the Bureau of Land Management easement case file for Kuugpik Corp., Inc., serialized F-14909-EE. Any person wishing to examine this agreement may do so at the Bureau of Land Management, Alaska State Office, 555 Cordova Street, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

Kuugpik Corp., Inc., is entitled to conveyance of 115,200 acres of land selected pursuant to section 12(a) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act. Upon this initial conveyance of the 43,020 acres described herein, a total of approximately 72,180 acres will remain to be conveyed to the corporation before the village reaches full 12(a) entitlement. The remaining entitlement will be conveyed at a later date.

Pursuant to section 14(f) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act conveyance of the subsurface estate of the lands described in paragraph A above shall be granted to the Arctic Slope Regional Corp. when conveyance is granted to Kuugpik Corp., Inc., for the surface estate, and shall be subject to the same conditions as the surface conveyance. The lands described in paragraph B above are considered to be involved in the National Petroleum Reserve in Alaska (NPR-A) boundary dispute; conveyance of the subsurface estate of the portion of these lands which actually lie outside NPR-A will be issued to the Arctic Slope Regional Corp., pursuant to section 14(f) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, when a final determination of the boundary has been made. It should be noted that no conveyance will be issued to the Arctic Slope Regional Corp. for the subsurface estate of the lands described in paragraph C, which lie within NPR-A. Section 12(a)(1) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act provides that when a village corporation selects the surface estate to lands within this reserve, the regional corporation may make in lieu selections of the subsurface estate, in an equal acreage, from other lands withdrawn by subsection 11(a) of the act; therefore, Arctic Slope Regional Corp. is entitled to approximately 27,438 acres in lieu subsurface estate, which equals the acreage in paragraph C to be conveyed to Kuugpik Corp., Inc. Additional in lieu lands equal in acreage to those in paragraph B, if any, which are determined to lie within NPR-A will also be conveyed to Arctic Slope Regional Corp. at a later date.

No determination of navigability or tidal influence affecting the inland water bodies within the lands herein described is necessary as the lands were withdrawn by Public Land Order No. 82 (43 FR 1796, February 3, 1943) when the Alaska Statehood Act of July 7, 1958 was passed (see 72 Stat. 339, 343; 48 U.S.C. Ch. 2, sec. 6(m) (1970)); therefore, the lands beneath tidal or navigable water bodies did not vest in the State pursuant to the Submerged Lands Act of May 22, 1953 (67 Stat. 29, 32, section 5; 43 U.S.C. Ch. 29, 1313(a) (1970)).

In accordance with Departmental regulation 43 CFR 2650.7(d), notice of this decision is being published once in the FEDERAL REGISTER and once a week, for four (4) consecutive weeks, in the Fairbanks Daily News-Miner. Any party claiming a property interest in lands affected by this decision may appeal the decision to the Alaska Native Claims Appeal Board, P.O. Box 2433, Anchorage, Alaska 99510, with a copy served upon both the Bureau of Land Management, Alaska State Office, 555 Cordova Street, Anchorage, Alaska 99501 and the Regional Solicitor, Office of the Solicitor, 510 L Street, Suite 408, Anchorage, Alaska 99501, also:

1. Any party receiving service of this decision shall have 30 days from the receipt of this decision to file an appeal.

2. Any unknown parties, any parties unable to be located after reasonable efforts have been expended to locate, and any parties who failed or refused to sign the return receipt shall have until March 3, 1978, to file an appeal.

3. Any party known or unknown who may claim a property interest which is adversely affected by this decision shall be deemed to have waived those rights which were adversely affected unless an appeal is timely filed with the Alaska Native Claim Appeal Board.

To avoid summary dismissal of the appeal, there must be strict compliance with the regulations governing such appeals. Further information on the manner of, and the requirements for filing an appeal may be obtained from the Bureau of Land Management, 555 Cordova Street, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

If an appeal is taken, the adverse parties to be served are:

INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION

(Investigation No. 337-TA-31)

CERTAIN STEEL TOY VEHICLES

Notice and Order Concerning Procedure for Commission Determination and Action

Notice is hereby given that—

1. The Commission will hold a hearing beginning at 10 a.m., e.s.t., Monday, March 20, 1978, in the Commission's Hearing Room, 701 E Street NW., Washington, D.C., for the purposes of (1) hearing oral argument on the recommended determination of the presiding officer, concerning whether there is a violation of section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930; (2) hearing oral argument concerning appropriate relief in the event the Commission determines that there is a violation of section 337 and determines that there should be relief; and (3) receiving information and hearing oral argument, as provided for in § 210.14(a) of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (19 CFR Part 210), concerning bonding and the public interest factors set forth in section 337 (d) and (f) of the Tariff Act, which the Commission is to consider in the event it determines that there is a violation of section 337 and determines that there should be relief. The latter two proceedings are legislative in character, and therefore the hearing on remedy, bonding, and the public interest will not be subject to the requirements of 5 U.S.C. 556, 557. These phases of the hearing will be conducted in accordance with § 201.11 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (19 CFR 201.11). All these matters are being heard all on the same day in order that this investigation may be completed within the time limits prescribed by section 337.

Parties and agencies wishing to make oral argument with respect to the recommended determination shall be limited in each oral argument to no more than 30 minutes, 10 minutes of which may be reserved by the staff and complainant for rebuttal.

For the purpose of the part of the hearing on relief, bonding, and the public interest factors, parties, interested persons, and agencies will be limited to no more than 15 minutes for making presentations. Participants will be permitted an additional 5 minutes for closing arguments after all the presentations have been concluded. Participants with similar interests may be required to share time. The Commission Investigative Staff will be separately allotted the full time available to a party.

Requests for appearances at the hearing should be filed, in writing, with the Secretary of the Commission at his office in Washington no later than noon, February 3, 1978. Requests should indicate the part of the hearing (i.e., with respect to the recommended determination; relief; bonding; or the public interest factors or any combination of them) in which the requesting person desires to participate. Issues of law or fact based on the record certified to the Commission may be filed with the Commission.

2. Briefs concerning exceptions to the recommended determination may be filed by any party or agency. Complainant's brief shall be filed not later than the close of business, Monday, February 13, 1978, respondent's brief and brief of the Commission investigative staff, shall be filed not later than the close of business, Tuesday, February 28, 1978; and complainant's reply brief, if any, shall be filed not later than Thursday, March 9, 1978. The Commission Investigative Staff is here being required to brief at the same time as the Respondent because their views closely parallel each other. This order of briefing will enhance the adversary opportunities and thereby presumably produce the most useful briefing in this case. We do not suggest by this order that the staff has lost its independent status in this or any other case. Briefs shall be served on all parties of record on the date they are filed. The cover of complainant's brief shall be blue; respondent's brief, red; Commission investigative staff's brief, green; and any reply briefs, gray. Concerned Government agencies may file briefs on any issue related to the recommended decision in the same style and at the same time as the Commission investigative staff. Parties, persons and agencies are encouraged to consolidate their briefing where their positions are the same and to refer to the record.

3. Written comments and information are encouraged by any party, interested person, Government agency, or Government concerning relief, bonding, and the public interest factors set forth in section 337(d) and (f) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1337), which the Commission is to consider in the event it determines that there should be relief. Such comments and information shall be filed with the Secretary in one original and ten copies on the dates set forth below, and the comments and information shall thereafter be available for inspection and copying by any person, except as respects in camera comments and information, which are to be treated as described below.

Comments and information on remedy, bonding and public interest will be as follows: Complainant shall file a detailed proposed Commission action, including a determination of bonding, on or before Monday, February 12, 1978. Complainant shall, at the same time, file such comment and information as it has respecting the effect of its proposed Commission actions upon the public health and welfare, competitive conditions in the United States economy, the production of like or directly competitive articles in the United States and U.S. consumers (the "public interest" factors). Thereafter, on or before February 28, 1978, any person, agency, or government may file written comments on and information pertaining to alternatives (if any) to the proposed Commission action and whether any Commission action ought or ought not to be taken after consideration of the effect of the action upon the public interest factors.

A request for in camera treatment of such comments and information must include a full statement of the reasons for granting in camera treatment. The Commission will then either accept such information in camera, or it will return the information.

Notice of the Commission's institution of the investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 15, 1977 (42 FR 19933).

By order of the Commission.

Issued: January 27, 1978.

KENNETH R. MASON,
Secretary.

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

NIE AND NSF COLLABORATION IN RESEARCH ON COGNITIVE PROCESSES AND THE STRUCTURE OF KNOWLEDGE IN SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS

Important Notice No. 70, dated January 5, 1978, announced that the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the National Institute of Education (NIE) are cooperating in a program of research to improve instruction in science and mathematics. The two agencies have established procedures for collaborative administration of this program, including the review of proposals seeking support for such research.

The program seeks to increase significantly the understanding of the cognitive processes, structures, or principles of importance in learning science or mathematics. Support will therefore be provided, on a competitive basis, for projects which combine all of the following:

- A focus upon learning-activities appropriate for students in the age range from elementary school to introductory college level. (Instruction at the advanced undergraduate and graduate level is excluded. However, instruction in settings outside the conventional school environment is included in the intent of this program.)
- The efforts of investigators who are experts in science or mathematics with the efforts of investigators who study human cognition. (It is expected that one or more of the investigators will have experience in instruction at the appropriate level or that an additional collaborator will bring that expertise to the project.)

-An emphasis upon cognitive processes or structures involved in learning a substantial segment of science or mathematics.

Proposals eligible for the new program might address any of a wide variety of research problems. The following list is meant to be illustrative only:

- Learning of important scientific or mathematical bodies of knowledge, including their use in problem solving;
- The cognitive representation of scientific or mathematical knowledge;
- Innovative approaches to the testing of such learning;
- The effects of instructional activities, especially, the interaction of such activities with the underlying concepts and/or strategies used to acquire such knowledge;
- Studies investigating the similarities and differences among (1) scientific and mathematical knowledge as it is formally structured by experts in those fields, (2) cognitive representations of that knowledge in experts and novices, and (3) the structure of that knowledge as it is presented in instruction;
- Individual and group differences (including sex differences) in cognitive processing, interests, social and cultural backgrounds, and how these affect optimal instructional strategies for attaining and using scientific or mathematical knowledge;
- Instructional strategies, suitable for use in technologically assisted instruction in science or mathematics, based on cognitive and instructional theory;
- Effects of alternative modes of representation—writing, visual and kinesthetic imagery, etc.—upon the learning of scientific concepts.

A prospective applicant should submit a preliminary proposal for analysis and comment prior to submitting a formal proposal; however, a formal proposal may be submitted without a preliminary proposal. There are no fixed limits upon the cost or duration of a proposed project, but exceptional justification is required for support exceeding $150,000 or 24 months. Each preliminary proposal should provide a ten-page narrative which includes brief summaries of:

- The questions addressed.
- What is already known that is pertinent to the questions and to the proposed research.
- The importance of the proposed research to the learning of science and mathematics.
- The procedures that would be followed.
- The facilities and other resources available to the project.
- The qualifications of the proposed investigators, with respect to the specific subject matter, cognitive science, and instructional experience.

-Expected costs for personnel, equipment, materials and supplies, and other functions, including indirect costs.

The deadline for the receipt of preliminary proposals is March 1, 1978. Ten (10) copies of each such proposal must contain the following information:

- Descriptive Title of Project (maximum: 12 words);
- Name of Institution; City, State and Zip Code;
- Proposed Project Director (one only); Title, Department, address and telephone (include area code for Office and Home);
- Discipline(s) involved in project;
- Level of education (e.g. elementary, grade 4-6, introductory college);
- Proposed starting date of Project;
- Proposed duration of project: (number of months);
- Total $ support requested from NIE-NSF;
- Indicate if proposal has been or will be submitted in whole or in part to other possible sponsors, including NIE, NSF, or other Federal agencies. (Such information will not prejudice the review).
- Signature of Proposed Project Director and signature of Authorizing Official (Authorizing Official's signature is optional).
- Date of Submission:

These proposals should be mailed to:

Joint NIE-NSF Research Program, Science Education Directorate, National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C. 20550.

The signature of the official who is authorized to execute grant applications for the institution is not required for a preliminary proposal, at least insofar as NSF and NIE are concerned.

The program operates on a fiscal year which begins on October 1 and ends on September 30. Awards will be announced as early as possible, but probably not prior to late September in any given year. The results of the NIE-NSF review of a preliminary proposal will be provided to the proposer by April 15, and will include a recommendation for or against the preparation of a formal proposal, together with the requirements of a formal proposal and the criteria by which each will be reviewed.

Anyone who needs additional information concerning this program should address the inquiry to one of the two individuals listed below:

Susan F. Chipman, NIE Associate, Learning Division, National Institute of Education, Washington, D.C. 20208 (Telephone: 202-254-5766).

Erik D. McWilliams, Program Manager, Science Education Development and Research, National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C. 20550 (telephone: 202-282-7900).

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFEGUARDS

SUBCOMMITTEE ON EMERGENCY CORE COOLING SYSTEMS (ECCS)

Meeting

The ACRS Subcommittee on Emergency Core Cooling will hold a meeting on February 16, 1978 in Room 1046, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20555, to discuss the Westinghouse WRB-1 Critical Heat Transfer Correlation, the Westinghouse Improved Thermal Design Procedures, Transient Tests conducted at the Peach Bottom Nuclear Plant by General Electric, and a review of work being done on ECCS pump reliability and vortex control and sump design. Other matters of current interest to the ECCS Subcommittee and consultants may also be reported on by the NRC Staff.

In accordance with the procedures outlined in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 31, 1977, page 56972, oral or written statements may be presented by members of the public, recordings will be permitted only during those portions of the meeting when a transcript is being kept, and questions may be asked only by members of the Subcommittee, its consultants, and Staff. Persons desiring to make oral statements should notify the Designated Federal Employee as far in advance as practicable so that appropriate arrangements can be made to allow the necessary time during the meeting for such statements.

The agenda for subject meeting shall be as follows:

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1978

8:30 A.M. UNTIL THE CONCLUSION OF BUSINESS

The Subcommittee may meet in Executive Session, with any of its consultants who may be present, to explore and exchange their preliminary opinions regarding matters which should be considered during the meeting and to formulate a report and recommendations to the full Committee.

At the conclusion of the Executive Session, the Subcommittee will hear presentations by and hold discussions with representatives of the NRC Staff, the Westinghouse Electric Corp., and their consultants, pertinent to the above topics. The Subcommittee may then caucus to determine whether the matters identified in the initial session have been adequately covered and whether the project is ready for review by the full Committee.

In addition, it may be necessary for the Subcommittee to hold one or more closed sessions for the purpose of exploring matters involving proprietary information. I have determined, in accordance with subsection 10(d) of Pub. L. 92-463, that, should such sessions be required, it is necessary to close these sessions to protect proprietary information (5 U.S.C. 552b(c)(4)).

Further information regarding topics to be discussed, whether the meeting has been cancelled or rescheduled, the Chairman's ruling on requests for the opportunity to present oral statements and the time allotted therefor can be obtained by a prepaid telephone call to the Designated Federal Employee for this meeting, Dr. Andrew L. Bates, telephone 202-634-1919, between 8:15 a.m. and 5 p.m., e.s.t.

Dated: January 27, 1978.

CAMERA COVERAGE OF HEARINGS BEFORE ATOMIC SAFETY AND LICENSING BOARDS AND ATOMIC SAFETY AND LICENSING APPEAL BOARDS

General Statement of Policy

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has considered requests from television stations and newspapers to permit the use of cameras during proceedings before Atomic Safety and Licensing Boards and Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Boards. In the past the NRC has permitted cameras to be used only before and after adjudicatory sessions and during recesses. The Commission has decided that, on a trial basis, it will permit the use of television and still cameras by accredited news media under certain conditions. Cameras may be used by news media during hearings and related public proceedings before Atomic Safety and Licensing Boards and Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Boards provided they do not require additional lighting beyond that required for the conduct of the proceeding and are stationed at a fixed position within the hearing room throughout the course of the proceeding. It will continue to be the practice of the hearing and appeal boards to use Federal or State court rooms when these facilities are available and in such cases the policy of those courts in regard to the use of cameras will be observed.

The Commission plans to reassess this policy in about six months after its hearing and appeal boards have had sufficient experience with camera coverage to determine whether it can be carried out without disruption to the proceeding or unacceptable distraction to the participants.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of January 1978.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

SAMUEL J. CHIL,
Secretary of the Commission.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-14358; File No. SR-Amex-77-30]

AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, 16 (June 4, 1975), notice is hereby given that on January 3, 1978, the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a proposed rule change as follows:

STATEMENT OF TERMS OF SUBSTANCE OF THE PROPOSED RULE CHANGE

The American Stock Exchange, Inc. (the "Amex"), proposes to rescind its rule 182. This provision currently requires Amex members who specialize in stocks, voting trust certificates or other securities admitted to dealings on the Amex pursuant to extensions of unlisted trading privileges to deposit with the Amex at least one share, certificate or receipt as to every such issue. Securities thus deposited are held in the name of a nominee designated by the Exchange and are deemed to be the absolute property of the Exchange so long as a member continues to act as specialist in the issue(s).

AMEX'S STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The basis and purpose of the foregoing proposed rule change is as follows:

Rule 182 was originally adopted to enable the Exchange to obtain current financial and operating information concerning issuers whose shares are admitted to unlisted trading privileges. However, since these issuers must now be registered with the Commission under section 12 of the Exchange Act and are therefore required to file periodic information under section 13 of the Act, the maintenance of the nominee account established under rule 182 is no longer necessary.

Rescission of rule 182 would remove a requirement which the Exchange has determined serves no regulatory purpose. As such the Amex cites section 6(b)(5) of the Act as statutory basis for the proposed rescission. Section 6(b)(5) provides, among other things, that the rules of a national securities exchange not be designed to regulate matters unrelated to the purposes of the Act or administration of a particular exchange.

The Amex states that no comments were solicited or received with respect to the proposed rule change.

Further, the Amex asserts that no burden on competition will be imposed by the proposed rescission of rule 182.

By March 8, 1978, or within such longer period: (i) As the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding, or (ii) as to which the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule change, or

CHICAGO BOARD OPTIONS EXCHANGE, INC.

Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

JANUARY 23, 1978.

In the matter of Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc., LaSalle at Jackson, Chicago, Ill. 60604.

On December 1, 1977, the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc., filed with the Commission, pursuant to section 19(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975, and rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change. This filing was amended on December 2, 1977. The purposes of the proposed rule change are to submit to the vote of the membership the terms and conditions of future membership offerings, and to withdraw an offering of Exchange memberships which commenced in April 1977 as to those which were unsold as of August 29, 1977. The proposed rule change is consistent with section 6(c)(7) of the Act which provides inter alia that the rules of the exchange should assure a fair representation of its members in the administration of its affairs. As to those memberships which by this proposal would be withdrawn, section 6(c)(4) of the Act permits an exchange to decrease the number of memberships in such exchange. However, an exchange is prohibited from decreasing the number of memberships below such number in effect on May 1, 1975, or the date such exchange was registered with the Commission, whichever is later. The proposed rule change would not violate that statutory provision.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by publication of a Commission release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 14235, (December 8, 1977)) and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 63496 (December 16, 1977)).

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to registered national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of section 6 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change filed with the Commission on December 1, 1977, be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

[Release No. 14411]

ESTABLISHMENT OF NATIONAL CLEARANCE AND SETTLEMENT SYSTEM

Hearing and Request for Comments

JANUARY 25, 1978.

The Securities and Exchange Commission announced today that it will hold public hearings beginning March 7, 1978 on the matters discussed herein. Persons who wish to submit written comments on these matters should do so by March 15, 1978.

BACKGROUND AND INTRODUCTION

In March 1976, National Securities Clearing Corp. ("NSCC") filed with the Commission an application for registration as a clearing agency pursuant to section 17A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), 15 U.S.C. 78q-1, as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975 (the "1975 Amendments"), and Rule 17Ab2-1 thereunder, 17 CFR 240.17Ab2-1. NSCC's application contemplated that NSCC would perform the clearing and settlement operations then performed by the American Stock Exchange Clearing Corp. ("ASECC"), National Clearing Corp. ("NCC") and Stock Clearing Corp. ("SCC").

The Commission instituted proceedings pursuant to section 19(a)(1) of the Act to determine whether to grant or deny registration.¹ These proceedings included public hearings on June 16, 17, and 18, 1976.

Based upon the hearings, a review of comments from interested persons, and the analysis of economic and other data prepared by its staff, the Commission tentatively concluded that the registration of NSCC would be a positive and useful step in the development of a national system for the clearance and settlement of securities transactions ("National System"). The Commission announced on November 3, 1976, that it was considering the approval of the NSCC application subject to four conditions and requested public comments thereon.² After considering comments received, the Commission, on January 13, 1977, announced it had determined to permit provisional registration by NSCC based upon its conclusion that NSCC's registration, subject to certain conditions specified in its order,³ would be "an essential step toward the establishment, at an early date, of a comprehensive network of linked clearance and settlement systems and branch facilities with the national scope, efficiencies and safeguards envisioned by Congress in enacting the 1975 Amendments."⁴ NSCC was prohibited, however, from operating as an integrated system the clearing and settlement systems then operated by ASECC, SCC and NCC—referred to as Phase II—Until each of the conditions had been met.⁵ NSCC indicated its belief that Phase II could be initiated within 120 days of the date NSCC's registration was granted. The Commission's Order also set forth the Commission's views on the minimum capabilities of a National System.⁶

In granting NSCC's registration on a provisional basis, the Commission indicated its intention "to monitor closely the effects" of its decision and "if necessary, substantially modify or reverse that decision."⁷ The Commission also reserved the right to "modify any part of the conditions prior to the initiation of Phase II operations if the ¹The conditions to the Order provided that prior to the commencement of Phase II NSCC should have:

(i) Established full interfaces with each of the Midwest Clearing Corp. ("MCC"); Pacific Clearing Corp. ("PCC"); and Stock Clearing Corp. of Philadelphia ("SCCP") and appropriate links with Boston Stock Exchange Clearing Corp. ("BSECC") and TAD Depository Corp. ("TADDC") and offered to operate each interface and link under agreements which would provide that the parties to the interface or link would not charge each other for interface movements or charge their participants either an interface fee or any fee which would operate as an interface fee;

(ii) Provided, at cost, efficient facilities, and cooperated with brokers and dealers and other registered clearing agencies in the development of alternative means, through which brokers and dealers may compare, either directly or through an agent, transactions eligible for comparison at NSCC, and enabled its participants to effect comparison, clearance and settlement of New York Stock Exchange, Inc. ("NYSE"), American Stock Exchange, Inc. ("Amex") and over-the-counter ("OTC") transactions through the NSCC branch network;

(iii) Begun operating existing NCC branch facilities so that those facilities, and any other branch facilities established by NSCC, provide, at a minimum, the same level of service provided through the facilities to NSCC participants to participants in any other registered clearing agency which agrees to use any of the facilities and to defray a portion of any such facility's operating costs equal to such clearing agency's proportionate use of the facility; and

(iv) Furnished without charge to any registered clearing agency which requested them computer programs for the performance of trade comparison for OTC transactions between the registered clearing agency's participants and made arrangements for any other registered clearing agency which is willing to do so to compare all OTC transactions between participants in different registered clearing agencies, without charge to such registered clearing agencies, or, if no other registered clearing agency is willing to do so, undertaken to compare all such transactions without charge to registered clearing agencies. Id., 117-118.

²Id., 21-30.

³Id., 111.

⁴ASECC, NCC and SCC were wholly-owned subsidiaries of the American Stock Exchange, Inc., the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., and the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., respectively.

⁵The Commission gave public notice of the institution of proceedings in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12489 (May 28, 1976), 41 FR 23255 (June 9, 1976).

⁶Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12954 (November 3, 1976), 41 FR 49721 (November 10, 1976).

Commission determines that NSCC's satisfaction of the conditions is being delayed by other persons or that such action is necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of the Act."⁸

Subsequent to the issuance of the Order, Bradford National Clearing Corp. ("BNCC") and Bradford Securities Processing Services, Inc. ("BSPS") sought review of the Order in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. NSCC, among others, intervened in the lawsuit, which is still pending.

During the one-year period since NSCC was granted registration, some but not all of the conditions have been satisfied. Specifically, interfaces for the clearance of OTC transactions have not been established with MCC or SCCP, the branch facilities operations have not begun, and an appropriate link has not been developed with TADDC.⁹

MATTERS TO BE EXAMINED DURING THE HEARINGS

In order to fulfill its responsibilities under the Act, the Commission has determined to receive, in a public forum, data, views and arguments on the events which have taken place during the past year in the clearance and settlement area and the problems which are impeding the development of an efficient, competitive National System. In particular, the Commission intends to examine the progress that has been made toward satisfaction of the conditions to NSCC's registration, whether the conditions to NSCC's registration are having their intended effect, and whether modifications to the Commission's Order and the conditions contained therein may be necessary. Data and views also will be solicited on whether there currently are geographic differences in the costs of engaging in business as a broker or dealer which make inappropriate geographic mutualization of charges for clearing and settlement services.

Finally, the Commission intends to receive testimony from persons who believe that the registration of NSCC has not furthered progress toward a National System and to what steps they perceive to be necessary or appropriate at this time to facilitate the establishment of a National System in a manner which furthers the objectives of the Act.

INFORMATION PERTAINING TO PUBLIC HEARINGS

Public hearings on the foregoing matters, pursuant to the provisions of Sections 2, 17A, 19, 21, 22, and 23 of the Act, will commence at 10 a.m., ⁹Id., 112.

¹⁰The Commission does not intend to indicate any prejudgment as to the reasons these conditions have not been satisfied.

Tuesday, March 7, 1978, in Room 776 at the Headquarters Office of the Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549 and continue thereafter at such times and places as the officers named herein may determine. Persons appearing at the hearings will be permitted to give a brief oral presentation addressing the issues of their choice pertaining to the establishment of a National System. The Commission intends to question persons appearing at the hearings concerning the above-mentioned issues, and, in order to allow sufficient time for the Commission's inquiries, initial oral presentations may not exceed fifteen minutes. Participants in the hearings, however, may submit more extensive written statements at least four days before their appearance. All oral statements from witnesses will be taken under oath or affirmation.

For the purpose of these hearings it is ordered that, Andrew M. Klein, Sheldon Rappaport, Roger D. Blanc, Harry F. Day, Robert J. Millstone, and Harry Melamed be, and hereby are, designated hearing officers to preside over such hearings, to administer oaths and affirmations, to subpoena witnesses, to compel their attendance, to take evidence, to require the production of any books, papers and other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry and to perform such other duties in connection therewith as prescribed by law.

Any interested person who wishes to appear at the hearings should notify Robert J. Millstone at 202-755-8777 by Friday, February 24, 1978. Persons who plan to make a prepared statement should submit 25 copies of their statement not later than four business days in advance of their scheduled date of appearance.

Prior to or during the hearings, any person may submit written questions to be directed to a particular witness or group of witnesses; but the presiding hearing officer will determine in his sole discretion whether or to what extent to direct those questions to any witness.

A list of witnesses, setting forth the time of their scheduled appearances, will be published in the SEC News Digest.

REQUEST FOR COMMENTS

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments by March 15, 1978. Six copies of each comment letter should be submitted addressed to George A. Fitzsimmons, Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549. Reference should be made to File No. 600-15. All such communications will be placed in the file and will be available for public inspection.

FORD INTERNATIONAL CAPITAL CORP.

Application and Opportunity for Hearing

JANUARY 24, 1978.

Notice is hereby given that Ford International Capital Corp. ("Applicant") has filed an application pursuant to section 12(h) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "1934 Act") for an order exempting the Applicant from the provisions of section 13 of that Act.

Section 13 of the 1934 Act provides that every issuer of a security registered pursuant to section 12 of that Act, shall file with the Commission, in accordance with such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe as necessary or appropriate for the proper protection of investors and to insure fair dealing in the security, such information and documents as the Commission shall require to keep reasonably current the information included in the registration statement, and such annual and quarterly reports the Commission may prescribe.

Section 12(h) of the 1934 Act empowers the commission to exempt, in whole or in part, any issuer or class of issuers from the periodic reporting provisions of section 13 of the 1934 Act, if the Commission finds by reason of the number of public investors, amount of trading interest in the securities, the nature and extent of trading interest in the securities, the nature and extent of the activities of the issuer, or otherwise, that such exemption is not inconsistent with the public interest or the protection of investors.

The Applicant states, in part:

1. The Applicant is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ford Motor Co. ("Ford") and operates as an overseas financing vehicle for Ford and its subsidiaries.

2. The Applicant's 5 percent Convertible Guaranteed Debentures due 1983 (the "Debentures") are the only class of securities issued by the Applicant which is registered under the 1934 Act. The debentures are listed on the New York Stock Exchange where no trading transactions have occurred since they were admitted to trading in 1968.

3. The Debentures were issued under conditions reasonably designed to prevent their distribution in the United States, its territories or possessions, or to citizens, nationals or residents thereof.

4. The Debentures are unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by Ford.

5. The Debentureholders can be fully informed as to their investment by the reports required to be filed by Ford pursuant to section 13 of the 1934 Act.

In the absence of an exemption, Applicant is required to file annual and periodic reports with the Commission pursuant to section 13 of the 1934 Act. Applicant believes that its request for an order exempting it from the provisions of section 13 of the 1934 Act is appropriate in view of the fact that the Debentures are unconditionally guaranteed by Ford and it is the reports of that company in which investors will be primarily interested. Additionally, there has been no trading activity in the Debentures on the New York Stock Exchange since they were admitted to trading in 1968.

For a more detailed statement of the information presented, all persons are referred to the application which may be examined at the Commission's Public Reference Section, 1100 L Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Notice is further given that any interested person, not later than February 20, 1978, may submit to the Commission in writing his view or any substantial facts bearing on this application or the desirability of a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed to Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549, and should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person submitting such information or requesting the hearing, the reason for such request, and the issues of fact and law raised by the application which he desires to controvert. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof. At any time after said date, an order granting the application may be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporation Finance, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

Notice is hereby given that Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. ("I&M"), 2101 Spy Run Avenue, Fort Wayne, Ind. 46801, an electric utility subsidiary company of American Electric Power Co., Inc., a registered holding company, has filed with this Commission an amendment to its application-declaration previously filed in this matter pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Sections 6(b) and 12(c) of the Act and Rules 42 and 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the amendment to the application-declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the new matter related to the proposed transactions.

By previous notice issued in this proceeding (HCAR No. 20377) it was stated that I&M proposed to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 under the Act, up to $100,000,000 aggregate principal amount of its first mortgage bonds of a new series ("Bonds") and up to 1,600,000 shares of a new series of its cumulative preferred stock, par value $25 per share.

By amendment filed in this proceeding it is stated that I&M also proposes, in connection with the issuance and sale of the Bonds, to amend the provisions of Section 111 of its Mortgage and Deed of Trust, dated as of June 1, 1939, made by it to Irving Trust Co. and Frederick G. Herbst, as supplemented and amended, to facilitate the amendment of the Mortgage at a future date (i) to delete the third paragraph of Part II of Section 20 of the Mortgage (the requirement that I&M annually satisfy through the deposit of cash or bonds, or the certification of property additions, the amount by which expenditures for repairs, maintenance and replacements falls to equal 15% of base operating revenues, as defined), and/or (ii) to delete the fourth paragraph of Section 26 of the Mortgage, which provides that no bonds shall be authenticated, nor funded cash withdrawn, nor funded property released, nor credit be taken on the basis of any property additions subject to prior liens where the property additions so used and related amounts, would exceed 15% of the total amount of bonds authenticated under the Mortgage.

I&M also proposes to change the amount of the Applicable Percentage specified in Part II(a) of Section 20 of the Mortgage from 2.25% to 2.95%, such change to become effective on the date when the Mortgage shall be amended to delete the provisions of the third paragraph of Part II of Section 20, and to continue at 2.95% until another change in such percentage shall be authorized or approved by this Commission under the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 17, 1978, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration, as amended, which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the applicant-declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application-declaration, as amended, or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

INDIANA & MICHIGAN POWER CO.

[Rel. No. 20397; 70-6088]

Proposed Issuance and Sale of First Mortgage Bonds to Institutional Investors; Request for Exception From Competitive Bidding

JANUARY 26, 1978.

Notice is hereby given that Indiana & Michigan Power Co. ("Power"), P.O. Box 458, Bridgman, Mich. 49106, an electric generating subsidiary company of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. ("Electric"), an electric utility subsidiary company of American Electric Power Co., Inc., a registered holding company, has filed a declaration and an amendment thereto with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating sections 6(a), 7, and 12(c) of the Act and Rules 42(b)(2) and 50(a)(5) promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

Power, a Michigan corporation, was organized on April 20, 1941, to acquire, complete the construction of, and operate the Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant ("Cook Plant"), a nuclear fueled steam electric generating station situated along the shore of Lake Michigan near Bridgman, Mich. It was originally intended that these facilities be built and operated by Electric. By order issued August 23, 1971 (HCAR No. 17247), the Commission approved their transfer from Electric to Power. The Cook Plant is to consist of two 1,100,000 kilowatt generating units, the first of which was placed in commercial operation on August 23, 1975, and the second of which is scheduled to be placed in commercial operation during 1978 or later.

To finance the purchase and to complete construction, Power issued and had outstanding as of September 30, 1977, the following securities:

	In thousands of dollars	Percent
Long-term debt:
First mortgage bonds	$70,271	7.7
Notes payable to banks	345,000	37.8
Subordinated notes payable to electric	89,000	7.6
Total	484,271	53.0
Common stock equity	429,444	47.0
Total capitalization	913,715	100.0

The proposed financing would refund the Bank Notes with the proceeds from the sale of up to $300,000,000 of Power's First Mortgage Bonds.

All the common stock is owned by Electric, which is Power's sole customer. Power has entered into a Capital Funds Agreement with Electric which requires Electric to maintain the equity capital portion of Power at no less than 35 percent of its capitalization. They have also entered a Power Agreement pursuant to which Power makes available to Electric all of the power (and the energy associated therewith) available at the Cook Plant and Electric pays to Power amounts at least sufficient to enable Power to pay its operating expenses and expenses related to payment of its indebtedness and taxes, regardless of the energy actually supplied.

$300,000,000 of the Bank Notes, issued under a Bank Loan Agreement, as amended, mature on September 30, 1980, and bear interest at a rate equal to one-half of one percent plus the prime commercial loan rate of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. ("Manufacturers") from time to time in effect. The remaining Bank Notes were issued pursuant to a further amendment of the Bank Loan Agreement, which provides that an additional $75,000,000 of Bank Notes may be sold. These Bank Notes mature on September ber 30, 1980, and bear interest at a rate per annum equal to 115 percent of the prime commercial loan rate of Manufacturers in effect from time to time, and as to which Power does not plan to maintain any compensating balances.

The sale of the $75,000,000 of principal amount of first mortgage bonds, a 10% Series due 1984, was authorized by Commission order of December 4, 1975 (HCAR No. 19282). They were sold at competitive bidding and are secured by a Mortgage and Deed of Trust ("Mortgage"), dated December 1, 1975, to Manufacturers, as Trustee.

Power now proposes to issue and sell up to $300,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds (or "Bonds"), to be issued in one or more series, the terms of which will be determined by negotiation. It is expected that the Bonds will have maturities of not less than 20 years nor more than 30 years and will have cash sinking fund provisions designed to retire the Bonds by their maturities. It is stated that the issuance of the Bonds by Power will be effected in compliance with all applicable indenture, charter and other standards relating to such Bonds. The proceeds of the Bonds will be deposited in the construction fund under the Mortgage, and withdrawn by Power by application to the Trustee under the Mortgage and the certification of construction costs. Funds so withdrawn from the construction fund will be used or applied by Power to prepay, or to reimburse its treasury for funds expended to prepay, without penalty or premium, Notes under the Bank Loan Agreement, and for construction, it being anticipated that substantially all of the funds so withdrawn will be applied to the prepayment of Notes.

It is stated that because the Cook Plant is nuclear fueled, a series of inspections by governmental officials, occasional design changes, and licensing procedures create uncertainties which, in light of the amount of First Mortgage Bonds which will be necessary for Power to issue to refund all the Notes, make it economically advantageous for Power to arrange for refinancing the Notes on a basis that would minimize the impact on its financing program of unexpected developments in the nuclear licensing field or in the completion of the construction of Cook Plant Unit No. 2. Power states that although it has not approached any financial institution, Power believes that funds for investment in debt securities such as the Bonds are currently available from certain life insurance companies and other financial institutions, although there are some indications that this condition may be changing. Power believes that if funds from such sources are in fact available to Power on favorable terms in 1978, it would be desirable for Power to utilize such sources of capital for the refunding in 1978 of its Notes through the issuance and sale of First Mortgage Bonds. Such a step would enable Power to complete the construction of Unit No. 2 in the Cook Plant, and complete necessary licensing procedures, during the course of the sale of the First Mortgage Bonds, and would minimize the amount of the refunding which would otherwise be necessary in 1979 and the early part of 1980 at then prevailing interest rates. Power believes that it would not be practicable under existing market conditions to sell at competitive bidding a single series of First Mortgage Bonds in an amount as large as $300,000,000. It is reluctant to embark in a series of partial refundings. It fears that the intervention of adverse market conditions, or temporary difficulties in the nuclear licensing field during the course of such an effort might have an inordinate adverse effect on the entire financing program.

Under the foregoing circumstances, Power requests an exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of paragraph (b) of Rule 50 under the Act. Power proposes, if the authorization herein requested is granted, to request the assistance of Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co. Inc. and possibly one or more other investment banking firms, in identifying potential institutional purchasers of the refunding Bonds and with respect to the terms required to effect sales of such bonds to such purchasers. Any compensation to be paid by Power to any such investment banking firm for such service would be subject, prior to the payment thereof, to authorization by the Commission.

Fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transaction, including any compensation to be paid to investment banking firms, will be supplied by amendment. It is stated that the proposed issuance and sale of the Bonds is possibly subject to the jurisdiction of the Michigan Public Service Commission and that no other state commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 17, 1978, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Applicant was organized under Maryland law on November 3, 1969, under the name Ziegler Select Fund, Inc., and adopted its present name on January 30, 1976. Applicant filed a Notification of Registration pursuant to Section 8(a) of the Act on January 14, 1970 and subsequently filed Registration Statements pursuant to Section 8(b) of the Act and Section 5 of the Securities Act of 1933 on September 24, 1970. Applicant further states that at a special meeting of shareholders of Applicant held on November 4, 1977, shareholders voted to exchange all of Applicant's assets for shares of common stock of Newton Income Fund, Inc. ("Income"), also an investment company registered under the Act, pursuant to an Agreement and Plan of Reorganization ("Agreement") whereunder such shares of Income would be distributed pro rata to Applicant's stockholders and Applicant would be liquidated and dissolved. Applicant states that such exchange and distribution occurred on November 16, 1977, at which time Applicant and Income filed Articles of Transfer with the State Department of Assessments and Taxation of Maryland as required by the Maryland General Corporation law. Applicant states that it intends to file Articles of Dissolution with the Maryland State Department of Assessments and Taxation in order to effect its dissolution.

Applicant states that as a result of the foregoing, it has no stockholders. Applicant further represents that it has no liabilities and no assets other than cash in the amount of approximately $74,000 which Applicant retained pursuant to the Agreement for the purposes of paying expenses incurred by Income in selling certain of Applicant's portfolio securities which did not conform to Income's investment objective, expenses incurred in consummating the Agreement, operating expenses through November 15, 1977, and a cash dividend payable to Applicant's stockholders of record as of November 14, 1977. Applicant states that all of the amounts so retained have been or will be applied for the purposes indicated and have not, and will not be, invested in any securities.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in part, that whenever the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order and upon the taking effect of such order, the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is hereby given that any interested person may, not later than February 21, 1978, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon the Applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in the case of an attorney at law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein will be issued as of course following said date, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

JANUARY 25, 1978.

In the matter of New York Stock Exchange, Inc., 11 Wall Street, New York, N.Y. 10005.

On November 14, 1977, the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., filed with the Commission, pursuant to Section 19(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975, and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change to conform its treatment of convertible or exchangeable securities with Regulation T for purposes of options margin requirements and to permit its members to establish non-purpose loan accounts to the extent allowed by Regulation T.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by publication of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 14267 (December 13, 1977)) and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 63982 (December 21, 1977)).

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of Section 6 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

JANUARY 24, 1978.

In the matter of New York Stock Exchange, Inc., 11 Wall Street, New York, N.Y. 10005.

On November 17, 1977, the New York Stock Exchange, Inc. ("NYSE") filed with the Commission, pursuant to Section 19(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change. The proposed rule change rescinds NYSE Rule 357, which required members and member organizations to keep on file for two weeks all communications sent and received over private wires. Rule 357 was determined to be superfluous since Securities Exchange Act Rule 17a-4(b)(4) requires all exchange members, brokers, and dealers to maintain originals of all communications received and copies of all communications sent relating to their business as exchange members, brokers, and dealers for three years.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by publication of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 14259 (December 12, 1977)) and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 63978 (December 21, 1977)).

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of Sections 6 and 17 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, 16 (June 4, 1975), notice is hereby given that the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a proposed new rule 129 on November 17, 1977, and a resolution implementing such rule on January 19, 1978.

TEXT OF PROPOSED RULE CHANGE AND RESOLUTION

The text of proposed new rule 129 is as follows:

The Board may from time to time impose such charge or charges on members and member organizations as it shall deem appropriate to reimburse the Exchange, in whole or in part, for regulatory oversight services provided the membership by the Exchange; Provided, however, that any such charge shall be measured as required by section 10 of article X of the constitution.

The text of the resolution implementing proposed new rule 129 is as follows:

Resolved, That pursuant to rule 129, a charge of 12 cents be imposed upon members and member organizations for each round-lot purchase and each round-lot sale in equity securities or in rights or warrants to purchase equity securities executed on the New York Stock Exchange; and it is Further resolved, That payments of such charge to a qualified clearing agency which has entered into an agreement with the Exchange for the collection by such agency of such fees from its participants shall be recognized as constituting payment of the charge imposed by this resolution.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The purpose of proposed new rule 129 is to authorize the Exchange to collect a fee for each round-lot buy and sell order executed on the floor, and to reimburse the Exchange, in whole or in part, for regulatory oversight services that the Exchange provides to its members. The proposed rule does not specify an amount or base for such charge, but leaves the matter to the Exchange's Board of Directors. The board has adopted by resolution a fee of $0.12 to implement proposed new rule 129.

BASIS UNDER THE ACT FOR PROPOSED RULE CHANGE AND RESOLUTION

The proposed new rule relates to section 6(b)(5) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, in that it would foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities.

The resolution is consistent with section 6(b)(4) of the Act in that the fee equitably allocates among the membership the cost of regulatory oversight services the Exchange provides to its membership. The $0.12 fee would be assessed for all transactions executed on the Exchange whether cleared and settled "over-the-window" or through any qualified clearing agency. The proposal would permit a qualified clearing agency, by prior agreement, to collect the fee from its participants and reimburse the Exchange.

COMMENTS RECEIVED FROM MEMBERS, PARTICIPANTS, OR OTHERS ON PROPOSED RULE CHANGE

The Exchange has not solicited comments regarding the proposed new rule and has received none.

BURDEN ON COMPETITION

The Exchange does not believe that the new proposed rule will impose any burden on competition.

By March 8, 1978, or within such longer period: (i) As the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding, or (ii) as to which the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such new proposed rule, or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the new proposed rule should be disapproved.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. Copies of the filing with respect to the foregoing and of all written submissions will be available for inspection and copying in the Public Reference Room, 1100 L Street NW., Washington, D.C. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization. All submissions should refer to the file number referenced in the caption above and should be submitted by February 22, 1978.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

PACIFIC CLEARING CORP.

Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, 16 (June 4, 1975), notice is hereby given that on December 23, 1977, the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a proposed rule change as follows:

STATEMENT OF THE TERMS OF SUBSTANCE OF THE PROPOSED RULE CHANGE

The proposed rule change establishes a new schedule of rates to be charged by Pacific Clearing Corp. ("PCC"). Under this new schedule of rates PCC would make separate charges, based on number of shares per trade submitted, for trade recording and comparison and for clearance and settlement. Charges for these services are, in general, reduced pursuant to the new rate schedule. The new rate schedule increases charges related to the physical handling of certificates and the manual processing of activity. Tables setting forth the new rate schedule and the existing rate schedule are attached hereto as Exhibit No. 1.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The basis and purpose of the foregoing proposed rule change is as follows:

The proposed rule change is designed to simplify PCC's schedule of rates and to make PCC's schedule of rates more competitive with rates charged or proposed to be charged by other clearing agencies. In the proposed schedule of rates PCC would make separate, and readily calculable, charges for trade recording and comparison and for clearance and settlement. In situations where PCC performs only trade recording and comparison, or only clearance and settlement, and another clearing agency provides the other service, PCC would charge only for the service performed. The new schedule's principal charges (for trade recording and comparison and for clearance and settlement) are based on total number of shares submitted. Thus the firm submitting a large number of trades for trade recording and comparison and/or for clearance and settlement, would pay neither more nor less per share for these services than a firm submitting a relatively small number of trades for trade recording and comparison and/or clearance and settlement.

The new schedule of rates accomplishes the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees, and other charges among the participants in PCC. In addition, the new schedule of rates, by separating the charges for trade recording and comparison and the charges for clearance and settlement, facilitates interface between clearing agencies at reasonable cost and thus contributes to the removal of impediments to and perfection of the mechanism of a national system for the prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions.

Comments have neither been solicited nor received from members or participants regarding the proposed rule change.

PCC believes that the proposed rule change imposes no burden on competition. By making PCC's rates more easily understood and more competitive, the new schedule of rates may be expected to increase competition in the provision of clearance and settlement services.

The foregoing rule change has become effective, pursuant to section 19(b)(3) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. At any time within sixty days of the filing of such proposed rule change, the Commission may summarily abrogate such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file 6 copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. Copies of the filing with respect to the foregoing and of all written submissions will be available for inspection and copying in the Public Reference Room, 1100 L Street NW., Washington, D.C. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the above-mentioned self regulatory organization.

All submissions should refer to the file number referenced in the caption above and should be submitted within twenty-one days of the date of this publication.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

PACIFIC RESOURCES, INC.

Order Amending Effective Date of Withdrawal From Listing and Registration and Extending Exemption of Certain Persons and Securities From the Provisions of Rule 17a-15

JANUARY 23, 1978.

On June 22, 1977, we approved the application of Pacific Resources, Inc. ("PRI"), to withdraw its securities from listing and registration on the Pacific Stock Exchange, Inc. ("PSE"). We prescribed as a term of that delisting that it not become effective until the time of our determination with respect to the PSE's application for unlisted trading privileges in PRI common stock, but in no event later than 120 days after June 22, 1977. On October 20, 1977, we amended the effective date of the delisting by extending it to November 21, 1977. That date was extended again on November 21 until January 23, 1978.

We found that the initial delay in the effective date of the delisting and the extension until January 23, 1978, were necessary for two reasons. First, a temporary disruption in trading in PRI stock on the PSE would result in a lessening of potential competition among dealers and between exchange markets and markets other than exchange markets during any interim period after delisting, but before unlisted trading privileges are (if at all) granted. Second, we initially had noted that if the delisting were effective immediately, PRI stock would not be marginable for a period of several months until it was included on the Federal Reserve Board's "List of OTC Margin Stocks."

¹See Securities Exchange Act Rel. No. 13657 (June 22, 1977); 42 FR 33398 (June 30, 1977).

²The PSE filed an application, pursuant to section 12(f)(1)(C) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, for unlisted trading privileges in PRI stock on March 25, 1977, in response to PRI's application to withdraw that security from listing and registration on the PSE (filed March 23, 1977). Concurrently with our order withdrawing PRI stock from listing, we ordered a hearing on the PSE application. See, Securities Exchange Act Rel. No. 13658 (June 22, 1977); 42 FR 33402 (June 30, 1977).

³See Securities Exchange Act Rel. No. 14078 (October 20, 1977); 42 FR 56824 (October 28, 1977).

⁴See Securities Exchange Act Rel. No. 14195 (November 21, 1977); 42 FR 61100 (December 1, 1977).

⁵The maintenance of credit, extended before a security ceases to be marginable, would not be affected by the delisting of that security (section 220.7(b) of regulation T (12 CFR 220.7(b))). The extension of new credit, however, would be prohibited under those circumstances, until the security was included on the Federal Reserve Board's "List of OTC Margin Stocks."

Our ultimate determination on the PSE application for unlisted trading privileges in PRI stock involves the consideration of several major policy issues including, among others, whether sufficient progress has been made toward the development of a national market system to satisfy the standards of section 12(f)(2), whether the progress contemplated by Congress in adopting that section is met by PSE's rescission of its off-board trading rules as they apply to transactions in PRI common stock, whether that progress and the statutory goals of eliminating unnecessary burdens on competition are satisfied by existing communications facilities and provisions for access between the PSE and over the counter ("OTC") markets, and whether last sale reporting of all PRI stock transactions would be appropriate should unlisted trading privileges be granted.

We have not yet resolved these issues insofar as they arise with respect to our consideration of the PSE application for unlisted trading privileges and, accordingly, we have been unable to complete our deliberations concerning the hearing on that application. We believe, however, that the purposes of the Act, particularly those which encourage competition among dealers acting as market makers in a security and between markets in that security, make it appropriate for us to permit the existing competition in PRI stock to continue during the interim period necessary for us to conclude our deliberations. Accordingly, for the reasons enunciated in the June 22 delisting order, and as stated above, we find it necessary to extend until March 24, 1978 the effective date of removal of PRI stock from listing and registration on the PSE.

PRI stock has been traded both on the PSE and OTC since issuance of our June 22 order. At that time was also exempted, for a period of up to 120 days, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD"), and all brokers and dealers from the reporting requirements of rule 17a-15 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 relating to last sale reports of OTC transactions in the common stock of PRI. The duration of that exemption was amended in our October 20 and November 21, 1977, orders to extend to January 23, 1978. Until we make a determination on the PSE's application for unlisted trading privileges in PRI stock, we believe that there will be uncertainty as to whether real-time reporting in PRI stock will be required as a general matter and that a continued exemption from rule 17a-15 is appropriate.* We continue to believe it is not necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors to require members of the PSE (who may trade PRI stock in the OTC market), and other brokers and dealers to develop and implement reporting procedures for transactions in this single security during the time before we make a determination as to the PSE's application. Accordingly, we have determined to, and hereby exempt, until March 24, 1978, the NASD and all brokers and dealers from the requirements of rule 17a-15 relating to last sale reports of OTC transactions in the common stock of PRI.*

⁷The PSE has exempted from its off-board trading restrictions securities, such as PRI stock, which are both the subject of a delisting application and in which the PSE has applied for unlisted trading privileges. See, Securities Exchange Act Rel. No. 13656 (June 22, 1977); 42 FR 33400 (June 30, 1977).

Accordingly, it is hereby ordered, That our order of June 22, 1977 (as amended by our October 20 and November 21, 1977 orders), granting PRI's application to withdraw from listing and registration on the PSE be, and it hereby is, amended as set forth herein.

By the Commission.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

SOUTHWESTERN ELECTRIC POWER CO.

Proposed Extension of Existing Authority To Engage in Fuel Exploration and Development Activities

JANUARY 24, 1978.

In the matter of Southwestern Electric Power Co., P.O. Box 21106, Shreveport La. 71156.

Notice is hereby given that Southwestern Electric Power Co. ("SWEPCO"), an electric utility subsidiary of Central and South West Corp. ("CSW"), a registered holding company, has filed post-effective amendments to its application-declaration, as amended, previously filed with this commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") designating sections 6(a), 7, 9, and 10 of the Act and rule 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable

*If the unlisted trading privileges application of the PSE is denied, PRI stock will be traded solely OTC and, therefore, will not be subject to current reporting under rule 17a-15.

*This exemption does not prohibit those persons individually from complying voluntarily with rule 17a-15 as long as such broker or dealer complies with the rule in a uniform and consistent manner.

to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the application-declaration, as further amended by said post-effective amendments, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

By order dated October 1, 1975 (HCAR No. 19194), SWEPCO was authorized to acquire interests in, and engage in, fuel exploration and development programs to the extent of a budgeted expenditure of $8,750,000. The programs involved the acquisition and development of interests relating to oil, gas, coal, and lignite. Through June 30, 1977, SWEPCO added 2,782 net acres of oil and gas leasehold interests. Through September 26, 1977, SWEPCO had participated in the drilling of 56 wells; 28 of these were producing, 13 were shut-in pending completion of a pipeline and gathering system, 13 had been plugged and abandoned as dry or uneconomical to produce, 1 was being drilled and 1 was judged to have no potential for development. The 13 shut-in wells are in the South Carthage prospect in Panola County, Tex., pending completion of a pipeline and gathering system which will take the gas from the prospect to SWEPCO's Knox Lee generating station in Gregg County, Tex. Five gas wells in the Bienville Townsite and East Ada-West-Bryceland prospects and the oil well in the North Whelan prospect are not connected to SWEPCO's generating plants; the production from these wells is sold to nonaffiliates under short-term contracts. Five gas wells in the Castor prospect have been tied into a gathering system for sale of gas to a nonaffiliate under a short-term contract because the reserves developed by these wells were not sufficient to allow SWEPCO to tie them into its pipeline system. SWEPCO has farmed out its interest in the remainder of the Castor prospect.

SWEPCO states that the lignite exploration program has resulted in the discovery of substantial lignite reserves in eastern Texas and northern Louisiana. At December 31, 1977, SWEPCO had a 100 percent interest in 49,139 acres of lignite lease in eastern Texas and northern Louisiana. Drilling through December 1977 shows that the eastern Texas prospect involves 89,300,000 recoverable tons of lignite to SWEPCO's interest and that the northern Louisiana prospect involves 98,100,000 recoverable tons of lignite to SWEPCO's interest. A plan has been proposed for a joint interest effort by SWEPCO and other large owners on the prospect. SWEPCO also has an undivided 30 percent interest as tenant-in-common with the other CSW system operating utility subsidiaries in joint ventures involving, at June 30, 1977, 78,444 acres of lignite leases on four prospects in eastern Texas.

SWEPCO states that it anticipates continuing oil, gas, and in the case of the 100 percent-owned east Texas and north Louisiana prospects, lignite exploration generally along the present lines, largely in or near its service territory. SWEPCO also proposes to participate in uranium exploration and development activities in conjunction with the other CSW operating companies. SWEPCO states that it hereby requests the Commission supplement and extend the authority granted it in HCAR No. 19194 to the extent of an additional budgeted amount not to exceed $11,103,853 to be expended in its authorized fuel exploration and development programs during the period beginning January 1, 1978, and ending December 31, 1978. SWEPCO states that during this period it has budgeted up to $3,067,500 to be expended on its wholly owned oil and gas interests, $2,776,353 to be expended on its wholly owned Texas and Louisiana lignite interests and up to $5,260,000 to be expended in lignite, coal, and uranium interests in which SWEPCO has a 30 percent interest as tenant-in-common with the other CSW operating subsidiaries. SWEPCO further states that of the amounts to be expended in concert with the other CSW operating subsidiaries, up to $952,500 is budgeted for uranium exploration and development. SWEPCO states that the form and scope of the activities to be engaged in will be identical to those previously authorized in HCAR No. 19194.

SWEPCO states that, during the period covered by the prior order, it expended more than the amount authorized. SWEPCO further states that it recognizes that the authorization sought herein is solely for expenditures to be made in connection with duly authorized fuel exploration and development programs during 1978 and that any authorization granted herein does not constitute ratification of the expenditures incurred in the prior period.

It is stated that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction with respect to the proposed transaction. It is stated that the fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transaction are estimated at $1,750.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 17, 1978, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration as further amended by said post-effective amendments, which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified

if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the applicant-declarant at the above-stated address and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application-declaration, as amended by said post-effective amendments or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

[License No. 09/09-0207]

PRODUCERS CAPITAL CORP.

Issuance of a License To Operate as a Small Business Investment Company

On July 25, 1977, a Notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (42 FR 37889) stating that an application had been filed with the Small Business Administration (SBA) pursuant to section 107.102 of the Regulations governing small business investment companies (SBIC) for a license to operate as an SBIC by Producers Capital Corporation, 9777 Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the provisions of the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended (15 U.S.C. 661 et seq.), after having considered the application and all other pertinent information and facts in regard thereto, SBA has issued License No. 09/09-0207 on January 19, 1978, to Producers Capital Corporation to operate as an SBIC.

[License No. 06/06-0175]

SMALL BUSINESS INVESTMENT CAPITAL, INC.

Filing of Application for Approval of Conflict of Interest Transaction Between Associates

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to section 107.1004 of the regulations governing small business investment companies (13 CFR 107.1004 (1977)), by the Small Business Administration (SBA) of a conflict of interest transaction between Small Business Investment Capital, Inc. (licensee), 10003 New Benton Highway, Little Rock, Ark. 72203, a Federal licensee under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended (the Act) (15 U.S.C. 661 et seq.), and an associate.

The licensee was licensed by SBA on March 6, 1975. It is wholly owned by Shur-Valu Stamps, Inc., 10003 New Benton Highway, Little Rock, Ark. 72203, which in turn is owned approximately 45 percent by Affiliated Food Stores, Inc., a cooperative of retail grocers, and 55 percent by present and former members of the cooperative.

It is proposed that the licensee loan $115,000 to Jim Huckaby for working capital and to purchase the inventory and equipment of a grocery store owned and operated by Huckaby's, Inc., a family corporation owned 70 percent by Will Huckaby and 10 percent each by his sons, Jim, Jess, and Donnie. Upon consummation of the purchase, Jim Huckaby will disassociate himself from Huckaby's, Inc., and surrender his 10-percent interest. The store to be purchased is one of seven owned by Huckaby's, Inc., and is located in Benton, Ark.

Jim Huckaby is a member of the board of directors of Affiliated Food Stores and Shur-Valu Stamps, Inc. Therefore, Mr. Huckaby is an associate of the licensee as defined by section 107.3(c) of the SBA rules and regulations. As such, the proposed financing would contravene the provisions of §107.1004(b)(1) of the regulations. Except where a written exemption may be granted by SBA in special instances in furtherance of the purposes of the Act, a licensee shall not, directly or indirectly, provide financing to any of its associates. SBA is considering a request for such exemption.

In addition, the Licensee has provided previous financial assistance to Huckaby's, Inc. According to the provisions of §121.3-2(a)(ii), Huckaby's, Inc., and the store owned by Jim Huckaby would be deemed affiliates. As such, the aggregate financial assistance would exceed the licensee's investment limit of $150,000 (20 percent of the licensee's private capital) by approximately $98,000. Since the business entities are to be independently owned and operated separate and apart from a family group, SBA is considering approval of the overline aspects of the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any person may, not later than February 16, 1978, submit to SBA, in writing, comments on the proposed transaction. Any such communication should be addressed to Associate Administrator for Finance and Investment, Small Business Administration, 1441 L Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20416.

A copy of this notice shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in Benton and Little Rock, Ark.

AUTHORITIES OF REGIONAL APPELLATE DIVISION AND REGIONAL EMPLOYEE PLANS AND EXEMPT ORGANIZATIONS DIVISION IN PROTESTED AND TAX COURT CASES

The authority vested in the Commissioner of Internal Revenue by 26 CFR 301.6020-1, 26 CFR 301.6201-1, 26 CFR 301.7701-9 and Treasury Department Order No. 150-37, is hereby delegated as follows:

1. (a) In each region the Regional Commissioner is authorized to represent the Commissioner in determining liability or qualification for the following types of cases not docketed in the United States Tax Court when the taxpayer does not agree with the determination made by the office of a District Director or by the office of the Director of International Operations and requests consideration by the Regional Appellate Division or the Regional Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations Division, or both:

(1) Except as excluded under paragraph 5 of this Order, liability for excise, employment, income, profits, estate and gift taxes; and

(c) In each region the Assistant Regional Commissioner (Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations) is authorized and the Executive Assistant to such Assistant Regional Commissioner is authorized to represent the Regional Commissioner in each case under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (and related statutory provisions) not docketed in the Tax Court:

(1) In which a taxpayer does not agree to the determination of liability for Chapter 42 or Chapter 43 excise taxes and certain income taxes as applicable to taxable private foundations, and section 4947 trusts, and under Code sections 507(c), 511, 527(f), or 1381(a)(1), made by the office of a Key District Director of Internal Revenue for Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations matters and requests consideration by the Regional Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations Division.

(2) In which an applicant does not agree to the determination of initial or continuing qualification under Subchapter D of Chapter 1 made by the office of a Key District Director of Internal Revenue for Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations matters and requests consideration by the Regional Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations Division.

(d) The authorities delegated in this paragraph are subject to the exceptions set forth in paragraph 3 of this Order and they may not be redelegated.

2. (a) In conformity with the provisions of Delegation Order No. 60 (as revised), except as provided in subparagraph (b) following, in each income, excise, profits, estate, and gift tax case docketed in the United States Tax Court, the Assistant Regional Commissioner (Appellate) is authorized and each Chief and Associate Chief, Appellate Branch Office, is authorized to perform those functions delegated to the Regional Commissioner in that joint Order.

(b) With respect to cases docketed in the Tax Court under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and related statutory provisions, in each Chapter 42 or Chapter 43 excise tax case and in certain income tax cases, as applicable to taxable private foundations, and to section 4947 trusts, Code sections 507(c), 511, 527(f), or 1381(a)(1), and in each retirement plan qualification case under Subchapter D of Chapter 1, in each region the Assistant Regional Commissioner (Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations), is authorized and the Executive Assistant to such Assistant Regional Commissioner is authorized to perform those functions vested in the Regional Commissioner by Commissioner's Delegation Order No. 60 (as revised).

3. The authorities delegated to the Regional Commissioner do not include authority to:

(a) Eliminate the ad valorem fraud penalty in any case in which the penalty has been determined by the district office or service center office in connection with a tax year or period, or which is related to or affects such year or period, for which criminal prosecution against the taxpayer (or related taxpayer involving the same transaction) has been recommended to the Department of Justice for willful attempt to evade or defeat tax, or for willful failure to file a return, except upon the recommendation or concurrence of Counsel; or

While certain officials are delegated authority under subparagraphs 1(c) and 2(b) broad enough to determine all matters affecting proposed liabilities arising from application of the Code provisions referred to in those subparagraphs, it is contemplated that such officials will not usually determine substantial unrelated matters affecting tax liability but arising independently of the application of the said Code provisions. If, pursuant to this Order, two officials of different functions have determined separate matters in the same or a related case, either official may sign notices required by statute giving effect to the determinations of both.

8. The authorities contained in this Order are intended to supplement the authorities contained in Delegation Order No. 60 (as revised).

9. The authority delegated under this Order to Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations officials will apply only to those cases where a preliminary notice (30-day letter), notice of intent to disqualify, or proposed notice of revocation or modification is issued on or after the effective date of this Order. Regional Appellate Division officials will continue to determine the disposition of cases in which such notices were issued before such effective date.

10. This Order supersedes Commissioner's Delegation Order No. 66 (Rev.

5), Chief Counsel's Order No. 1031.2, dated September 14, 1977.

[No. 36771]

ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND CO.

Petition for Declaratory Order; Rates on Corn Meal for Human Consumption

JANUARY 20, 1978.

Pursuant to section 554(e) of the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 554(e) in the exercise of the Commission's sound discretion, the I.C.C. plans to enter a declaratory order in the above entitled proceeding.

Archer Daniels Midland Co. (ADM) alleges that corn meal is a fungible commodity, stored in common bins, transported and handled identically whether its intended ultimate use is "For Human Consumption" or "Not For Human Consumption." However, items 1624 through 2848 in section 1 of Southwestern Lines Freight Tariff 182-K, I.C.C. 5278, provide for a lower level of rates on corn meal and flour under Column B when not prepared for human consumption than those that apply on the same products under Column A when the end use will be for human consumption.

ADM requests that the Commission "find this practice of two tier railroad rate pricing on identical commodities and dependent upon the ultimate and end use of the product to be an unjust and unreasonable and otherwise unlawful practice in violation of section 1(5)(b). An unjust discrimination and undue preference in violation of the National Transportation Policy. An unjust discrimination in violation of section 2 and 3(1), and in violation of Section 4."

The I.C.C. has granted ADM's petition for declaratory order and invites participation by interested parties on the tariff in question as it applies to the transportation of corn meal for or not for human consumption.

The proceeding will be handled under modified procedure in accordance with Rules 43 to 52, inclusive, of the Commission's General Rules of Practice. Statements of intent to participate are due within 10 days of this publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and are to be sent to:

Office of Proceedings, Room 5342, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423.

As soon as practicable after that date, the Commission will serve a list of names and addresses of all persons upon whom service of an opening and reply statement shall be made.

DIRECTING MODIFIED PROCEDURE AND ALLOWING INTERVENTION

On December 5, 1977, Archer Daniels Midland Co., filed a petition on behalf of its subsidiary Tabor Milling Co., seeking a declaratory order pursuant to an order of the Circuit Court for the County of Clay, State of Missouri, Seventh Judicial Circuit in Case No. 52562, Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co. v. Tabor Milling Co., dated November 23, 1977. The central issue in the suit for damages before that Court is the question of the lawfulness of the railroad involved maintaining lower rates on corn meal and flour under Column B of Items 1624 through 2848 in section 1 of Southwestern Lines Freight Tariff 182-K, I.C.C. 5278, when not for human consumption than those under Column A when for human consumption. Treatment under either rate is said to be identical.

The petition discloses a controversy warranting entry of a declaratory order by the Commission, pursuant to section 554(e) of the A.P.A.

Lincoln Grain, Inc., filed a petition to intervene December 5, 1977, alleging it is directly interested because it uses the tariff in controversy. There were no replies.

It is ordered: The petitions for declaratory order and intervention are granted.

The proceeding will be handled under modified procedure in accordance with Rules 43 to 52, inclusive, of the Commission's General Rules of Practice. Due dates for the filing and service of pleadings will be set after the service list is prepared.

A copy of this order and a notice for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER attached hereto are to be served on petitioner, intervenor, and on Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co.

A copy of the notice is also to be delivered to the Director, Office of the Federal Register for publication.

Dated on January 20, 1978.

By the Commission, Robert J. Brooks, Director, Office of Proceedings.

H. G. HOMME, Jr.,
Acting Secretary.

[Release No. 34-14415; File No. S7-648]

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

Dissemination of Quotations for Reported Securities

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The rule requires all national securities exchanges and associations to establish procedures for collecting from their members bids, offers and quotation sizes with respect to reported securities, and for making such bids, offers, and sizes available to quotation vendors. It also requires that quotation information made available to vendors be "firm," subject to certain exceptions. The rule is intended to facilitate the prompt development of a composite quotation system, an integral component of a national market system.

EFFECTIVE DATE: May 1, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

John W. Osborn, Division of Market Regulation, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549, 202-755-8961.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Securities and Exchange Commission has announced the adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 (17 CFR § 240.11Ac1-1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act") (15 U.S.C. 78a et seq., as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29 (June 4, 1975)), governing dissemination of quotation information with respect to equity securities as to which last sale information is reported in the consolidated transaction reporting system (the "consolidated system") contemplated by Rule 17a-15 under the Act (17 CFR § 240.17a-15) ("reported securities"). The Rule is designed to facilitate the prompt development of a composite quotation system by improving the quality and reliability of quotation information made available by national securities exchanges ("exchanges") and third market makers.

The Rule, which will become effective on May 1, 1978, will require each exchange and third market maker (a "market center") to make available quotations (including size) in all reported securities in which that market center is making a market. In addition, quotations made available pursuant to the Rule will be required to be "firm," subject to certain exceptions.

I. BACKGROUND

In February 1972, in its Statement on the Future Structure of the Securities Markets, the Commission first identified a composite quotation system as an integral component of a national market system when it stated that:

... an essential step toward formation of a central market system is to make information on prices, volume and quotes for securities in all markets available to all investors, so that buyers and sellers of securities, wherever located, can make informed investment decisions and not pay more than the lowest price at which someone is willing to sell nor sell for less than the highest price at which a buyer is prepared to offer. Such a communications system would thus serve to link the now scattered markets for listed securities.¹

Following the publication of the Future Structure Statement, the Commission proposed Rule 17a-14 under the Act, which would have required each exchange and national securities association ("association") to make quotations of their members available to vendors.² Since that time, the Commission has pursued several alternative courses of action designed to establish a composite quotation system, including a proposal to require plans to be filed under Section 17(a) of the Act and an attempt to free competitive forces to bring about the development of such a system by removing barriers to the voluntary dissemination of quotation information.³

largely unsuccessful. Exchange markets continue to disseminate bid and asked price data which do not represent "firm" quotations and no self-regulatory organization makes available data as to quotation sizes. These and other deficiencies, which are more fully discussed in the 1976 Release, have convinced the Commission that it should take affirmative steps to improve the quality of quotation information disseminated by the various market centers by adopting Rule 11Ac1-1 which will require exchanges and third market makers to make available "firm" quotations while allowing the private sector, without regulatory compulsion, to develop the means of consolidating those quotations.

The initial version of Rule 11Ac1-1, proposed in July 1976 (the "1976 Proposal"),⁵ would have required every exchange and association to establish and maintain procedures and mechanisms for collecting quotations in eligible securities⁶ from its specialists and third market makers and for making such quotations (and, if the specialist or third market maker desired, his quotation sizes) available to quotation vendors.⁷ Each specialist and third market maker would have been required to communicate his quotations promptly to his exchange or association in accordance with the exchange's or association's procedures.⁸

The 1976 Proposal would also have required that, subject to certain exceptions, all quotations made available pursuant to the Rule be "firm". In particular, the Rule would have provided that any specialist or third market maker presented with an order for the purchase or sale of an eligible security (other than the purchase and sale of an odd-lot) stand ready to execute a transaction in that security in any amount up to such specialist's or third market maker's published quotation size (i.e., his most recently communicated quotation size displayed by vendors or, in the event he had disseminated no quotation size, a normal unit of trading)⁹ at a price at least as favorable to the buyer or seller as the bid price or asked price comprising part of that specialist's or market maker's published quotation (i.e., his most recently communicated quota-

¹See id.

²The 1976 Proposal used the term "eligible security," which was defined as any security as to which last sale information is reported in the consolidated system. In the subsequent proposal and the Rule as adopted, the term "reported security" has been utilized and defined to limit the application of the Rule to equity securities reported in the consolidated system.

tion displayed by vendors at the time the order is presented)."

Two exceptions to "firmness" were provided in the 1976 Proposal. First, a specialist or third market maker would have been relieved of his obligation to effect transactions at his published quotation if, after dissemination of a published quotation and before presentation of an order, that specialist or third market maker had communicated a quotation to his exchange or association superseding his published quotation.¹⁰ Second, quotations of specialists and third market makers would not have been required to be "firm" for a period of three minutes following the execution of a transaction in the particular security involved on the floor of the specialist's exchange or by the third market maker (as the case may be) or following the report of a transaction in the security in the consolidated system (the "Three Minute Exception").¹¹

Commentators responding to the 1976 Proposal felt that the Rule as then proposed would cause certain operational difficulties with respect to the collection and dissemination of exchange quotations. These commentators argued that, under the collection procedures then proposed, exchange quotations either would not accurately reflect all buying and selling interest on an exchange floor (by only disseminating the specialists' quotation) or would subject the specialist to firmness obligations for bids or offers which were not made by him. Additionally, some commentators suggested that, during periods of unusual or active trading, an exchange's procedures for quotation collection might be inadequate. In response to these comments, the Commission republished the Rule, in June 1977, in substantially revised form (the "1977 Proposal").¹²

The 1977 Proposal, rather than limiting the collection of exchange quotations to specialists' bids and offers, would have required each exchange to collect, process and make available to quotation vendors the highest bid and lowest offer¹³ communicated at the location (or locations) designated for trading on the floor of that exchange by any "responsible broker or dealer" with respect to each reported security¹⁴ listed or admitted to unlisted trading privileges on that exchange. The term "responsible broker or dealer" was defined to include any member of an exchange who communicated to another member on the floor of that exchange a bid or offer for a reported security at the location (or locations) designated by the exchange for trading in that security. In the event two or more members had communicated a bid or offer at the same price, both such members would be deemed responsible brokers or dealers, subject to the rules of priority and precedence then in effect on that exchange.¹⁵ Thus, an exchange would have been responsible for making available a single quotation, not necessarily of any individual market participant such as a specialist, but rather reflecting the highest bid and lowest offer of any broker or dealer at the post.¹⁶

Under the 1977 Proposal, each bid or offer made available by an exchange to quotation vendors would have been accompanied by a quotation size, which would be either: (i) The number of shares or units of trading which the broker or dealer responsible for that bid or offer had specified for purposes of communication to quotation vendors that he would be willing to buy at the bid price or sell at the offer price comprising his bid or offer, or (ii) in the event no such number had been specified, a normal unit of trading.¹⁷ If the bid or offer made available by an exchange represented the bids or

¹⁶1977 Proposal, paragraph (a)(3)(i). The 1977 Proposal would also have provided that, with respect to a bid or offer representing an order which had been transmitted from one member of that exchange to another member who undertook to act as agent with respect to the order, only the last member undertaking to act as agent with respect to the order would have been considered as the "responsible broker or dealer" for the bid or offer. Thus, for example, if an order had been given to a $2 broker for execution or left with a specialist, only the $2 broker or the specialist (and not the originating broker) would have been subject to the Rule's firmness obligations.

¹⁷Under the 1977 Proposal, each exchange would also have been responsible for establishing and maintaining procedures and mechanisms for ascertaining the identity of responsible brokers and dealers with respect to each bid and offer and would have been required, upon request of any member seeking to execute a transaction in reliance on the firmness requirements of the Rule, to disclose the identity of such responsible brokers and dealers to that member. 1977 Proposal, paragraph (b)(2).

¹⁸1977 Proposal, paragraph (a)(10).

offers of more than one responsible broker or dealer, the exchange would have been required to make available an aggregate quotation size with respect to such bid or offer (i.e., the sum of the quotation sizes of all responsible brokers or dealers with respect to such bid or offer).¹⁸

The firmness requirements and exceptions thereto for revised quotations and for intervening transactions and trade reports contained in the 1976 Proposal were retained in the 1977 Proposal. However, the exceptions to firmness were modified to allow an exchange member, seeking to execute a transaction in a security when the published bid or published offer for that security represented the bids or offers of two or more members, to effect transactions with all of such responsible brokers or dealers up to the published aggregate quotation size. Specifically, if an order to purchase or sell a reported security was presented for execution to a responsible broker or dealer on the floor of an exchange at a time when the published bid or published offer of such exchange represented bids or offers (as the case may be) of more than one responsible broker or dealer on that exchange, no such responsible broker or dealer would have been relieved of his execution responsibility under the Rule until the member seeking to execute the order had either completed his order (if the order was in size equal to or less than the published aggregate quotation size) or (if the order was in size greater than the published aggregate quotation size) the member had purchased or sold an amount of the security equal to such published quotation size regardless of any revised quotation or any intervening transaction or trade report.¹⁹

In addition, the 1977 Proposal would have provided a further exception to firmness during periods of unusual or active trading when an exchange's quotation collection procedures would not be adequate to monitor the flow of quotation information or a specialist would not be able to update his quotations on a timely basis (the "Unusual Market Exception"). Under this exception, if an exchange, pursuant to rules and regulations approved by the Commission under section 19(b)(2) of the Act, determined that the level of trading activity or the existence of unusual market conditions was such that the exchange was incapable of accurately collecting, processing and making ¹⁹1977 Proposal, paragraph (a)(12). The exchange would also have been responsible for keeping track of the quotation sizes of each broker or dealer and making that information available to a member seeking to effect a transaction in reliance on the firmness requirements of the Rule. 1977 Proposal, paragraph (b)(2).

²⁰1977 Proposal, paragraph (c)(4).

available to vendors the data required by the Rule, upon such exchange's notification to certain specified persons (including the Commission and each quotation vendor),²¹ the firmness obligations of responsible brokers and dealers of such exchange, as well as the obligation of the exchange to ascertain the identity and quotation size of each responsible broker and dealer and to make such information available to members, would be suspended. The suspension would continue until the exchange had determined that the unusual market activity or conditions had terminated and renotified those specified persons. During the pendency of the suspension, the exchange involved would still be required to continue, to the maximum extent practicable under the circumstances, to collect, process and make available to vendors bids, offers and quotation sizes of its members.²²

The 1977 Proposal did not significantly change the collection procedures and firmness requirements of the Rule for third market makers. Under the 1977 Proposal, each third market maker²³ would have been defined as a "responsible broker or dealer"²⁴ and would have been obligated to communicate his bids, offers, and quotation sizes to the association of which he was a member pursuant to collection procedures established by that association.²⁵ Such bids, offers, and quotations sizes would have been firm, subject to the same exceptions for revised quotations and intervening trade reports as contained in the 1976 Proposal.²⁶ Each association, in turn, would have been required, at all times last sale information with respect to reported securities was reported in the consolidated system, to collect, process, and make available to vendors the highest bid and lowest offer and quotation size of each responsible broker or dealer who was a member of that association and who was acting in the capacity of a third market maker.²⁷

ceived comment letters from three vendors of market information, six exchanges, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD"), the Securities Industry Association, two broker-dealer firms, and the Council on Wage and Price Stability. The Commission has also considered comments and statements concerning quotation systems generally and Rule 11Ac1-1 specifically which were received in connection with the Commission's current proceeding under section 19(c) of the Act, considering amendment of exchange rules which limit or condition the ability of their members to effect transaction over-the-counter in listed securities and to consider the adoption of certain Commission rules to accompany any such action (the "Off-Board Proceeding").²⁸ Finally, the Commission has considered the views of the National Market Advisory Board ("NMAB") regarding a composite quotation system.²⁹ All of the comments and views received in response to the 1977 Proposal indicate that most of the mechanical and operational difficulties of the Rule had been resolved but that there was still some disagreement as to the basic regulatory approach of the Rule. After carefully considering these views and comments, the Commission has determined to retain the basic approach of the proposal and has adopted Rule 11Ac1-1 in substantially the same form as the 1977 Proposal, with the elimination, however, of the Three Minute Exception.

II. THE REVISED PROPOSAL

A. THREE MINUTE EXCEPTION

A number of commentators responding to both the 1977 and 1976 Proposals argued that the Three Minute Exception was both unnecessary, in light of actual trading conditions and recent technological developments permitting computer-generated quotations, and counterproductive because it would emasculate the firmness provisions of the Rule. Therefore, these commentators suggested that the quotation information disseminated pursuant to the Rule would be less useful for order routing decisions. One commentator also asserted that the Three Minute Exception would permit exchanges or third market makers to suspend making quotations available for lengthy periods of time during active markets.

The Three Minute Exception was originally included in the 1976 Proposal as a mechanism to assure that market makers were given sufficient time to update their quotations following completion of a transaction or after receiving a trade report from another market center. The Commission recognized that the Exception would result in the dissemination of quotations which were less useful for order routing decisions than quotations which were firm unless altered prior to the receipt of an order; however, because the Commission was concerned that the Rule might cause operational difficulties, especially in active markets, the Three Minute Exception was included to ensure the efficient operation of the Rule. As a further mechanism for accommodating active exchange markets, the Commission also added the Unusual Market Exception in the 1977 Proposal. However, because the Commission believed that quotation information would be more useful if these exceptions were not provided, it specifically requested comment in the 1977 Release on the "feasibility of requiring bids and offers made available pursuant to the Rule to be firm under all circumstances (unless a revised bid or offer had been communicated to the relevant exchange or association prior to the receipt of an order)."³⁰

The Commission has concluded that the Three Minute Exception is not necessary to assure effective operation of the Rule because the exceptions for revised quotations and unusual market conditions should be adequate to accommodate even very active exchange markets.³¹ Accordingly, since quotation information not subject to such an exception will, in our view, be more reliable and may therefore be of greater benefit to brokers and dealers in their order routing decisions, the Commission has adopted Rule 11Ac1-1 without the Three Minute Exception.³²

²⁹ The comment letters of the Boston and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges and the NASD favored elimination of the Three Minute Exception. Additionally, two New York Stock Exchange, Inc. ("NYSE") specialists stated at the public hearings held in connection with the Off-Board Proceeding that the Three Minute Exception was not necessary to permit them to comply with the Rule. See Official Transcript of Proceedings Before the Securities and Exchange Commission, File No. 4-180, In the Matter of Off-Board Trading Rules at 397-398 and 599. Furthermore, officials of the NYSE and Pacific Stock Exchange, Inc. ("PSE"), which had initially advocated the Exception, have informally confirmed that those exchanges no longer felt the Exception was necessary. See Memorandum of Telephone Conversations in File S7-648.

³⁰ The Rule has also been revised to delete those provisions limiting the Three Minute Exception when two or more responsible brokers or dealers on an exchange had published bids or published offers at the same price. See 1977 Proposal, paragraph (c)(4).

³¹ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 13662 (June 23, 1977), 42 FR 33510.

³² NMAB, "Next Steps to be Taken to Facilitate the Establishment of a National Market System," December 6, 1977, ("NMAB Report") 15-18.

Under the Rule as adopted, bids, offers, and quotation sizes are required to be firm subject only to exceptions for revised quotations and unusual or active market conditions. The exception for revised quotations has been altered slightly to prevent a responsible broker or dealer from being required to execute more than one order on the basis of his published bid or published offer, a possibility which would have been precluded by the Three Minute Exception. Thus, under the Rule as adopted, a responsible broker or dealer would be relieved of his obligation to effect transactions at his published bid or published offer if, (i) before an order is presented for execution, he has communicated to his exchange or association a revised bid or offer superseding his published bid or offer (a "revised bid or offer") or, (ii) at the time an order is presented, he is in the process of effecting a transaction in that security,³³ and, immediately after the completion of such transaction, he communicates a revised bid or offer to his exchange or association.³⁴ In these circumstances, the responsible broker or dealer will be obliged to effect a transaction at his revised bid or offer if the broker or dealer presenting the order so requests. A responsible broker or dealer will also be permitted to revise his published quotation size at any time prior to the presentation of an order or, if he is in the process of effecting a transaction in that reported security at the time an order is presented, immediately after completion of the transaction.³⁵ In that event, the responsible broker or dealer will be obliged to execute a transaction in any amount requested by the broker or dealer presenting the order up to the responsible broker or dealer's revised quotation size.

B. TECHNICAL CHANGES

In addition to the changes discussed above, the Commission has made several drafting and technical changes in the Rule:

1. The 1977 Proposal provided an exception from the collection and dissemination requirements imposed on exchanges and associations for any bid or offer which was executed immediately after communication and any bid or offer communicated by a responsible broker or dealer (other than an exchange specialist) which was cancelled or withdrawn if not executed immediately after communication.³⁶ Commentators argued that the 1977 Proposal treated exchange market makers differently from third market makers (by requiring an exchange to collect an exchange market maker's bid or offer which was cancelled or withdrawn if not executed immediately after communication) and urged that the Commission extend this exception to exchange market makers. Because the bids and offers of any market maker may be characterized as cancelled or withdrawn if not accepted immediately after communication, the Commission has concluded that, to avoid possible circumvention of the Rule and to provide uniformity of treatment between exchange specialists and third market makers, the part of the exception which would have permitted an exchange or association to exclude from collection bids or offers which were cancelled or withdrawn if not executed immediately after communication should not be available either to third market makers or exchange specialists.³⁷ This determination is consistent with the Commission's intent in providing this exception for "ephemeral" quotations in the 1977 Proposal; that is, that the Rule as adopted reflects the fact that certain non-specialist participants in exchange "crowds" make bids and offers which, while narrowing the exchange quotation for an instant in time, never in fact become part of the quoted market on the exchange because they are withdrawn immediately if not accepted.

³³ A responsible broker or dealer should be deemed to be in the process of effecting a transaction from the moment an order is presented to him for execution until the completion of communication of all information necessary to complete the transaction.

2. The Rule has been revised to explicitly state that an association is required to make available to vendors the identity of each responsible broker or dealer whose quotations are being made available by that association.³⁸ This change in the Rule is necessary to assure that vendors receive sufficient information to enable their subscribers to respond to third market quotations in appropriate circumstances.

3. Under the 1977 Proposal, the Unusual Market Exception would have provided an exception to the firmness provisions of the Rule upon notification of certain "specified persons," including the Commission. In order to expedite notification procedures, the Rule has been revised to omit notification to the Commission although notice must still be provided to each quotation vendor, the processor of the consolidated system and, in the case of a security underlying exchange traded options, the processor for the Options Price Reporting Authority.³⁹

4. The Rule will become effective on May 1, 1978.⁴⁰ This effective date should provide sufficient time for exchanges and associations to file the necessary rule proposals with the Commission and to modify their quotation collection and dissemination procedures in accordance with the Rule. Furthermore, it will provide additional time to vendors to modify their information systems to accommodate the display of quotation information (including sizes) from the various market centers.

III. ADDITIONAL ISSUES

The Commission has also considered a number of other issues raised by commentators.

A. MANDATORY PARTICIPATION

Both the 1976 and 1977 Proposals contemplated that each exchange would be required to collect and disseminate quotations in every reported security listed or admitted to unlisted trading privileges on the exchange and that each association would be required to collect and disseminate quotations in every reported security in which one of its members was acting as a third market maker. In turn, each exchange specialist and third market maker would have been required to promptly communicate to his exchange or association quotations representing a continuous two-sided market. In response to both Proposals, the Commission received comments which questioned whether the Rule should mandate participation by each exchange and third market maker (as opposed to permitting such participation on a voluntary basis), particularly in an environment in which (i) brokers could not automatically execute against published bids or offers, (ii) there was no Commission rule requiring brokers to route orders to the market displaying the best published bid or offer, and (iii) there was no requirement that vendors display quotations from every market center.

Some commentators argued that competitive forces should be the sole factor motivating brokers or dealers to make available firm quotations to vendors. These commentators cited the NASD's experience with NASDAQ, which provides for voluntary participation by over-the-counter market makers, as an example of a successful quotation system deriving exclusively from competitive forces. Other commentators asserted that, in the current market environment, there would be no economic benefit to be derived from communication of quotations in accordance with the Rule because orders would not be routed on the basis of displayed quotations. Therefore, according to one commentator,

"Additionally, the 1977 Proposal would have required an exchange under certain circumstances to collect bids and offers of other brokers and dealers in the 'crowd'."

the adoption of a rule which required participation by all third market makers would be "anti-competitive" because it would impose greater burdens on smaller market centers which cannot spread the costs of providing quotations over a large order flow and cannot charge vendors or subscribers for quotation information as is done by certain larger self-regulatory organizations." Thus, it was argued, particularly in the absence of increased order flow which might be derived from communication of quotations, a mandatory rule would act as a "barrier to new market makers" and would be a disincentive to existing third market makers. Finally, it was suggested that, if the Commission adopted a rule mandating the dissemination of quotations, the information made available pursuant to the Rule would not be as accurate (and hence as useful) as the information which would be disseminated pursuant to a voluntary rule.

The NMAB supported the view that the Rule should not require participation by all market centers:

Contrary to the requirement contained in proposed Rule 11Ac1-1, the Board is of the view that requiring market makers to include their quotations in the [composite quotation system] might impose equipment and personnel costs that would discourage many broker-dealers from making markets. The Board believes it likely that broker-dealers which make markets in a significant number of securities would enter quotations into the system for at least some of the securities in which they make markets, and that the degree to which market makers entered quotations into the system would depend on the degree to which the system was used in directing order flow. If the system did not influence the direction of order flow, it would seem unfair to require market makers to make expenditures that were unlikely to have any business purpose."

In reaching its decision to adopt Rule 11Ac1-1 in a form requiring dissemination of quotations for reported securities from all market centers, the Commission has carefully reviewed both the views of commentators who favor modification of the Rule to permit voluntary dissemination of quotations and the legislative history of Section 11A of the Act (particularly with respect to, among other things, Congressional expectations concerning a composite quotation system)."

"For example, both the NYSE and American Stock Exchange currently impose direct charges on vendor subscribers for receipt of quotation information from their exchanges.

"NMAB Report, supra note 29, at 17.

"Section 11A(a) of the Act [15 U.S.C. 78k-1(a)] derives from S. 249, the Senate version of the bill which was ultimately enacted as the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975 (the "1975 Amendments"). See Comm. of Conference, Report to Accompany S. 249, H.R. Rep. No. 94-229, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. 92 (1975). The Senate report accompanying

The Commission recognizes the legitimate concerns of some commentators concerning the costs of compliance with Rule 11Ac1-1 and the possibility that a composite quotation system may not exert a controlling influence on brokers' order routing decisions under current circumstances. Although the Commission cannot predict with certainty the effect quotation information disseminated pursuant to the Rule will have on brokers' decisions as to which of the several markets should be selected for execution of their customers' orders, the

S. 249 indicates that the bill consolidates five prior bills (including S. 2519, a bill containing provisions relating to the development of a national market system which was approved by the Senate in the 93rd Congress) and that the genesis of the legislation was the Securities Industry Study Report of the Subcommittee on Securities of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs. Subcomm. on Securities of the Senate Comm. on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, Report to Accompany S. 249, S. Rep. No. 94-75, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. 1 (1975) (the "Senate Report"). See Subcomm. on Securities of the Senate Comm. on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, Securities Industry Study, S. Doc. No. 93-13, 93d Cong., 1st Sess. (1973) (the "Senate Securities Industry Study"). The Senate report accompanying S. 2519 and the Senate Securities Industry Study indicate a clear Congressional understanding that the Commission would use its powers to establish a comprehensive composite quotation system, including quotations from all market centers. The report accompanying S. 2519 indicates that one of the communications facilities which was not then in existence and which the bill was designed to give the Commission authority to mandate was a "system through which all current quotes for listed securities can be seen on any single unit on a comparable basis." Senate Comm. on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, Report to Accompany S. 2519, S. Rep. No. 93-865, 93d Cong., 2d Sess., 5-6 (1974) (emphasis added). The Senate Securities Industry Study also indicates that there was "no system through which all current quotes can be seen on a comparable basis. . . ." Senate Securities Industry Study at 97 (emphasis added).

In addition, the Senate Subcommittee was aware and noted in the Senate Securities Industry Study that the Commission had recently proposed Rule 17a-14 under the Act which would have required all exchanges and the NASD to make available quotations to vendors on a current and continuing basis. Id. at 101; see note 2 supra. In addition to its recognition of proposed Rule 17a-14, the Senate also cited in its Securities Industry Study the Commission's Policy Statement on the Structure of a Central Market System, Securities Exchange Act Release No. 10076 (March 29, 1973) (the "Policy Statement"). In the Policy Statement, the Commission specifically described the emerging "central market system" as envisioning the "disclosure of quotations from all markets." Future Structure Statement, supra note 1, at 8-9, 37 FR 5286, 5287 (emphasis added). See Policy Statement at 11, 15, 26, and 48.

Commission's expectations are that implementation of Rule 11Ac1-1, and the resultant general availability of relatively "firm" quotations and quotation sizes for reported securities, will have a favorable impact on brokers' order routing decisions and upon the changing nature of brokers' agency obligations to their customers. These expectations, however, do not constitute the sole basis for the Commission's decision to adopt Rule 11Ac1-1 in a form requiring participation by all market centers. Rather, the Commission considers the adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 in this form as an appropriate step in facilitating the integration of all markets into a national market system, including assuring "the availability to brokers, dealers and investors of information with respect to quotations for . . . securities" and "the practicability of brokers executing investors' orders in the best market."

Thus, the Commission is convinced that the availability of "firm" quotations for reported securities, with size, from all market centers, is of considerable value to the markets generally and to participants in those markets, especially in the context of an evolving national market system." Moreover, quite apart from the general importance of quotation information to be disseminated pursuant to the Rule, the Commission believes that the adoption of the Rule in a form requiring participation by all market centers should spur brokers to make greater

"See Section 11A(a)(1)(C)(iii) and (iv) of the Act [15 U.S.C. 78k-1(a)(1)(C)(iii) and (iv)]. The language and legislative history of the 1975 Amendments indicate a clear Congressional determination that a comprehensive composite quotation system is an essential element of the emerging national market system and that Congress contemplated an active Commission role in its development. For example, the Senate Subcommittee on Securities stated in the Senate Report as follows: "In the securities markets, as in most other active markets, it is critical for those who trade to have access to accurate, up-to-the-second information as to the prices at which transactions in particular securities are taking place (i.e., last sale reports) and the prices at which other traders have expressed their willingness to buy and sell (i.e., quotations). For this reason, communications systems designed to provide automated dissemination of last sale and quotation information will form the heart of the national market system." Senate Report, supra note 44, at 9. See Subcomm. on Commerce and Finance of the House Comm. on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Securities Industry Study, H.R. Rep. No. 92-1519, 92nd Cong., 2d Sess. 123-25 (1972); Senate Securities Industry Study, supra note 44, at 101-104.

"Similarly, in adopting Rule 17a-15 under the Act, the Commission was convinced of the value of providing comprehensive last sale information from all market centers. The Commission believes that quotation information will prove to be of at least equal value.

efforts to achieve best execution of their customers' orders and should foster increased competition in market making. Finally, the Commission is concerned that the failure to ensure the availability of quotation information from all market centers could jeopardize efforts to perfect the functioning of a composite quotation system. Such a failure also could distort the Commission's and the securities industry's perception of that system's impact on the behavior of market professionals and of the precise nature of those additional steps which must be taken, building upon experience with use of a composite quotation system, to perfect the mechanism of a national market system.

Although the Commission is aware that the cost burdens associated with compliance with the Rule (particularly the expenses associated with providing quotation information on a continuous basis) may be greater for some persons subject to the Rule than for others, these differences are, in large part, a direct function of the differing ways in which persons subject to the Rule have elected to conduct their businesses. In any event, the Commission has determined that those costs must be borne in order to advance the important purposes of the Act to be served by collecting and disseminating "firm" quotation information from all market centers.

The Commission believes that, until there has been some experience with a comprehensive composite quotation system, it is not possible to determine the precise impact which that system will have on order flow or upon the competitive opportunities and burdens which will be encountered by various market centers. The Commission is satisfied that the important purposes of the Act will be served by collecting and disseminating "firm" quotation information from all market centers and, accordingly, it is reluctant to sacrifice that opportunity because of a concern that some market centers might suffer a cost or competitive disadvantage. The Commission recognizes, however, that this concern is a real one and that some markets and market makers, particularly third market makers, may be subjected to cost burdens which are substantially disproportionate to the competitive benefits which they will obtain. Therefore, upon an appropriate showing, the Commission will be prepared to consider granting an exemption from the provisions of the Rule requiring the dissemination of quotation information so as to relieve unjustified burdens in a manner consistent with the purposes of the Act."

The Commission is aware that some persons required to provide quotations

"Rule 11Ac1-1(d). See discussion infra.

C. VENDOR REQUIREMENTS

Several commentators suggested that the Commission impose specific obligations on quotation vendors to display quotations from all market centers. The Commission agrees with these commentators that the general availability of quotation information from all markets and market makers by such vendors is a necessary prerequisite to the use of that information and is essential to the successful operation of the Rule. However, the Commission believes that adequate dissemination of quotation information will be achieved without specific vendor requirements formulated by the Commission. For example, it appears that prior to the effective date of the Rule at least one securities information system will be providing a montage of quotations (including sizes) from all market centers in all multiple-traded reported securities. Additionally, the Commission believes that competitive pressures will assure that each of the other vendors will eventually implement similar services or, at least, a best bid and asked display. The Commission will continue to monitor vendor progress in providing quotation information in a comprehensive and non-discriminatory manner and will reconsider its decision not to impose specific obligations on vendors if competitive pressures do not assure adequate dissemination and display of this information."

B. BEST EXECUTION

A number of commentators stated that, in their opinion, the adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 would not significantly change brokers' order routing decisions unless the Commission also adopted a "best execution" rule. One commentator felt that such a rule should be general in nature, merely clarifying a broker's responsibilities as they exist today, and would exist after the adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1, while others appeared to be advocating a more specific rule which would require brokers to route orders to the market center displaying the best quotation.

The Commission does not believe it is appropriate, at this time, to promulgate a "best execution" rule. It has reached this conclusion because it does not believe it is reasonable, given the present structure of the securities markets, and presently available trading mechanisms, to require brokers under all circumstances to route their customers' orders to the market displaying the best quotation. However, since the Commission believes that adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 will significantly improve the quality of quotation information available from all markets and market makers, the Commission expects brokers to give careful consideration to that information in making their order routing decisions. Because the Commission believes that a broker's existing fiduciary duty to his customer requires that he take cognizance of quotation information available through a composite quotation system in seeking best execution of his customer's order, it is not clear at this time that a more definitive Commission rule prescribing best execution standards is necessary to ensure adherence to appropriate principles of agency conduct by brokers.

D. MULTIPLE MARKET MAKERS

Although most commentators expressed agreement with the firmness provisions of the Rule, two commentators suggested that this aspect of the Rule had certain anticompetitive effects. These commentators argued that the competing market maker system, as employed on the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc. and the options trading floors of the Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc. and PSE, may be a prototype of the enhanced competitive environment envisioned by Congress in the passage of the 1975

"In this regard, the Commission notes that it expects that quotations will be displayed on a non-discriminatory basis (i.e., from all market centers) and that access to composite quotations will be provided in a manner which will allow recall of these quotations as readily as quotations from a single market. For example, if the consolidated system stock symbol and a single request key are utilized to obtain quotations from a particular market center, consolidated quotations must be available by use of the consolidated symbol and a single request key. In addition to the display of quotations and quotation sizes based upon information from all market centers, the Commission expects that vendors will also indicate to users when these quotations are not firm due to the Unusual Market Exception.

Amendments" and that a firm quotation rule would be unworkable in such an environment. Therefore, they argued that the adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 would become an obstacle to other exchanges adopting such a competitive market maker system, and, in any event, that the Commission would have to exempt exchanges using this system from the operation of the Rule.

The Commission recognizes that compliance with Rule 11Ac1-1 may be more difficult in a multiple market maker exchange environment; however, no exchange currently utilizes such a system generally for trading in reported securities. Accordingly, it is not necessary at this time to consider modifying Rule 11Ac1-1 or altering its basic approach to collection of quotation information to take into account multiple market making in reported securities. However, the Commission wishes to clearly state its intent that the adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 should not discourage competition among market makers and its commitment to give further consideration to the kinds of theoretical problems mentioned above should circumstances require further action to accommodate a large number of market makers on a single exchange floor.

E. SUITABILITY

Several commentators responded to an express request for comment made in a footnote to the 1977 Release regarding the applicability of standards of suitability and diligence.³⁰ The Commission confirmed in the footnote that the firmness provisions of the Rule (which would require a responsible broker or dealer to deal directly with any person belonging to a category of persons with which such broker or dealer customarily deals) were not intended to supersede or contravene rules governing suitability and diligence as to customer accounts.³¹ One commentator felt that this qualification of the firmness requirement would be more appropriately contained in the Rule, not in a footnote in a release. Another commentator questioned the applicability of suitability and customer diligence rules to several hypothetical situations and also expressed its view that the Rule should not require a responsible broker or dealer to transact business with another broker or dealer regardless of such responsible broker or dealer's ³⁰Both commentators noted, however, that Rule 11Ac1-1 as proposed would not be applicable to options trading. Rule 11Ac1-1 as adopted is not applicable to quotations in exchange-traded options.

³²See, e.g., Article III, Sec. 2 of the Rules of Fair Practice of the NASD and Rule 405 of the NYSE.

judgment as to the financial integrity of the other broker or dealer and his ability to deal in the size of the transaction in question.

The Commission continues to believe that the asserted concern that Rule 11Ac1-1 will force responsible brokers and dealers to transact business with financially unsound brokers or dealers has not been demonstrated to be a sufficient reason to amend the Rule. If such loss occurs, it would generally be limited to a risk of market loss for a short period of time. The infrequency and limited nature of such losses does not warrant the inclusion of a general exception to the firmness requirement of the Rule.

With respect to other persons who belong to a category of persons with whom a responsible broker or dealer customarily deals (and, therefore, who are entitled to require a responsible broker or dealer to effect a transaction at his published bid or published offer), the Commission notes that the phrase "customarily deals" connotes, among other things, that a responsible broker or dealer should not engage in a transaction with a customer when the broker's fiduciary responsibility, including principles of suitability and other obligations imposed on such brokers by law, would otherwise prohibit such a transaction.

F. ERRORS

One commentator noted that the 1977 Proposal would relieve a responsible broker or dealer from his firmness obligations if his published bid or offer as displayed by vendors was not the same as the bid or offer communicated by the responsible broker or dealer to his exchange or association due to some error in collection, transmission or display. This commentator stated that a responsible broker or dealer should also be relieved of firmness obligations when he has communicated an erroneous quotation to his exchange or association.

The Commission believes that responsible brokers and dealers should be held accountable for their own errors in order (i) to create incentive on the part of responsible brokers and dealers to accurately communicate their quotations and (ii) to avoid "backing away" by responsible brokers and dealers under the guise of erroneous quotations. Accordingly, the Rule has not been altered to provide a firmness exception for responsible brokers or dealers communicating erroneous quotations.

G. FEES

The Commission has again received comments concerning the rights

³³The Commission received similar comments in response to the 1976 Proposal and deleted a paragraph in that Proposal which would have permitted the imposition of fair of exchanges and associations to charge vendors directly for receipt of quotation information and to impose certain contractual obligations on vendors. Rule 11Ac1-1 is not intended to define or recognize the right of an exchange or association to charge vendors for the receipt of quotation information; the Commission has not to date addressed that issue. The Commission notes that, under Section 11A(c)(1)(C) of the Act (15 U.S.C. 78k-1(c)(1)(C)), it continues to have authority to adopt rules and regulations designed to assure that all securities information processors may obtain quotation information from any exchange or association (or any executive processor) on fair and reasonable terms. The Commission expects that the vendors and self-regulatory organizations will resolve these matters satisfactorily without Commission intervention prior to the effective date of the Rule. However, the Commission will monitor the progress of these discussions to assure that compliance with the Rule and the other provisions of the Act are achieved and will take appropriate action if necessary.

H. UNUSUAL MARKET EXCEPTION

Only one commentator addressed the operation of the Unusual Market Exception and suggested that this exception commence upon a determination that unusual conditions exist, not at the time specified persons are notified. In addition, this commentator felt the Rule's requirement that such determination be made pursuant to rules approved by the Commission would not allow exchange officials sufficient discretion in utilizing the exception. Although the circumstances which justify the determination that unusual conditions exist would appear to impose burdens on responsible brokers and dealers from the moment these circumstances arise and, therefore, responsible brokers and dealers would be required to satisfy orders based upon quotations which may not be accurate or up to date from that time until completion of the notification procedure, the Commission believes that such a limited burden is necessary to assure prompt notification to the specified persons. The Commission has also revised the Rule to omit notification to the Commission, thereby expediting the notification process.³⁴ Moreover, during the period prior to notification it is unlikely that responsible brokers or dealers will be required to satisfy orders on the basis of their published bids or offers because the exception for revised quotations should assure that a and reasonable fees for use of quotation information. 1976 Proposal, paragraph (b)(3). See 1977 Release, supra note 13, at 21, 42 FR 32418, 32420.

responsible broker or dealer is not obliged to effect a transaction at a price which does not reflect the current market. In addition, if the Unusual Market Exception were to become operative prior to notification to vendors, displayed quotations would be misleading during such interim period.³⁴

The Commission believes it is necessary that exchange procedures utilized in making a determination that unusual market conditions exist be filed with the Commission under Section 19(b) of the Act to assure some uniformity between the various exchanges and to assure that the factors to be considered in reaching these determinations are consistent with the Commission's intent in providing the exception.

I. COST/BENEFIT ANALYSIS

In response to the 1976 Proposal, the Council on Wage and Price Stability (the "Council") submitted a lengthy comment questioning the cost/benefit of a rule such as Rule 11Ac1-1 and urging the Commission not to adopt such a rule in the absence of an analysis demonstrating that the benefits of the proposal would outweigh the costs associated with its implementation.³⁵ In the 1977 Release, the Commission stated its conclusion that the projected benefits of the Rule, although difficult to quantify, outweighed the anticipated costs to exchanges, associations and market professionals.³⁶ In addition, the Commission noted that affirmative Commission action in implementing a composite quotation system was justified by the overriding public interest in the widespread dissemination of quotation information and by the provisions of the Act directing the Commission to take action to facilitate the development of a national market system.³⁷

In response to the 1977 Proposal, the Council has requested the Commission to consider its comments submitted in response to the 1976 Proposal as applicable to the 1977 Proposal. The Commission has again considered the comments of the Council and continues to believe that the benefits provided by the Rule, particularly its role in facilitating the establishment of a national market system, outweigh the costs associated with implementation of the Rule. As an integral step in accomplishing the statutory goal of the "linking of all markets . . . [to] foster efficiency, enhance competition, . . . and contribute to best execution" . . . of customers' orders, the Rule is justified even in the absence of inherently speculative efforts to quantify the cost and value of certain improvements in the quality of information which will result.

J. MISCELLANEOUS TECHNICAL COMMENTS

1. One commentator felt that the Rule should contain further standards refining the definition of "third market maker." The definition in the 1977 Proposal would have applied to any person who held himself out as willing to deal on a regular and continuous basis in amounts of less than block size. This commentator requested that the Commission provide standards for identifying those persons who are willing to deal on a regular and continuous basis and for determining "block size." The definition of third market maker contained in the Rule is similar to the definition of "market maker" contained in Section 3(a)(38) of the Act (15 U.S.C. 78c(a)(38)), and should be sufficiently clear to identify persons acting in that capacity. Since the amount of securities which constitutes a "block" will vary from issue to issue, depending in part upon the trading characteristics of the issue (e.g., price, volume and liquidity), a specific definition of that term would appear to be unduly rigid.

2. One commentator requested that the Commission further define the standards under which it would grant exemptions from the Rule. The exemptive provisions of the Rule are designed to exempt market centers which do not account for any significant trading in a reported securities or which would suffer economic burdens which are not justified by the purposes of the Act,³⁸ and to deal with other market structure developments.³⁹ The Commission believes that a broad exemptive provision is necessary to provide flexibility in those instances when application of the Rule would be inappropriate.

3. Another commentator has made a number of technical suggestions, most of which the Commission feels are beyond the intended scope of the Rule. In essence, this commentator suggested that the Commission mandate the specifications of communication linkages between self-regulatory organizations and vendors and that the Commission require exchanges and associations to name an exclusive processor of quotations and make available quotations in a manner which will reduce stress on vendor computer hardware.

⁴²Section 11A(a)(1)(D) of the Act (15 U.S.C. 78k-1(a)(1)(D)).

⁴³See note 47 supra.

When the Commission deferred further action on proposed Rule 17a-14 under the Act,⁴⁰ which would have permitted exchanges and associations to file plans for the collection and dissemination of quotations, similar to the plan required to be filed under Rule 17a-15 under the Act with respect to last sale reports, it determined that industry forces should be allowed to create the means of collection, dissemination and display of quotations without direct Commission action. The implication of this decision to defer action on Rule 17a-14 was that, if the industry, after sufficient time, had not taken reasonable steps in creating appropriate procedures and facilities, the Commission would once again consider direct intervention. However, steps taken to date indicate that the exchanges, associations and vendors are responding to this challenge. The Commission believes that any arrangement between all of the various exchanges and associations leading to centralized processing, sequencing and validation of quotation information would be beneficial and it encourages the exchanges and associations to pursue such arrangements. With respect to technical specifications governing the method of transmitting quotation information, the Commission believes that these matters should be addressed, at least initially, by the self-regulatory organizations and the vendors in keeping with the Commission's prior determination to rely upon the private sector to implement mechanisms for collection, dissemination and display of quotation information. The Commission sees no apparent utility in mandating these specifications and is confident that the vendors and self-regulatory organizations will satisfactorily resolve any problems which might impede the successful development of a composite quotation system.

IV. STATUTORY BASIS AND COMPETITIVE CONSIDERATIONS

The Securities and Exchange Commission hereby adopts Rule 11Ac1-1 [17 CFR § 240.11Ac1-1] pursuant to its authority under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 [15 U.S.C. 78a et seq., as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29 (June 4, 1975)], and particularly Sections 2, 3, 6, 9, 10, 11A, 15, 15A, 17 and ⁴⁵See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 11288 (March 11, 1975) at 2, 40 FR 15015, 15016.

23 thereof (15 U.S.C. 78b, 78c, 78f, 78i, 78j, 78k-1, 78o, 78o-3, 78q and 78w).

For the reasons expressed in this release, the Commission finds that the Rule does not impose any burden on competition which is neither necessary nor appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

The text of Rule 11Ac1-1 is as follows:

§ 240.11Ac1-1 Dissemination of quotations for reported securities.

(a) Definitions. For purposes of this section, (1) The term "third market maker" shall mean any broker or dealer who holds himself out as being willing to buy and sell a reported security for his own account on a regular and continuous basis otherwise than on a national securities exchange in amounts of less than block size (including any such broker or dealer who also represents, as agent, orders to buy or sell reported securities on behalf of any other person and communicates bids and offers to a national securities association ("association") pursuant to this section on behalf of such other persons as well as for his own account).

(2) The term "exchange market maker" shall mean any member of a national securities exchange ("exchange") who is registered as a specialist or market maker pursuant to the rules and regulations of such exchange.

(3) The term "responsible broker or dealer" shall mean (i) When used with respect to bids or offers communicated on the floor of an exchange, any member of such exchange who communicates to another member on the floor of such exchange, at the location (or locations) designated by such exchange for trading in a reported security, a bid or offer for such reported security, as either principal or agent; Provided, however, That, in the event two or more members of an exchange have communicated on the floor of such exchange bids or offers for a reported security at the same price, each such member shall be considered a "responsible broker or dealer" with respect to that bid or offer, subject to the rules of priority and precedence then in effect on that exchange; and further provided, That with respect to a bid or offer which is transmitted from one member of an exchange to another such member who undertakes to represent such bid or offer on the floor of such exchange as agent, only the last such member who undertakes to represent such bid or offer as agent shall be considered the "responsible broker or dealer" with respect to that bid or offer; and maker communicating the bid or offer (regardless of whether such bid or offer is for his own account or on behalf of another person).

(ii) When used with respect to bids and offers communicated by a third market maker to another broker or dealer or to a customer otherwise than on an exchange, the third market,

(4) The term "quotation vendor" shall mean any securities information processor engaged in the business of disseminating to brokers and dealers, on a real-time or current and continuing basis, bids and offers made available pursuant to this section, whether distributed through an electronic communications network or displayed on a terminal or other display device.

(5) The term "consolidated system" shall mean the consolidated transaction reporting system contemplated by § 240.17a-15 (Rule 17a-15 under the Act).

(6) The term "reported security" shall mean any equity security as to which last sale information is reported in the consolidated system.

(7) The term "make available," when used with respect to bids, offers, quotation sizes and aggregate quotation sizes supplied to quotation vendors by an exchange or association, shall mean to provide circuit connections at the premises of the exchange or association supplying such data, or at a common location determined by mutual agreement of the exchanges and associations, for the delivery of such data to quotation vendors.

(8) The terms "bid" and "offer" shall mean the bid price or the offer price most recently communicated by an exchange member or third market maker to any broker or dealer, or to any customer, at which he is willing to buy or sell a particular amount of a reported security, as either principal or agent, but shall not include indications of interest.

(9) The terms "published bid" and "published offer" shall mean the bid or offer (as the case may be) of a responsible broker or dealer for a reported security communicated by him to his exchange or association pursuant to this section and displayed by a quotation vendor on a terminal or other display device at the time an order is presented for execution to such responsible broker or dealer.

(10) The term "quotation size," when used with respect to a responsible broker's or dealer's bid or offer for a reported security, shall mean (i) the number of shares (or units of trading) of that reported security which such responsible broker or dealer has specified, for purposes of dissemination to quotation vendors, that he is willing to buy at the bid price or sell at the offer price comprising his bid or offer, as either principal or agent, or (ii) in the event such responsible broker or dealer has not so specified, a normal unit of trading for that reported security.

(11) The term "published quotation size" shall mean the quotation size of a responsible broker or dealer communicated by him to his exchange or association pursuant to this section and displayed by a quotation vendor on a terminal or other display device at the time an order is presented for execution to such responsible broker or dealer.

(12) The term "aggregate quotation size" shall mean the sum of the quotation sizes of all responsible brokers or dealers who have communicated on the floor of an exchange bids or offers for a reported security at the same price.

(13) The term "published aggregate quotation size" shall mean the aggregate quotation size calculated by an exchange and displayed by a quotation vendor on a terminal or other display device at the time an order is presented for execution to a responsible broker or dealer.

(14) The term "odd-lot" shall mean an order for the purchase or sale of a reported security in an amount less than a normal unit of trading.

(15) The term "specified persons," when used in connection with any notification required to be provided pursuant to paragraphs (b)(3)(i) and (b)(3)(ii) of this section, shall mean: (i) Each quotation vendor; (ii) The processor for the consolidated system; and (iii) The processor for the Options Price Reporting Authority (in the case of a notification with respect to a reported security which is a class of securities underlying options admitted to trading on any exchange).

(b) Dissemination requirements for exchanges and associations. (1) Every exchange and association shall establish and maintain procedures and mechanisms for collecting bids, offers, quotation sizes and aggregate quotation sizes from responsible brokers or dealers who are members of such exchange or association (as the case may be), processing such bids, offers and sizes, and making such bids, offers and sizes available to quotation vendors, as follows:

(i) Every exchange shall, at all times such exchange is open for trading, collect, process and make available to quotation vendors the highest bid and the lowest offer communicated on the floor of that exchange (or, in the event such exchange maintains more than one trading floor, communicated on any of such floors) by any responsible broker or dealer (excluding any such bid or offer which is executed immediately after communication and any such bid or offer communicated by a responsible broker or dealer other than an exchange market maker which is cancelled or withdrawn if not executed immediately after communication) for each reported security listed or admitted to unlisted trading privileges on that exchange except during any period when trading in that security has been suspended or halted, or prior to the commencement of trading in that security on any trading day, on that exchange;

(ii) Every association shall, at all times last sale information with respect to reported securities is reported in the consolidated system, collect, process and make available to quotation vendors the highest bid and lowest offer communicated otherwise than on the floor of an exchange by each member of such association acting in the capacity of a third market maker for a reported security and the identity of that member (excluding any such bid or offer which is executed immediately after communication), except during any period when over-the-counter trading in that security has been suspended; and

(iii) Every bid and offer made available to quotation vendors by an exchange or association pursuant to this section shall be accompanied by the quotation size or the aggregate quotation size (as the case may be) associated with it.

(2) Each exchange shall, with respect to each published bid and published offer representing a bid or offer of a member, establish and maintain procedures for ascertaining and disclosing to other members of that exchange, upon presentation of orders sought to be executed by them in reliance upon paragraph (c)(2) of this section, the identity of each responsible broker or dealer who made such bid or offer and the quotation size associated with it.

(3)(i) If, at any time an exchange is open for trading, such exchange determines, pursuant to rules and regulations approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the level of trading activity or the existence of unusual market conditions is such that the exchange is incapable of collecting, processing and making available to quotation vendors the data with respect to a reported security required to be made available pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section in a manner which accurately reflects the current state of the market on the floor of such exchange, such exchange shall immediately notify all specified persons of that determination. Upon such notification, responsible brokers or dealers who are members of that exchange shall be relieved of their obligation under paragraph (c)(2) of this section and such exchange shall be relieved of its obligations under paragraphs (b)(1) and (2) of this section with respect to that security; provided, however, That such exchange shall continue, to the maximum extent practicable under the circumstances, to collect, process and make available to quotation vendors such data for that security in accordance with paragraph (b)(1) of this section.

(ii) During any period an exchange, or any responsible broker or dealer who is a member of that exchange, is relieved of any obligation imposed by this section with respect to any reported security by virtue of a notification made pursuant to paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this section, such exchange shall monitor the activity or conditions which formed the basis for such notification and shall immediately renotify all specified persons when that exchange is once again capable of collecting, processing and making available to quotation vendors the data with respect to that security required to be made available pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section in a manner which accurately reflects the current state of the market on the floor of such exchange. Upon such renotification, any exchange or responsible broker or dealer which had been relieved of any obligation imposed by this section as a consequence of the prior notification shall again be subject to such obligation.

(4) Nothing in this section shall preclude any exchange or association from making available to quotation vendors indications of interest at any time or bids and offers with respect to a reported security at any time such exchange or association is not required to do so pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section.

(c) Obligations of responsible brokers and dealers. (1) Every responsible broker or dealer shall promptly communicate to his exchange or association (as the case may be), pursuant to procedures established by that exchange or association, his bids, offers and quotation sizes.

(2) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (c)(3) of this section, every responsible broker or dealer shall be obligated to execute any order to buy or sell a reported security, other than an odd-lot order, presented to him by another broker or dealer, or any other person belonging to a category of persons with whom such responsible broker or dealer customarily deals, at a price at least as favorable to such buyer or seller as the bid price or offer price comprising such responsible broker's or dealer's published bid or published offer (exclusive of any commission, commission equivalent or differential customarily charged by such responsible broker or dealer in connection with execution of any such order) in any amount up to his published quotation size.

(3)(i) If, (A) prior to the presentation of an order for the purchase or sale of a reported security, a responsible broker or dealer has communicated to his exchange or association (as the case may be), pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section, a quotation size superseding his published quotation size (a "revised quotation size"), or, (B) at the time an order for the purchase or sale of a reported security is presented, a responsible broker or dealer is in the process of effecting a transaction in such reported security, and, immediately after the completion of such transaction, he communicates to his exchange or association (as the case may be) a revised quotation size, such responsible broker or dealer shall not be obligated by paragraph (c)(2) of this section to purchase or sell a reported security in an amount greater than such revised quotation size.

(ii) No responsible broker or dealer shall be obligated to execute a transaction for any reported security as provided in paragraph (c)(2) of this section if, (A) before the order sought to be executed is presented, such responsible broker or dealer has communicated to his exchange or association (as the case may be) pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section, a bid or offer superseding his published bid or published offer (a "revised bid or offer"); or (B) at the time the order sought to be executed is presented, such responsible broker or dealer is in the process of effecting a transaction in such reported security, and, immediately after the completion of such transaction, such responsible broker or dealer communicates to his exchange or association (as the case may be) pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section, a revised bid or offer; provided, however, That such responsible broker or dealer shall nonetheless be obligated to execute any such order in such reported security as provided in paragraph (c)(2) of this section at his revised bid or offer in any amount up to his published quotation size or revised quotation size (as the case may be).

(d) Exemptions. The Commission may exempt from the provisions of this section, either unconditionally or on specified terms and conditions, any responsible broker or dealer, exchange, or association if the Commission determines that such exemption is consistent with the public interest, the protection of investors and the removal of impediments to and perfection of the mechanism of a national market system.

(e) Effective Date. The effective date of this section shall be May 1, 1978.

DEVELOPMENT OF A NATIONAL MARKET
SYSTEMAGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.ACTION: Notice of intent to engage in rulemaking.SUMMARY: The Commission sets forth its views as to those initiatives which it believes must be taken over the next year to facilitate the establishment of a national market system.
In addition, the Commission gives notice of its intent to commence rulemaking, if necessary, to implement those initiatives.

iterate the Commission's continuing commitment to achievement of a national market system for securities in accordance with the goals directed to be achieved by the Congress in the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"),¹ as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975 (the "1975 Amendments").² The 1975 Amendments establish as a purpose of the Act the need "to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a national market system for securities,"³ and direct the Commission to "facilitate the establishment" of that system.⁴ Specifically, Section 11A of the Act states that:The Commission is directed . . . having due regard for the public interest, the pro-tection of investors, and the maintenance of fair and orderly markets, to use its authority under [the Act] to facilitate the establishment of a national market system for securities (which may include subsystems for particular types of securities with unique trading characteristics) in accordance with the findings and to carry out the objectives set forth in paragraph (1) of [Section 11A(a)].⁵Section 11A(a)(1) of the Act states the Congressional findings that:(A) The securities markets are an important national asset which must be preserved and strengthened.(B) New data processing and communications techniques create the opportunity for more efficient and effective market operations.(C) It is in the public interest and appropriate for the protection of investors and the maintenance of fair and orderly markets to assure—(i) economically efficient execution of securities transactions;(ii) fair competition among brokers and dealers, among exchange markets, and between exchange markets and markets other than exchange markets;(iii) the availability to brokers, dealers, and investors of information with respect to quotations for and transactions in securities;(iv) the practicability of brokers executing investors' orders in the best market; and(v) an opportunity, consistent with the provisions of clauses (i) and (iv) of this sub-paragraph, for investors' orders to be executed without the participation of a dealer.
(D) The linking of all markets for qualified securities through communication and data processing facilities will foster effectiveness, enhance competition, increase the information available to brokers, dealers and investors, facilitate the offsetting of investors' orders, and contribute to best execution of such orders.⁶This statement sets forth, in summary form, the Commission's views, as to particular initiatives the Commission considers necessary to accelerate implementation of a national market system meeting the Congressional findings and objectives stated above. It is intended to apprise the securities industry, the Congress and the public of those elements of a national market system which the Commission believes must be put in place in the immediate future if the idea of a national market system is to progress beyond the theoretical stage and become a functioning reality. During the next year, to the extent required, the Commission plans to issue further statements more fully analyzing the issues presented by each of those elements in connection with commencement of such rule-making as the Commission may find necessary in order to assure that development of those elements proceeds in an orderly fashion.

the development of the concept of a¹ 15 U.S.C. 78a et seq.² Pub. L. No. 94-29 (June 4, 1975).³ Section 2 of the Act [15 U.S.C. 78b].⁴ Section 11A(a)(2) of the Act [15 U.S.C.

place in perspective the particular initiatives announced in this statement.⁷The concept of a national market system was first articulated in the Commission's letter of transmittal accompanying its Institutional Investor Study, submitted to Congress on March 10, 1971.⁸ There the Commission stated that:[a] Major goal and ideal of the securities market and the securities industry has been the creation of a strong central market system for securities of national importance, in which all buying and selling interest in these securities could participate and be represented under a competitive regime.⁹Following that statement, in October 1971, the Commission conducted hearings focused on the existing structure of the securities markets and ways of improving it.¹⁰ These hearings culminated in the issuance of the Commission's Statement on the Future Structure of the Securities Markets ("Future Structure Statement") on February 2, 1972.¹¹In the Future Structure Statement, the Commission elaborated on the goals of a national market system and defined a central (national) market system as:A system of communications by which the various elements of the marketplace, be they exchanges or over-the-counter markets, are tied together. It also includes a set of rules governing the relationships which will prevail among market participants.¹²The Future Structure Statement outlined a number of structural problems adversely affecting the securities markets and the Commission's views as to appropriate resolution of those⁷ The particular references to and quota-change Commission on the Structure of a Statement").problems. The broad parameters of the market structure reforms the Commission proposed as remedies to those problems included: (i) implementation of a nationwide system for disclosure of market information designed to make price and volume information in all markets universally available; (ii) elimination of artificial impediments to dealing in the best available markets created by exchange rules or otherwise; (iii) establishment of terms and conditions upon which any qualified broker-dealer could negotiate access to all exchanges; and (iv) integration of third market firms and exchanges into a national market system, subjecting them to appropriate market responsibilities and other regulatory requirements commensurate with the benefits they would realize in such a system.The Commission did not in the Future Structure Statement set forth a detailed plan for achievement of its market structure goals; rather, the Commission announced that it would establish three advisory committees to study and report to the Commission their views as to the optimum means of implementing the Commission's policy objectives. Upon the completion of the work of the three advisory committees,¹³ the Commission issued a Policy Statement on the Structure of a Central Market System on March 29, 1973,¹⁴ in which it provided a more detailed statement of its policy objectives and a possible plan for implementing those objectives.The Policy Statement described how a consolidated transaction reporting system would operate and what rules would be necessary to ensure that information disseminated through that system would not be misleading. The Policy Statement also elaborated on the need for a system disclosing all quotations in national market system securities on a comprehensive basis, describing the manner in which such a system might function. Finally, the Policy Statement concluded that off-board trading rules of the various exchanges, particularly New York Stock Exchange, Inc. ("NYSE") Rule 394

(now Rule 390), were incompatible with a national market system and would have to be rescinded at an appropriate time.¹⁵¹³ The three advisory committees were the Advisory Committee on Market Disclosure ("Disclosure Committee"), the Advisory Committee on a Central Market System ("CMS Committee"), and the Advisory Committee on Block Transactions ("Block Committee"). Reports were received from the Disclosure Committee on July 17 and November 21, 1972, from the CMS Committee on October 11, 1972, and March 6, 1973, and from the Block Committee on August 7, 1972.¹⁴ See Policy Statement, supra note 12.¹⁵ Id. at 61-64, 67. Of course, a primary goal of a national market system is to cap-In addition to elaborating on the principles set forth in the Future Structure Statement, the Commission's Policy Statement articulated two new proposals to govern trading within a national market system: an auction trading rule, which would provide price priority protection for all public orders entered in a proposed central electronic repository, and a public preference rule, which would accord preferential treatment to public orders entered in the central electronic repository by preventing securities professionals acting as principal from competing for execution with such orders unless such professionals bettered public bids or offers entered in that system.THE SECURITIES ACTS AMENDMENTS OF 1975Concurrent with the Commission's initial formulation of policies concerning development and implementation of a national market system, the Congress initiated its own study of the competitive, legal and economic issues facing the securities markets, the securities industry and public investors in the 1970's and beyond. Subcommittees of both Houses of Congress held extensive hearings on market structure questions and issued comprehensive reports setting forth their conclusions and recommendations.¹⁶ These conclusions and recommendations formed the basis of legislative proposals which, after extensive hearings and comment, were enacted into law as the 1975 Amendments.As noted above, the 1975 Amendments contain an explicit statutory commitment to the establishment of ature and reflect all buying and selling interest in the securities traded in that system from moment to moment (thus exposing all buying interest to all selling interest) to the maximum extent possible so that all orders within the system can be satisfied in a manner consonant with the principles articulated by the Congress in Section 11A of the Act. Depending upon the ultimate configuration of the national market system, that result could be sought by imposition of a rule specifically confining trading in national market system securities to that system. The Commission believes that such a result could ensue in any event, however, as the aggregate consequence of industry use of the various communications and other technological components of a national market system and adherence to a common body of trading rules and principles governing the transaction of business in securities included in that system.¹⁶ Subcommittee on Commerce and Finance of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Securities Industry Study, 92nd Cong., 2d Sess. 117-130 (Comm. Print, 1972); Subcommittee on Securities of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, Securities Industry Study, 93rd Cong., 1st Sess. 89-135 (Comm. Print, 1973) ("Senate Study").national market system. The legislative history of the 1975 Amendments indicates a clear Congressional belief that development of a national market system is not only desirable but necessary. For example, the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs (the "Senate Committee") stated that:[t]he rapid attainment of a national market system . . . is important . . . to assure that the country maintains a strong, effective and efficient capital raising and capital allocating system in the years ahead.¹⁷Similarly, the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce declared that:The purpose of this title is to insure that our nation's capital markets continue to be the best in existence. It does this by establishing a framework for a national market system, in which all qualified persons throughout our country may be linked together electronically so that they may compete and may bring to the marketplace their capital so as to make for broader, deeper and more liquid capital markets.¹⁸For this reason, the 1975 Amendments clarified and strengthened the Commission's authority to advance the achievement of such a system.In view of the Congressional belief that it was "best to allow maximum flexibility in working out specific details" of what should be elements of a national market system, the 1975
Amendments neither defined the term
"national market system" nor mandated specified minimum components of such a system.¹⁹ In this regard, the Senate Committee stated in its report on S. 249 regarding the national market system provisions of that bill (which were incorporated in the 1975 Amendments) that:The Committee considered mandating certain minimum components of the national market system but rejected this approach.
The nation's securities markets are in dynamic change and in some respects are delicate mechanisms; the sounder approach appeared to the Committee, therefore, to be to establish a statutory scheme clearly granting the Commission broad authority to oversee the implementation, operation and regulation of the national market system and at the same time charging [the Commission] with the clear responsibility to assure that the system develops and operates in accordance with Congressionally determined goals and objectives.²⁰¹⁷ Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, Report to Accompany S.
249, S. Rept. No. 94-75, 94th Cong., 1st Sess.
3 (1975) ("Senate Report").¹⁸ House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Report to Accompany H.R.

Sess. 90 (1975) ("House Report").¹⁹ Senate Report, supra note 17, at 7.²⁰ Id. at 8-9; see also House Report, supra note 18, at 50-51.

Congressional reluctance to specify minimum components of a national market system did not extend, however, to specification of the basic underlying principles which should govern the establishment of that system. First, a clear preference was expressed for auction trading principles. For example, the Senate Committee in its report on S. 249 stated that:

[W]ith respect to securities which are suitable for auction trading, the Committee believes every effort should be made to design the national market system in such a way that public investors in these securities receive the benefits and protections associated with auction-type trading."

The Senate Committee found that public investors could enjoy two important benefits when trading in an ideal auction-type market as opposed to a purely dealer market." First, limited price orders of investors would have to be satisfied before any transaction could be effected (i) at the same price by a specialist or other market maker for his own account or by the customer's broker for his proprietary account, or (ii) by any participant in that market at a price less favorable to the other party to the trade than the limit order price. Second, customers' market orders could, at least potentially, be executed against another public limit or market order at a better price than that currently being quoted by any dealer for his own account. The Senate Committee noted, however, that auction trading principles could not be perfected under existing circumstances because of fragmentation of the markets, particularly "the lack of a mechanism by which all buying and selling interest in a given security can be centralized and thus assure public investors best execution." Thus, the concept of implementing a nationwide system according price and time priority to all limit orders of public investors over all professional orders, regardless of where such limit orders originate or in what market center professional orders may be executed, received considerable support from the draftsmen of the 1975 Amendments.

The second major national market system principle supported by the Congress was that the types of securities qualified to be included in the national market system ("qualified securities") should depend primarily on their characteristics (e.g., trading volume, price and numbers of shareholders) rather than where they happen to be traded (i.e., on an exchange or over-the-counter). The "Senate Report at 16.

"Id.

"Id. at 17.

Senate Committee, for example, stated that "the national market system has as its fundamental goal the elimination of fragmented markets for securities suitable for auction trading." Similarly, the Committee of Conference of both Houses of Congress (the "Conference Committee"), in explaining the final language of the 1975 Amendments, stated that "it is the intention of both Houses that all securities, other than exempted securities, be eligible to be qualified for trading in the national market system."

A third principle articulated by Congress as underlying the national market system concept was a refusal to achieve a nationwide centralized auction-type market for qualified securities involving abolition of over-the-counter trading in listed securities, unless the Commission found that "the maintenance or restoration of fair and orderly markets in such securities may not be assured through other lawful means" under the Act."

Thus the Senate Committee stated: The Committee has carefully evaluated all arguments that have been presented in support of abolishing the third market and found them unpersuasive. . . . [T]he Committee found that the dealers operating in the third market provide valuable competition to the specialists operating on the exchanges and that this competition enhances the total market making capacity for listed securities."

The Senate Committee further stated that:

The establishment of a national market system should end all concern over the possible inimical consequences of the third market to the fairness and orderliness of the markets for listed securities. Once trading in listed securities is centralized and subject to uniform trading principles, the distinction between trading on an exchange and trading off an exchange will lose much of its significance."

The Congress intended competitive forces, to the extent feasible, to shape the structure of the markets. The Senate Committee noted, however, that a major responsibility of the Commission had been, and continued to be, the creation of "a fair field of competition." The impact of the 1975 Amendments, according to the Senate Committee, was to more clearly identify this responsibility and clarify and strengthen the SEC's authority to carry it out. The objective would be to enhance competition and to allow economic forces, interacting within a fair regulatory field, to arrive at appropriate variations in practices and services. It would obviously be contrary to this purpose to compel elimination of differences between types of markets or types of firms that might be competition-enhancing."

The Conference Committee described the Commission's intended role as follows:

It is the intent of the conferees that the national market system evolve through the interplay of competitive forces as unnecessary regulatory restrictions are removed. The conferees expect, however, in those situations where competition may not be sufficient, such as the creation of a composite quotation system or a consolidated transaction reporting system, the Commission will use the powers granted to it in the 1975 Amendments to act promptly and effectively to ensure that the essential mechanisms of an integrated secondary trading system are put into place as rapidly as possible."

More recently, a joint report of the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations and the Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and Finance of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce stated that "the evolutionary process [of developing a national market system] must be shepherded by the SEC which must step in when the pace of progress slackens and use the considerable authority Congress granted it."

PROGRESS TO DATE

The major problems to which the idea of a national market system is addressed are those arising from "market fragmentation," or the existence of multiple, geographically separated forums in which trading in the same security occurs, and from the institutionalization of the markets. These problems include, among others: (i) the need to perfect existing mechanisms for the disclosure of information concerning all completed transactions in multiply-traded securities; (ii) the absence of a comprehensive, composite quotation system displaying buying and selling interest in those securities from all markets (whether on an exchange or over-the-counter); (iii) the inadequacy of existing means available to brokers for routing orders to and among markets in pursuit of the most favorable execution opportunities; (iv) the lack of a mechanism to provide nationwide agency limit order protection, affording time and price priority to such orders regardless of geographical location; (v) impediments to effective market-maker competition for orders of relatively small size; and (vi) the need to integrate block transactions more effectively into the normal course of securities trading.

Several important steps have already been taken to further the goals enunciated by the Commission and the objectives established by the Congress regarding a national market system. The Commission's short sale rules have been amended to extend their application to "third market" transactions." A uniform net capital rule, applicable to a broad segment of the securities industry, has been adopted," and anti-manipulative rules for all market centers are now in place." The exchanges and the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD") have completed implementation of a consolidated transaction reporting system ("consolidated system") for certain exchange-traded securities, pursuant to Rule 17a-15 under the Act, designed to enable investors to make more informed judgments regarding which market centers offer the most advantageous prices at a particular time." With respect to quotation information, all exchange restrictions on the dissemination of such information have been eliminated," and the Commission has adopted a rule governing the dissemination of quotations from exchanges and third market makers."

The adoption of Rule 19b-3 under the Act, abolishing fixed rates of commission for transactions on exchanges, has permitted brokers to negotiate the cost of access to the various exchanges," and the exchanges them-

Finally, the securities industry has started to move forward in the development of market linkage systems. Under the sponsorship of the NYSE, work is proceeding on the implementation of an intermarket trading system ("ITS") linking the principal exchange markets." The ITS, scheduled to commence operation in a pilot phase in April 1978, is an electronic intermarket order routing facility which would permit orders for the purchase and sale of multiply-traded securities to be sent directly from one market center to another. A second market linkage initiative is the recently commenced pilot program for a regional market system ("RMS"). The RMS is an electronic trading system in which agency and principal limit orders may be entered and executed directly through the system by brokers and dealers participating in that system (currently members of the BSE, the PSE, and the Midwest ("MSE") and Cincinnati ("CSE") Stock Exchanges). The RMS provides a mechanism through which absolute price and time

THE COMMISSION'S FUTURE PLANS FOR FACILITATING ESTABLISHMENT OF A NATIONAL MARKET SYSTEM

Although the developments discussed above represent movement toward a national market system, the Commission is not satisfied with the rate at which concrete steps are being taken to link the markets, integrate order flow and enhance competition in the manner envisioned by the Congress when it enacted the 1975 Amendments. While the Commission believes that development of a national market system should remain essentially an evolutionary process, free of the rigidities inherent in any Commission attempt to dictate the ultimate configuration of that system, that development has been impeded by the inability of the several discrete segments of the securities industry to surmount the problems presented by the diversity of their interests and to settle upon a common course of action to implement the Congressional policy.

The adverse consequences of failing to achieve more rapid progress toward a national market system have become particularly apparent in the context of the Commission's pending proceeding concerning removal of exchange off-board trading restrictions." During the course of that proceeding, many elements of the securities industry, Members of Congress and representatives of American business have urged the Commission to assume a leadership role in developing a national market system in order to overcome the impediments to development of that system inherent in the diversity of the securities industry, so that the benefits to the markets, the professional trading community and the public which the Congress and the Commission have long believed would inure from that system might finally be secured. Commentators in that proceeding, for example, were virtually unanimous in the view that the risks which many believe would attend "re-

"As currently utilized, the RMS merely stores and displays orders based on price and time priorities; the self-regulatory organizations which make the RMS available to their members have not elected, at this time, to grant priority to orders in the RMS over other transactions occurring in their markets.

"See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 13662 (June 23, 1977), 42 FR 33510, proposing amendments to Rule 19c-1 (adopted on December 30, 1977) and proposing Rules 19c-2, 15c5-1(A), 15c5-1(B), 15c5-1(C) and 15c5-1(D) under the Act; see also File No. 4-180.

removal of the remaining off-board trading restrictions could be minimized by assuring more effective integration of the markets for securities presently covered by those restrictions by means of national market system mechanisms.

Continued uncertainty as to the mechanisms and principles upon which a national market system must be based, and the role the Commission will assume in shaping that system, is not in the best interests of the securities industry or the investing public. The Commission therefore has determined to set forth with some particularity its views as to those steps which it believes must be taken over the next year to facilitate development of the kind of national market system envisioned by the Congress and mandated by the 1975 Amendments.

1. Composite Quotation System. The Commission today announced adoption of Rule 11Ac1-1 under the Act, which is designed to facilitate the prompt development of a composite quotation system by improving the quality and reliability of quotation information made available to securities information vendors ("vendors") by exchanges and third market makers. Pursuant to the rule, beginning May 1, 1978, each self-regulatory organization will be obliged to collect and disseminate to vendors quotations and quotation sizes for all reported securities, i.e., those equity securities as to which last sale information is included in the consolidated system. Vendors, in turn, will be able to disseminate comprehensive quotation information from all market centers to the professional community and the public by means of their information retrieval devices. Prompt action by the self-regulatory organizations and securities information processors is necessary to implement Rule 11Ac1-1 by its effective date.

Quotations and quotation sizes will be required by the rule to be firm at the prices and in the amounts displayed, subject only to exceptions for revised quotations or quotation sizes and for unusual market conditions precluding dissemination of accurate quotation information. Thus, for the first time, relatively reliable and comprehensive information as to prices and sizes of quotations for all reported securities from all markets, whether on exchanges or over-the-counter, will be made available to market professionals and the public.

The Commission believes that the availability of comprehensive quotation information, a fundamental building block of the national market system, will improve both brokers' and public investors' knowledge of current prices at which reported securities can be bought or sold throughout the country. In turn, availability of this information should (i) lead to increased efforts by brokers to make informed order routing decisions from among the various competing market centers (in order to choose that particular market affording, at a particular point in time, the most favorable execution opportunities to their customers); (ii) foster improvements in existing methods of routing orders to all market centers; (iii) enhance fair competition among markets; and (iv) otherwise advance the objectives of a national market system specified by the Congress in Section 11A(a) of the Act.

2. Market Linkage and Order Routing Systems. The Commission intends to encourage and, if necessary, mandate the prompt development of comprehensive market linkage and order routing systems to permit the efficient transmission of orders (i) among the various markets for qualified securities, whether on an exchange or over-the-counter ("qualified markets"), and (ii) from brokers and dealers to all qualified markets. The Commission believes that communications and data processing facilities which link all qualified markets and permit orders in qualified securities to be transmitted promptly and efficiently from brokers or dealers to any qualified market, and from one such market to another, are necessary to increase the opportunities for brokers to secure best execution of their customers' orders, to ensure effective competition among qualified markets and to achieve the purposes of a national market system established by the Congress in Section 11A(a) of the Act.

Two types of facilities are needed, at a minimum, as mechanisms to link qualified markets effectively. The first is an intermarket order routing system, affording the kind of order and message transmittal capacity characteristic of the ITS. Such a system would permit orders for the purchase and sale of multiple-traded securities to be sent directly from any qualified market to another such market promptly and efficiently. The second type of facility needed is a universally available message switch, permitting any broker or dealer to route orders for the purchase or sale of qualified securities from its offices to any qualified market trading in that security. The Commission believes that the self-regulatory organizations should combine their efforts and take joint action forthwith in order to (i) make available to their members a single system for the prompt and efficient routing of orders for qualified securities directly from brokers' and dealers' offices to any qualified market, and (ii) achieve a comprehensive linkage of all qualified markets in an efficient intermarket order routing system. The Commission, on the basis of its present knowledge, is not aware of any reason why both these facilities should not be implemented by September 30, 1978.

The need to develop and implement a new intermarket order routing system to link all qualified markets could be obviated if participation in the ITS market linkage currently under development were made available on a reasonable basis to all qualified markets and if all such markets joined that linkage. Similarly, there would be no need to develop a new message switch facility for the routing of orders from brokers' and dealers' offices to any qualified market if the existing order routing facility operated by the Securities Industry Automation Corporation ("SIAC") (and offered to members of the NYSE and the Amex to enable them to transmit their orders to the floors of those exchanges) were expanded to permit all qualified markets to receive orders in qualified securities and access to that facility were made generally available, on appropriate terms, to all brokers and dealers.

"The Commission is requesting each self-regulatory organization to inform the Commission, in writing, of their willingness to undertake this effort voluntarily and to commit to achievement of these systems by September 30, 1978. The Commission is also requesting those organizations to submit to the Commission, by April 15, 1978, a timetable of steps which they will take by specified dates to assure that these systems are implemented by September 30, 1978. Finally, the Commission will request that, if any self-regulatory organization believes that the implementation date which the Commission has proposed is unrealistic, that organization specify the reasons why that date cannot be met and suggest the earliest realistic alternative date.

"The Commission recognizes that inclusion in the ITS of over-the-counter market makers in qualified securities may pose special technical and regulatory problems but believes that, with the active involvement and assistance of the NASD, those problems can be overcome. The Commission is prepared to offer its assistance in resolving any issues which may prove to be obstacles to such an effort.

"The Commission recognizes that other persons may wish to develop and offer order routing systems similar (or perhaps superior) to the message switch currently operated by SIAC and the ITS. The reference to the ITS and the SIAC-operated message switch is intended only to illustrate the type of systems which can be developed without formal action by the Commission, not as an endorsement of those particular systems over others which might be developed by, for example, another self-regulatory organization and found more suitable for market linkage purposes by all self-regulatory organizations.

The Commission believes that all systems used to route orders to and among qualified markets should operate in a "neutral" fashion (i.e., they should permit brokers and dealers utilizing those systems to route orders to and among all such markets on a non-discriminatory basis). Order routing systems which are not "neutral" appear inconsistent with development of a national market system since, among other things, they may impede fair competition among qualified markets and function in a manner incompatible with broker adherence to principles of "best execution."

Should development of comprehensive, "neutral" order routing systems, linking all qualified markets and permitting brokers and dealers to route orders to any such market directly from their offices, not be undertaken voluntarily by the self-regulatory organizations, the Commission is prepared to initiate rulemaking to consider appropriate means of ensuring that result. Among the actions available to the Commission would be consideration of rules to (i) require brokers to demonstrate that they have given appropriate consideration to execution opportunities in all qualified markets in directing their customers' orders to any particular market; (ii) preclude brokers from using any automated means of directing orders in qualified securities to a particular qualified market unless those means afford the capacity for orders to be directed, on a nondiscriminatory basis, to any such market; and (iii) preclude any self-regulatory organization or any securities information processor from offering or providing to any broker or dealer any service or system by means of which orders in qualified securities may be routed electronically to one or more qualified markets unless that service or system permits users to route such orders to any qualified market and unless that service or system is made generally available, on appropriate terms, to any broker or dealer.

3. Nationwide Limit Order Protection. The Commission continues to believe that one of the basic principles upon which a national market system must be based is the assurance that all agency orders in qualified securities, regardless of location, receive the benefits of auction-type trading protections. To this end, the Commission believes the several self-regulatory organizations should take joint action promptly to develop and implement a central limit order file (the "Central File") for public agency orders to buy and sell qualified securities in specified amounts at specified prices ("public limit orders").

*See Senate Report, supra note 17, at 104-105.

*Section 11A(a)(3)(B) of the Act [15 U.S.C. 78k-1(a)(3)(B)] also authorizes the Commission, in furtherance of the statutory directive to facilitate the establishment of a national market system, by rule or order, to authorize or require self-regulatory organizations to act jointly with respect to matters as to which they share authority under [the Act] in planning, developing, operating, or regulating a national market system (or a subsystem thereof) or one or more facilities thereof.

The objectives of a Central File are relatively simple: to make available a mechanism in which public limit orders can be entered and queued for execution in accordance with the auction trading principles of price and time priority and by means of which such orders can be assured of receiving an execution prior to the execution of any other order by a broker or dealer in any market at the same or an inferior price (determining that price by reference to the price required to be reported in the consolidated system pursuant to Rule 17a-15, in the event of a completed transaction). Public limit orders would assume their place in, and have an equal opportunity to achieve an execution throughout, that system without regard to the market or geographical location from which those orders were entered or in which other transactions required to yield priority to orders in the Central File were effected. Execution priority for orders entered in the Central File over all other orders would be required by rule. It currently appears that, for technological among other reasons, it may be appropriate to confine the capacity to execute against public limit orders in the Central File to persons performing market making functions in a qualified market. It does not seem necessary, however, to restrict the ability of brokers to enter, alter or withdraw public limit orders in or

*The Commission has received considerable comment in response to Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12159 (March 2, 1976), 41 FR 19274, concerning the concept of a composite limit order book. See File No. S7-619. It has also received the views of the National Market Advisory Board in this regard. See letter from the National Market Advisory Board to the Chairman and the Commissioners of the Securities and Exchange Commission, dated January 28, 1977.

*The Commission currently believes that, for purposes of the Central File, a "public limit order" should be defined as any limit order not for the proprietary account of a broker or dealer. It does not necessarily follow that all such orders, regardless of size, will be appropriate for inclusion in the Central File.

*It may be necessary, in this context, to revisit questions concerning "net trading" and "net printing" of principal transactions involving commission equivalents or similar transaction charges, mark-up or mark-downs. See Securities Exchange Act Release Nos. 12432 (May 12, 1976), and 12433 (May 12, 1976).

from the Central File. Finally, the Commission is not now aware of any compelling reason why information as to all public limit orders in the Central File should not be made publicly available on a current and continuous basis, at least in summarized form.

The Commission urges the self-regulatory organizations to prepare and submit to the Commission, preferably jointly, a plan or plans no later than September 30, 1978, contemplating the design, construction and operation of a Central File. However, should voluntary cooperation among such organizations to that end prove difficult, or involve undue delay, the Commission intends to commence rulemaking to consider the manner and timing of compulsory development of a Central File (including the question of whether that task should be assigned principally to a single self-regulatory organization).

The Commission is aware that there has been widespread controversy over the merits and implications of an electronic limit order book, and does not intend its determination to proceed with development of a Central File for public limit orders to be interpreted as a decision to force all auction trading into an electronic system with automatic execution capabilities.

4. Off-Board Trading Restrictions. The Commission has recently adopted amendments to Rule 19c-1 under the Act to expand the scope of that rule to require that members of exchanges be permitted to effect over-the-counter agency transactions in securities listed or admitted to unlisted trading privileges on an exchange with any other person not also represented as agent by that member (i.e., precluding only "in-house" agency cross transactions). In adopting those amendments, the Commission determined that expanding the scope of Rule 19c-1 in this manner would further the

*The Commission is requesting each self-regulatory organization to inform the Commission, in writing, by May 30, 1978, of its willingness to undertake joint development of a Central File in accordance with the principles indicated in the text, and steps which each has taken or will take towards that end.

*At the same time, the Commission notes that, with respect to the technology employed, the RMS linkage presently operated in a pilot phase by the MSE, PSE, CSE and BSE offers considerable promise as a basis for a comprehensive system establishing a national auction for qualified securities based on price and time priorities. It may be that the technology employed in the RMS, with appropriate modifications, could provide a basis on which a Central File could be developed.

*Securities Exchange Act Release No. 14325 (December 30, 1977), 43 FR 1327.

purposes of the Act by enhancing the practicability of brokers executing investors' orders in the best market and improving customers' ability to achieve the most economically efficient executions of their securities transactions."

The Commission has determined to defer further consideration of proposed Rule 19c-2 under the Act (which would eliminate remaining exchange restrictions on off-board principal and "in-house" agency cross transactions by exchange members in certain securities listed or admitted to unlisted trading on an exchange), and of the companion series of rule proposals concerning overreaching, until the Commission has had an opportunity to evaluate industry and self-regulatory organizations' responses to the national market system initiatives announced in this statement. The Commission plans to review progress made toward the various objectives of those initiatives in the context of further consideration of proposed Rule 19c-2 no later than September 30, 1978, with a view to ascertaining whether, among other things, the continued presence of restrictions on off-board principal transactions and "in-house" agency crosses is operating in any way as a disincentive to, or is otherwise impeding achievement of, those goals.

While the Commission has not yet concluded whether adoption of proposed Rule 19c-2 at this time must be deemed necessary or appropriate to conform exchange rules to the requirements of the Act or otherwise in furtherance of the Act's purposes, the Commission does not wish its determination to defer consideration of proposed Rule 19c-2 at this time to be perceived as indicating that the Commission is willing to postpone removal of off-board trading restrictions indefinitely or until further progress has been made toward implementation of any particular additional element of a national market system. To the contrary, the Commission has repeatedly expressed the view that the present restrictions must ultimately be eliminated, and remains concerned that retention of those restrictions, in addition to impeding competition, may retard achievement of a national market system.

Nevertheless, as noted above, many commentators in the Commission's proceedings with respect to off-board trading restrictions have made clear their belief that the risks they perceive as being associated with removal of those restrictions would diminish to the extent of meaningful progress toward implementation of a national market system. Therefore, prior to concluding its deliberations concerning proposed Rule 19c-2, and establishing a definitive effective date for that rule, the Commission wishes to consider the responses to the national market system initiatives announced in this statement. Those responses also will clarify the need for collateral action to ensure an appropriate pattern of regulation for an environment in which exchange members are permitted to engage in off-board market making and other principal transactions in securities subject to proposed Rule 19c-2.

5. Consolidated Transaction Reporting System. Despite the success of the consolidated system as a mechanism for the collection and disclosure of last sale information from all markets for securities included in that system, the Commission believes that further refinements in the way last sale information is distributed and recalled for display are necessary to ensure that use and operation of the consolidated system are fully consistent with the purposes and objectives of a national market system.

Of particular concern to the Commission is the manner in which vendors currently provide for the recall of last sale data on information retrieval display devices. These vendors now permit information from the primary market by input of the letter (or combination of letters) used to identify the particular security involved in the consolidated system (the "consolidated system symbol") followed by depression of an information request key. In most cases, entry of additional letters or symbols (plus depression of the information request key) is required in order to recall consolidated last sale information or last sale data from any particular market other than the primary market.

To date, this practice has been permitted under a Commission interpretation of Rule 17a-15 issued in March 1975.⁴ In that release the Commission stated:

Vendors may use the consolidated tape ticker symbol (the old NYSE symbol in the case of an NYSE listed security) to interrogate for last sale information from the NYSE and some other symbol to interrogate for consolidated data. However, any symbol which differs from the consolidated tape symbol which is used to interrogate for consolidated data must be simple and easy for brokers and dealers to use."

The Commission has reconsidered that interpretative statement in light of its experience with the consolidated system and no longer believes that vendors should be permitted to program their information retrieval devices for the recall of consolidated data by use of any combination of letters or symbols other than the consolidated system symbol. Current practice, with each vendor using a different combination for the recall of consolidated data (generally a more complicated routine than that used for the retrieval of data from the primary market), discourages use of consolidated information, has anticompetitive consequences for markets as to which last sale data may be recalled only by relatively more difficult and time consuming interrogation routines, and impedes progress toward a national market system. Consequently, the Commission believes vendors should modify their systems promptly to confine use of consolidated system symbols in their interrogation and display devices to the recall of consolidated last sale data.⁵

The Commission intends to take formal action with respect to its prior interpretive position regarding use of the consolidated system security symbols by market information vendors for interrogation purposes by April 30, 1978. At the same time, the Commission plans to consider further action with respect to (i) permitting, on an appropriate basis, retransmission of the entire stream of last sale information contained in Networks A and B of the consolidated system⁶ on a continuous basis by securities information processors other than SIAC, the current processor for the consolidated system; (ii) eliminating certain exceptions from the reporting obligations imposed by Rule 17a-15 under the Act now contained in the joint industry plan governing the consolidated system (the "joint plan"), particularly the exception for transactions effected in connection with special offerings; (iii) reforming the voting arrangements among the joint plan participants; and (iv) the propriety of allowing self-regulatory organizations to impose charges on securities information processors and subscribers to their services with respect to market information required to be disclosed by Commission rules.

6. Qualified Securities. The Commission intends to initiate a rulemaking proceeding not later than June 30, 1978, for the purpose of designating certain categories of securities as

"Of course, vendors who provide last sale information from individual market centers may use the consolidated system symbol as part of interrogation codes (adding whatever additional letters and symbols are necessary, on a non-discriminatory basis) for retrieving that information."

"Network A disseminates last sale reports of transactions executed in all reporting markets for securities listed on the NYSE, while Network B disseminates reports of transactions in securities listed on the Amex plus selected listings from other exchanges."

ADDITIONAL ISSUES

The program of Commission action on national market system matters outlined above is not intended to represent a comprehensive list of all matters requiring resolution bearing upon the evolution of the markets into a national market system. Indeed, certain of the Commission's contemplated actions will engender, or accelerate the need to resolve, a number of collateral problems. The following is a list of certain additional policy areas which the Commission anticipates will require consideration in conjunction with the program outlined above.

1. Institutional trading prohibitions. The Commission anticipates that, in the context of developing a national market system, and particularly in an environment permitting off-board principal activity by exchange members, it will be necessary to consider proposed rule changes by the NYSE and the Amex contemplating elimination of the prohibitions contained in NYSE Rule 113 and Amex Rule 190 regarding direct dealings with institutional customers. In addition, the Commission intends to consider the extent to which all market makers (whether exchange specialists or third market makers) should be limited in their ability to deal directly with companies for which they act as market makers, and with insiders of such companies.⁷ Finally, it may be necessary to review other regulations governing persons performing market making functions generally to determine whether changes are necessary in a national market system environment.

2. Options. The Commission is not yet prepared to determine what role standardized put and call option contracts should play in a national market system or the appropriate relationship which should exist between trading in equity securities underlying such options and trading in the options themselves.⁸ Organized trading in standardized options contracts is currently under review by the staff as part of a comprehensive study,⁹ and the Commission intends to await completion of that study before announcing any conclusions in this area.

those systems must be made available for trading in qualified securities which remain traded exclusively in the over-the-counter market.

⁷ NYSE and Amex specialists are prohibited by NYSE Rule 113 and Amex Rule 190 from accepting orders for the purchase or sale of any securities in which they are registered as specialists directly from the issuer or any officer, director or 10 percent shareholder of the issuer.

⁹ Securities Exchange Act Release No. 14056 (October 17, 1977), 42 FR 56706.

Among the issues which will be considered by the staff as part of the options study are the extent to which the market makers in all qualified markets should be permitted to effect at least certain types of transactions in options relating to underlying stocks for which they act as market makers. Conversely, the study will examine whether options and underlying stocks related to such options may be traded side-by-side at the same location, and whether persons should be permitted to act as a market maker in both an underlying stock and the related option under any circumstances.

3. Governance and surveillance. The need for changes in the functioning of the self-regulatory organizations to provide centralized governance of national market facilities and participants, as well as comprehensive and nationwide surveillance of market professionals, will have to be examined further. The Commission believes, however, that such questions can be deferred, at least for the time being, until greater progress has been made in achieving effective market linkages among the various market centers.

4. Section 11(a). The Commission is presently engaged in consideration of the issues raised by Section 11(a) of the Act [15 U.S.C. 78k(a)]. As amended by the 1975 Amendments, Section 11(a)(1) [15 U.S.C. 78k(a)(1)] prohibits, with certain specified exceptions (such as market making activities and transactions for the accounts of natural persons), any member of a national securities exchange from effecting any transaction on such exchange for its own account, the account of an associated person, or an account with respect to which the member or any of its associated persons exercises investment discretion.¹⁰ It has been asserted that if Section 11(a) were to be permitted to become effective on May 1, 1978, it would cause a significant and adverse restructuring of the securities industry, a result which it is asserted was unintended at the time of the passage of the 1975 Amendments. Moreover, with the elimination of fixed rates of commissions, many persons have questioned the need for such a provision.

Under Section 11(a), the Commission has broad authority to fashion either more flexible or more restrictive standards in light of changing conditions. The Commission has addressed certain interpretative issues under Section 11(a) and has pending several rule proposals in this area." The interpretations and proposals have generated considerable public comment, and the Commission is currently considering whether further Commission action with respect to Section 11(a) is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and the protection of investors and, if so, what form that action should take.

5. Clearance and settlement. The prompt development of a national system for clearance and settlement is necessary not only to reduce costs for members of the securities industry, but also because of the impact of the clearance and settlement process on investors. Investors are affected in a significant way by the absence of a national clearance and settlement system. The cost of securities transaction processing is generally passed on to investors in commission rates charged in connection with securities transactions. The levels of commission rates, particularly with respect to small public investors, may play a part in determining their participation in the securities markets.

Although considerable progress has been made in the effort to create a national system for clearance and settlement, still more remains to be accomplished. For example, the Commission's approval of the registration of the National Securities Clearing Corporation ("NSCC") as a clearing agency in January 1977 was subject to the satisfaction of certain specified conditions contained in the order." During the past year, some, but not all, of these conditions have been satisfied. The Commission remains concerned with the rate of progress being made toward the development of a national system for clearance and settlement. The Commission has therefore determined, consistent with its responsibilities under the Act, to hold public hearings commencing March 7, 1978, to review the events which have occurred since the Commission's conditional approval of NSCC's registration" and the problems which are impeding the prompt development of an efficient, competitive national system for clearance and settlement."

*See Securities Exchange Act Release Nos. 12055 (January 27, 1976, 41 FR 8036, and 13388 (March 18, 1977), 42 FR 16746.

"See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 13163 (January 13, 1977), 42 FR 3916.

"The recent report of the House Oversight Committees suggested that the Commission, in part because of the failure of NSCC to meet the timetable contained in its conditional registration, should "contemplate revoking the conditional registration (of NSCC) and pursuing other means of achieving the national clearance and settlement system." Oversight Report, supra note 31, at 7-8.

The Commission views expressed herein are based upon the Commission's analysis of the materials and comments filed with the Commission in conjunction with the various requests for public comment issued to date on national market system questions and as part of the Commission's current proceedings on off-board trading rules and related matters, as well as its consideration of the views of the Advisory Committee on the Implementation of a National Market System (the Yearly Committee) and the National Market Advisory Board ("NMAB")."

The initiatives discussed in this statement contemplate achieving the objectives articulated by the Congress in the 1975 Amendments essentially by establishing mechanisms for the linking of existing market centers, and other market centers which may come into being, in an increasingly close and effective manner so as to avoid fragmentation of the markets and to coordinate the various market centers so that they will constitute, in combination, a national market system.

The Commission is aware, however, that proposals have been advanced to create a national market system on quite different assumptions and having quite different characteristics, and that there has been considerable discussion with respect to these possible alternatives. The first such concept would create a national market system essentially by modifying the existing "primary" markets, particularly the NYSE, so that substantially all orders would interact through the mechanisms of, or on the floor of, the "primary" market and all qualified broker-dealers, perhaps together with certain other organizations, would have access to that market on a non-discriminatory basis. The Commission has not sought to pursue this alternative because it is inconsistent with the concept of the national market system contemplated by the Congress in the 1975 Amendments. Moreover, there is a serious question as to whether such a national market system could operate satisfactorily in a country having the size and diversity of the United States.

A second alternative would be the creation of an electronic market system in which all orders, whether from public investors or from market makers, would be entered into a computer-based system and would be executed automatically in that system on the basis of strict time and price priority. This type of proposal has been advanced with considerable conviction by responsible persons and, if perfected, would appear to have the potential for significant efficiencies in securities trading. Such a system, however, would have an impact upon existing market institutions which could properly be viewed as a fundamental change in the manner in which securities trading is now conducted, and it is difficult to foresee, and to provide against, the problems and difficulties which might arise. Consequently, the Commission has not espoused these proposals. In addition, the Commission believes that if a change of this magnitude is to be made, it probably should occur as a result of evolutionary forces in the markets rather than by Commission mandate.

"Securities Exchange Act Release No. 14411 (January 25, 1978), —FR—.

"See, e.g., NMAB, Next Steps to be Taken to Facilitate the Establishment of a National Market System, December 6, 1977.

This does not mean, however, that significant progress in the use of modern technology will not be important in meeting the goals of a national market system. To the contrary, as the initiatives discussed in this statement demonstrate, the effective linking of the markets in a national market system necessarily involves the increased use of such technology to achieve the benefits of that system envisioned by both the Commission and the Congress.

This statement represents the current views of the Commission on the steps which must be taken to facilitate the development of a national market system. The Commission recognizes that the nation's securities markets are constantly evolving, and that alternative means of achieving the goals of a national market system may be developed. The Commission also recognizes that each step in the process of creating a national market system may not further each of the purposes of the Act.

While the steps described in this statement represent the course of action the Commission has selected as the appropriate one for fulfillment of the national market system role assigned to it by the Congress in the 1975 Amendments, the Commission realizes that, as each step of the process of fusing the existing markets into a national market system is completed, and as the effects of each such step become realities (rather than prognostications), refinements and adjustments in succeeding steps will suggest themselves and become part of the Commission's program to achieve that system. The Commission therefore remains receptive to new steps designed to meet the statutory goals of a national market system (regardless of whether they are perfectly congruent with the particular means described in this release).

STATE HAZARDOUS WASTE PROGRAMS

Proposed Guidelines

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Proposed Guidelines.

SUMMARY: This rule sets out Guidelines for State hazardous waste management programs, including the substantive and procedural requirements for authorization of such State programs under the authority of Section 3006 of the Solid Waste Disposal Act (42 U.S.C. 6901 et seq.), as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976 (Pub. L. 94-580) ("the Act"). These Guidelines also prescribe the procedures by which States may apply for authorization, the procedures by which such authorization may be withdrawn, and the procedures by which EPA proposes to exercise oversight of such State programs as may be authorized under Section 3006.

DATES: All comments received on or before April 3, 1978 will be considered by the Agency before taking action on the proposed guidelines.

HEARING: Oral or written comments may be submitted at the public hearings on these proposed guidelines. Registration for each hearing will be held between 8:30 and 9 a.m. The hearings are scheduled for: March 9, 1978 at the Bourbon Orleans Ramada Inn, 717 Orleans St., New Orleans, La.; March 14 at the Marriott Motor Hotel, 2345 Commonwealth Ave., Newton, (Suburb of Boston) Mass.; and March 16 at the Seattle Convention Center (Nisqually Room), 305 Harrison St., Seattle, Wash. Requests to participate in the public hearings should be directed to: Mrs. Gerri Wyer, Public Participation Officer, Office of Solid Waste (WH-562), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460, 202-755-9157.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be submitted to: Deputy Assistant Administrator for Solid Waste (WH-562), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number, which is 3006 for these proposed guidelines.

The official record for this rulemaking is located in room 2111D U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 "M" St. SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, and is available for viewing from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding holidays.

PROPOSED RULES

Mr. Dan Derkies, Hazardous Waste Management Division, Office of Solid Waste (WH-565), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460, 202-755-9190.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Subtitle C of the Solid Waste Disposal Act, as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) of 1976 (Pub. L. 94-580), creates a regulatory framework to control hazardous waste. Congress has found that such waste presents "special dangers to health and requires a greater degree of regulation than does non-hazardous solid waste" (Section 1002(b)(5)). Because of the seriousness of this waste problem, Congress intended that States develop programs to control it. In the event that a State does not choose to operate such a program, EPA is required to do so.

This rule is one of a series of seven being developed and proposed under Subtitle C to implement the hazardous waste management program. It is important to note the broad definition of solid waste (Section 1004(27)) which encompasses (with a few exceptions) garbage, refuse, sludges, and other discarded materials, including liquids, semisolids, and contained gases from both municipal and industrial sources. Hazardous wastes, which are a subset of all solid waste and will be defined by section 3001 regulations, have a particularly significant impact on public health and the environment.

Subtitle C creates a management control system which, for those wastes defined as hazardous, required "cradle-to-grave" cognizance, including appropriate monitoring, recordkeeping, and reporting throughout the system. Section 3001 requires EPA to define the criteria and methods for identifying and listing hazardous wastes. Those wastes which are identified as hazardous by these means are then included in the management control system constructed under Sections 3002-3006 and 3010. Those that are excluded will be subject to the requirements for non-hazardous solid waste being carried out by States under Subtitle D, under which open dumping is prohibited and environmentally acceptable practices are required. It is important that appropriate interconnections be established between Subtitle C and Subtitle D efforts.

Section 3002 addresses the standards applicable to generators. EPA's regulations under this section describe the classes of generators for whom some requirements may vary; for example, the Agency does not interpret the intent of Congress to include regulation of individual homeowners due to the small quantities of hazardous wastes which they may generate. Section 3002 also requires the creation of a manifest system which will track wastes from the point of generation to their ultimate disposition.

Section 3003 addresses standards affecting transporters of hazardous wastes to assure that wastes are carefully managed during the transport phase. The Agency is exploring opportunities for meshing closely with proposed and current DOT regulations to avoid duplication in this area.

Section 3004 addresses standards affecting owners and operators of hazardous waste storage, treatment, and disposal facilities. These standards define the levels of environmental protection to be achieved by these facilities and provide the criteria against which EPA (or State) officials will measure applications for permits. Facilities on a generator's property as well as off-site facilities are covered by these regulations and will require permits—generators and transporters who do not treat, store, or dispose of hazardous wastes do not need permits.

Section 3005 regulations describe the scope and coverage of the actual permit granting process for facility owners and operators. Requirements for the permit application as well as for the issuance and revocation process are defined by these regulations. Section 3005(c) provides for interim permits during the time period that the Agency or a State is reviewing the pending permit applications.

Section 3006 requires EPA to issue guidelines for State programs and procedures by which States may seek both full and interim authorization to carry out the hazardous waste program in lieu of the EPA-administered program.

Section 3010 regulations define procedures by which any person generating, transporting, owning or operating a facility for storage, treatment, and disposal of hazardous wastes must notify EPA of this activity within 90 days of promulgation of regulations defining a hazardous waste (Section 3001). EPA intends to make provision for States to be delegated this function upon application to the Administrator. It is significant to note that no hazardous waste subject to Subtitle C regulation may be legally transported, treated, stored, or disposed, nor may interim permits be issued, unless this timely notification is given to EPA or a designated State.

The Act calls for the Agency to promulgate final regulations by no later than April 1978 under all sections of Subtitle C. However, it is important for the regulated communities to understand that the regulations (Section 3001-3005) do not take effect until 6 months after promulgation (October 1978). Thus, there will be a time period after final promulgation during which public understanding of the regulations can be increased and those covered by the regulations can prepare to comply. During this same period, notifications required under Section 3010 may be submitted, and facility permit applications required under Section 3005 may be distributed for completion by applicants.

BACKGROUND OF THIS REGULATION

Section 3006(a) of the Solid Waste Disposal Act (42 U.S.C. 6926), as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976 (Pub. L. 94-580) directs the Agency to "... promulgate guidelines to assist States in the development of State hazardous waste programs." The proposed Guidelines have been developed in the course of considerable consultation with the States. Between March 22, 1977, and April 6, 1977, a series of six meetings was held throughout the United States at which EPA and the States discussed issues relevant to the Guidelines to be developed under Section 3006(a). Representatives from a total of 48 States participated in those meetings. A second series of meetings was held between June 23, 1977, and August 10, 1977, at which the first draft of these Guidelines was discussed with the States; a total of 47 States were represented at this second series. The proposed guidelines thus reflect the experience, comments, and opinions of State hazardous waste management people to the greatest extent possible.

Section 3006 describes two types of authorization: Section 3006(b) describes an authorization without fixed beginning dates, and of unlimited duration; while Section 3006(c) describes an "Interim" authorization "... for a 24-month period beginning on the date 6 months after the date required for promulgation of regulations under Sections 3002 through 3005" (April 21, 1978). These Guidelines distinguish the two by referring to the former as "full" authorization and to the latter as "interim" authorization.

The Act directs or authorizes "the Administrator" of EPA to discharge certain responsibilities and conduct certain activities with respect to hazardous waste management. The Administrator has delegated to each Regional Administrator those authorities and responsibilities related to Section 3006 in order to allow States to work with the appropriate Regional Administrator throughout the application and authorization process. The Guidelines therefore refer to the Regional Administrator in most cases; where the Guidelines refer to "the Administrator" the authority or decision referenced has not been delegated to the Regional Administrator.

MAJOR ISSUES CONSIDERED

The following discussion is presented to assist the reader in understanding the reasoning behind the development of the proposed guidelines. Only those portions of the guidelines which generated significant discussion in the public meetings and in response to the Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking are discussed here.

I. Authorization (3006b).

A. Full authorization.

(1) Equivalency.

(a) LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY

Several States have enacted, or are now considering, hazardous waste management legislation. The Agency does not believe that every State must necessarily do so in order to receive authorization. Where the State has other statutory authority (i.e., water pollution legislation, public health legislation, etc.) which, in the opinion of the State and of the Agency, is sufficient to allow the administration and enforcement of a State hazardous waste program "equivalent" to that of EPA, the Agency will consider this element to be satisfied.

(b) PERMIT MECHANISM

Section 3005 of the Act requires anyone who owns or operates a facility which stores, treats, or disposes of hazardous wastes to have a permit. The Agency considers this requirement to be central to the administration and enforcement of the Act, and consequently believes that no State program can be "equivalent" to that of EPA without such an element. A few commenters felt that any control mechanism through which the State could achieve "equivalency in effect" should be allowed. However, EPA feels strongly that use of a document (e.g., permit or license) authorizing facility operation is necessary to achieve adequate control. The Federal legislation specifically requires that "permits" will be issued to those facilities that treat, store and dispose of hazardous waste where the Federal EPA is operating the program. Therefore, other control mechanisms, such as control by surveillance and penalty will not be acceptable for the purpose of authorizing the State program. Before these guidelines for State hazardous waste programs are promulgated, EPA will describe and resolve, or attempt to minimize, any possible overlaps between: (1) The State's issuance of permits to hazardous waste injection wells under the Underground Injection Control (UIC) program, which is administered under Part C of the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-532, 42 U.S.C. 300f, et seq.) and (2) the issuance of hazardous waste permits under the State's hazardous waste program.

(c) MANIFEST SYSTEM

Section 3002(5) of the Act requires the use of a manifest to ensure that hazardous wastes which leave the site of generation are taken only to storage, treatment, or disposal facilities to which a permit has been issued. This requirement is reflected in the experience or expectations of several States which believe a manifest system to be an essential element in managing hazardous wastes, a belief which the Agency shares. The State will not be able to effectively control hazardous wastes by regulating only the treatment and disposal sites. The "cradle-to-grave" management concept, on which Subtitle C is based, includes the requirement that the regulatory agency know of the existence and movement of hazardous wastes throughout the life cycle of those wastes. This concept is intended to discourage clandestine and environmentally unsound practices. In addition, due to the substantial transportation of waste across State lines, a large majority of commenters considered a consistent or uniform manifest format to be necessary to make the entire waste tracking and control process work. This requirement may cause the few States which already have a manifest system to change their system, thus presenting some initial problems. However, the long-range benefits (i.e., simpler manifest data management) from this change will far outweigh these initial problems. Also, EPA expects to provide software and other "tools" to assist States in setting up such systems.

(d) IDENTIFICATION OF RESOURCES

In developing and implementing a State hazardous waste program, the States will need to estimate the resources needed in order to conduct a comprehensive hazardous waste management program. The Agency considers the requirement of adequate resources to be a necessity in defining an "equivalent State program" in order to properly administer and enforce the requirements of the Act. However, there was some uncertainty raised as to the way the phrase "adequate resources" should be defined in the guidelines (i.e., citing specific resources estimates or using a broad description of adequacy).

EPA believes that the guidelines should be written so as to allow the Regional Administrator the latitude necessary to assure himself that the State has the "adequate resources" to conduct the program. In this way, the individual characteristics of each State's bureaucracies and problems may be considered in evaluating its resource needs.

(2) Consistency. The second criterion for authorization of State programs under Section 3006(b) is that they be "... consistent with the Federal or State programs applicable in other States ..." Impartiality and equity dictate that the requirements and obligations imposed upon those who manage hazardous wastes in one State not differ significantly from those imposed in other States, to avoid a condition which could give the regulated community in any State a competitive advantage. This issue is of special concern to those who conduct their activities in more than one State, and who should not be held to differing standards in different States.

The Agency believes that States which inhibit the movement of wastes into or through their jurisdictions vitiate the hazardous waste management programs of EPA and of other States. Effective hazardous waste management requires regional solutions, often involving treatment or disposal in a State other than the one in which the waste was generated. Bans on the importation of waste into one State may spur the establishment of similar bans in other States, leading to needless duplication of treatment and disposal capacity in many States, or to a shortfall of adequate facilities in other States. Artificially high standards could discriminate against or limit the movement of hazardous waste into the State and, concurrently, artificially cause wastes to move out of the State.

In the course of developing these guidelines, six options were identified which addressed the issue of free movement of hazardous wastes with respect to authorizing States to operate and enforce a hazardous waste management program in accordance with the provisions of section 3006(b) of the Act:

(1) Authorize only those States which allow the importation of hazardous wastes to permitted treatment, storage and disposal facilities. Legislative bans or artificially high standards would disqualify States from authorization.

(2) Same as Option 1, except that States with legislative bans or artificially high standards for disposal of hazardous wastes would still be authorized, as long as hazardous wastes are allowed to be imported to permitted treatment and storage facilities.

(3) Same as Option 1, except that the imposition of artificially high standards would not disqualify States from authorization.

(4) Petition Congress for a legislative amendment to abolish State hazardous wastes importation bans altogether or at least pre-empt them in those States where EPA administers the regulatory program. (This, of course, is not an exclusive alternative.)

(5) Take no action on the hazardous waste importation ban issue.

(6) Same as Option 1, except that States with existing legislative hazardous waste importation bans or artificially high standards would be authorized for a limited number of years beyond the 2-year "interim authorization". (The termination date of the allowed phase-out period is to be July 1, 1984.)

It should be emphasized that EPA is convinced that importation bans can not be permitted to multiply and that such bans must sooner or later be eliminated one way or another. EPA strongly believes that the adequate management of hazardous wastes demands the free movement of wastes to whatever facility, or site can best treat or dispose of them. Restricting the movement of hazardous wastes goes directly against this philosophy and poses a real threat to the expansion of an environmentally sound industry as well as hampers the regionalization of waste management. In addition, if EPA fails to take the position in the Guidelines to preclude a State from assuming the Federal hazardous waste program if the State has a legislative hazardous waste importation ban, it may well result in the proliferation of such bans. Depending on the approach finally taken, this may result in the disqualification from full authorization of some States, a few of which may already have some form of a hazardous waste management program.

EPA has chosen to include option number six in the text of the proposed guidelines, but recognizes the possibility of using any one of the six options or a variant of one of these options in the final promulgation of these regulations. Comments and suggestions on the six options or any other possible courses of action are especially invited. The implications involved in the final choice of an option include tradeoffs between authorizing a maximum number of States and discouraging impediments to free movement of wastes. Comments on these tradeoffs are welcome.

ADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT

The third and final criterion to be evaluated by EPA in determining which States will be fully authorized is whether such programs provide adequate enforcement. This particular criterion was considered by all commenters to be one of the most important components of the hazardous waste program, a belief which the Agency shares. However, there were some major questions raised concerning the degree of specificity that the guidelines should take (i.e., guidelines citing specific enforcement requirements as compared with guidelines providing the Agency with discretion).

As was indicated earlier, under "Identification of Resources", EPA believes that the guidelines should be written so as to allow the Regional Administrator the flexibility necessary to assure himself that the State is proposing a surveillance and enforcement program which is adequate to conduct an effective hazardous waste program. Each State has its own characteristics and problems, which should be evaluated on a State-by-State basis, necessitating individual evaluation of the surveillance and enforcement program.

B. PARTIAL AUTHORIZATION

In some cases, States which wish to take over the full hazardous waste program will have been unable to bring all components of the State program into compliance with 3006(b). These States may have been unable to obtain passage of needed legislation, or may lack adequate resources to carry out all program responsibilities. A number of States have indicated to EPA that, under these circumstances, they would wish to obtain at least the authorization to carry out those program responsibilities for which they have authority and resources, with EPA carrying out the remaining responsibilities.

Under Section 3006(b), EPA could allow States to receive partial authorization for selected major components of a full hazardous waste program, but only if the State meets the requirements of equivalency, consistency and enforceability for each such major component. For example, a State could perform permitting, surveillance, and enforcement for off-site disposal, treatment, and storage, while EPA carried out permitting, surveillance and enforcement for on-site operations; or States could run a permit program for all treatment, storage, and disposal facilities, both off-site and on-site, while EPA conducted the manifest system, etc.

However, there are problems with partial authorization. First, the regulated community has strenuously contended that a single entity should carry out the entire program in a given State, arguing that a sharing of responsibility would result in confusion and duplication of effort for the agencies, and greatly increased complexity for regulated firms. Second, the availability of partial authorization could encourage some States, although capable of qualifying for full authorization, to take over only selected program elements, leaving EPA with the most "controversial" and expensive segments and actually increasing the burden on the resources of the Regional Offices. Third, the delineation of responsibilities between the Region and the State would undoubtedly be a lengthy and difficult process. Finally, the existence of partial authorization could remove some of the incentive for strenuous State efforts toward full authorization.

Although these arguments against allowing States to apply for partial authorization are strong, EPA proposes to allow States to apply for partial authorization to allow as many States as possible to participate in the implementation of the hazardous waste program. However, the availability of partial authorization will be limited. States will be permitted to apply for partial authorization only if State legislative authority does not exist for certain program components. The decision on granting partial authorization will rest with the Regional Office, in the course of its examination of the State's eligibility for full authorization under 3006(b). In all cases, the State and EPA hazardous waste programs, when taken together, must meet the substantive and procedural requirements of a fully authorized hazardous waste program.

II. INTERIM AUTHORIZATION 3006(c)

The Agency shall, if evidence submitted indicates that the State has a hazardous waste program "in existence" pursuant to State law by July 20, 1978 and the State program is substantially equivalent to the Federal program under Subtitle C, grant an interim authorization to the State to carry out such program in lieu of the Federal program for a 24-month period beginning on October 21, 1978. However, a State may only apply for interim authorization over a specified time period (July 20, 1978, to October 20, 1978) and may only operate the hazardous waste program, under interim authority, during the definite calendar period between October 21, 1978, through October 20, 1980.

(1) Substantially equivalent. In defining the interim program, the various elements and associated alternatives that were proposed as criteria for "substantially equivalent" are the same as those being considered by EPA in defining an "equivalent" State program. Since it is clear that Congress intended this interim period to provide a "grace" period to the States to develop a program suitable for full authorization, the major difference between "equivalent" and "substantially equivalent" is that the latter program may be limited in statutory and regulatory authority. Similarly, the degree of stringency of a given regulation within any element may, during this interim period, be less stringent than the Federal standards.

This temporary relaxation from strict "equivalence" to "substantial equivalence" and the corresponding latitude in degree of stringency for the interim period, EPA believes to be consistent with the intent of Congress to facilitate the entry by the maximum number of States into the interim hazardous waste management program, and ultimately, into a fully authorized program. EPA supports this viewpoint by structuring its policy so that the greater resources available to the States within each Region (some EPA Regions encompass 6 to 8 States) will be brought to bear on the implementation and enforcement of a hazardous waste management program without straining the already limited resources of EPA. This approach should result in a greater degree of protection of public health and the environment than if EPA had to conduct the hazardous waste program in a large majority of States.

(2) Authorization plan. The Guidelines include a requirement that each State prepare an "authorization plan" as a condition of receiving interim authorization. The Agency considers the interim authorization step to be an opportunity for States which cannot yet qualify for full authorization to nevertheless establish their stewardship of the hazardous waste regulatory program during the period in which they are developing their programs. The Agency further believes that the intent of Congress was to have States which qualify for and accept interim authorization progress to full authorization in the two years allotted by Section 3006(c), and that by their doing so, the best interests of public health and the environment, EPA, the State and the regulated community will be served. The authorization plan is intended to assist this progress.

The authorization plan should be comparable to a "compliance schedule" under which the State and the Regional Administrator agree on what deficiencies exist in the State program (as compared with the requirements for full authorization); what corrective or perfecting measures are necessary; and, the proposed schedule for accomplishing the corrections.

RECOMMENDED ELEMENTS

The Agency believes that the three elements discussed below will contribute to an effective State hazardous waste management regulatory program, and are in keeping with the intent of the Act. They will not be required, however, for authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c). These elements are: (1) Technical Assistance; (2) Inventory of Hazardous Wastes; and (3) Safeguarding of Confidential Information.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

The experience of EPA and of those States which have begun developing hazardous waste management programs has strengthened the Agency's conviction that State Technical Assistance to the regulated community is useful and desirable. The State program should include assistance as well as deterrent aspects, and should offer the regulated community information on acceptable management options at the same time it discourages those which are unacceptable.

A Technical Assistance program should include the State's role of assisting the regulated community in complying with applicable requirements and regulations. The Agency will not require either of these types of Technical Assistance in assessing the equivalency of proposed State programs under Sections 3006(b) or 3006(c). The State however, should especially seek to provide the latter type of assistance since its failure to do so may increase the potential for incomplete or inadequate compliance by segments of the regulated community.

INVENTORY

Many States have conducted hazardous waste surveys over the past few years, gathering information on the types, quantities, locations, and dispositions of hazardous wastes within the State. The manifest system required under Section 3002 of the Act will allow the State to verify or upgrade this information or to begin to compile it. This information is an important and useful tool for the State, both for planning purposes and for use in administering and enforcing the hazardous waste regulatory program.

The Agency will not require this element in assessing the equivalency of a proposed State program for the purposes of Sections 3006(b) or 3006(c). The States are urged, nevertheless, to compile such data for use in developing their programs over both the short- and long-term.

SAFEGUARDING OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

The Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552 et seq.) includes a provision under which trade secrets and certain other information may be exempted from public disclosure. The Agency believes that similar provisions in State "Privacy Acts" or "Public Records Acts" make a significant contribution to securing the confidence of the regulated community since this legislation assures that information submitted to the State regulatory agency will be adequately safeguarded. State legislation of this type will not be required for authorization under Section 3006(b) or 3006(c). States should be aware, nevertheless, that provisions for the safeguarding of confidential information are an important part of an effective State regulatory program, and that the protection of a "Privacy Act" or of similar legislation is essential to winning the confidence of the regulated community.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Two types of reporting will take place under the proposed guidelines: (1) Hazardous waste management facilities will report to the State and (2) as a part of the oversight process, States will report quarterly to EPA. In either case, reporting requirements are of a small or negligible impact. In the first case, the impact of facilities reporting to the States will be the same as reporting to EPA since the subject State programs must be equivalent to the Federal program. In the second case, the impact of States reporting quarterly to EPA is further minimized by allowing the States to combine the quarterly report with the grant review process where applicable.

ECONOMIC AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACTS

In accordance with Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107 and EPA Policy as stipulated in 39 FR 37419, October 21, 1974 respectively, analyses of the economic and environmental impacts are being performed for the entirety of Subtitle C, Hazardous Waste Management, and are not completed as yet. Any additional economic impact on the public resulting from Section 3006 implementation can be expected to be negligible, since the subject State programs must be equivalent to the Federal program. These impacts can thus be assumed to be equivalent.

Dated: January 24, 1978.

AUTHORITY.—Sec. 3006, Pub. L. 94-580, 90 Stat. 2809 (42 U.S.C. 6926). Secs. 250.70, 250.72 (a)(1) and (a)(2) also issued under sec. 3009, Pub. L. 94-580, 90 Stat. 2812 (42 U.S.C. 6929).

§ 250.70 Scope and purpose.

(a) Section 3006 of the Solid Waste Disposal Act, as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976 (42 U.S.C. 6926), requires the Administrator, after consultation with State authorities, to promulgate guidelines to assist States in the development of State hazardous waste programs.

(b) These guidelines describe the various provisions and capabilities a State hazardous waste program must have in order to qualify for authorization under section 3006(b) or section 3006(c), which provide that the State, in lieu of the Federal EPA, may administer and enforce the hazardous waste management regulatory program established pursuant to Subtitle C of the Act. The guidelines also describe the substantive and procedural requirements for States applying for authorization, EPA's oversight of the State's hazardous waste program, and for the withdrawal of authorization pursuant to section 3006(e).

(c) In addition, section 3009 of the Act prohibits States from imposing any requirement which is "less stringent" than EPA's regulations under sections 3001 through 3005 of the Act, a prohibition which applies whether or not the State is authorized under section 3006.

§ 250.71 Definitions.

(g) The term "oversight" refers to a continuing program of surveillance and review carried out by EPA to insure that each authorized State's hazardous waste management program remains in compliance with the requirements for authorization stated in this Part.

(h) The term "partial authorization" refers to authorization by EPA of a State program to administer and enforce selected program components of a fully authorized hazardous waste program while EPA carries out the remaining parts. In all cases, the combination of the State and EPA hazardous waste program shall meet the substantive and procedural requirements of section 3006(b) of the Act and § 250.72(a).

(i) The term "withdrawal" refers to the termination of authorization for a State hazardous waste program under section 3006(e) of the Act and § 250.76.

Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Northern Mariana Islands.

§ 250.72 Authorization (3006b).

(a) Full authorization. This section describes the various provisions to be met and capabilities to be demonstrated by States seeking to apply to the Regional Administrator for full authorization. The Regional Administrator shall apply the criteria identified in § 250.72(a)(1) through § 250.72(a)(3) in determining whether the program of any State is "equivalent to" the Federal program, "consistent with" the Federal program and with those applicable in other States, and whether the State's program provides "adequate enforcement of compliance," as required by section 3006(b) of the Act. A negotiated Memorandum of Understanding, as described in § 250.74(a), is required for full authorization.

(1) Equivalency. The Regional Administrator shall measure the "equivalency" of a State program to the Federal program by determining whether the State program encompasses all of the following elements, and by assessing the adequacy of each for the administration and enforcement of a hazardous waste program: Legislative Authority; Published Regulations; Permit Mechanism; Manifest System; Identification of Resources; Interagency Delineation of Responsibilities (if appropriate to the applicant State); and Public Participation.

(i) Legislative authority. (A) A State seeking full authorization shall demonstrate legislative authority to provide the following program components: regulations governing hazardous waste generators, transporters and owners and operators of hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities, including the keeping of records and submittal of reports, and the establishment of monitoring practices; control of the treatment, storage and disposal of hazardous waste through a permit system or its equivalent; a waste tracking system (manifest system); the power to conduct inspections and take samples; and the power to institute enforcement proceedings against violators.

(B) The State legislative authority and regulatory program shall be applicable both to those hazardous wastes stored, treated or disposed of at the site of generation (so-called "on-site" management), and to those hazardous wastes shipped elsewhere for storage, treatment, or disposal.

(ii) Published regulations. The State may choose to publish its own regulations with respect to hazardous waste management, adopt the regulations promulgated by EPA under sections 3001 through 3005 of RCRA unchanged, or adapt EPA's regulations to unique or unusual circumstances or conditions within the State. Where a State has existing regulations or proposes new regulations which are different from those of EPA, the Regional Administrator shall evaluate the published regulations of the State's Agencies for their equivalency to those of EPA. The State's regulation shall address the identification of hazardous waste and shall contain standards applicable to generators of hazardous waste, transporters of hazardous waste, and the owners and operators of hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities. State regulations may not impose any requirement which is "less stringent" than EPA's regulations under sections 3001 through 3005 of the Act.

(iii) Permit mechanism. A State seeking full authorization shall provide for a permit system applicable to facilities which treat, store, or dispose of hazardous wastes, which consists of an administrative and legal framework together with resources sufficient to: accept, process and review applications for permits; issue permits (with appropriate special conditions); monitor renewals and expirations of permits; monitor compliance with the terms and conditions of permits; enforce compliance with the terms and conditions of permits; and enforce against owners and operators who have not acquired permits. The Regional Administrator shall evaluate the systems of those applicant States where the term "permit," is not used in order to determine whether mechanisms such as "license," "letters of approval," "waste discharge requirements," or other control devices, regardless of terminology, satisfy the intent of the Act.

(iv) Manifest system. A State seeking full authorization shall demonstrate the administrative capability to oversee the waste transportation manifest system established under section 3002(5) of the Act. Such capability shall include the management of manifests involving both intrastate and interstate transportation of hazardous wastes. States seeking full authorization under these Guidelines shall agree to use the manifest format published by the Administrator in the FEDERAL REGISTER pursuant to Section 3002 in administering and enforcing their hazardous waste management programs, but may supplement that format as appropriate to meet specific requirements or needs.

(v) Identification of resources. The Regional Administrator shall evaluate the resources proposed by an applicant State to be applied to its hazardous waste management program in order to ascertain that the State is able to administer and enforce the program successfully. The Regional Administrator shall consider the following factors in evaluating the adequacy of the State's proposed resources: (A) A comparison with levels of resources known to have been applied in other States of commensurate size, hazardous waste generation and disposal frequency; and (B) the adequacy of those resources in relation to the level of success of those other State programs. Consequently, State applications for full authorization under Section 3006(b) shall clearly identify the personnel and the monetary resources to be used to carry out each responsibility necessary to conduct a comprehensive hazardous waste management program.

(vi) Interagency delineation. A State seeking full authorization in which more than one agency is involved in the administration and enforcement of the State hazardous waste program shall explicitly delineate the responsibilities of each such agency which relate to hazardous waste management, and shall designate a "lead agency", for the purposes of these Guidelines, to facilitate communications between EPA and the agencies responsible for the State program, and to receive such grant funds as may be made available under section 3011 of the Act. This "lead agency" may be the same agency designated under 40 CFR Part 255, "Identification of Regions and Agencies for Solid Waste Management (Interim Guidelines)." The "lead agency" should provide for coordination with the State agency responsible for the regulation of injection wells under the Underground Injection Control (UIC) program administered under Part C of the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-532, 42 U.S.C. 300f, et seq.) unless the agency responsible for the UIC program is the same as the "lead agency" described above.

(vii) Public participation. A State seeking full authorization shall submit a public participation plan as part of the application which complies with the guidelines EPA has promulgated pursuant to section 7004(b) of the Act (40 CFR Part 249).

(2) Consistency. A State seeking full authorization shall demonstrate the "consistency" of its program with the Federal program or State programs applicable in other States in order for the State program to be authorized. Such States shall satisfy the requirements of both the free movement of hazardous wastes across State boundaries and the degree to which State standards may vary from those of EPA or of other States, except that States which violate these requirements on the date of promulgation of these guidelines may request a temporary suspension of this requirement. The Regional Administrator may grant a temporary suspension of this requirement for a period not to exceed July 1, 1984, upon a showing that the State is working towards elimination of this violation. For purposes of this subpart, the phrase "... State programs applicable in other States ..." refers only to those programs which have received full authorization under section 3006(b) of the Act.

(i) Free Movement of Hazardous Wastes. (A) Any State program which includes a ban on the importation of hazardous wastes from other States which are destined for treatment, storage, or disposal facilities having hazardous waste permits under the State program will be deemed inconsistent for the purposes of section 3006(b). Therefore, the Regional Administrator shall not grant full authorization to a State program including such a ban.

(B) Any State program which applies one standard to hazardous wastes originating within its borders, and a different standard to hazardous wastes originating elsewhere, will be deemed inconsistent with the Federal program and with those programs applicable in other States. Therefore, the Regional Administrator shall not grant full authorization to such a State program.

(ii) Dissimilar standards. Where the proposed State program includes standards which are significantly different from the Federal standards, the Regional Administrator shall determine whether such State standards substantially impede the movement of hazardous wastes into or out of the State; and whether such State standards protect public health and the environment to substantially the same degree as do the Federal standards. If the Regional Administrator determines that such State standards do substantially impede the movement of hazardous wastes into or out of the State, then the State program is inconsistent for the purposes of section 3006(b), unless such standards protect public health and the environment to substantially the same degree as do the Federal standards. If the Regional Administrator does not authorize a State program due to this determination of inconsistency, the State may continue to operate its hazardous waste program in parallel with the Federal program.

(3) Adequacy of enforcement. A State seeking full authorization shall demonstrate that the enforcement provisions of the proposed State program are adequate, and that the State is able to administer and enforce its program successfully. The Regional Administrator shall consider the proposed State enforcement procedures, practices, and penalties, comparing them with those contained in the Act, and with those implemented by the Environmental Protection Agency for the Federal program in evaluating the adequacy of the State's proposed enforcement program. The Regional Administrator should employ the following criteria in regard to penalty assessment in evaluating the adequacy of enforcement of a State Program that legislation exists authorizing civil and criminal penalties with a deterrent value adequate to handle almost all enforcement actions and that the legislation provides that such penalties be sought in appropriate circumstances.

(b) Partial authorization. The Regional Administrator may authorize a State to administer and enforce selected components of a hazardous waste regulatory program as described in § 250.72(a)(1)(i) while retaining responsibility for such part or parts for which State legislative authority is absent. A negotiated Memorandum of Understanding as described in § 250.74(a) is required for partial authorization.

(1) Application. States may apply for partial authorization only if State legislative authority does not exist for certain program components. Partial authorization of the hazardous waste program may only be granted if such components meet the three criteria of equivalency, consistency, and enforceability. In all cases, the combination of the State and EPA hazardous waste program shall meet the substantive and procedural requirements of a full hazardous waste program described in § 250.72(a).

(2) Duration. Partial authorization shall be effective for a fixed duration, agreed upon mutually by the State and the Regional Administrator and not to exceed 5 years, and shall apply to complete and discrete components of the program from among those identified in § 250.72(a)(1)(i) of these Guidelines. At the end of the fixed period, the Regional Administrator shall determine whether to renew the partial authorization on the basis of a continued lack of State legislative authority; a good faith effort by the State to procure needed legislation; and a determination by the Regional Administrator that the program can be carried out more effectively by the EPA-State partnership than by EPA alone.

§ 250.73 Interim authorization (3006c).

Any State which has in existence a hazardous waste program pursuant to State law prior to July 20, 1978, may request interim authorization to carry out a hazardous waste management program which will be granted if such program is "substantially equivalent" to the Federal program. A negotiated Memorandum of Understanding as described in § 250.74(a) is required for interim authorization. The phrase "... in existence" requires that States seeking interim authorization have the legislative authority, effective as of July 20, 1978, to conduct their hazardous waste programs as described in § 250.73(b)(2) of these Guidelines.

(a) Duration. Interim authorization is only effective for the period from October 21, 1978, through October 21, 1980.

(b) Substantial equivalency. A State seeking interim authorization shall submit copies of the relevant legislation to the Regional Administrator together with evidence to demonstrate that the State is willing and able to conduct a successful hazardous waste program, which, at a minimum, complies with § 250.73 (b)(1) through (b)(5).

(1) Authorization plan. A State seeking interim authorization shall submit an "authorization plan" as part of its application. The authorization plan shall describe the additions or modifications necessary to qualify the State program for full authorization under Section 3006(b) by October 21, 1980, together with the schedule which the State proposes to achieve those additions or modifications. Failure to meet the schedule may be cause for withdrawal of interim authorization.

(2) Legislative authority. A State seeking interim authorization shall demonstrate legislative authority to control at least either on-site or off-site hazardous waste disposal facilities, including the authority to conduct inspections and institute enforcement proceedings. Legislative authority to control hazardous waste treatment or storage facilities is not required for interim authorization. The State Authorization Plan shall describe any changes which will be sought in State legislation in order to prepare the State for full authorization as described in § 250.72(a)(1)(i).

(3) Identification of resources. A State seeking interim authorization shall identify and commit adequate resources to carry out the minimal program described in § 250.73 (b)(4) and (b)(5). Evaluation of the resources proposed by the State will be at the discretion of the Regional Administrator. A level of resources which is necessary for the purposes of full authorization will not necessarily be required for interim authorization. The State Authorization Plan shall identify the resource levels which will be applied to hazardous waste management at both the beginning and end of the interim authorization period.

(4) Permit mechanism. A State seeking interim authorization shall demonstrate at a minimum the institutional and administrative capability to issue permits, licenses, letters of approval, or other control devices to those facilities for which State legislative authority exists. The State Authorization Plan shall describe any changes in the permit system which will be made during the 24-month period for which the interim authorization is effective, to enable the State to become eligible for full authorization.

(5) Surveillance and enforcement. (i) A State seeking interim authorization shall demonstrate a surveillance and enforcement program sufficient to carry out a minimal program as described in § 250.73(b)(5). Evaluation of the surveillance and enforcement program will be at the discretion of the Regional Administrator.

(ii) A surveillance and enforcement effort which is insufficient for full authorization may be sufficient for interim authorization. Where the State proposal provides for a surveillance and enforcement program which does not satisfy the requirements for full authorization, the State Authorization Plan must describe the activities, including those criteria described in § 250.72(a)(3) regarding penalty assessment, through which the State expects to become eligible for full authorization during the twenty-four month period for which the interim authorization is effective.

§ 250.74 Federal oversight of authorized programs.

After all other requirements have been satisfied and before receiving authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c) of the Act, the State shall agree with the Regional Administrator on an oversight procedure which will allow EPA to monitor the State's hazardous waste program to ascertain that the program is being administered and enforced successfully in accordance with the Act. The oversight procedures shall become part of the Memorandum of Understanding required under § 250.74(a) of these Guidelines.

(a) Memorandum of Understanding. In order to receive authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c) of the Act, a Memorandum of Understanding shall be negotiated between the State and the Regional Administrator. The Memorandum of Understanding shall describe in detail the oversight procedures to which the State and the Regional Administrator have agreed, and may include such other terms, conditions, or agreements as are relevant to the administration and enforcement of the State's hazardous waste regulatory program. At a minimum, the Memorandum of Understanding shall include the items described in § 250.74 (a)(1)-(a)(4).

(1) Program evaluation. The State shall allow EPA to review such State records, reports, or files as are relevant to the administration and enforcement of the State hazardous waste regulatory program no less than once in each fiscal year for which the State has received authorization under Section 3006(b) or 3006(c) of the Act. The program review may be scheduled so as to coincide with the annual grant mid-year review.

(2) Review of permit applications. The Memorandum of Understanding shall specify the basis on which the Regional Administrator may select permit applications of the State for review. The Regional Administrator may review and comment to the State on up to ten (10) percent of the permit applications received by the State in each fiscal year for which the State has received authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c) of the Act; the Regional Administrator and the State may agree to a lower percentage limitation where the Regional Administrator believes such an agreement to be useful.

(3) Inspections. The Memorandum of Understanding shall specify the basis on which the Regional Administrator may select facilities within the State where hazardous waste is generated, transported, stored, treated, or disposed for federal inspection. The Regional Administrator or his designee may conduct inspections of up to ten (10) percent of the generators, transporters, treaters, storers, and disposers in a State in each fiscal year for which the State has received authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c) of the Act. The Regional Administrator and the State may agree to a lower percentage limitation where the Regional Administrator believes such an agreement to be useful. Except in the case of an imminent hazard within the meaning of Section 7003 of the Act, the Regional Administrator shall notify the State at least seven (7) calendar days before each such inspection and allow the State the opportunity to make the initial contact with the facility or site owners or operators. EPA shall give the State the opportunity to lead any inspection or visit conducted by EPA pursuant to this Subpart.

(4) Reports. The Memorandum of Understanding shall specify the frequency and content of such reports as are required to be submitted by the State to EPA, but in no event shall the frequency of such reports be less than once in each quarter of any fiscal year for which the State has received authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c) of the Act. The content of such reports shall be specified in the Memorandum of Understanding and may be combined with grant reports where applicable.

(b) Change in oversight requirements. The oversight mechanism outlined above and agreed upon by a State and Region shall be binding on both parties except when the Regional Administrator has reason to believe that the State program is not in compliance with requirements of § 250.72 (a) and (b) or § 250.73 and all Subparts thereunder. In such a case, and after notice to the State, the Regional Administrator may institute such oversight procedures as he deems necessary to investigate the situation and, where warranted, to insure a return to compliance.

§ 250.75 Application Procedure.

The State application shall include a narrative description of the State hazardous waste regulatory program. The State application shall provide information sufficient for the Regional Administrator to make a determination on the adequacy of the State's program. At a minimum, the following information shall be submitted: Application describing hazardous waste program as it relates to guidelines (full, partial, and interim authorization); Memorandum of Understanding describing oversight provisions (full, partial, and interim authorization); authorization plan describing deficiencies and planned milestones to achieve full authorization (interim authorization).

(a) Public hearing. After preparation of the draft application, the State shall give notice to all interested parties of the State's intention to seek authorization. Public notice shall be such that all interested parties will be given reasonable opportunity to comment on the draft application. Copies of the draft application shall be made available to the public for comment. Upon request, the State shall hold a public hearing to discuss the State's application to conduct the hazardous waste program. All interested parties will be given reasonable opportunity to present written or oral testimony on the State's application at the public hearing.

(b) Submission of application to EPA. After consideration of comments received from the public notice and public hearing, the State shall prepare a completed application, signed by the appropriate State official in charge of the designated lead agency, for submission to the Regional Administrator. (Three (3) copies of the final application shall be submitted.)

(c) Notice and determination of findings. Within 90 days following submission of a completed application for program authorization, the Regional Administrator shall issue a notice as to whether or not he expects such program to be authorized. Within 90 days following such notice and after opportunity for public hearing, the Regional Administrator shall publish his findings as to whether or not the State will be given authorization to operate the hazardous waste regulatory program. Public notice of the hearing, if held, will be such that all interested parties will be given reasonable opportunity to present written and oral testimony on the State's application at the public hearing.

thorization of such State program and establish a Federal program where the Administrator determines, after holding a public hearing, that the State program is not in compliance with the requirements of § 250.72 (a) and (b) or § 250.73. A Regional Administrator having reason to believe that a State is not administering or enforcing an authorized program in accordance with the Act, shall follow the procedure described in § 250.76 (a) through (d).

(a) Notice to State of public hearing. A Regional Administrator having reason to believe that a State is not administering or enforcing its authorized program in compliance with the requirements of Section 3006 and this Subpart, shall inform the State by registered mail of the specific areas of alleged noncompliance, and that a public hearing will be held to discuss withdrawal of the State's program as required under Section 3006(e) of the Act. If the State demonstrates to the Regional Administrator within 30 days of such notification that the State program is in compliance, the Regional Administrator shall take no further action toward withdrawal.

(b) Public hearing. Where the Regional Administrator still has reason to believe that the State is not in compliance 30 days after notification, a public hearing shall be scheduled not less than 60 days or more than 75 days following the initial notification date. All interested parties shall be given opportunity to present written and oral testimony on the withdrawal of the State's program at the public hearing.

(c) Notice to State of findings. Where the Regional Administrator determines the State program to be in compliance as a result of written or oral testimony presented at such public hearing, he shall take no further action toward withdrawal. Where he finds the State not to be in compliance, he shall notify the State by registered mail of specific deficiencies in the State program and of necessary remedial activities. Within 90 days of receipt of the above letter, the State shall either carry out the required remedial actions or the Regional Administrator shall withdraw authorization. If the State carries out the remedial actions, the Regional Administrator shall take no further action toward withdrawal.

(d) Transfer plan. Whenever any State chooses to relinquish authorization under Section 3006(b) or Section 3006(c), or whenever any State is required to relinquish such authorization through the withdrawal procedures under this Part, the State shall submit to EPA a plan for the orderly transfer of all information to EPA. Such plan shall be submitted not less than 30 days before the date such transfer is to be effected.

Title 3—The President

Recommendations approved by the President January 26, 1978

Radiation Protection Guidance to Federal Agencies for Diagnostic X Rays

Recommendations 1 through 12 contained in the above¹ memorandum are approved for the guidance of Federal agencies; the Administrator and the Assistant Secretary for Health are directed to conduct programs, in accordance with their respective authorities and their Memorandum of Understanding (42 FR 5123), to interpret and clarify, as necessary, each of these recommendations in cooperation with affected Federal agencies; the Administrator is authorized to issue these interpretations and clarifications in the FEDERAL REGISTER; and this memorandum shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Recommendations have been developed and are hereby transmitted for the guidance of Federal agencies in providing radiation protection for patients in the application of diagnostic x rays.

Executive Order 10831 and Public Law 86-373 (42 U.S.C. 2021(h)) charge the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to "...advise the President with respect to radiation matters, directly or indirectly affecting health, including guidance for all Federal agencies in the formulation of radiation standards and in the establishment and execution of programs of cooperation with States." In addition, the Assistant Secretary for Health in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) has a variety of responsibilities under the Public Health Service Act (Sections 301, 310, 311, and 354-360(f)) and the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act bearing on the setting of health care policy and the use of radiation in the healing arts. These responsibilities, which have been delegated to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), include research and training concerning radiation hazards, the development and promulgation of recommendations for radiation users, advice to the States, information for the public, performance standards for electronic products that emit radiation, and regulations for the sale, distribution, and use of medical devices.

Because of the special responsibilities of HEW involving national health care policy, which Federal radiation guidance for diagnostic x rays may impact directly, the Administrator and the Assistant Secretary join in requesting your approval of these recommendations. In this regard, on January 18, 1977, the two Agencies entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (42 FR 5123), which provides for the future development, within each Agency's respective authorities, of radiation protection guidance and, when necessary, updating of such guidance for uses of radiation in the healing arts.

Information on the diagnostic use of x rays in medicine and potential controls that could be applied without compromising benefits have been reviewed, and scientists and professionals within and outside the Government have been consulted in developing these recommendations. In this regard, we have benefited from the effort begun by the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council for the former Federal Radiation Council to evaluate, interpret, and advise with respect to new knowledge on radiation effects and sources of population exposure. The report of the NAS-NRC Committee on Biological Effects of Ionizing Radiation was issued in 1972. One of its significant findings was that "[m]edical diagnostic radiology accounts for at least 90% of the total man-made radiation dose to which the U.S. population is exposed." More importantly, the Committee recommended that "[m]edical radiation exposure can and should be reduced considerably by limiting its use to clinically indicated procedures utilizing efficient exposure techniques and optimal operation of radiation equipment."

It is widely recognized by medical practitioners, medical physicists, and other scientists concerned with radiation protection that exposure due to medical uses of ionizing radiation represents a significant and growing source of exposure for the U.S. population and is also one that can be reduced by good practice. The National Council on Radiation Protection and Measurements has concluded that whereas " there can be no rational means . . . to limit radiation exposure prescribed for patients for necessary and proper diagnostic or therapeutic purposes[.] . . steps can be taken to minimize unnecessary or medically unproductive radiation exposure. . . Advantage should be taken of any new technology or procedure that will significantly reduce unnecessary diagnostic or medical exposure, both in individual examinations and treatments, and in the adoption of group screening practices."

An Interagency Working Group on Medical Radiation was formed by the Administrator on July 5, 1974, to assist in developing proposed guidance for diagnostic x rays. The Interagency Working Group determined that it is desirable and possible to reduce exposure from the diagnostic use of x rays in Federal facilities by: (1) eliminating clinically unproductive examinations, (2) assuring the use of optimal technique when examinations are performed, and (3) requiring appropriate equipment to be used. As a result of this consensus a subcommittee on prescription was established to examine factors to eliminate clinically unproductive examinations. Another subcommittee on technique was formed to examine the second and to some extent the third subject area where it might not be regulated by FDA's x-ray equipment performance standards, which became effective August 1, 1974. The reports of these subcommittees were made available for comment (41 FR 10705 and 27998) prior to completion of the Interagency Working Group report.

Proposed recommendations based upon the report of the Interagency Working Group were published for public comment (42 FR 4884) on January 26, 1977. In addition, there has been extensive commentary and discussion between EPA and HEW, as well as formal review by Public Health Service and other affected Federal agencies. The comments received have been carefully considered and a complete record, including a response to comments, is available to the public from the Public Information Reference Unit, Room 2922, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street SW, Washington, D.C. 20460.

These recommendations were developed and reviewed in accordance with standard EPA procedures. Development of new or revised recommendations will be carried out under the Memorandum of Understanding referred to above, which provides also, when applicable, for the use of HEW procedures.

DISCUSSION

The most important factor in reducing radiation exposure is to avoid the prescription of clinically unproductive examinations. Appropriate prescription of x-ray examinations involves two major considerations: (1) the clinical decision to order a particular examination, and (2) the minimization of the number of radiographic views required in an examination. In particular, attention should be given to the qualifications of those who order examinations, the elimination of unproductive screening programs, and the use of appropriate clinical procedures to assure that unproductive views are not performed.

Although the largest savings in radiation exposure may be realized from avoiding the prescription of an unproductive x-ray examination, patient exposure can also be reduced by assuring that the examination is performed with good technique. The fundamental objective in performing an x-ray examination is to obtain optimum diagnostic information with minimum patient exposure. Achievement of this objective requires assurance that: (1) equipment is calibrated and properly functioning, (2) equipment is operated only by adequately qualified personnel, (3) the patient is appropriately prepared, and (4) technique factors that will minimize exposure are selected.

It has been demonstrated that the same technique factors used with different x-ray generators may produce widely varying patient exposures. Thus, the performance of x-ray equipment utilized for diagnostic x-ray procedures is an important factor in limiting patient and operator exposure. The Federal Diagnostic X-Ray Equipment Performance Standard (21 CFR Part 1020) requires that x-ray equipment manufactured after August 1, 1974, be certified by manufacturers to comply with radiation safety requirements issued by the FDA pursuant to the Radiation Control for Health and Safety Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-602). Utilization of medical and dental x-ray equipment that performs in accordance with the requirements of this performance standard by Federal health care facilities would provide a significant contribution to the minimization of patient exposure.

Without question the use of x rays in the healing arts provides large benefits to society through improved health care; thus, in developing guidance for radiation protection for diagnostic x rays it is essential to assure that benefits to patients from the use of medical and dental x rays are maintained. Medical personnel in both the Federal and the private sectors have been consulted and we are confident that these recommendations will neither interfere with the doctor-patient relationship nor impair the ability of Federal agencies to provide necessary radiologic services.

Appropriate follow-up and coordination with Federal agencies is also important to assure that these recommendations are implemented so as to maximize their effectiveness in reducing unnecessary radiation exposure, but at the same time to avoid any deleterious impact on the delivery of health care. The Memorandum of Understanding between EPA and HEW referred to above is designed to assure that the dual objectives of radiation protection and health care delivery are achieved in the implementation of this or any future radiation protection guidance applicable to the healing arts.

RECOMMENDATIONS

In view of the considerations presented above, the following recommendations are made for the guidance of Federal agencies in their conduct of radiation protection for diagnostic uses of x rays in the healing arts:

1. General radiographic or fluoroscopic examinations should be prescribed only by licensable Doctors of Medicine or Osteopathy or, for specified limited procedures, postgraduate physician trainees and qualified allied medical professionals under their direct supervision; specialized studies should be prescribed only by those physicians with expertise to evaluate examinations in the particular specialty. Exception for specified procedures may be made for dentists and podiatrists.

2. Prescription of x-ray studies should be for the purpose of obtaining diagnostic information, should be based on clinical evaluation of symptomatic patients, and should state the diagnostic objective and detail relevant medical history.

3. Routine or screening examinations, in which no prior clinical evaluation of the patient is made, should not be performed unless exception has been made for specified groups of people on the basis of a careful consideration of the magnitude and medical benefit of the diagnostic yield, radiation risk, and economic and social factors. Examples of examinations that should not be routinely performed unless such exception is made are:

- chest and lower back x-ray examinations in routine physical examinations or as a routine requirement for employment,
- tuberculosis screening by chest radiography,
- chest x rays for routine hospital admission of patients under age 20 or lateral chest x-rays for patients under age 40 unless a clinical indication of chest disease exists,
- chest radiography in routine prenatal care, and
- mammography examinations of women under age 50 who neither exhibit symptoms nor have a personal or strong family history of breast cancer.

4. Prescription of x-ray examinations of pregnant or possibly pregnant patients should assure that medical consideration has been given to possible fetal exposure and appropriate protective measures are applied.

5. The number, sequence, and types of standard views for an examination should be clinically-oriented and kept to a minimum. Diagnosticians should closely monitor the performance of x-ray examinations and, where practicable, direct examinations to obtain the diagnostic objectives stated by clinicians through appropriate deletion, substitution, or addition of prescribed views. Technique protocols for performing medical and dental x-ray examinations should detail the operational procedures for all standard radiographic projections, patient preparation requirements, use of technique charts, and image receptor specifications.

6. X-ray equipment used in Federal facilities should meet the Federal Diagnostic X-Ray Equipment Performance Standard, or as a minimum for equipment manufactured prior to August 1, 1974, the Suggested State Regulations for Control of Radiation (40 FR 29749). General purpose fluoroscopy units should provide image-intensification; fluoroscopy units for nonradiology specialty use should have electronic image-holding features unless such use is demonstrated to be impracticable for the clinical use involved. Photofluorographic x-ray equipment should not be used for chest radiography.

7. X-ray facilities should have quality assurance programs designed to produce radiographs that satisfy diagnostic requirements with minimal patient exposure; such programs should contain material and equipment specifications, equipment calibration and preventive maintenance requirements, quality control of image processing, and operational procedures to reduce retake and duplicate examinations.

8. Operation of medical or dental x-ray equipment should be by individuals who have demonstrated proficiency to produce diagnostic quality radiographs with the minimum of exposure required; such proficiency should be assessed through national performance-oriented evaluation procedures or by didactic training and practical experience identical to, equivalent to, or greater than training programs and examination requirements of recognized credentialing organizations.

9. Proper collimation should be used to restrict the x-ray beam as much as practicable to the clinical area of interest and within the dimensions of the image receptor; shielding should be used to further limit the exposure of the fetus and the gonads of patients with reproductive potential (21 CFR Part 1000.50) when such exclusion does not interfere with the examination being conducted.

10. Technique appropriate to the equipment and materials available should be used to maintain exposure as low as is reasonably achievable without loss of requisite diagnostic information; measures should be undertaken to evaluate and reduce, where practicable, exposures for routine nonspecialty examinations which exceed the following Entrance Skin Exposure Guides (ESEG):

Examination (Projection)	ESEG (milliroentgens)*
Chest (P/A)	30
Skull (Lateral)	300
Abdomen (A/P)	750
Cervical Spine (A/P)	250
Thoracic Spine (A/P)	900
Full Spine (A/P)	300
Lumbo-Sacral Spine (A/P)	1000
Retrograde Pyelogram (A/P)	900
Feet (D/P)	270
Dental (Bitewing or Periapical)	700

*Entrance skin exposure determined by the Nationwide Evaluation of X-Ray Trends program for a patient having the following body part/thickness: head/15 cm, neck/13 cm, thorax/23 cm, abdomen/23 cm, and foot/8 cm.

11. X-ray examinations for dental purposes should be prescribed only by licensable Doctors of Dental Surgery or Dental Medicine or properly supervised postgraduate dentists on the basis of prior clinical evaluation or pertinent history; neither a full-mouth series nor bitewing radiographs should be used as a routine screening tool in the absence of clinical evaluation in preventive dental care. Exception may be made for justifiable forensic purposes.

12. Open-ended shielded position-indicating devices should be used with the paralleling technique to perform routine intra-oral radiography and should restrict the x-ray beam to as near the size of the image receptor as practicable.

It is expected that each Federal agency will use these recommendations as a basis upon which to develop detailed standards tailored to meet its particular requirements. In order to assure appropriate implementation of these recommendations, the Administrator and the Assistant Secretary for Health will cooperate in carrying out their respective functions in accordance with the Memorandum of Understanding (42 FR 5123). The necessary coordination will be conducted to achieve an effective Federal program, including periodic interpretation and clarification of each of the recommendations as required to reflect new information and changing technology. By so doing, it is expected that an achievable and reasonable reduction in x-ray exposure will be accomplished commensurate with a continuation of the vital benefits realized by the utilization of this important technology.

If the foregoing recommendations are approved by you as guidance for Federal agencies in providing radiation protection for patients in the application of diagnostic x-rays, it is further recommended that this memorandum be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

SUBPART A—GENERAL PROVISIONS

This Subpart has been revised primarily to incorporate changes in program objectives and definitions included in the Housing and Community Development Act of 1977 and to add a general waiver provision. In addition, certain technical and clarifying changes have been made. All changes to Subpart A are discussed in the following paragraphs.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE

In § 570.1, the listing of programs replaced by the community development block grant program has been revised to delete reference to rehabilitation loans under section 312 of the Housing Act of 1964, since the 312 program has continued to receive funding authorizations. Also, former subsections (a) and (b) have been combined to improve readability, with no change in meaning intended.

OBJECTIVE AND PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Two changes in § 570.2 have been made to reflect statutory amendments. A new specific objective of the program has been added at paragraph (a)(8), which is the alleviation of physical and economic distress through the stimulation of private investment and community revitalization in areas with population outmigration or stagnating or declining tax base. Also, one of the program purposes, namely, fostering the undertaking of housing and community development activities in a coordinated and mutually supportive manner, has been expanded to show that it is intended to apply to Federal agencies and programs, as well as to communities.

DEFINITIONS

Changes have been made in the following current definitions to reflect statutory amendments: applicant; basic grant amount; city; discretionary grant; metropolitan city; unit of general local government; and urban county. The following new terms defined by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1977 have been added: age of housing; extent of growth lag; Indian tribe; and urban development action grant.

Beyond the changes and additions to definitions resulting from statutory amendments, other changes and additions have been made to clarify the meanings of certain key terms.

The definition of "low- and moderate-income families," which previously was identical to the definition of that term under the Section 8 housing assistance payments program, has been revised. This has been done to facilitate the identification of low- and moderate-income areas. The Section 8 definition, which provides for adjustments for smaller and larger families, is based on the assumption that the size of the family to be assisted is known. In cases where block grant funds are to be used to directly benefit specific families, for example, in a home rehabilitation program, the Section 8 definition is appropriate. However, where a project is designed to benefit a particular geographic area, for example, a neighborhood park project, family size adjustments are impracticable because data are not generally available on the income characteristics and size of each family residing in the area that will benefit from the project.

The definition of "low- and moderate-income persons" or "lower-income persons" has been revised to include unrelated individuals with lower incomes, in addition to members of lower-income families.

The term "low-income persons" has been added in order to help ensure that low- as well as moderate-income persons benefit from the use of block grant funds. The threshold of 50 percent of median income is the same as that for "very low-income families" used in the Section 8 housing assistance payments program.

The current definition of "population" has been revised to show that the total resident population will be based on U.S. Census Bureau data which has been updated since 1970. Editorial changes have also been made in the current definitions of "Community Development Program," "hold-harmless amount," and "identifiable segment of the total group of lower-income persons in the community," which are not intended to alter the effect of these definitions.

WAIVERS

New § 570.4 has been added to permit more flexibility in the administration of the program by allowing the Secretary to waive any program requirement which is not required by law whenever it is determined that undue hardship will result from applying the requirement and where application of the requirement would adversely affect the purposes of the Act.

SUBPART B—ALLOCATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS

This Subpart is revised primarily to implement changes in the fund allocation provisions that are a part of the reauthorization of the community development block grant program. The changes involve the criteria to be used to determine eligibility for grant entitlement, the timing associated with the allocation process, and the manner in which the distribution of funds is made. A summary of these changes and the section in which the changes are contained is outlined in the following.

BOUNDARY CHANGES

Section 570.100 is modified to clarify the timing limitations on the recognition of boundary changes among units of government for purposes of fund allocations. A change is also made to allow recognition of boundary changes creating less than five percent impact on population where such changes are recognized by the Office of Revenue Sharing.

ALLOCATION BETWEEN METROPOLITAN AND NON-METROPOLITAN AREAS

Section 570.101 is changed to make clear how the determination is to be made of the amounts to be used inside metropolitan areas versus nonmetropolitan areas.

BASIC GRANT AMOUNTS

Section 570.102 contains a number of changes:

(a) The introduction of a dual formula, and how it is used to determine the basic grant amounts for metropolitan cities and urban counties;

(b) The calculation of city and county ratios against the total of all metropolitan areas, (eliminating the step of an initial allocation to the sum of all metropolitan cities, or metropolitan cities and urban counties, as previously required); and

(c) The elimination of the "phase-in" provisions after Fiscal Year 1977.

HOLD-HARMLESS GRANTS

Section 570.103 continues to reflect the phasedown of hold-harmless beginning in Fiscal Year 1978 and being completed in 1980. The timing requirements for notification of waiver of hold-harmless entitlement are modified and clarified to show that waiver can be made only for one year at a time. Also, for Fiscal Year 1978 and 1979, when it appears likely there will be a shortfall of funds needed for hold-harmless inside metropolitan areas, provision is made to absorb such shortfalls through a pro rata reduction among individual entitlement amounts and the discretionary balance funds.

DISCRETIONARY GRANTS

Section 570.104 is modified to reflect a change in the determination of the size of the Secretary's Fund (three percent in lieu of two percent) as a result of adding two new purposes for which the fund is to be used (Indians and Technical Assistance). Note: Since Indians are to be given grants only from the Secretary's Fund beginning in Fiscal Year 1978, reference is made in other sections to the deletion of data for eligible Indian Tribes, where applicable, in allocating funds to urban counties and in allocating discretionary balance funds.) Changes are also made in the methods used to allocate discretionary balances:

(a) Metropolitan area balance funds are allocated by State in lieu of by metropolitan area; and

(b) A dual formula is used for allocating funds for both metropolitan area and nonmetropolitan area balances.

A further change is incorporated to require the exclusion of data for hold harmless communities on the basis of their entitlement for, rather than on

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Subpart A—General Provisions

§ 570.1 Applicability and scope.

(a) This Part covers policies and procedures applicable to community development block grants and loan guarantees on behalf of urban communities, authorized under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended. Included are provisions relating to the roles and responsibilities of HUD and general local government with regard to the allocation and distribution of funds; eligible activities; application requirements; review criteria; and administrative and other program requirements.

(b) The community development block grant program replaces the following programs consolidated by the Act:

(1) Urban renewal (and neighborhood development programs) under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949;

(2) Model Cities under Title I of the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966;

§ 570.2 Objective and purpose of program.

Consistent with this primary objective, the Federal assistance provided in this Part is for the support of community development activities which are directed toward the following specific objectives:

(3) The conservation and expansion of the Nation's housing stock in order to provide a decent home and a suitable living environment for all persons, but principally those of low and moderate income;

(4) The expansion and improvement of the quantity and quality of commu-

their receipt of funds. (This is also reflected in § 570.102 concerning urban county formula computation.)

URBAN COUNTIES

Section 570.105 is modified to include a new criterion for determining urban county entitlement (population density, for certain counties).

REALLOCATION OF FUNDS

Section 570.107 is changed only to the extent of showing that reallocation also occurs for funds which, after they have been granted to a unit of government, are recaptured by the Department.

Section 570.108 is specifically deleted, as it is no longer applicable.

This revision is being published as an interim rule in order to implement statutory amendments in time to affect applications submitted early in Fiscal Year 1978. Interested persons are invited, however, to participate in the making of the final rule by submitting written comments or views on the amendments. Comments should be filed with the Rules Docket Clerk, Room 5218, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20410. All relevant comments received on or before the date specified above will be considered before adoption of the final rule. Copies of comments will be available for examination during business hours at the above address.

A Finding of Inapplicability with respect to Environmental Impact has been prepared in accordance with HUD Handbook 1390.1. In addition, a Finding of Inapplicability with respect to Economic Impact has also been prepared in accordance with Executive Order 11821. Copies of the findings are available for inspection and copying in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk at the above address.

Subpart B—Allocation and Distribution of Funds

(a) This subpart describes the policies and procedures governing the determination of entitlement for eligible units of general local government to receive grants, the entitlement amounts, and the allocation of appropriated funds among the several distribution categories provided under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended.

(b) In determining eligibility for a Basic Grant and in allocating funds under this subpart, current corporate status and geographic boundaries will be considered, in accordance with the following, to the extent such information was certified and available to the Bureau of the Census 90 days prior to the beginning of such fiscal year, and has been processed by Census at the time the allocation of funds is to be made each year:

(1) Incorporation of a community having a population of at least 50,000 based on the latest national census;

(2) Change in boundaries or annexations resulting in the population of the unit of general local government reaching or exceeding 50,000 based on the latest national census count;

Eighty percent of the funds appropriated each fiscal year for the purposes of this part, excluding the amounts specified below, will be allocated to metropolitan areas, with the balance of twenty percent allocated to nonmetropolitan areas, for community development block grants in metropolitan and nonmetropolitan areas, respectively. Funds to be excluded for this purpose are:

(a) Metropolitan cities. (1) Of the amount allocated to metropolitan areas pursuant to § 570.101, the Secretary will allocate to each metropolitan city an amount of funds which shall be the greater of an amount that bears the same ratio to the allocation for all metropolitan areas as either:

(i) The average of the ratios between:

(A) The population of that metropolitan city and the population of all metropolitan areas;

(B) The extent of poverty in that metropolitan city and the extent of poverty in all metropolitan areas; and

(2) In determining the average of ratios under paragraphs (a)(1)(i) of this section, the ratio involving the extent of poverty shall be counted twice, and each of the other ratios shall be counted once (.50+.25+.25=1.00); and in determining the average of ratios under paragraph (a)(1)(ii), the ratio involving the extent of growth lag shall be counted once, the ratio involving extent of poverty shall be counted one and one-half times, and the ratio involving the age of housing shall be counted two and one-half times (.20+.30+.50=1.00).

(3) The Secretary shall determine eligibility of towns or townships to be cities on the basis of information available from the U.S. Bureau of the Census with respect to population level, closeness of settlement, and presence of incorporated places within the boundaries of town or township, and on the basis of information provided by the town or township and its included units of government. In computing amounts for a metropolitan city that is a town or township containing incorporated places, there shall be excluded any such incorporated place which is entitled to receive a hold-harmless grant for that year pursuant to § 570.103 and has not waived such entitlement under § 570.103(e).

(b) Urban counties. (1) Of the amount allocated to metropolitan areas pursuant to § 570.101, the Secretary will allocate to each urban county an amount of funds which shall be the greater of an amount that bears the same ratio to the allocation for all metropolitan areas as either:

(i) The average of the ratios between:

(A) The population of the urban county and the population of all metropolitan areas;

(B) The extent of poverty in that urban county and the extent of poverty in all metropolitan areas; and

(C) The extent of housing overcrowding in the urban county and the extent of housing overcrowding in all metropolitan areas; or

(ii) The average of the ratios between:

growth lag in all metropolitan cities and urban counties;

(B) The extent of poverty in that urban county and the extent of poverty in all metropolitan areas; and

(2) In determining the average of ratios under paragraph (b)(1)(i) of this section, the ratio involving the extent of poverty shall be counted twice, and each of the other ratios will be counted once (.50+.25+.25=1.00); and in determining the average of ratios under paragraph (b)(1)(ii), the ratio involving the extent of growth lag shall be counted once, the ratio involving extent of poverty shall be counted one and one-half times, and the ratio involving the age of housing shall be counted two and one-half times (.20+.30+.50=1.00).

(3) In computing amounts or exclusions with respect to an urban county in any fiscal year there will be excluded any metropolitan city, any other unit of general local government located within the county which is entitled to receive a hold-harmless grant for that fiscal year pursuant to § 570.103 and has not waived such entitlement under § 570.103(e), any other unit of general local government the population of which has been excluded from the county's population as part of the urban county qualification process, pursuant to § 570.105, and any Indian tribes located within the county.

(4) In excluding the population, poverty, housing overcrowding, and age of housing data for units of general local government which are entitled to receive a hold-harmless grant from the computations in this paragraph, as required by paragraphs (a)(3) and (b)(3) of this section, the Secretary will exclude only two-thirds of such data for fiscal year 1978 and one-third of such data for fiscal year 1979. In fiscal year 1980 and in subsequent years, no such exclusion is to be made.

(c) Phase-in provision. With respect to funds approved for distribution to a metropolitan city or urban county during fiscal years 1975, 1976 and 1977, the basic grant amount of any such city or county as computed under paragraphs (a) and (b) will be adjusted only for such funds approved for distribution in fiscal years 1975, 1976 and 1977 if the amount so computed for the first year such funds are approved for distribution exceeds the city's or county's hold-harmless amount for that year as determined under § 570.103. The adjustments are made so that:

(1) The amount for the city's or county's first year does not exceed one-third of its full basic grant amount, or its hold-harmless amount, whichever is the greater;

(2) The amount for its second year does not exceed two-thirds of its full basic amount, or its hold-harmless amount, or the amount allowed under paragraph (c)(1) of this section, whichever is the greatest; and

(3) The amount for its third year does not exceed its full basic grant amount. The full basic grant amount as determined under § 570.102(a) and § 570.102(b) will be allocated to each metropolitan city and each urban county respectively for each of the fiscal years 1978, 1979, and 1980 regardless of their eligibility for or receipt of entitlement in preceding years and without regard to the application of the phase-in provision.

§ 570.103 Hold-harmless grants.

(a) Metropolitan cities and urban counties. Any metropolitan city or urban county having a hold-harmless amount, as calculated under paragraph (c) of this section, in any fiscal year which exceeds its basic grant amount for that year as computed under § 570.102 will be entitled to receive a hold-harmless grant. In addition to its basic grant. Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, the amount of the hold-harmless grant will be equal to the difference between the basic grant amount and the hold-harmless amount.

(b) Other units of general local government. Any other unit of general local government will be entitled to receive a hold-harmless grant if, during the five fiscal year period ending June 30, 1972 (or June 30, 1973, in the case of a locality which first received a grant for a neighborhood development program in that fiscal year), it had been carrying out one or more urban renewal projects, code enforcement programs, or neighborhood development programs under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, or model cities programs under Title I of the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966, under commitments for assistance entered into with HUD during that period. Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, such hold-harmless grant will equal the hold-harmless amount as computed under paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Calculation of hold-harmless amount. (1) For each unit of general local government having entitlement for either a basic grant amount or a hold-harmless grant, the Secretary will calculate a hold-harmless amount for each of the first five fiscal years beginning with fiscal year 1975.

(2) The hold-harmless amount will be sum of:

(i) The annual average during the five fiscal years ending June 30, 1972, of:

(A) Commitments for grants for urban renewal (excluding neighborhood development programs) under Part A of Title I of the Housing Act of 1949. For the purposes of this calculation, "commitments for grants" means any of the following conditions occurring during the five year base period:

(1) Funds reserved and not either cancelled or allocated;

(2) Funds reserved and allocated; and funds allocated which had not previously been reserved.

(B) Loans made for the purpose of rehabilitation of property under Section 312 of the Housing Act of 1964;

(C) Grants for open space land projects, including urban beautification and historic preservation, under Title VII of the Housing Act of 1961;

(D) Grants for water and sewer projects under Section 702 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965;

(E) Grants for neighborhood facilities under Section 703 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965; and

(F) Loans for public facilities under Title II of the Housing Amendments of 1955; and

(ii) The average annual grant for a neighborhood development program under Part B of Title I of the Housing Act of 1949 made during the five fiscal years ending June 30, 1972, or during Fiscal Year 1973 in the case where the initial grant for this purpose was made in that fiscal year; and

(iii) In the case of a unit of general local government having a model cities program which was funded or extended in Fiscal Year 1973 for a period ending after June 30, 1973, amounts based on the following percentages of the average annual grant made for the model cities program under Title I of the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966 during fiscal years ending June 30, 1972:

(A) One hundred percent for each of a number of years, which, when combined with the number of funding years for which the unit of general local government has received grants prior to Fiscal Year 1975, equals five;

(B) Eighty percent for the year immediately following year five as determined in paragraph (c)(2)(iii)(A) of this section;

(C) Sixty percent for the year immediately following the year provided in paragraph (c)(2)(iii)(B) of this section; and

(D) Forty percent for the year immediately following the year provided in paragraph (c)(2)(iii)(C) of this section. For the purpose of calculating hold-harmless amounts, the average annual grant under paragraphs (c)(2)(ii) and (iii) of this section will be established by dividing the total amount of grants made to the unit of general local government by the number of months of program activity for which such grants were made and multiplying the result by twelve. In calculating the hold-harmless amount, any portion of grants which were made as one-time payments for relocation costs under the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970 (42 U.S.C. 4601) will be excluded. In calculating the average annual grant under paragraph (c)(2)(iii) of this section, the Secretary will exclude Planned Variations grants and grants for such other special purposes as relocation costs for Project Rehab in model cities programs. In attributing credit to metropolitan cities for grants or loans for the purpose of calculating the hold-harmless amount, the Secretary will be guided primarily by the location of the project, and, in addition, the identity of the local government which contracted for such grants or loans. Thus, where a county park authority received a grant to provide recreational facilities in a metropolitan city, the city would be credited with the grant in the hold-harmless calculation, and not the county.

(d) Phase-out of hold-harmless. (1) In determining the hold-harmless grant for fiscal years 1975, 1976, and 1977, the full hold-harmless amount calculated under paragraph (c) of this section will be used in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section. In fiscal years 1978 and 1979, if the hold-harmless amount exceeds the basic grant amount for a locality in any such year, as computed under § 570.102, it will be reduced so that:

(i) In fiscal year 1978, the excess of the hold-harmless amount over the basic grant amount for that year will equal two-thirds of the difference between such hold-harmless and basic grant amounts; and

(ii) In fiscal year 1979, the excess of the hold-harmless amount over the basic grant amount for that year will equal one-third of the difference between such hold-harmless and basic grant amounts.

(2) In fiscal year 1980, no hold-harmless grants will be made.

(3) In determining the adjustments under paragraph (d)(1) of this section for units of general local government not qualifying for a basic grant, the provisions of paragraph (d)(1)(i) and (ii) of this section will be applied as though such units had entitlement to a basic grant amount of zero.

(e) Waiver of hold-harmless. Any unit of general local government qualifying for a hold-harmless grant in any fiscal year under the conditions contained in paragraph (b) of this section may, by November 15, of any such year, irrevocably waive its eligibility for a hold-harmless grant for a single year. Any such waiver under this subsection must be submitted to the Secretary in writing. In the case of such a waiver, the unit of general local government shall not be excluded in that year from the computations as otherwise required in § 570.102(b)(3) and § 570.104(c) (1) and (2) for such units of government having eligibility for hold-harmless grants.

(f) Pro rata reduction. In the event that the total amount of funds available for distribution in metropolitan areas under this Part in fiscal year 1978 and fiscal year 1979 is insufficient to meet all basic grant and hold-harmless entitlement needs in such metropolitan areas as provided pursuant to § 570.102(a) and (b), and § 570.103, and that funds are not otherwise appropriated to meet such deficiency, the Secretary shall meet the deficiency through a pro rata reduction of: All basic grant and hold-harmless entitlement amounts; General purpose funds for metropolitan areas under § 570.104(c)(1) (including metropolitan area "set aside" funds under § 570.101(a)); and General purpose funds for nonmetropolitan areas under § 570.104(c)(2). The amount of any such reduction shall be determined as follows for each such fiscal year:

(1) The amount allocated for use in meeting basic grant and hold-harmless entitlement amounts in metropolitan areas shall be determined as provided in § 570.101;

(2) The basic grant and hold-harmless entitlement amounts in metropolitan areas shall be determined as provided in § 570.102 and § 570.103;

(3) If the sum of all entitlement amounts, determined in paragraph (f)(2) of this section, exceeds the total amount available for meeting such entitlements, determined in paragraph (f)(1), of this section, the difference between such amounts shall be computed;

(4) The ratio of any such difference, determined in paragraph (f)(3) of this section, to the sum of all funds allocated for use in metropolitan and nonmetropolitan areas, including any metropolitan area "set-aside" funds but excluding the Secretary's fund, and funds for either the transition and categorical settlements or Urban Development Action Grants, shall be determined;

(5) The entitlement amount determined for each individual unit of government, in both metropolitan and nonmetropolitan areas, the amount determined to be available for general purpose discretionary grants in metropolitan areas (including any metropolitan area "set-aside" funds), and the amount determined to be available for general purpose discretionary grants in nonmetropolitan areas shall each be reduced by an amount bearing the same ratio to such total amount prior to reduction as the ratio determined in paragraph (f)(4) of this section; and

(6) In the case of general purpose discretionary funds for either metropolitan or nonmetropolitan areas, any such reduction shall be made prior to the allocation of such funds among the States as provided in § 570.104(c)(1) and (c)(2).

§ 570.104 Funds for discretionary grants.

(a) Secretary's fund. From the amount appropriated for community development block grants each fiscal year, excluding funds described in § 570.101 (a), (b), and (c), HUD will determine an amount for each of the fiscal years 1975, 1976, and 1977 which is two percent (2%) and an amount for each of the fiscal years 1978, 1979, and 1980 which is three percent (3%) of such appropriated funds for use in making grants:

(1) In behalf of new communities approved under Title VII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 or Title IV of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, or in behalf of new community projects assisted under Title X of the National Housing Act which meet eligibility standards set forth in Title VII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 and which were the subject of an application or preapplication under such title prior to January 14, 1975.

(2) To States and units of general local government which jointly apply for such funds for addressing problems that are areawide in scope;

(3) In Guam, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands;

(4) To States and units of general local government for use in demonstrating innovative community development projects;

(5) To States, units of general local government, and Indian tribes for use in meeting emergency community development needs caused by federally recognized disasters as defined in § 570.407(a) (but not more than 25 percent for each of fiscal years 1975, 1976, and 1977, and 15 percent for each of fiscal years 1978, 1979, and 1980, of the total amount reserved and set aside in the Secretary's fund under this section for each such year will be used for this purpose);

(6) To States and units of general local government where HUD finds it necessary to correct inequities resulting from the allocation provisions of this subpart;

(7) To Indian tribes (all community development block grant assistance for Indian programs will come from the Secretary's fund); and

(8) To States, units of general local government, Indian tribes, or areawide planning organizations for the purpose of providing technical assistance in planning, developing, and administering assistance under this title. The Secretary may also provide such technical assistance under this paragraph directly or through contracts. Grants from the Secretary's fund may be made in addition to any other community development block grants which may be made to the same recipient under this subpart.

(b) Transition/categorical program settlement fund. Using funds appropriated for each of the fiscal years 1975 through 1980 for this purpose as described in § 570.101(b), grants may be made to facilitate an orderly transition to the community development block grant program, and for financial settlement of projects and programs that were terminated and consolidated by this Act, primarily urban renewal projects, to units of general local government which require assistance that cannot be provided through the operation of the allocation provisions described in this subpart.

(c) General purpose funds.—(1) Metropolitan areas. Any portion of the amount allocated to metropolitan areas under § 570.101, which remains after the allocation of: Basic grant amounts to metropolitan cities and urban counties under § 570.102; Hold-harmless grants to which units of general local governments in metropolitan areas are entitled under § 570.103, and "set-aside" funds for that fiscal year as described under § 570.101(a) for each fiscal year 1975 through 1980 that are not used for hold-harmless, except as such remaining amount may be modified by pro rata reduction in § 570.103(b), will be allocated for grants to units of general local government, other than metropolitan cities and urban counties, and to States for use in metropolitan areas, allocating for the metropolitan area of each State the greater of an amount that bears the same ratio to the total amount for such areas of all States as either:

(i) The average of ratios between: (A) The population of the metropolitan area in that State and the population of the metropolitan areas of all States;

(B) The extent of poverty in the metropolitan area in that State and the extent of poverty in the metropolitan areas of all States; and

(C) The extent of housing overcrowding in the metropolitan area in that State and the extent of housing overcrowding in the metropolitan areas of all States; or

(ii) The average of the ratios between: (A) The age of housing in the metropolitan area in that State and the age of housing in the metropolitan areas of all States;

(B) The extent of poverty in the metropolitan area of that State and the extent of poverty in the metropolitan areas of all States; and

(C) The population of the metropolitan area in that State and the population of the metropolitan areas of all States. In determining the average of ratios under paragraph (c)(1)(i) of this section, the ratio involving the extent of poverty shall be counted twice and each of the other ratios shall be counted once ($0.50 + 0.25 + 0.25 = 1.00$); and in determining the average of ratios under paragraph (c)(1)(ii), the ratios involving the age of housing shall be counted two and one-half times, the ratio involving the extent of poverty shall be counted one and one-half times, and the ratio involving population will be counted once ($0.50 + 0.30 + 0.20 = 1.00$). In computing these ratios for metropolitan areas, there will be excluded the demographic values for any metropolitan cities, any urban counties, any units of general local government which are entitled to hold-harmless grants under § 570.103(b), and any Indian tribes.

In order to compensate for the discrepancy between the total of the amounts to be allocated under this paragraph and the total amount of funds available for such purpose, the Secretary shall make a further pro rata reduction of each amount allocated to the metropolitan area in each State under this paragraph so that each State will be allocated an amount representing the same percentage of the total amount of funds available for such allocation as the percentage such State would have been allocated under this paragraph if the total amount of funds available for this purpose had equaled the total amount allocated to all States under this paragraph.

(2) Nonmetropolitan areas. Any portion of the amount allocated to nonmetropolitan areas under § 570.101 which remains after providing the allocation of hold-harmless grants to which units of general local government in nonmetropolitan areas are entitled under § 570.103(b), and except as such remaining amount may be modified by pro rata reduction in § 570.103(f), will be allocated for grants to units of general local government in nonmetropolitan areas or to States for use in nonmetropolitan areas, allocating for the nonmetropolitan areas of each State the greater of an amount which bears the same ratio to the total of that remaining amount as either:

(i) The average of ratios between: (A) The population of the nonmetropolitan area in that State and the population of the nonmetropolitan areas in all States;

(B) The extent of poverty in the nonmetropolitan area in that State and the extent of poverty in the nonmetropolitan areas in all States;

(C) The extent of housing overcrowding by units in the nonmetropolitan areas in that State and the extent of housing overcrowding by units in the nonmetropolitan areas in all States; or

(ii) The average ratios between: (A) The age of housing in the nonmetropolitan area in that State and the age of housing in the nonmetropolitan areas of all States;

(B) The extent of poverty in the nonmetropolitan area of that State and the extent of poverty in the nonmetropolitan areas of all States; and

(C) The population of the nonmetropolitan area of that State and the population of the nonmetropolitan areas of all States.

In determining the average of ratios under paragraph (c)(2)(i) of this section, the ratios involving the extent of poverty shall be counted twice, and each other ratio shall be counted once ($0.50 + 0.25 + 0.25 = 1.00$); and in determining the average of ratios under paragraph (c)(2)(ii), the ratio involving the age of housing shall be counted two and one-half times, the ratios involving the extent of poverty shall be counted one and one-half times, and the ratio involving population shall be counted once ($0.50 + 0.30 + 0.20 = 1.00$). In computing these ratios for nonmetropolitan areas, there will be excluded the demographic values for any units of general local government which are entitled to hold-harmless grants under § 570.103(b), and any Indian tribes. In order to compensate for the discrepancy between the total of the amounts to be allocated under this paragraph and the total of the amount of funds available for such purpose, the Secretary shall make a further pro rata reduction of each amount allocated to the nonmetropolitan areas in each State under this paragraph so that each State will be allocated an amount representing the same percentage of the total amount of funds available for such allocation as the percentage such State would have been allocated under this paragraph if the total amount of funds available for this purpose had equaled the total amount allocated to all States under this paragraph.

(d) Exclusions of demographic values. (1) In excluding the demographic values of population, poverty, housing overcrowding, and age of housing for units of general local government which are entitled to hold-harmless grants as required under paragraphs (c) (1) and (2) of this section, only two-thirds of such data will be excluded for fiscal year 1978 and one-third of such data for fiscal year 1979. In 1980 and subsequent years, no such exclusion is to be made. (2) The demographic values of population, poverty, housing overcrowding, and age of housing of all Indian tribes shall be excluded as part of any computations required by paragraphs (c) (1) and (2) of this section, whether or not they are entitled to hold-harmless grants. It is recognized that all such data on Indian tribes is not generally available from the Bureau of the Census and that missing portions of data will have to be estimated. In accomplishing such estimates the Secretary may use such other related information available from reputable sources as may seem appropriate, regardless of the data's point or period of time, and shall use the best judgment possible in adjusting such data to reflect the same point or period of time as the overall data from which the Indian tribes are being deducted, so that such deductions shall not create an imbalance with that overall data.

(e) Urban Development Actions Grants fund. Using funds appropriated for each of the fiscal years 1978, 1979, and 1980 for such purpose, grants may be made to assist severely distressed cities and urban counties to provide supplemental assistance in alleviating excessive physical and economic deterioration. Such funds allotted shall not exceed $400,000,000 for each of these fiscal years.

§ 570.105 Qualification as urban county.

(a) Determination of qualification. The Secretary will determine the qualifications of counties to receive entitlements as urban counties pursuant to § 570.102(b) upon receipt of applications from counties in a form and manner prescribed by HUD. The Secretary shall determine eligibility and applicable portions of each eligible county for purposes of fund allocation under § 570.102(b) on the basis of information available from the U.S. Bureau of Census with respect to population and other pertinent demographic characteristics, and based on information provided by the county and its included units of general local government.

(b) Qualification as an urban county. A county will qualify as an urban county if such county:

(1) (i) Is in a metropolitan area;

(ii) Is authorized under State law to undertake essential community development and housing assistance activities ("essential activities") in its unincorporated areas, if any, which are not units of general local government; and

(iii) Has either a combined population of 200,000 or more (excluding the population of metropolitan cities and Indian tribes therein) consisting of persons residing:

(A) In such unincorporated areas;

(B) In its included units of general local government in which it is authorized under State law to undertake essential activities (without the consent of the governing body of the locality, or upon the consent of the governing body of the locality and the county has received such consent) and which do not elect to be excluded from the county for purposes of participation in the block grant program; and

(C) In its included units of general local government with which it has entered into cooperation agreements to undertake or to assist in the undertaking of essential activities. Such cooperation agreements may consist of the provision by the county of funds or services or both in pursuit of such essential activities; or

(2) Has a population in excess of 100,000, a population density of 5,000 persons per square mile, and contains within its boundaries no incorporated place as defined by the United States Bureau of Census.

(c) Essential activities. For purposes of this section, the term "essential activities" means community renewal and lower-income housing activities, specifically urban renewal and publicly assisted housing. In determining whether a county has the required powers, the Secretary will consider both its authority and, where applicable, the authority of its designated agency or agencies.

(d) Opinion as to authority. A county wishing to qualify as an urban county shall, at a time designated by HUD and in a form prescribed by HUD, describe its authority for undertaking essential activities. Such description shall include an opinion with respect to such authority by the appropriate legal officer of the county.

§ 570.106 Qualification and submission dates.

The Secretary will fix qualification and submission dates necessary to permit the computations and determinations required under this Subpart to be made in a timely manner and all such computations and determinations will be final and conclusive.

§ 570.107 Reallocation of funds.

(a) Metropolitan areas. Any amounts allocated to a metropolitan city, urban county, or other unit of general local government for basic grants or hold-harmless grants in metropolitan areas in any fiscal year which are not applied for by the date fixed by the Secretary for that purpose, or which are disapproved by the Secretary as part of the application review or program monitoring processes, will be reallocated for use by the Secretary in making grants to States, metropolitan cities, urban counties, or other units of general local government; first, in any metropolitan area in the same State, and second, in any other metropolitan area. Any other amounts allocated to a State for use in its metropolitan areas for any fiscal year under § 570.104(c)(1) which the Secretary determines, on the basis of applications and other evidence available, are not likely to be fully obligated by the Secretary within a reasonable time, will be reallocated by the Secretary within such time period as to allow a reasonable expectation that such funds may be used for making grants to States, metropolitan cities, urban counties, and other units of general local government, in metropolitan areas in any State prior to the allocation of discretionary balance funds from the next ensuing fiscal year's appropriation.

(b) Nonmetropolitan areas. Any amounts allocated to a unit of general local government for any fiscal year for hold-harmless grants in a nonmetropolitan area which are not applied for by the date fixed by the Secretary for that purpose, or which are disapproved by the Secretary as part of the application review or program monitoring processes, will be reallocated by the Secretary for use in making grants to units of general local government in nonmetropolitan areas in any State or to any State for use outside of metropolitan areas. Any other amounts allocated to nonmetropolitan areas of a State for any fiscal year under § 570.104(c)(2) which the Secretary determines, on the basis of application and other evidence available, are not likely to be fully obligated within a reasonable time, will be reallocated by the Secretary to allow a reasonable expectation that the funds may be used for making grants to units of general local government in nonmetropolitan areas of other States and to other States for use in nonmetropolitan areas prior to the allocation of discretionary balance funds from the next ensuing fiscal year's appropriation.

(c) Policies governing reallocation. Each fiscal year, HUD will publish the policies to be employed in the reallocation of funds for that year.

BUDGET RESCISSIONS AND DEFERRALS
Cumulative Report

TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

In accordance with the Impoundment Control Act of 1974, I herewith report three proposals to rescind a total of $55.3 million in budget authority previously provided by the Congress. In addition, I am reporting six new deferrals of budget authority totalling $1,517.1 million and seven revisions to previously transmitted deferrals increasing the amount deferred by $2.2 million in budget authority.

The rescission proposals affect the military assistance program, the Department of State's appropriation for contributions for international peacekeeping activities, and the revolving fund of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

The new deferrals and revisions to existing deferrals involve programs of the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Health, Education, and Welfare, Justice, Labor, Transportation, the Treasury, and the Panama Canal Zone Government, the National Science Foundation, and the United States Information Agency.

The details of each rescission proposal and deferral are contained in the attached reports.

NOTICES

In 1974, the Congress enacted Section 620(x) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended, which suspends all military assistance to the Government of Turkey "...until the President determines and certifies to the Congress that substantial progress toward agreement has been made regarding military forces in Cyprus...". Consequently, the amount previously planned for Turkey in FY 1978, $48 million, was deferred pending a Presidential certification regarding Cyprus or enactment of legislation by Congress removing the Presidential certification requirements. An additional $43 million for first-year levels in the Defense Cooperation Agreements with Greece and Turkey was deferred pending enactment by Congress of legislation approving these agreements. At the same time, an additional $40.2 million was deferred while consideration was given to a proposal to rescind these funds.

Since the planned FY 1978 military assistance program of $315.7 million authorized by law can be conducted without using the $40.2 million portion of the deferral, it has now been determined that these funds will not be required to carry out the full objectives and scope of the program as authorized by law. Therefore, a rescission of this amount is proposed.

Estimated Effects:

There is no programmatic or budgetary effect of this rescission proposal since the planned FY 1978 program authorized by law can be accomplished without these funds.

Outlay Effect:

There is no outlay effect of this rescission because the funds could not be used if made available.

Justification:

Public Law 94-17, approved June 19, 1975, "authorized to be appropriated to the Department of State such sums as may be necessary from time to time for payment by the United States of its share of the expenses of the United Nations peacekeeping forces in the Middle East, as apportioned by the United Nations in accordance with article 17 of the United Nations Charter, notwithstanding the limitation on contributions to international organizations contained in Public Law 94-142 (October 19, 1975) (P.L. 94-142). The 1978 Budget contained an estimate of $32,000,000 for the U.S. share of these expenses to be paid from funds appropriated to the Department of State for fiscal year 1978. The foreign relations authorization act, fiscal year 1978 (Public Law 95-105, approved August 17, 1977), authorized the Department of State to appropriate such sums as may be necessary to be sufficient to authorize $32,000,000 for "contributions for international peacekeeping activities."

The Department of State Appropriation Act, 1978 (Title I, Public Law 95-86, approved August 2, 1977) appropriated $32,000,000 for fiscal year 1978 "for payments not otherwise provided for, by the United States for expenses of United Nations peacekeeping forces in the Middle East". From these funds the State Department will pay the U.S. assessed share (approximately 292) of the expenses of the United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) in the Sinai and the United Nations Disengagement Observer Force (UNDOF) on the Golan Heights through October 24, 1978. The amount of the appropriation was based on the best estimate, at the time of congressional action, of the U.S. assessed share of the expenses of both peacekeeping forces for the twelve-month period ending as indicated above.

1/ This account was the subject of a similar rescission during FY 1977.

NOTICES

On December 2, 1977, the United Nations General Assembly approved a resolution which definitely established these peacekeeping budgets at substantially lower levels than anticipated, resulting in a U.S. assessment of $27,000,000 rather than the $32,000,000 appropriated. Accordingly, the President has determined that $5,000,000 in budget authority will not be required to carry out the full objectives or scope of the program for which it is provided, and is proposing this amount for rescission.

Estimated Effects:

The proposed rescission will have no programmatic effects.

Outlay Effect:

There is no outlay effect from this rescission since the funds would not be used if made available.

Justification:

Public Law 89-754, approved November 3, 1966, authorized the construction of a new headquarters building for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board with a limitation of $13,200,000 on borrowing authority to finance the construction of the building. Public Law 91-136, approved November 26, 1969, increased the borrowing authority to $21,400,000. Of this authorization, borrowing authority equal to $11,555,000 was utilized along with assessments against the 12 Federal Home Loan Banks to finance construction. Major construction was completed and the building occupied by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in December, 1977. Therefore, there is no longer any need for the unused borrowing authority, and a rescission of the remaining $10,055,000 is proposed.

FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK BOARD

Of the borrowing authority authorized for use by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board pursuant to Sec. 1016 of Public Law 89-754, 80 Stat. 1293, and Public Law 91-126, 83 Stat. 240, for the purposes set forth in Public Law 89-754, 12 U.S.C. 1438(c), $10,055,000 are rescinded.

This report revises Deferral No. D78-1 transmitted to the Congress on October 3, 1977, and printed as House Document 95-235.

The amount deferred for the Foreign Agricultural Service's Special foreign currency program is now $1,040,178, an increase of $2,250 over the amount previously deferred. This change reflects an adjustment in unobligated balances brought forward on October 1, 1977, from an estimated to an actual basis.

Justification:
Title 12, Sec. 104 of P.L. 480, the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, authorizes the use of foreign currencies (acquired from the sale of U.S. farm products under Title I) to carry out programs for developing new markets for U.S. agricultural commodities. The funds appropriated are used to purchase excess foreign currencies and to carry out the program. The funds are available until expended, and each year is dependent upon the availability of the U.S.-owned currencies and the availability of foreign currencies. Current indications are that unobligated balances brought forward can be utilized more than 75% in FY 1978. This deferral action is taken under provisions of the Antideficiency Act (31 U.S.C. 665) that authorize the establishment of reserves for contingencies.

Estimated Effects:
No programmatic or budgetary impact results from this deferral action. Since the funds are used to purchase currencies already owned by the U.S., any outlays shown under this account would be offset by the receipt of a like amount in another account.

Outlay Effects:
There is no outlay effect of this deferral because the funds would not be used if made available.

Justification:
Title 11, Sec. 203 of P.L. 89-136, the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965, as amended, establishes an Economic Development Revolving Fund in the Treasury of the United States the contents of which are to be made available to the Secretary of Commerce for the purpose of extending financial assistance under Sec. 201 (public works and development facilities), Sec. 202 (business development loans and guarantees), and 403 (economic development districts) under the Act and for the payment of all obligations and expenditures arising in connection therewith.

The unobligated balance in the Economic Development Revolving Fund was $199,636,769 on September 30, 1977 and is expected to be $251,126,769 by the end of FY 1978. The balance accrues from principal and interest repayments from loans made under the Area Redevelopment Act and the Public Works and Economic Development Act. The Fund has not been utilized to date except for the payment of interest to the Treasury on the outstanding loan balance. This payment is estimated to be $27,480,000 for this fiscal year.

EDA plans to utilize $100 million of the unobligated balance in FY 1978 to guarantee loans made by the private sector primarily to steel firms, thereby enabling these firms to continue full scale operations and to modernize plants in areas of high or rising unemployment or where massive layoffs are threatened. The $100 million represents a 20 percent reserve against most possible future defaults; the total value of loans guaranteed will be $500 million.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT

Report Pursuant to Section 1014(c) of P.L. 93-344

The remaining $123,646,769 of the estimated September 30, 1978 unobligated balance is proposed for deferral because there are currently no plans that have been approved for the effective use of this balance.

Estimated Effects:

This deferral would have no programmatic effect since no plan exists for the use of these funds.

Outlay Effect:

The approval of this deferral would have no effect on outlays in 1978 and 1979 assuming the funds would be used for loan guarantees, since funds would be dispersed only to cover defaults.

NOTICES

This report revises Deferral No. D78-8, transmitted to the Congress on October 3, 1977, and printed as House Document No. 95-235.

This revision reflects a net increase of $639,094 in the amount to be deferred in fiscal year 1978 for the program to promote and develop fishery products and research pertaining to American Fisheries. The increase in the deferral is a result of an identical increase in the unobligated balance carried into fiscal year 1978 for this program. The actual unobligated balance that developed was $2,328,932 rather than $1,689,836.

These funds are appropriated to National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for the same purposes under the Operations, Research, and Facilities appropriation.

The amount being deferred, $6,067,967 represents the excess amount of resources over the cost of currently planned program activities in FY 1978. Because no plans have been developed for use of these funds, they are requested for deferral at this time. The deferred funds are being reserved in accordance with the Antideficiency Act (31 U.S.C. 665). These funds could not be used effectively even if made available for obligation.

Justification:

The capital outlay program of the Canal Zone Government is funded by appropriations made in the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriation Act of 1978 (Public Law 95-85) and similar Acts of previous years. These appropriations are available until expended. The $309,000 proposed for deferral is intended to finance project inspections and other services by the Panama Canal Company which will not be completed in FY 1978. This deferral action is taken under provisions of the Antideficiency Act (31 U.S.C. 665) that authorize the establishment of reserves for contingencies. The deferral will insure that adequate funds are available for project inspection and other services in the next fiscal year.

Estimated Effects:

The amount deferred results from the current scheduling of the planned capital program and could not be used if made available in FY 1978. Thus, the deferral action has no programmatic or budgetary effect.

Outlay Effect:

There is no outlay effect from this deferral action since the funds could not be used if made available.

JUSTIFICATION:

The Scientific Activities Overseas program of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is funded with appropriations which consist of excess foreign currencies owned by the United States. The currencies of Egypt, Burma, Guinea, India, and Pakistan held by the Treasury have been designated as in excess of normal U.S. needs. Funds for this program, which remain available until expended, are used for scientific research projects in these countries.

The amount of funds to be obligated during FY 1978 and the amount to be deferred to FY 1979 was determined after a careful review of the scientific needs of project proposals in the countries for which excess currency is available. The research projects in these countries that will contribute toward meeting U.S. scientific needs have been selected for funding in FY 1978 by HEW. The amount being deferred is excess to current program requirements and is being reserved for contingencies under provisions of the Antideficiency Act (31 U.S.C. 665).

☒ This account was the subject of a similar deferral in FY 1977.

Estimated Effects:

No programmatic or budgetary impact results from this action. This deferral reflects the budgetary resources that will remain available after meritorious scientific projects have been funded in FY 1978.

This supplementary report contains the revisions necessary to change the budget account under which this Social Security Administration deferral has been reported from the Limitation on Construction account to the Limitation on Salaries and expenses account. Justification: *

Funds provided for the construction activity (formerly the Limitation on Construction account) in the Limitation on Salaries and expenses of the Social Security Administration (SSA) remain available until expended in recognition of the long lead time between the provision of funds and their use in carrying out authorized construction projects. A total of $13,865,200 is to be deferred for FY 1978. The amounts involved fall into two categories as discussed below.

District Office Projects

A balance of $19,100,000 remains from funds appropriated since 1965 for district office construction projects. Of this amount, $5,750,000 is planned for obligation in FY 1978 and $13,350,000 is being deferred for obligation in subsequent years.

SSA has developed, with GSA and HEW, a new program for construction of district offices which will shorten the time required to construct new district offices. GSA has almost completed the prototype designs and site selection studies will begin for five offices in 1978. SSA will obligate about $750,000 in 1978 for these offices. The remaining 1978 funds will be used to expand previously constructed district offices. The deferred funds will be needed in subsequent years to construct the five offices started in 1978, complete expansion of offices, and select sites and construct additional offices.

☒ These projects, then included in the "Limitation on Construction" account, were subject to a similar deferral during FY 1977.

Funds for Headquarters Construction

In 1977, the Congress approved the use of $2.1 million previously authorized for district office construction for use in the headquarters construction activities. This amount was to cover General Services Administration (GSA) project management costs through completion in 1979 of the two headquarters buildings--the computer building in Knoxville and the Metro-East building in downtown Baltimore. These buildings are being constructed under the purchase contract method, but purchase contract funds do not cover project management, purchase contract costs, or the cost of the buildings. Since the Congress has indicated that GSA should pay only actual construction costs, GSA is billed directly for these charges. In FY 1978, $606,800 will be obligated. The $513,200 desired will be obligated in FY 1979 as construction of the buildings continues.

Estimated Effects:

The funds intended to be appropriated for obligation in FY 1978 will permit SSA to carry out its authorized construction program in an orderly manner. No currently planned construction would be delayed by this deferral.

Outlay Effect:

There is no outlay effect of this deferral because the funds could not be used if made available.

Justification:

Funds totaling $2,668,000 of budget authority available until expended in the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's (LEAA) Salaries and expenses account are being deferred pending Congressional approval and enactment of a transfer of these funds to other accounts in the Department of Justice. Both Houses of Congress have approved a transfer which is included in the conference version of the pending Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1978 (H.R. 9775). This deferral reports an extension in the withholding of these funds pending final Congressional action on the transfer.

These funds have been considered as candidates for transfer since they had been allocated to State and local governments but were not used by them. In these cases, which would result in LEAA for Federal application. The Department of Justice accounts that would receive the funds by transfer are Salaries and expenses, General Legal Activities, which is to receive $1,445,000 and Salaries and expenses, Antitrust Division, which would receive $1,223,000. Additional funds are needed for General Legal Activities to alleviate a serious backlog of cases involving monetary claims of the Government, white collar crime, corporate crime, etc., which are being handled by the Department of Justice. In raised funding for the Antitrust Division, the additional grant law workload resulting from the Antitrust Division's increased workload in complex antitrust litigation to administer the new antitrust enforcement grant program, and to maintain a computerized document retrieval system for the criminal law investigation related to ocean shipping.

Justification:

P.L. 94-419 appropriated funds to this account to be used during fiscal years 1977 and 1978 to make advances to the Unemployment Trust Fund and to the Federal Unemployment Benefits and Allowances account whenever regularly available resources in those accounts are insufficient to pay unemployment compensation to individuals when due. Given the anticipated reduction in the unemployment rate, current indications are that a lesser amount than advanced will be needed for advances to the Unemployment Trust Fund and that no advances will be needed for the Federal Unemployment Benefits and Allowances account. Therefore, $1,380,114,000 of unobligated balances are being reserved for use as needed during the remainder of FY 1978. It is determined that a portion of these funds will not be required for advances in FY 1978, a rescission will be proposed.

Estimated Effects:

This deferral action will have no effect on those covered by unemployment compensation as the funds are currently not expected to be needed for benefit or allowance payments. The funds will be released if subsequent events indicate that additional advances are necessary.

Outlay Effect:

There is no outlay effect of this deferral since the funds would not be used if made available.

1/ This account was the subject of a similar deferral in FY 1977.

The proposed transfer of funds had been submitted to the Congress as both a request for an appropriation transfer and (on September 23, 1977) a rescission proposal. The rescission proposal was made pursuant to a February 14, 1978, opinion of the Comptroller General to the effect that an action equivalent to a rescission occurs whenever it is the intention of the Administration to permanently withdraw funds from a program by requesting a transfer of budget authority. (Making a transfer request according to that view--seemed equivalent to a finding under section 1012 of the Impoundment Control Act that "budget authority will not be required to carry out the full objectives or scope of programs for which it is provided.") Accordingly, a finding requires a rescission proposal under section 1012. (Congressional action on the transfer request was not completed within the 45-day Congressional consideration period provided for rescission proposals.)

On October 28, 1977, the Comptroller General issued an opinion to the effect that "...the President should have proposed a deferral of the $2,668 million in the LEAA account pending congressional action on the legislative request to transfer the funds." In a letter to the Acting Director of OMB, also dated October 28, 1977, GAO clarified its views regarding the relationship of transfers and rescissions. In the letter, GAO states that whether a rescission proposal or a deferral should accompany a transfer request depends on whether the funds to be transferred would or would not be needed if the transfer request was not approved by the Congress. According to GAO, a deferral report is appropriate if the funds would be used in the transferring account in the event that the Congress does not approve the transfer. If the funds would not be used in that circumstance, GAO believes that a rescission proposal should be submitted. The LEAA funds could be used in LEAA rather than be transferred. However, the uses for which the transfer is requested have a higher priority than the alternative uses in LEAA.

Estimated Effect:

LEAA funds allocated to State and local governments, but not used by them, will be transferred, providing that the transfer becomes law, for use in the Salaries and expenses accounts of General Legal Activities and the Antitrust Division.

Report Pursuant to Section 1014(c) of P.L. 93-344

This report revises Deferral No. D78-23, transmitted to the Congress on October 3, 1977, and printed as House Document No. 93-215.

This revision reflects a change in the amount deferred from $134,293 to $148,123. This increase in the deferral results from an identical increase in the unobligated balance available to this program. The actual unobligated balance that developed was $13,830 higher than originally estimated.

Justification:
This account finances the termination of the supersonic transport development program. The total cost of settlement of contractor claims and closeouts, airline refunds, completion of specifically designated technology programs, and necessary governmental administrative costs incidental to these activities is included. These funds were appropriated in the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriation Act of 1971 and 1972. Because of the difficulty in ending such a complex and massive undertaking, termination has taken a number of years. Settlement is being accomplished as quickly as possible consistent with the legitimate claims of the contractors and the protection of government interests.

Estimated Effects:
This deferral action has no programmatic or budgetary effect.

Outlay Effect:
There is no outlay effect of this deferral because the funds would not be used if made available.

This report revises Deferral No. D78-26B transmitted to the Congress on December 15, 1977, and printed as House Document No. 95-270.

This revision of a deferral for the Antirecession financial assistance fund in the Office of the Secretary of the Treasury increases the previously reported deferral from $10,899,000 to $11,148,000. This increase of $249,000 results from waivers by various recipient jurisdictions of their grants.

Justification

This deferral represents the remaining portion of the transition quarter and FY 1977 appropriation, and a portion of the FY 1978 appropriation which the Secretary of the Treasury must hold in reserve to meet valid claims from State and local governments that past antirecession financial assistance payments to them were too small. Because the total amount appropriated for all governments is fixed, the alternative to such a reserve is re-allocating appropriations of entitlements of 3,000 governments for prior obligations to other governments. Accordingly, the Office of Economic Stimulus has withheld from the transition quarter, FY 1977, and the first quarter of FY 1978.

After adjusting for releases made to satisfy legitimate claims against the fund for prior entitlement periods, the cumulative unobligated reserve (the amount deferred) now totals $21,148,000. The unobligated amount deferred in FY 1977 will be reduced whenever the Secretary determines that a lesser amount is needed to meet the unobligated liabilities against the fund. This reduction will be made by paying the additional amount to recipients as part of a regular distribution of the program.

1/ This account was the subject of a similar deferral during FY 1977.
2/ This account is the subject of another deferral, D78-50.
3/ The availability of the $8,314,000 deferred for part of the year ends on this date. These funds will be made available in enough time to permit orderly obligation before their availability ends.
4/ These amounts do not agree with the latest SP 132. Adjustments, accounting for this difference, were made with OMB's approval in accordance with Section 46.4 of Circular A-119.

This report revises Deferral No. D78-27B transmitted to the Congress on December 15, 1977, and printed as House Document No. 95-270.

This revision of a deferral for the State and local government fiscal assistance trust fund in the Office of the Secretary of the Treasury increases the previously reported deferral from $81,732,000 to $82,461,000. This increase of $729,000 is the result of making a technical adjustment necessary to establish the correct amount of the deferral.

Estimated Effect

This action will postpone distribution of the amount of the reserve until necessary adjustments and corrections have been identified. It will also avoid substantial confusion and complexities in the administration of the program.

The Secretary of the Treasury must hold in reserve an amount to meet valid claims from State and local governments that past general revenue sharing payments to them were too small. Because the total amount appropriated for all governments is fixed, the alternative to such a reserve is recurring reappropriations of entitlements of 39,170 governments for prior entitlement periods. Accordingly, the Office of Revenue Sharing withheld from obligation an amount equal to one-half of one percent of the amount appropriated for the entitlement period through FY 1975. In addition, one-half of one percent of the $4,999,000 appropriated for general revenue sharing in the Economic Stimulus Appropriations Act, 1977 (Public Law 95-29), and the $6,655 million in regular FY 1978 appropriations for general revenue sharing in Public Law 95-119 were also withheld from obligation.

After adjusting for releases made to satisfy legitimate claims against the fund for prior entitlement periods, the cumulative unobligated reserve (the amount deferred) now totals $12.5 million. The unobligated amount of $82.5 million retained in the Trust Fund will be further reduced whenever the Secretary determines the amount is adequate to meet foreseeable liabilities against the Trust Fund. The reduction will be made by paying the additional amount to recipients as part of a regular distribution of the program.

Justification:

The funds deferred were appropriated in the Department of Housing and Urban Development--Independent Agencies Appropriation Act, 1978, for the National Science Foundation's (NSF) applied science and research applications program. The deferred amount of $6,900,000 consists of a portion of the funds provided for several program elements. These elements include: social and behavioral sciences; physical, mathematical, and biological sciences; and three problem-oriented subelements--chemical threats to man and the environment, alternative biological sources of materials, and community water management. The NSF applied science and research applications program is undergoing an extensive review and reappraisal. This deferral action will ensure that the funds provided for these programs are prudently obligated. The funds are planned to be obligated in FY 1979.

Estimated Effects:

The deferral will result in a temporary slowing in the rate at which funds are obligated for the program elements of the applied science and research applications programs, as discussed above.

This report revises Deferral No. D78-41 transmitted to the Congress on October 3, 1977, and printed as House Document No. 95-235.

This revision of a deferral for the U.S. Information Agency increases the previously reported deferral from $1,153,000 to $1,653,000. This increase of $500,000 results from a decrease of $414,000 in the projected operating requirements of the program and an increase of $86,000 in the unobligated balances carried into fiscal year 1978.

Justification:

The United States Information Agency is authorized by the United States Information and Educational Exchange Act of 1948, as amended (22 U.S.C. 1431 et seq.), Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1953, the National Defense Education Act of 1958 (20 U.S.C. 2651 et seq.), and Executive Order No. 11034 of June 25, 1962, as amended, to disseminate information abroad about the United States, its people, and its policies.

The Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 1978 (Public Law 95-105, approved August 17, 1977) authorized to be appropriated for fiscal year 1978, $269,286,000 for "Salaries and expenses" and "Salaries and expenses (special foreign currency program)" for USIA. The Departments of State, Justice, and Commerce, the Judiciary, and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1978, (Public Law 95-86, approved August 3, 1977) appropriated $7,057,000, to remain available until expended, for the "Salaries and expenses (special foreign currency program)" account. The account is used for payment of USIA local program expenses in U.S.-owned foreign currencies in those countries where the Department of the Treasury determines that the supply of local currency is in excess of the normal requirements of the U.S. Government. In fiscal year 1978, the "excess" currency countries are: Burma, Guinea, India, Pakistan, and Egypt. It was estimated in the 1978 Budget that additional budgetary resources of $2,694,000 would be available for 1978 from prior year unobligated balances brought forward, recovery of prior year obligations, and anticipated reimbursements from other agencies. Thus, total obligations of $9,755,000 were planned for 1978 in the 1978 Budget.

FEDERAL REGISTER, VOL. 43, NO. 22--WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1978

It is now estimated that the 1978 beginning-of-year unobligated balance for this account, plus anticipated recoveries and reimbursements from other agencies, will amount to $3,442,000, or $1,144,000 more than the sum estimated in the 1978 Budget. The additional unobligated balances were realized primarily from program reductions in India and added recovery of prior year obligations. Other resource adjustments will further reduce requirements in 1978 by $599,000 resulting in a total program of $9,446,000. Since total availabilities of $10,849,000 in this account for 1978 exceed program requirements by $1,653,000, that amount has been deferred for the entire year. These funds will be available for use in 1979, reducing the need for new appropriations in 1979 accordingly.

These funds are being reserved in accordance with the Antideficiency Act (31 U.S.C. 665).

Estimated Effects

None. The amount deferred could not be obligated before fiscal year 1979.

Outlay Effect

There is no outlay effect of this deferral, because the funds would not be obligated if made available.

Title 3—The President

PROCLAMATION 4548

National Defense Transportation Day and National Transportation Week, 1978

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

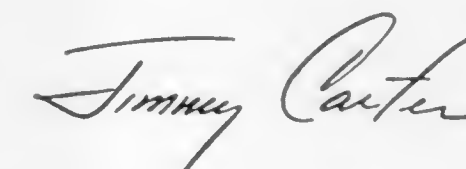

The United States is a Nation dependent on mobility. Transportation helps maintain our prosperity, ensure our national defense, and bind us together as a people. An efficient transportation network is important to maintain our quality of life and help our Nation conserve precious petroleum.

Recognizing the fundamental relationship between transportation and our Nation's welfare, the Congress has requested the President to proclaim annually the third Friday in May as National Defense Transportation Day and the week in which that day falls as National Transportation Week (71 Stat. 30, 36 U.S.C. 160; 76 Stat. 69, 36 U.S.C. 166).

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JIMMY CARTER, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Friday, May 19, 1978, as National Defense Transportation Day, and the week beginning May 14, 1978, as National Transportation Week.

I urge the Governors of our States and other appropriate officials, organizations concerned with transportation, and the people of the United States to join with the Department of Transportation in observing this day and week.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this thirty-first day of January, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and second.

Executive Order 12037

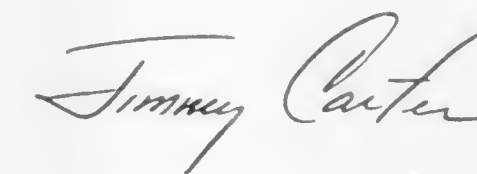

January 31, 1978

Exemption of G. Joseph Minetti From Mandatory Retirement

G. Joseph Minetti, Member, Civil Aeronautics Board, became subject to mandatory retirement for age on July 31, 1977, under the provisions of Section 8335 of Title 5 of the United States Code unless exempted by Executive Order. Mr. Minetti was exempted from mandatory retirement until September 30, 1977, by Executive Order No. 12006 of July 29, 1977, until October 31, 1977, by Executive Order No. 12011 of September 30, 1977, and until January 31, 1978, by Executive Order No. 12016 of October 31, 1977.

In my judgment, the public interest requires that G. Joseph Minetti continue to be exempted from such mandatory retirement.

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in me by subsection (c) of Section 8335 of Title 5 of the United States Code, I hereby exempt G. Joseph Minetti from mandatory retirement until May 1, 1978.

THE WHITE HOUSE,
January 31, 1978.

Title 7—Agriculture

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Navel Orange Reg. 428, Amdt. 1; Navel Orange Reg. 429]

PART 907—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action establishes the quantity of fresh California-Arizona navel oranges that may be ped to market during the period February 3-9, 1978, and increases the quantity of such oranges that may be so shipped during the period January 27-February 2, 1978. Such action is needed to provide for orderly marketing of fresh navel oranges for the periods specified due to the marketing situation confronting the orange industry.

DATES: The regulation becomes effective February 3, 1978, and the amendment is effective for the period January 27-February 2, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Charles R. Brader, 202-447-6393.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Findings. Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under this marketing order, and upon other information, it is found that the limitation of handling of navel oranges, as hereafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act by tending to establish and maintain such orderly marketing conditions for such oranges as will provide, in the interests of producers and consumers, an orderly flow of the supply thereof to market throughout the normal marketing season to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices, and is not for the purpose of maintaining prices to farmers above the level which it is declared to be the policy of Congress to establish under the act.

The committee met on January 31, 1978 to consider supply and market conditions and other factors affecting the need for regulation, and recommended quantities of navel oranges deemed advisable to be handled during the specified weeks. The committee reports the demand for navel oranges continues at about the same level as during the past 2 weeks.

It is further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rulemaking, and postpone the effective date until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553), because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this regulation and amendment are based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the regulation at an open meeting, and the amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of navel oranges. It is necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the act to make these regulatory provisions effective as specified, and handlers have been apprised of such provisions and the effective time.

Order. (a) The quantities of navel oranges grown in Arizona and California which may be handled during the period February 3, 1978, through February 9, 1978, are established as follows:

- (1) District 1: 949,000 cartons;
- (2) District 2: 351,000 cartons;
- (3) District 3: unlimited movement.

(b) As used in this section, "handled", "District 1", "District 2", "District 3", and "carton" mean the same as defined in the marketing order.

Paragraphs (a) (1), (2), and (3) in § 907.728 Navel Orange Regulation 428 (43 FR 3543), is hereby amended to read:

• • • • •

- (1) District 1: 1,049,000 cartons;
- (2) District 2: 351,000 cartons;
- (3) District 3: unlimited movement.

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674.)

Dated: February 1, 1978.

Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

CHAPTER XVIII—FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SUBCHAPTER K—PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

[FmHA Instruction 1955-A]

PART 1955—REAL ESTATE AND CHATTEL PROPERTIES

Liquidation of Loans and Acquisition of Property

AGENCY: Farmers Home Administration, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) amends its regulation to remove reference to the top portion of Form FmHA 465-6 and to make editorial changes. Amendments result from the revision of Form FmHA 465-6, "Advice of Mortgaged Real Estate Acquired." The intended effect of this action is to amend references pertaining to closing instructions and allowable credit on acquired mortgaged real estate.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This amendment is effective February 2, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. R. M. Yates, 202-447-3752.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Farmers Home Administration amends §§ 1955.10 and 1955.15 of Subpart A, Part 1955 of Title 7 in the Code of Federal Regulations (41 FR 32698; 42 FR 44715). The amendments are editorial in nature pertaining specifically to changes in references resulting from the revision of form FmHA 465-6, "Advice of Mortgaged Real Estate Acquired," as noted in the amendatory language preceding §§ 1955.10 and 1055.15.

It is the policy of this Department that rules relating to public property, loans, grants, benefits or contracts shall be published for comment notwithstanding the exemption in 5 U.S.C. 553 with respect to such rules. These amendments, however, are not published for proposed rulemaking since they are basically editorial changes and any delay would be contrary to the public interest. Accordingly, §§ 1955.10 (h) and (j); 1955.15(d) (12), (15), and (17) as amended read as follows:

1. In § 1955.10, paragraph (h)(3) is amended to correct two references; paragraph (j)(2) is amended to delete reference to the top portion of Form FmHA 465-6; paragraphs (j) (3) and (4) are amended to correct typographical errors, to insert the title for Form FmHA 451-2, and to add a reference to Form FmHA 465-8, as follows:

§ 1955.10 Voluntary conveyance of real estate and related security.

(h) Closing of conveyance.

(3) Property insurance. Property insurance will be handled in accordance with § 1806.4(b) of this Chapter (FmHA Instruction 426.1, paragraph IV B). Ordinarily fidelity bond coverage will be dropped. However, in individual cases such as when a manager will continue to operate the facility under a management agreement contract in accordance with § 1955.63(a)(2) of FmHA Instruction 1955-B and will be handling a substantial amount of revenue, the State Director may require a performance bond as a contract provision.

(j) Indebtedness and inventory records.

(2) Completing Form FmHA 465-6, "Advice of Mortgaged Real Estate Acquired." Immediately after the transaction is closed in accordance with the closing instructions and the amount of credit to be allowed on the account is determined, the County Supervisor will complete and send Form FmHA 465-6 to the Finance Office with a copy to the State Director. The value of acquired real property entered into the inventory account in all cases will be the present market value. The County Supervisor will inventory and appraise acquired personal property and submit a list of this property to the Finance Office with Form FmHA 465-6.

(3) Leases. (i) The County Supervisor will send a copy of any assigned agriculture mineral, or other lease on the property to the Finance Office with Form FmHA 465-6. If an oral lease on the property or on a portion of it existed, a new lease will be executed in writing on Form FmHA 465-2, "Lease of Security Property," or other form approved by OGC. The lessee and the County Supervisor (for FmHA lessor) will execute the form. The County Supervisor will assign a number to the lease. This number for an individual will consist of the FmHA State and County Codes, the last digit of the fiscal year, and a sequential number beginning with 001, e.g. 48-71-6-001. Each fiscal year the sequential number will begin again with 001. For an organization or business it will be the FmHA State and County Code and Internal Revenue Service employer number. The County Supervisor will send a copy of the lease to the Finance Office. After assigning an advice number to Form FmHA 465-6, the Finance Office will advise the County Supervisor by memorandum, with a copy to the State Director, of such identification of the inventory property and lease.

(ii) The County Supervisor will collect payments due and payable after the Government inventory conveyance is closed and forward them to the Finance Office as miscellaneous collections in accordance with the Forms Manual Insert (FMI) for Form FmHA 451-2, "Schedule of Remittances." Receipts for collections made in accordance with this Subpart will be issued to: "Lease proceeds from property formerly owned by (borrower's name and case number) and leases to (name of lessee)."

(4) Satisfied account. The Finance Office or the County Supervisor, as appropriate, will stamp the borrower's note "Satisfied by surrender of security and release from liability," when the account is fully satisfied. The County Supervisor will release the lien of record and deliver the satisfied note and Form FmHA 465-8, "Release from Personal Liability," to the borrower.

2. In § 1955.15, paragraph (d)(12) is amended to delete reference to the top portion of Form FmHA 465-6; paragraph (d) (15) and (17) are amended to correct procedural references and typographical errors, as follows:

§ 1955.15 Foreclosure of loans secured by real estate. . . .

(d) Approval of foreclosure. . . .

(12) Completion of Form FmHA 465-6. If FmHA is the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale, the County Supervisor will complete and forward Form FmHA 465-6 to the Finance Office. The form will be completed without waiting for the final report on acquired property from OGC and will be dated as of the day of the sale.

(15) Deficiency judgment. (i) If a deficiency judgment is obtained in accordance with paragraph (b)(2) of this section, the account will be classified as a judgment case and the County Supervisor will send Form FmHA 455-20, "Notice of Judgment," to the Finance Office. The account will be serviced in accordance with § 1930.49(e), Subpart A of Part 1930 of this Chapter. When action to obtain a deficiency judgment is pending at the time Form FmHA 465-6 is sent to the Finance Office, the action will be indicated on the form.

(ii) If a deficiency judgment is not obtained and the debt cannot be settled under Part 1864 of this Chapter (FmHA Instruction 456.1), the County Supervisor will submit Forms FmHA 404-1 and FmHA 450-10 to the Finance Office to reclassify the account to collection only in accordance with FmHA Instruction 404.1, available in all FmHA offices.

(17) Cancellation of foreclosure action. If the State Director determines that circumstances have changed and foreclosure is no longer necessary, the State Director may stop foreclosure and reinstate the loan account if the case has not been sent to OGC. If the case has been sent to OGC, the State Director may request OGC to stop foreclosure. The State Director will reinstate the loan account after being notified that foreclosure has been stopped. In either case, the borrower, County Supervisor, Finance Office, and OGC, if previously consulted, will be informed of any action taken.

CHAPTER II—FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

[Reg. Z; Docket Nos. R-0087, R-0093]

PART 226—TRUTH IN LENDING

Amendment to Regulation Z Concerning Descriptive Billing Requirements

JANUARY 26, 1978.

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Board hereby adopts an amendment to Regulation Z relating to descriptive billing of nonsale transactions, such as cash advance check transactions, on open end credit accounts. In lieu of disclosing the date of the cash advance check transaction or the date which appears on the document or instrument evidencing the transaction (if the customer signed the document or instrument), the amendment permits creditors to disclose the date of debiting the transaction to the customer's account, provided that the creditor treats any subsequent inquiry from the customer related to the transaction as a billing error and an erroneous billing under the provisions of the Fair Credit Billing Act. The purpose of the amendment is to facilitate compliance with the descriptive billing provisions of Regulation Z by creditors who have experienced operational difficulties in disclosing transaction dates, while assuring that customers may obtain, without cost, clarification as to the transaction to which a debiting date relates if there is difficulty in determining that information from a periodic statement which discloses only the debiting date. Under the amendment, creditors that disclose the debiting date must reasonably identify it as such. Creditors with the capability of disclosing the date of the transaction or the date which appears on the document or instrument evidencing the transaction (if the customer signed the document or instrument) are permitted to do so.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 28, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Glenn E. Loney, Section Chief, Division of Consumer Affairs, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551, 202-452-3946.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 226.7(k)(3)(ii) of Regulation Z, which was to have become fully effective on October 28, 1977, would have required, in connection with descriptive billing of nonsale credit transactions, that creditors disclose the date of the transaction or the date which appears on the document or instrument evidencing the transaction (if the customer signed the document or instrument). Prior to the effective date of § 226.7(k)(3)(ii), certain creditors petitioned the Board to provide an alternative to that requirement which would allow them to substitute for disclosure of the transaction date the date on which a nonsale credit transaction, particularly a cash advance check transaction, is debited to a customer's account. These creditors asserted that requiring disclosure of the transaction date or the date on the document would give rise to serious operational difficulties.

In response to the concerns and asserted difficulties engendered by § 226.7(k)(3)(ii), the Board suspended the effective date of that section of Regulation Z until March 28, 1978, and on October 4, 1977, published for comment (42 FR 53969) a proposed amendment to the regulation which it now adopts in final form.

This amendment to § 226.7(k)(3)(ii) permits creditors to disclose on their periodic descriptive billing statements the date on which a nonsale credit transaction is debited to a customer's account rather than the date of the transaction or the date on the document or instrument evidencing the transaction. If a creditor elects to disclose only the debiting date, it must treat any subsequent inquiry by a customer seeking clarification of a transaction as a billing error and an erroneous billing under the provisions of the Fair Credit Billing Act and Regulation Z. Upon receipt of such an inquiry, in proper written form, the creditor is required to resolve the error and to supply documentary evidence of the transaction whether or not the customer requests it, and the creditor is prohibited from collecting any finance charge or other charge that accrues in connection with the transaction as a result of the error.

Comments received by the Board tend to support the earlier assertions regarding the difficulty of capturing and disclosing a transaction date or the date appearing on the credit document for cash advance check transactions. Furthermore, commenters provided data which tend to confirm that cash advance transactions on open end accounts are relatively infrequent and substantially larger in amount than other transactions on such accounts. Therefore, the Board believes that adoption of the amendment to § 226.7(k)(3)(ii) will facilitate compliance with the regulation by creditors while not unduly hampering consumers' understanding of the transaction activity reflected on their periodic descriptive billing statements. Because of the relative infrequency of cash advance transactions and the relatively large amounts involved in such transactions when compared with other transactions, the Board anticipates that consumers will, in most instances, be able to identify cash advance transactions from a description containing the debiting date and the other information required to be disclosed. In those instances where a creditor discloses the debiting date of a nonsale credit transaction rather than the date of the transaction or the date on the document evidencing the transaction and a customer has an inquiry regarding the transaction, the Board believes that the amended § 226.7(k)(3)(ii) will enable the customer to obtain sufficient information to clarify any questions he or she may have without incurring additional charges caused by a delay in paying due to an inability to identify the transaction.

The final sentence of the amendment to § 226.7(k)(3)(ii) provides that, "If the debiting date is disclosed, it must be reasonably identified as such on the periodic statement." Some comments received by the Board questioned the need for this requirement. The purpose of this provision is twofold: (1) to eliminate the possibility of confusion which might result when debiting dates for some transactions appear on a periodic statement on which transactions are identified by another date, such as the date of the transaction; and (2) to provide consumers with an indication as to the relevance of the date which is disclosed in connection with nonsale credit transactions on a periodic statement which discloses only the debiting dates of such transactions.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority granted in 15 U.S.C. § 1604 (1970), the Board hereby amends § 226.7(k)(3)(ii) of Regulation Z, 12 CFR Part 226, as follows (inasmuch as footnote 9(e) to § 226.7(k)(3)(ii) is unaffected by this amendment, the text of the footnote is not reproduced below):

§ 226.7 Open end credit accounts—specific disclosures.

(k)

(ii) A description of the transaction, which characterizes it as a cash advance, loan, overdraft loan, or other designation as appropriate, and which includes the amount of the transaction and the date of the transaction or the date which appears on the document or instrument evidencing the transaction (if the customer signed the document or instrument), or the date of debiting the amount to the account, provided that if only the debiting date is disclosed and the customer submits a proper written notification of a billing error related to the transaction, the creditor shall treat such inquiry as a billing error under §§ 226.2(j) and 226.14, and as an erroneous billing under § 226.14(b), and shall supply documentary evidence of the transaction whether or not the customer requests it, within the time period allowed under § 226.14 for resolution of a billing error without charge to the customer. If the date of debiting is disclosed, it must be reasonably identified as such on the periodic statement.

Secretary of the Board.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Hawker Siddeley Aviation, Ltd., DH/BH/HS-125 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and makes effective as to all persons an amendment to an existing airworthiness directive and a new airworthiness directive which were previously made effective as to known operators of certain Hawker Siddeley Avon Ltd., Model DH/BH/HS-125 series airplanes by individual telegrams dated December 1, 1977. The new AD requires repetitive dye penetrant inspections of the lugs of the flap outer hinge assembly fittings on DH/BH/HS-125 series airplanes for cracks and replacement of cracked fittings to prevent the possible loss of a flap. The amendment to the existing AD relieves those operators required to comply with the new AD from compliance with related provisions existing in the AD being amended. These actions were based on service experience.

DATES: Effective February 16, 1978, except with respect to certain persons specified in the body of the AD. Compliance schedule—As prescribed in the body of the AD.

ADDRESSES: The applicable telegraphic alert service bulletin 57-A54 dated November 16, 1977, may be obtained from: Hawker Siddeley Aviation, Inc., Suite 206, Blake Building, 1025 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20036, telephone 202-223-9350.

A copy of the telegraphic alert service bulletin is contained in the Rules Docket, Room 916, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20591.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

D. C. Jacobsen, Chief, Aircraft Certification Staff, AEU-100, Europe, Africa, and Middle East Region, Federal Aviation Administration, c/o American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium, telephone 513.38.30.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to the authority delegated by the Administrator a new AD and an amendment to Amendment 39-1676 (38 FR 16348), AD 73-13-10, were adopted on December 1, 1977, and made effective immediately by telegram as to all known operators of certain Hawker Siddeley Aviation, Ltd., Model DH/BH/HS-125 series airplanes. AD 73-13-10 in part requires repetitive inspections of the fittings of the flap outer hinge assembly of Model DH/BH/HS-125 series airplanes for cracks using a magnifying glass. The AD also requires the replacement of cracked fittings unless specified conditions are met. After the issuance of AD 73-13-10 a number of additional cracked fittings were reported. Based on these reports the FAA determined that dye penetrant inspections of the fittings are necessary for improved crack detection and that continued operation with cracked fittings could lead to fitting failures and possible loss of a flap.

Since it was found that immediate corrective action was required, notice and public procedure thereon was impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause existed for making the new AD and the amendment to the existing AD effective immediately as to all known operators of Hawker Siddeley Model DH/BH/HS-125 series airplanes by individual telegrams. These conditions still exist and the new AD and the amendment to the existing AD are hereby published in the FEDERAL REGISTER as an amendment to § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to make them effective as to all persons.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

RULES AND REGULATIONS

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 11.89) § 39.13 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) is amended as follows:

1. By amending Amendment 39-1676 (38 FR 16348), AD 73-13-10, by adding a new paragraph (f) that reads: "(f) Paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of this AD do not apply to airplanes required to comply with the new AD issued December 1, 1977, by telegram."

2. By adopting a new AD to read as follows:

HAWKER SIDDELEY AVIATION, LTD. Applies to Model DH/BH HS-125 series airplanes, all series up to and including the 600A S/N 256035, certificated in all categories.

Compliance is required as indicated. To prevent the possible loss of a flap, accomplish the following:

(a) Before further flight, unless already accomplished, except that the airplane may be flown in accordance with FAR 21.197 and FAR 21.199 to a base where the work can be accomplished, inspect the external surface of the lugs of the flap upper attachment fittings (P/N 25-WF 89A) and the flap lower hinge arm fittings (P/N 25-WF 87-8A or 25-WF 187-8A) for cracks using a dye penetrant method in accordance with the instructions contained in paragraph 3 of Hawker Siddeley Aviation, Ltd., telegraphic alert service bulletin 57-A54 dated November 16, 1977, or an FAA-approved equivalent.

(b) If a crack is found in any lug of either of the fittings, before further flight, replace the cracked fitting with a new part of the same part number and continue to inspect the area in accordance with paragraph (a) of this AD at intervals not to exceed 3 months from the last inspection.

(c) If no cracks are found in either of the fittings, re-protect and re-assemble the fittings and continue to inspect the area in accordance with paragraph (a) of this AD at intervals not to exceed 3 months from the last inspection.

This amendment is effective February 16, 1978, as to all persons except those persons to whom it was made immediately effective by the telegram dated December 1, 1977, which contained this amendment.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); 14 CFR 11.89.)

NOTE.—The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment alters VOR federal airway identified as V-170 and designates VOR federal airway identified as V-344 in the vicinity of Aberdeen, S. Dak. This amendment improves air traffic service to the system users tgh more direct routings with charted radials, distances and minimum enroute altitudes.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

HISTORY

On December 22, 1977, the FAA proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to alter federal airway V-170 and to designate a federal airway (V-344) in the vicinity of Aberdeen, S. Dak. (42 FR 64128). Interested persons were invited to participate in this rule making proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. We received one response to the NPRM in which the commenter posed no objection to the proposal. Section 71.123 was republished in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 3, 1978 (43 FR 307).

THE RULE

This amendment to Subpart C of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) adopts the airspace action proposed in the NPRM (42 FR 64128).

DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal authors of this document are Mr. Richard Huff, Air Traffic Service, and Mr. Jack P. Zimmerman, Office of the Chief Counsel.

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, Subpart C of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) as republished (43 FR 307) is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., March 23, 1978, as follows:

§ 71.123 [Amended]

In V-170 "From Aberdeen, S. Dak.," is deleted and "From Devils Lake, N. Dak., via Jamestown, N. Dak.; Aberdeen, S. Dak.," is substituted therefor. In addition, the following note is added: "That airspace 11,000 feet MSL and below is excluded between Jamestown VORTAC and the Devils Lake VORTAC during the time that the Devils Lake East Military Operations Area is activated by NOTAM."

"V-344 From Dupree, S. Dak., Aberdeen, S. Dak.; Fargo, N. Dak." is added.

(Secs. 307(a), 313(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a) and 1354(a)); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); and 14 CFR 11.69.)

NOTE.—The FAA has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Transition Area

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The nature of this federal action is to designate additional controlled airspace near Homer, Ill., to accommodate a new NDB instrument approach procedure into the Homer Airport, Homer, Ill.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 23, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Doyle Hegland, Airspace and Procedures Branch, Air Traffic Division, AGL-530, FAA, Great Lakes Region, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018, telephone 312-694-4500, Extension 456.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The intended effect of this action is to insure segregation of the aircraft using this approach procedure in instrument weather conditions, and other aircraft operating under visual conditions. The floor of the controlled airspace in this area will be lowered from 1200' above ground to 700' above ground. The circumstance which created this action was a request from Homer Airport officials to provide that facility with instrument approach capability. The development of the proposed instrument procedures necessitates the FAA to lower the floor of the controlled airspace to insure that the procedure will be contained within controlled airspace. The minimum descent altitude for this procedure may be established below the floor of the 700 foot controlled airspace. In addition, aeronautical maps and charts will reflect the area of the instrument procedure which will enable other aircraft to circumnavigate the area in order to comply with applicable visual flight rule requirements.

DISCUSSION OF COMMENTS

On page 56343 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated October 25, 1977, the Federal Aviation Administration published a Notice of Proposed Rule Making which would amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to designate a transition area at Homer, Ill. Interested persons were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. No objections were received as a result of the Notice of Proposed Rule Making.

ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) is amended, effective March 23, 1978, as follows:

In § 71.181 (43 FR 440), the following transition area is added:

HOMER, ILL.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the Homer Airport (latitude 40°01'35" N., longitude 87°57'10" W.); and within 3 miles each side of the 151° bearing from the Homer Airport, extending from the 5-mile radius area to 8.5 miles southeast of the airport.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); § 11.61, Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 11.61).)

NOTE.—The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Economic Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107.

Title 38—Pensions, Bonuses, and Veterans' Relief

CHAPTER I—VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

PART 3—ADJUDICATION

Subpart A—Pension, Compensation, and Dependency and Indemnity Compensation

PAYMENT OF AUTOMOBILE ALLOWANCE

AGENCY: Veterans' Administration.

ACTION: Final regulation.

SUMMARY: The Veterans' Administration is amending its regulation governing payment of the automobile allowance. The need for this amendment results from enactment of a new law. Prior to enactment of the new law, the automobile allowance was not payable based on disability incurred in or aggravated during service prior to September 16, 1940. Now the automobile allowance is payable to any veteran who incurred the requisite degree of disablement during any period of service. The effect of this change is to implement the new law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This change is effective October 1, 1977, the effective date, set forth in Pub. L. 95-116, 91 Stat. 1062.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

T. H. Spindle (211B) 202-389-3005.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On page 59390 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 17, 1977, there was published a notice of proposed regulatory development to amend § 3.808 governing the payment of the automobile allowance.

Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed regulation. No written comments have been received and the proposed regulation is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

Approved: January 25, 1978.

By direction of the Administrator.

RUFUS H. WILSON,
Deputy Administrator.

In § 3.808, paragraphs (a) and (b)(1) (introductory portion preceding subdivision (i)) are revised to read as follows:

§ 3.808 Automobiles or other conveyances; certification.

A certification of eligibility for financial assistance in the purchase of one automobile or other conveyance in an amount not exceeding $3,300 (including all State, local, and other taxes where such are applicable and included in the purchase price) and of basic entitlement to necessary adaptive equipment will be made where the claimant meets the requirements of paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

(a) Service. The claimant must have had active military, naval or air service.

(b) Disability. (1) One of the following must exist and be the result of injury or disease incurred or aggravated during active military, naval or air service;

PART 3—ADJUDICATION

Subpart A—Pension, Compensation, and Dependency and Indemnity Compensation

FORMER MEMBERS OF ARMED FORCES OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND POLAND—ELIGIBILITY

AGENCY: Veterans Administration.

ACTION: Final regulation.

SUMMARY: The Veterans Administration is amending its regulations to provide authority for determining whether certain former members of the armed forces of Czechoslovakia and Poland are eligible for VA medical care. A new law directs the Veterans Administration to furnish hospital and domiciliary care and medical services to such persons who participated in armed conflict with an enemy of the United States and have been United States citizens for 10 years or more to the same extent as if they had served in the Armed Forces of the United States. This requires a determination of service connection for the condition for which treatment is claimed. The effect of this change is to provide authority to make determinations of service connection in claims for medical benefits under the law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This VA Regulation is effective October 14, 1976, the effective date of Pub. L. 94-491.

T. H. Spindle (211B), 202-389-3005.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On page 60167 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 25, 1977, there was published a notice of proposed regulatory development to issue § 3.359 which provides authority for determining whether certain former members of the armed forces of Czechoslovakia and Poland are eligible for VA medical care.

Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed regulation. No written comments have been received and the proposed regulation is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

Approved: January 27, 1978.

By direction of the Administrator.

RUFUS H. WILSON,
Deputy Administrator.

In 38 CFR Chapter I, Part 3, § 3.359 is added to read as follows:

§ 3.359 Determination of service connection for former members of the armed forces of Czechoslovakia or Poland.

Rating boards will determine whether or not the condition for which treatment is claimed by former members of the Armed Forces of Czechoslovakia or Poland under 38 U.S.C. 109(c) is service connected. This determination will be made using the same criteria that applies to determinations of service connection based on service in the Armed Forces of the United States.

Title 41—Public Contracts and Property Management

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL PROCUREMENT REGULATIONS

[FPR Amdt. 187]

PART 1-9—PATENTS, DATA, AND COPYRIGHTS

Patents

AGENCY: General Services Administration.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Procurement Regulations (FPR) are amended to provide for the use of Institutional Patent Agreements in contracts with universities and nonprofit organizations. The Committee on Intellectual Property and Information, Federal Coordinating Council for Science, Engineering, and Technology, recommended that universities and nonprofit organizations with satisfactory technology transfer programs be granted rights to inventions made under contracts with Federal agencies. Institutional Patent Agreements permit those institutions to retain the rights to inventions and related patents that result from such contracts.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 20, 1978, but may be observed earlier.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Phillip G. Read, Director of Federal

Procurement Regulations, 703-557-8947.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This amendment prescribes changes in §§ 1-9.107-4, 1-9.107-6, and 1-9.109-7 of the FPR.

The table of contents for subpart 1-9.1, Patents, is amended to change an item and add an item as follows:

Sec.
1-9.107-6 Clauses for domestic contracts (short form) and Institutional Patent Agreements.

1-9.109-7 Negotiation of Institutional Patent Agreements.

Subpart 1-9.1—Patents

Section 1-9.107-4 is amended to add paragraph (a)(6) as follows:

§ 1-9.107-4 Procedures.

(a) * * *

(6) In accordance with the language regarding exceptional circumstances in § 1-9.107-3(a) and/or the language regarding special situations in § 1-9.107-3(c), agencies may enter into Institutional Patent Agreements (see § 1-9.107-6(c)) with universities and nonprofit organizations having technology transfer programs meeting the criteria of § 1-9.109-7(b). The agreements permit those institutions, subject to certain conditions, to retain the entire right, title, and interest in inventions made in the course of their contracts. When such an agreement has been made with a university or nonprofit organization, it shall be made applicable to each contract with the institution in lieu of the Patent Rights clauses in § 1-9.107-5 and § 1-9.107-6, unless a determination has been made to exclude the contract from the agreement.

Section 1-9.107-6 is amended to change the title and add a new paragraph (c) as follows:

§ 1-9.107-6 Clauses for domestic contracts (short form) and Institutional Patent Agreements.

(c) Patent Rights—Institutional Patent Agreement. (1) When an agency has determined in accordance with § 1-9.109-7 that a university or a nonprofit organization should receive an agreement as authorized by § 1-9.107-4(a)(6), an agreement substantially as set forth in paragraph (c)(2) of this § 1-9.107-6 shall be used. The agreement shall be appropriately completed as indicated in the numbered notes appearing at the end of the agreement. Changes may be made in the agreement but shall be limited to changes required by applicable statutes or by special administrative needs. However, agencies shall endeavor to insure that agreements continue to include at least the following features:

(i) A requirement for the prompt reporting of all inventions to the applicable agency along with an election of rights;

(ii) Reservation of all rights specified in § 1-9.107-3 (e) through (h);

(iii) A requirement that the institution make such inventions available on a nonexclusive basis except where the desired practical or commercial application has not been achieved or is not likely to be expeditiously achieved through licensing;

(iv) A condition limiting any exclusive license to a period not substantially greater than necessary to provide the incentive for bringing the invention to the point of practical or commercial application and to permit the licensee to recoup its costs and a reasonable profit thereon;

(v) A restriction that royalty charges be limited to what is reasonable under the circumstances or reasonable within the industry involved;

(vi) A requirement that the institution's royalty receipts, after payment of administrative costs and payments to inventors, be utilized for educational or research purposes;

(vii) A provision permitting the agency to exclude individual contracts from the operation of the agreement;

(viii) A requirement for progress reports after designated periods;

(ix) A prohibition against assignment of inventions without Government approval to persons or organizations, other than assignments to approved patent management organizations subject to all the conditions of this paragraph (c)(1); and

(x) A provision permitting the agreement to be terminated by either party upon 30 days written notice.

(2) The Institutional Patent Agreement prescribed for use is as follows:

INSTITUTIONAL PATENT AGREEMENT

This Agreement is made and entered into by and between the United States of America as represented by the _____ (1), hereinafter referred to as the "Agency," and _____ hereinafter referred to as the "Institution."

Whereas, in accordance with the President's Memorandum and Statement of Government Patent Policy dated August 23, 1971, and the provisions of 41 CFR 1-9.107-4(a)(6), it has been determined that the Institution has a technology transfer program meeting the criteria of 41 CFR 1-9.109-7 in that the Institution's patent policy as set forth in _____ (2), and its technology transfer practices have been reviewed and found acceptable; and

Whereas, the Institution is desirous of entering into an agreement whereby it may retain the entire right, title, and interest in and administer inventions made in the course of or under research supported by the Agency, subject to certain rights acquired by the Government;

Now, therefore, in consideration of the foregoing, the parties hereto agree as follows:

(a) Scope of Agreement. This Agreement defines the rights of the parties hereto regarding the allocation of rights in subject inventions made under contracts with the agency entered into after the execution of the Agreement except such contracts as may be specifically excluded by the Agency.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Subject Invention" means any invention or discovery of the Institution or its contractors conceived or first actually reduced to practice in the course of or under a contract with the Agency, and includes any art, method, process, machine, manufacture, design, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, and any variety of plant, which is or may be patentable under the patent Laws of the United States of America or any foreign country.

(2) "Contract" means any contract (agreement, grant, or other arrangement) (4) or subcontract thereunder of the agency entered into with or for the benefit of the Government, where a purpose of the contract is the conduct of experimental, developmental, or research work.

(3) "States and domestic municipal governments" means the States of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, Guam, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and any political subdivision and agencies thereof.

(4) "To bring to the point of practical application" means to manufacture in the case of a composition or product, to practice in the case of a process, or to operate in the case of a machine and under such conditions as to establish that the invention is being worked and that its benefits are reasonably accessible to the public.

(5) "Made," when used in relation to any invention or discovery, means the conception or first actual reduction to practice of such invention in the course of or under a contract.

(c) Allocation of principal rights. (1) The Institution may retain the entire right, title, and interest throughout the world or in any country thereof in and to each Subject Invention disclosed pursuant to paragraph (e), below, subject to the provisions of this Agreement. The Institution shall include with each Subject Invention disclosure an election whether it will retain the entire right, title, and interest in the invention throughout the world or in any country thereof subject to the rights acquired by the Government in paragraph (d) of the Agreement; Provided That the Institution may request an extension of the time for election.

(2) The Institution agrees to convey to the Government, upon request, the entire domestic right, title, and interest in any Subject Invention when the Institution:

(i) Does not elect under paragraph (c)(1) to retain such rights; or

(ii) Fails to have a United States Patent Application filed on the invention in accordance with paragraph (f)(1), or decides not to continue prosecution of such application; or

(iii) At any time no longer desires to retain title.

(3) The Institution agrees to convey to the Government, upon request, the entire right, title, and interest in any Subject Invention when the Institution:

(i) Does not elect under paragraph (c)(1) to retain such rights in the country; or

(ii) Fails to have a patent application filed in the country on the invention in accordance with paragraph (f)(1) or decides not to continue prosecution of such application or to pay any maintenance fees covering the invention. To avoid forfeiture of the patent application or patent, the Institution shall notify the Agency not less than 60 days before the expiration period for any action required by the foreign patent office.

(4) A conveyance, requested pursuant to paragraphs (c)(2) or (3) of this Agreement, shall be made by delivering to the Agency duly executed instruments (prepared by the Agency) and such other papers as are deemed necessary to vest in the government the entire right, title, and interest to enable the Government to apply for and prosecute patent applications covering the invention in this or the foreign country, respectively, or otherwise establish Government ownership of such invention.

(d) Minimum rights acquired by the Government. (1) With respect to each Subject Invention to which the Institution retains principal or exclusive rights, the Institution:

(i) Hereby grants to the Government of the United States a nonexclusive, nontransferable, paid-up license to make, use, and sell each Subject Invention throughout the world by or on behalf of the Government of the United States (including any Government agency) and States and domestic municipal governments, unless the Agency determines after the invention has been identified that it would not be in the public interest to acquire the license for States and domestic municipal governments; and

(ii) Agrees, upon request of the Agency, to grant licenses to responsible applicants, on terms that are reasonable under the circumstances except:

(A) When the Institution, its licensee, or its assignee, demonstrates to the Government (1) that effective steps have been taken within three years after a patent issues on such invention to bring the invention to the point of practical application or (2) that the invention has been made available for licensing royalty-free or on terms that are reasonable in the circumstances, or can show cause why the principal or exclusive rights should be retained for a further period of time; or

(B) To the extent that the invention is required for public use by governmental regulations or as may be necessary to fulfill public health or safety needs, or for other public purposes stipulated in the applicable contract.

(2) Nothing contained in this paragraph (d) shall be deemed to grant to the Government any rights with respect to any invention other than a Subject Invention.

(e) Invention identification, disclosures, and reports. (1) The Institution shall furnish the Agency:

(i) A complete technical disclosure for each Subject Invention within 6 months after conception or first actual reduction to practice, whichever occurs first in the course of or under the contract, or within 6 months from the time a contractor of the Institution reports an invention to it pursuant to paragraph (h), but in any event prior to any on sale, public use, or publication of the invention known to the Institution. The disclosure shall identify the contract and inventor and shall be sufficiently complete in technical detail to convey to one skilled in the art to which the invention pertains a clear understanding of the nature, purpose, operation, and, to the extent known, the physical, chemical, biological, or electrical characteristics of the invention.

(ii) Interim reports (5) for each contract at least every 12 months from the date of the contract listing Subject Inventions for the period and certifying that all Subject Inventions have been disclosed or that there are no such inventions.

(iii) An acceptable final report within 3 months after completion of the work under contract, listing all Subject Inventions or certifying that there were no such inventions.

(2) The Institution shall obtain patent agreements to effect the provisions of this Agreement, from all persons in its employ who perform any part of the work under any contract except nontechnical personnel, such as clerical employees and manual laborers.

(3) The Institution agrees that the Government may duplicate and disclose Subject Invention disclosures and, subject to paragraph (k), all other reports and papers furnished or required to be furnished pursuant to this Agreement. However, if the Institution is to file a patent application on a Subject Invention, the Agency agrees, upon written request of the Institution, to use its best efforts to withhold publication of such invention disclosures until a patent application is filed thereon, but in no event shall the Government or its employees be liable for any publication thereof.

(f) Filing of domestic patent applications. (1) With respect to each Subject Invention in which the Institution elects to retain domestic rights pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this Agreement, the Institution shall have a domestic patent application filed within 6 months after an election has been made pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this Agreement or such longer period as may be approved in writing by the Agency.

(2) For each Subject Invention on which a patent application is filed by or on behalf of the Institution, the Institution shall:

(i) Within 6 months after the filing, or within 6 months after submission of the invention disclosure if the patent application was filed prior to the contract, deliver to the Agency a duly executed and approved instrument on the form specified in Exhibit A which is attached hereto and made a part hereof;

(ii) Within 2 months after the filing, or within 2 months after submission of the invention disclosure if the patent application was filed prior to the contract, deliver to the Agency (A) a copy of the application as filed, including the filing date and serial number, and (B) a copy of an assignment from the inventor or inventors to the Institution of all right, title, and interest in the invention properly recorded in the United States Patent and Trademark Office;

(iii) Include the following statement, appropriately completed, in the second paragraph of the specification of the application and any patents issued on the Subject Invention, "The Government has rights in this invention pursuant to Contract(s) (or Grant(s)) No(s). _____ awarded by (identify the Agency or Agencies)";

(iv) Not less than 30 days before the expiration of the response period for any action required by the United States Patent and Trademark Office, notify the Agency of any decision not to continue the prosecution of the application and deliver to the Agency executed instruments granting the Government a power of attorney;

(v) Upon request, fully advise the Agency concerning all actions taken during the prosecution of any patent application and

furnish copies of any relevant documents as requested; and

(vi) Provide the Agency with a copy of the patent within 2 months after a patent issues on the application.

(3) For each Subject Invention in which the Institution initially elects not to retain rights or requests an extension of the election period, the Institution shall inform the Agency promptly in writing of the date and identity of any on sale, public use, or publication of the invention which may constitute a statutory bar under 35 U.S.C. 102, which was authorized by or known to the Institution or any contemplated action of this nature.

(g) Filing of foreign patent applications. (1) With respect to each Subject Invention in which the Institution elects to retain principal rights in a foreign country pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this Agreement, the Institution shall have a patent application filed on the invention in that country, in accordance with applicable statutes and regulations, and within one of the following periods:

(i) Eight months from the date of a corresponding United States application filed by or on behalf of the Institution; or if such an application is not filed, 6 months from the date the invention is submitted in a disclosure pursuant to paragraph (e)(1) of this Agreement;

(ii) Six months from the date a license is granted by the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks to file foreign applications when such filing has been previously prohibited by security reasons; or

(iii) Such longer periods as may be approved by the Agency.

(2) The Institution shall notify the Agency of foreign applications filed and, upon request, shall furnish an English version of the application without additional compensation.

(h) Subcontracts. (1) The Institution shall include the following clause in any subcontract where a purpose of that subcontract is the conduct of experimental, developmental, or research work, except when the subcontractor holds an Institutional Patent Agreement with the Agency or the subcontractor refuses as provided in (2) of this paragraph (h):

PATENTS RIGHTS

(a) The Contractor hereby agrees to furnish a complete technical disclosure to the _____ (Institution) within six months after any invention is conceived or first actually reduced to practice in the course of or under this contract (hereinafter referred to as "Subject Invention(s)") and, subject to (b), below, to assign all right, title, and interest in and to such invention to _____ (Institution) or its designee.

(b) At the time the Contractor reports any "Subject Invention" to _____ (Institution) the Contractor, at its option, may also report the invention to the Agency with which the Institution holds the prime contract and request the Agency to determine whether and on what terms the Contractor may retain principal rights in the invention in lieu of assigning it to _____ (Institution). Such determinations by the Agency shall be in accordance with the policies and procedures of 41 CFR 1-9.109-6 and/or applicable Agency regulations. Such determinations shall be final on both the Contractor and _____ (Institution). Provided, That the Contractor may elect not to accept the Agency determination and instead assign all right, title, and interest in the invention to _____ (Institution) or its designee.

(c) In addition, the Contractor agrees to furnish the following materials, disclosures and reports:

(i) Upon request, such duly executed instruments (prepared by the _____ (Institution) or its designee) and such other papers as are deemed necessary to vest in the _____ (Institution) or its designee the rights granted under this clause and to enable the _____ (Institution) or its designee to apply for and prosecute any patent application, in any country, covering such invention.

(ii) A final report, prior to final settlement of this contract, listing all Subject Inventions or certifying that no inventions were conceived or first actually reduced to practice under the contract.

(d) The Contractor shall include in any subcontract a clause identical to this clause, if a purpose of the subcontract is experimental, developmental, or research work. If a Subcontractor refuses to accept this clause or if, in the opinion of the Contractor, this clause is inconsistent with the policy set forth in 41 CFR 1-9.107-3, the Contractor (i) shall promptly notify the Institution and (ii) shall not proceed with the subcontract without the written authorization of the Institution. It is understood that the Institution will seek direction from the (insert name of appropriate Agency).

(e) The contractor shall not be obligated to enforce the agreements of any Subcontractor hereunder relating to the obligations of the Subcontractor to the Government in regard to Subject Inventions.

[End of Clause]

(2) In the event of a refusal by a subcontractor to accept the clause specified in (h)(1) of this agreement, or if, in the opinion of the Institution, this clause is inconsistent with the policy set forth in 41 CFR 1-9.107-3, the Institution (i) shall promptly submit a written notice to the Agency setting forth reasons for the subcontractor's refusal and other pertinent information which may expedite disposition of the matter; and (ii) shall not proceed with the subcontract without the written authorization of the Agency.

(3) It is understood that the Government is a third party beneficiary of any subcontract clause granting rights to the Government in Subject Inventions, and the Institution hereby assigns to the Government all rights that it would have to enforce the subcontractor's obligations for the benefit of the Government with respect to Subject Inventions. The Institution shall not be obligated to enforce the agreements of any subcontractor hereunder relating to the obligations of the subcontractor to the Government in regard to Subject Inventions.

(4) Nothing in this Agreement is intended to preclude the Institution from granting a subcontractor rights or an option to rights in any inventions made by the subcontractor to the extent such rights are consistent with the provisions of this Agreement.

(i) Administration of inventions in which the Institution elects to retain rights. (1) The Institution shall administer those Subject Inventions to which it elects to retain title in the public interest and shall, except as provided in subsection (2), below, make them available through licensing on a non-exclusive, royalty-free, or reasonable royalty basis to all qualified applicants.

(2) The Institution may license a Subject Invention on an exclusive basis if it determines that an exclusive license is required in the public interest because (A) it is necessary as an incentive for development of the invention or (B) market conditions are such as to require licensing on an exclusive basis in order to bring the invention to the point of practical application. Any exclusive license issued by the Institution under a U.S. patent or patent application shall be for a limited period of time and such period shall not, unless otherwise approved by the Agency, exceed 5 years from the date of the first commercial sale or use in the United States of America of a product or process embodying the invention, or 8 years from the date of the exclusive license excepting that time before regulatory agencies necessary to obtain premarket clearance, whichever occurs first. Such license shall also provide that the licensee shall use all reasonable effort to effect introduction into the commercial market as soon as practicable, consistent with sound and reasonable business practices and judgment. Any extension of the maximum period of exclusivity shall be subject to approval of the Agency. Upon expiration of the period of exclusivity or any extension thereof, licenses shall be offered to all qualified applicants at a reasonable royalty rate not in excess of the exclusive license royalty rate.

(3) Royalties shall not normally be in excess of accepted trade practice.

(4) The Institution agrees to refund any amounts received as royalty charges on any Subject Invention in procurements for or on behalf of the Government and to provide for that refund in any instrument transferring rights to any party in the invention.

(5) The balance of the royalty income after payment of expenses, including payments to inventors, incidental to the administration of all inventions assigned to it pursuant to the provisions of this Agreement shall be utilized for the support of education or research.

(6) All licenses issued by the Institution to parties, other than the Government of the United States, under any patent application or patent on a Subject Invention shall be made expressly subject to the conditions of this Agreement. The Institution shall, upon request, promptly furnish copies of any license agreements to the Agency.

(j) Patent Management Organizations. The Institution shall not assign any Subject Invention to parties other than the Agency; except that, it may make such an assignment to the following patent management organizations— _____ (7)—or any other patent management organization if subsequently approved by the Agency. Any assignment to a patent management organization shall be made subject specifically to all the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

(k) Reports on Development and Commercial Use. The Institution shall provide a written annual report to the Agency on or before December 31st of each year covering the preceding year ending September 30th; regarding the status of development and commercial use that is being made or intended to be made of each Subject Invention left for administration to the Institution and the steps that have been taken by the Institution to bring the invention to the point of practical application. (8) Such reports shall include information regarding the status of development, date of first commercial sale or use, gross royalties received by the Institution, and such other data and information as the Agency may reasonably specify. To the extent data or information supplied to this section is considered by a licensee to be privileged or confidential and is so marked, the Agency agrees that, to the extent permitted by law, it will not disclose such information to persons outside the Government.

(l) Reporting of Policy and Administrative Changes. The Institution shall promptly notify the Agency of any significant changes in the information submitted by it in support of its request for an Institutional Patent Agreement; particularly, changes in its patent policies or its administrative capabilities.

(m) Termination. This Agreement may be terminated by either party upon 30 days written notice. Disposition of rights in and administration of inventions made under contracts subject to this Agreement will not be affected by such a termination; except that, in the event the Government terminates this Agreement because of a failure or refusal by the Institution to comply with any of its obligations under sections (e)(1), (f), (i), and (j) of this Agreement, the Agency has the right to require that the Institution's entire right, title, and interest in and to the particular invention with respect to which the breach occurred be assigned to the United States of America, as represented by the Agency.

(n) Communications. (9) Requests for Agency approvals, extensions, or similar actions and other correspondence required by this Agreement should be addressed to _____. Except where specifically provided otherwise in this Agreement, the _____ or his designee shall act as the point of authority within the Agency to grant such approvals, extensions, or take such other Agency actions as may be authorized in this Agreement.

Institutional Patent Agreement with an agency shall be required to provide the agency with the following information:

(9) A description of the organization's past patent application and patent licensing activities, including the following:

However, the inclusion of an organization on the list will not preclude the agency from declining an application for an Institutional Patent Agreement. It is also expected that the list may be used by some agencies in connection with greater rights determinations or requests for the inclusion of clauses in contracts giving the nonprofit organization the first option to principal rights in inventions made under the contract.

Title 42—Public Health

CHAPTER IV—HEALTH CARE FINANCING ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

PART 405—FEDERAL HEALTH INSURANCE FOR THE AGED AND DISABLED

Deletion of Obsolete Regulations

AGENCY: Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), HEW.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule deletes a number of obsolete regulations of the Medicare program and revokes a footnote which is no longer legally applicable. It is based on the policy of the Department to operate under a set of regulations which are clear, logical, and free of extraneous or incorrect material. Deletion of these obsolete regulations will remove the confusion and complexity they could cause a reader unfamiliar with their history.

DATE: This rule is effective on February 2, 1978.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Stanley Katz, Division Director, Medicare Bureau, Health Care Financing Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md. 21235, 301-594-9319.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The regulations deleted by this rule are no longer needed for the operation of the Medicare program. They consist for the most part of requirements which: (1) Applied to claims for reimbursement for services provided more than 5 years ago; or (2) involved special eligibility provisions which have not been applicable for more than 5 years. The footnote which is revoked had noted the temporary nonenforcement of an eligibility provision based on an injunction. The provision has since been upheld by the Supreme Court and the footnote is now defunct.

This rule is one step the Department is taking as part of "Operation Common Sense," an effort to make its regulations more understandable. Future efforts will include rewriting many of the regulations in clearer style, reorganizing them in a more logical arrangement, and continuing to delete provisions which are obsolete or no longer binding.

Because no policies or requirements are altered by these changes, the Department finds that there is a good cause to waive a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and to make the amendments effective on February 2, 1978.

42 CFR Part 405 is amended as follows:

1. Section 405.101 is amended by vacating and reserving paragraph (a)(2) and deleting the reference to § 405.156 in paragraph (b):

(1) Inpatient hospital services, post-hospital extended care services, and post-hospital home health services furnished to him during any month for which he meets such conditions for entitlement to hospital insurance benefits.

(2) [Vacated and reserved.]

(b) Except where payment may be made to the individual for certain hospital services (see § 405.157), payment for the services covered under the hospital insurance benefits program is made to the institution or agency eligible to receive payment rather than to the individual to whom the services are furnished.

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Emergency Order (Amendment No. 5 to Service Order No. 1242).

SUMMARY: Service Order No. 1242 authorizes the Kansas City Southern to operate over tracks of the Southern Pacific Transportation Co. at Lake Charles, La. THE PROPOSAL

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Subpart G of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to revoke the transition areas at Gwinner, N. Dak. The owner of the non-Federal, non-directional beacon (NDB) at Gwinner, N. Dak., has requested that the NDB be reclassified as a VFR navigational aid and the instrument approach procedure be canceled. Consequently, the transition areas of controlled airspace are proposed to be revoked. Accordingly, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend Subpart G of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) as follows:

By amending § 71.181 so as to delete the following:

GWINNER, N. DAK.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 8.5-mile radius of the Gwinner Municipal Airport (latitude 46°13'10" N., longitude 97°38'27" W.); and that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within a 12-mile radius of the Gwinner Municipal Airport, and within 9.5 miles west and 4.5 miles east of the 167° T bearing from the Gwinner NDB (latitude 46°13'24" N., longitude 97°38'35" W.), extending from the 12-mile radius area to 18.5 miles south of the NDB; and from 5 miles west of the 017° bearing from the Gwinner NDB clockwise to 5 miles south of the 088° bearing from the NDB, extending from the 12-mile radius area to the boundary of the Fargo, N. Dak., transition area.

CERTIFICATION AND OPERATIONS: DOMESTIC, FLAG, AND SUPPLEMENTAL AIR CARRIERS AND COMMERCIAL OPERATORS OF LARGE AIRCRAFT

Crewmember Qualifications: Operating Experience

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes to amend the requirement that if a certificate holder's approved training program includes a course of training in an airplane simulator, a pilot in command must be observed by an FAA inspector during at least one flight leg which includes a takeoff and landing. The FAA believes the current requirement for an FAA observer is not necessary on initial operating experience flights for qualifying pilots in command completing transition training. Accordingly, that requirement would be deleted by this proposal.

COMMENTS INVITED

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Chief Counsel, Attn.: Rules Docket (AGC-24), 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20591. All communications received on or before March 1, 1978, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposal in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments received will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the rules docket for examination by interested persons. A report summarizing each public contact with FAA personnel concerned with this rulemaking will be filed in the Rules Docket.

AVAILABILITY OF NPRM

Any person may obtain a copy of this notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) by submitting a request to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Attn.: Public Information Center, APA-430, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20591. Communications must identify the notice number of this NPRM. Persons interested in being placed on a mailing list for future NPRMs should also request a copy of Advisory Circular 11-2 which describes the application procedures.

BACKGROUND

Section 121.434(c)(1)(ii) requires that a pilot in command be observed by an FAA inspector during at least one flight leg, which includes a takeoff and landing, while acquiring operating experience if the certificate holder uses a course of training in an airplane simulator, as provided in § 121.409(c), prior to serving as the pilot in command in Part 121 operations. The purpose of the current rule is to provide the FAA an opportunity to observe a pilot in the performance of his duties prior to his assuming pilot in command duties in Part 121 operations.

The current rule specifies that during the time that a qualifying pilot in command is acquiring operating experience, a check pilot who is serving as the pilot in command must occupy a pilot station. In the case of a transitioning pilot in command, the check pilot serving as pilot in command may occupy the observer's seat, if the transitioning pilot has made at least two takeoffs and landings in the type airplane used, and has satisfactorily demonstrated to the check pilot that he is qualified to perform the duties of a pilot in command of that type of airplane.

The requirements in § 121.434(c)(1) for initial operating experience (IOE) flights for a pilot in command, that are observed by an FAA inspector, resulted from Amendment 121-55, published on January 3, 1970 (35 FR 84), an Amendment 121-91, published on May 27, 1972 (37 FR 10727). The purpose of these amendments was to update procedures for the approval and revision of training programs; to provide for more extensive use of airplane simulators in training; and to allow improvements in the operation of training programs and the quality of training. The FAA considered it necessary to require pilots in command to be observed by an FAA inspector during at least one flight leg of initial operating experience, which includes a takeoff and landing, if the certificate holder uses a course of training in an airplane simulator as provided in § 121.409(c). That requirement was set forth in Amendment 121-91, and has continued in effect until the present.

Based on FAA experience observing IOE flights since May 27, 1972, the agency believes that a combination of simulator/airplane training results in a pilot who is better trained than one trained only in the airplane. Simulators permit more concentrated training without waste of energy, time, and effort, and the trainees can be allowed to see and correct their mistakes without any detrimental effect on safety of flight. Therefore, the FAA believes that utilization of ground training devices, particularly aircraft simulators, adequately prepares a qualifying pilot in command for assumption of his duties since initial operating experience is gained with a check pilot.

The FAA further believes that due to the experience level of pilots in command who have gained line experience with the certificate holder in airplanes of the same group, as defined in § 121.400, it is unnecessary for it to continue to observe all IOE flights for qualifying pilots in command who are completing transition training. The FAA would, however, continue to observe a sufficient number of IOE flights by transitioning pilots in command to enable it to determine the effectiveness of the certificate holder's training program.

Therefore, it is proposed that the requirement for an inspector to observe at least one IOE flight with a takeoff and landing be deleted for a transitioning pilot in command gaining line operating experience, who has previously served in the same capacity in another airplane of the same group of airplanes.

THE PROPOSED RULE

Accordingly, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend Part 121 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by revising the first two sentences of § 121.434(c)(1)(ii) to read as follows:

§ 121.434 Operating experience.

(1) . . .

(ii) In addition, if the certificate holder's approved training program includes a course of training in an airplane simulator under § 121.409(c), and a qualifying pilot in command is completing initial or upgrade training specified in § 121.424, be observed in the performance of prescribed duties by an FAA inspector during at least one flight leg which includes a takeoff and landing. During the time that a qualifying pilot in command is acquiring the operating experience in paragraph (c)(1)(i) and (ii), a check pilot who is also serving as the pilot in command must occupy a pilot station. . . .

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 604, Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1345(a), 1421, 1424); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).)

NOTE.—The FAA has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an economic impact statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended by Executive Order 11949, and OMB Circular A-107.

SUMMARY: The New Jersey Department of Transportation has requested the Coast Guard to consider revising the regulations governing the operation of the drawbridge (Stickel Memorial) across the Passaic River, mile 5.8, to require at least 8 hours notice

DRAFTING INFORMATION: The principal persons involved in drafting this proposal are: Frank L. Teuton, Jr., Project Manager, Office of Marine Environment and Systems, and Edward J. Gill, Jr., Project Attorney, Office of the Chief Counsel.

DISCUSSION OF THE PROPOSED REGULATIONS

The statistical data submitted by the applicant appears to justify the requested change. In 1974 there were 12 openings; in 1975 there were 36 openings (16 for dredging operations); and in 1976 there were 6 openings.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that Part 117 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended by adding a new paragraph (j) to § 117.200 to read as follows:

Part 117—DRAWBRIDGE OPERATION REGULATIONS

§ 117.200 Newark Bay, Passaic and Hackensack Rivers, and their navigable tributaries; general regulations.

(j) Route 280 (Stickel) Bridge, mile 5.8, Passaic River. The draw shall open on signal if at least 8 hours notice is given.

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Central Vermont Railway has requested the Coast Guard to consider revising the regulations governing their drawbridge across Missisquoi Bay, Lake Champlain, N.Y., mile 105.6, to permit more restrictive opening periods. This request is made because of limited openings during the periods concerned. The proposed rule would relieve the bridge owner of the duty to open the bridge on signal during these periods.

DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal persons involved in drafting this proposal are: Frank L. Teuton, Jr., Project Manager, Office of Marine Environment and Systems, and Edward J. Gill, Jr., Project Attorney, Office of the Chief Counsel.

DISCUSSION OF THE PROPOSED REGULATIONS

Statistical data submitted by the bridge owner indicated this change may be desirable. In 1975 there were 101 openings; 72 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; 19 from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.; and only 10 from 11 p.m. to 9 a.m. In 1976 there were 160 openings; 110 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; 44 from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.; and only 6 from 11 p.m. to 9 a.m.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that Part 117 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended by revising § 117.191(b) to read as follows:

PART 117—DRAWBRIDGE OPERATION REGULATIONS

§ 117.191 Navigable waters in the State of Vermont and their tributaries; bridges where constant attendance of drawtenders is not required.

(b) Lake Champlain; Missisquoi Bay, Central Vermont railroad bridge, mile 105.6.

(2) The draw shall open on signal from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. from June 15 through September 15 if at least 4 hours notice is given.

(3) The draw shall open on signal from September 16 through June 14 if at least 24 hours notice is given.

(4) Public vessels of the United States and Vermont Fish and Game vessels shall be passed through the closed draw as soon as possible at any time.

(Sec. 5, 28 Stat. 362, as amended, sec. 6(g)(2), 80 Stat. 937 (33 U.S.C. 499, 49 U.S.C. 1655(g)(2)); 49 CFR 1.46(c)(5).)

SUMMARY: The Canadian National Railways has requested the Coast Guard to consider revising the regulations for their drawbridge across Back Cove, Portland, Maine, to require at least 24 hours notice for openings of the draw. The draw is presently required to open on signal from June 1 through September 30 from 8 a.m. to 12 midnight; at least 12 hours notice is required at all other times. This change is being considered because of infrequent openings. The bridge owner will be relieved of the duty to open the bridge on signal at all times.

Persons submitting comments should include their name and address, identify the bridge, and give reasons for concurrence with or any recommended change in the proposal.

The Commander, First Coast Guard District, will forward any comments received with his recommendations to the Chief, Office of Marine Environment and Systems, U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, D.C., who will evaluate all communications received and recommend a course of final action to the Commandant on this proposal. DRAFTING INFORMATION

The principal persons involved in drafting this proposal are: Frank L.

Teuton, Jr., Project Manager, Office of Marine Environment and Systems, and Edward J. Gill, Jr., Project Attorney, Office of the Chief Counsel.

DISCUSSION OF THE PROPOSED REGULATIONS

These amended regulations are proposed because of relatively few openings of the draw under the present regulations. From June 1, 1976, through September 30, 1976, from 8 a.m. to 12 midnight, 63 openings were made. This averages to approximately one opening every other day.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that Part 117 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended by revising § 117.20 to read as follows:

PART 117—DRAWBRIDGE OPERATION REGULATIONS

§ 117.20 Back Cove, Portland, Maine; Canadian National Railways bridge.

(a) The draw need not open for the passage of vessels unless at least 24 hours notice is given.

(b) The owner of or agency controlling the bridge shall keep conspicuously posted on both the upstream and downstream side of the bridge in a position where it can be read easily at any time, a copy of the regulations of this section together with a notice stating how notice may be given.

(c) The signal for an opening of the draw shall be one long blast followed by one short blast of a whistle or horn.

(Sec. 5, 28 Stat. 362, as amended, sec. 6(g)(2), 80 Stat. 937 (33 U.S.C. 499, 49 U.S.C. 1655(g)(2)); 49 CFR 1.46(c)(5).)

NOTE.—The Coast Guard has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an economic impact statement under Executive Order 11821, as amended, and OMB Circular A-107.

LATE FILED FEES FOR SECTION 8 AFFIDAVITS/DECLARATIONS AND NOTICES OF OPPOSITION IN TRADEMARK CASES

Proposed Rulemaking

AGENCY: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.

ACTION: Proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This notice invites written comment on a patent and Trademark Office proposal to amend the rules of practice to permit the acceptance of late fees in connection with Notices of Opposition and affidavits or declarations under Section 8 of the Act of July 5, 1946, as amended. The proposed changes set out procedures for notifying parties of missing or deficient fees in connection with Section 8 affidavits/declarations and Notices of Opposition and provide for the acceptance of the appropriate fee within a designated time period upon payment of a service charge. Previously, it has been required to petition the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks for acceptance of such late fees. These proposed rule changes will eliminate the need for petitioning the Commissioner.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before March 21, 1978.

ADDRESSES: Comments may be addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231. All comments received will be available for public inspection in Room 11E10, Crystal Plaza, Building 3, 2021 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Va.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

J. Paul Williamson, Patent and Trademark Office, 703-557-2521.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A notice was published in the Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 958 TMOG 6, on May 10, 1977, wherein the Commissioner solicited any views the public might have in connection with a proposal to amend the rules to accept late filed opposition fees and Section 8 affidavit fees without the necessity of petitioning the Commissioner or complying with § 2.148 of the Code of Federal Regulations. A total of six written comments were submitted, with five of the comments being favorable to the proposal. Full and careful consideration was given to each of the comments submitted before the following proposed rule changes were drafted. Those comments submitted in response to the Official Gazette notice need not be resubmitted and will be available for public inspection at the address noted above.

The purpose of the proposed changes is to provide a procedure within the Rules of Practice in Trademark Cases permitting the acceptance of late filed fees for oppositions and Section 8 affidavits or declarations without the need for petitioning the Commissioner for a waiver of the rules pursuant to § 2.148. Although the notice published in the Official Gazette on May 10, 1977 suggested that the proposed procedure might be extended to fees in connection with ex parte appeal cases, that application is not being proposed at this time, but will be the subject of further study.

The proposed revision of § 2.1 is intended to obviate any conflict which might otherwise be created between those sections of Part 1 applicable to trademark cases and the proposed revisions and additions to the trademark rules set forth herein. In particular, this proposed revision would avoid direct conflict between § 1.22 and the proposed revisions of §§ 2.101(c) and 2.162(d).

Proposed § 2.6(g) sets forth the service fee to be charged in connection with the handling of late filed fees for Section 8 affidavits or declarations and oppositions. Designation of the fees for this service is made pursuant to the authority of the Commissioner under Section 31 of the Act of July 5, 1946, as amended, and § 1.21(v) of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

All the comments received in connection with the notice appearing in the May 10, 1977 Official Gazette (958 TMOG 6) which addressed the question of a service fee favored the implementation of such a fee for the service of notifying persons of a fee deficiency and affording such persons an additional time for submitting the required fee. The nominal service fee is intended to recover the costs incurred by the Patent and Trademark Office in connection with this procedure of notifying persons of fee deficiencies and extending their time for payment.

Late Opposition Fees. Although decisional law, Colgate-Palmolive Co. v. Brenner, Comr. of Pats., 148 USPQ 535 (S.D.N.Y. 1965) and Marzall, Comr. of Pats. v. Libby, McNeill and Libby, 89 USPQ 10 (D.C. Cir. 1951), has established that timely payment of the opposition fee may be excused by the Commissioner under Section 13 of the Act of July 5, 1946, as amended, the regulations governing such situations, i.e. § 1.22 and § 2.101(b) of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations, require that payment be timely. Consequently, acceptance of late opposition fees has required a waiver of those rules under § 2.148. The standard of § 2.148 is arduous and is considered too rigid for certain situations like the fees noted above. It is believed that the fees are ministerial in nature and that substantive rights generally should not be immediately denied due to a failure to comply with a ministerial function. Therefore, it is proposed to revise the present procedure in a manner which will work toward the ends of justice while still supporting the orderly administration of the Office.

Proposed § 2.101(c) describes the procedure to be followed in the event that an insufficient fee or no fee is timely submitted in connection with an opposition. If a fee sufficient to cover the cost of opposing a single class in a registration is timely filed, then the procedure set forth in § 2.85(e) will be followed. If no fee is submitted, or if a fee sufficient to cover the cost of opposing a single class in a registration is not submitted within thirty days after publication of the mark to be opposed or within an extension of the time for filing an opposition, a notice of deficiency will be sent by this Office advising the potential opposer of the deficiency and setting a time period within which the deficiency and service charge must be filed. This procedure will obviate the need for petitioning the Commissioner in the first instance. Failure to comply within the time period set out in the notice of deficiency will result in the refusal of the opposition. Relief by way of petition to the Commissioner from such a refusal will require that the arduous standards of § 2.148 be satisfied.

The procedure set forth in § 2.85(e) will not be available to parties who submit a single fee (and the required service fee), or fees for less than all the classes of an application, in response to the above-identified notice of deficiency. In those situations, a party will be required to elect which class or classes it wishes to oppose.

Late Section 8 Fees. While Section 8 of the Act of July 5, 1946, as amended, does not require a fee and Section 31 of the Act has been held not to require timely filing of the fee in connection with a Section 8 affidavit or declaration, In re Kleiner, 185 USPQ 362 (Comr. Pat. 1975), §§ 1.22 and 2.162(d) of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations require that the necessary fee be filed within the sixth year following registration. Consequently, acceptance of a late filed Section 8 fee has required a waiver of those rules by the Commissioner under § 2.148. For the same reasons stated above in connection with the late opposition fees, it is also proposed to revise the present procedures for handling late Section 8 fees.

The proposed revision of § 2.162(d) sets forth the procedure to be followed in the event that an insufficient fee or no fee is timely submitted in connection with a Section 8 affidavit or declaration. The procedure is identical to that in connection with the late opposition fee. Failure to comply within the time period set out in the notice of deficiency will result in the refusal of the affidavit or declaration. Again, relief by way of a petition to the Commissioner from such a refusal will require that the standards of § 2.148 be satisfied. Furthermore, it should again be noted that the § 2.85(e) procedure will not be available to a registrant after a fee is received in response to a notice of deficiency under this revised section.

Fees filed pursuant to a notice of deficiency will be considered appropriate subject matter for use of the certificate of mailing procedure set out in § 1.8.

APPROVAL AND PROMULGATION OF IMPLEMENTATION PLANS

Missouri: Proposed Disapproval of State-Issued Variances Submitted as Revisions to the Missouri State Implementation Plan

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: In order to satisfy the requirements of the Clean Air Act, The State of Missouri has submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) a State Implementation Plan (SIP) for attainment and maintenance of national ambient air quality standards. Portions of the SIP have been approved by the Administrator of EPA and are now enforceable by EPA as Federal regulations. The State of Missouri has submitted as revisions to the State Implementation Plan a number of variance orders issued by the Missouri Air Conservation Commission (MACC) for sources found to be in violation of regulations which are part of the approved SIP. Through this notice EPA proposes to disapprove variance orders issued by the MACC to City Utilities of Springfield, Mo. (James River Units 1, 2, and 3), Empire District Electric Co. (Asbury powerplant), Meremac Mining Co., Missouri Portland Cement Co. (Sugar Creek, Mo.), Missouri Service Co. (Sibley powerplant), and Noranda Aluminum, Inc.

DATE: Comments must be postmarked by no later than March 6, 1978.

ADDRESSES: (1) The schedules and evaluation reports are available for inspection at the Region VII Office of the Environmental Protection Agency, 1735 Baltimore, Kansas City, Mo. 64108; (2) comments should be sent to the Director, Enforcement Division, Environmental Protection Agency, Region VII, 1735 Baltimore, Kansas City, Mo. 64108.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

BACKGROUND

On January 24, 1972, pursuant to section 110 of the Clean Air Act, as amended, and 40 CFR Part 51, the State of Missouri submitted to EPA an implementation plan for attainment and maintenance of national ambient air quality standards. The plan contained State statutes, State and local regulations, control strategies, and other information. On May 31, 1972 (37 FR 10875), the Administrator approved the Missouri SIP with specific exceptions. Since then, Missouri has submitted to EPA a number of revisions to the SIP, including revisions to the State legislative authority, revisions to State and local regulations for air pollution control, and variance orders issued by the MACC for sources found to be in violation of regulations contained in the approved SIP. The term variance is defined at 40 CFR 51.1(y) as the temporary deferral of a final compliance date for an individual source subject to an approved regulation, or a temporary change to an approved regulation as it applies to an individual source. Thus a variance does not revise a source's underlying obligations; rather it merely alters the time frame within which the obligation must be satisfied. All but one of the variances which are the subject of this notice contain a schedule for complying with the approved regulation and were thus reviewed as variances within the meaning of § 51.1(y). The Noranda variance on the other hand did not contain a schedule for compliance and was reviewed as a permanent or indefinite relaxation of the approved regulation as will be explained more fully below.

Section 110(a)(2)(B) of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7410(a)(2)(B)), provides that a State implementation plan, in order to be approvable, must include " * * * emission limitations, schedules, and timetables for compliance with such limitations, and such other measures as may be necessary to ensure attainment and maintenance of (national ambient air quality standards) * * * ". The SIP must set forth a control strategy which demonstrates that the emission limitations and other regulatory requirements contained in the plan provide for the degree of emission reduction necessary for attainment and maintenance of such national standards, including the degree of emission reduction necessary to offset emission increases that can reasonably be expected to result from projected growth of population, industrial activity, motor vehicle traffic, or other factors that may cause or contribute to increased emissions (40 CFR 51.12(a)). In areas where measured or estimated ambient levels are below the national secondary standard, the control strategy must demonstrate that the statutory and regulatory authority contained in the plan is adequate to prevent such ambient pollutant levels from exceeding the secondary standard (40 CFR 51.12(b)). The requirements of section 110(a)(2) of the Act, and 40 CFR 51.12 apply equally as well to any revision to the State implementation plan (see section 110(a) of the Act, and 40 CFR 51.6 and 51.34).

In seeking approval of an individual source variance or exemption as a plan revision, the State must demonstrate the adequacy of the overall control strategy as it may be affected by the proposed revision. This would require more than a demonstration that the emissions from the source will not cause a violation of the national standards. The demonstration must include, but would not necessarily be limited to, a consideration of measured or estimated ambient levels of a pollutant in the area affected by emission from the source, the impact of emissions from sources that have been approved for construction (or from other reasonably anticipated growth during the period of the compliance schedule) which is not reflected in current ambient data, and the impact of the proposed plan revision. For sources indefinitely or permanently exempted from the approved regulation, broader consideration must be given to reasonably expected growth. A more detailed explanation of the general criteria employed by the Agency in determining the adequacy of a control strategy demonstration is contained in the preamble to the proposed Part 51 regulations relating to approval of variances as SIP revisions (40 FR 58317, December 16, 1975).

The variance orders which are the subject of this notice were adopted by the State and submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency after notice and public hearings in accordance with the procedural requirements in 40 CFR 51.4 and 51.6. The variance orders were submitted to EPA by the staff director, air quality program, Missouri Department of Natural Resources. A question has arisen regarding whether the staff director is duly authorized to submit revisions to the Missouri SIP on behalf of the Governor of Missouri. The Missouri attorney general's office has informally stated that the Missouri Department of Natural Resources has the inherent authority to submit such revisions to EPA, and EPA has previously approved SIP revisions submitted by the staff director. Notwithstanding, the variance orders proposed for disapproval in this notice are not approvable due to deficiencies in the accompanying control strategy demonstrations.

CITY UTILITIES OF SPRINGFIELD, MO.

On April 27, 1977, the MACC issued a variance order to City Utilities of Springfield, Mo., for James River powerplant, units 1, 2, and 3, allowing City Utilities to operate these units in violation of State regulations limiting the emission of particulate matter from fuel-burning equipment used for indirect heating and restricting the emission of visible air contaminants. The variance contains incremental dates for installing control equipment to meet the applicable regulations with a final compliance date for unit No. 3 of May 1, 1979, and a final compliance date for unit Nos. 1 and 2 of December 31, 1981. The variance order was submitted to EPA by the Missouri Department of Natural Resources on May 23, 1977, as a proposed revision to the State implementation plan. The variance cannot be approved under 40 CFR Part 51.6 because the accompanying control strategy does not demonstrate that the State implementation plan, as revised, will ensure attainment and maintenance of national ambient air quality standards (NAAQS) for particulate matter. The air quality modeling submitted to justify the revision does not adequately consider the impact of source emissions on areas in Springfield, Mo., where the NAAQS for particulate matter were exceeded during the calendar year 1976. The control strategy demonstration also failed to adequately consider reasonably anticipated growth in the area impacted by source emissions. The MDNR was notified of these deficiencies by letter dated November 4, 1977, and was provided an opportunity to present additional data in support of the proposed revision. The State has not submitted any additional data, and the proposed revision must therefore be disapproved.

EMPIRE DISTRICT ELECTRIC CO.

The MACC initially issued a variance order to Empire District Electric Co. for the Asbury powerplant, located near Joplin, Mo., on January 22, 1975, allowing the company to operate the facility in violation of State regulations limiting the emissions of particulate matter from the fuel burning equipment used for indirect heating and restricting the emission of visible air contaminants. The variance contained incremental dates for achieving compliance with the applicable regulations with a final compliance date of June 15, 1975. The variance was renewed by the MACC on February 25, 1976, extending the final compliance date to August 6, 1978. The variance was again renewed by the MACC on April 27, 1977, maintaining a final compliance date of August 6, 1978. The April 27, 1977, variance order was submitted to EPA by MDNR on May 23, 1977, as a proposed revision to the State implementation plan. The state has failed to adequately demonstrate that the State implementation plan, as revised, will insure attainment and maintenance of NAAQS for particulate matter. The control strategy demonstration failed to adequately consider measured or estimated ambient levels of particulate matter in the area affected by the source emissions, reasonably anticipated growth in the affected area, or emissions from other significant sources which may be impacting on the affected area. Due to these deficiencies in the control strategy demonstration, the proposed revision cannot be approved.

MEREMAC MINING CO.

On February 23, 1977, the MACC issued a variance order to Meremac Mining Co. allowing the company to operate furnace and cooler Nos. 1 through 5 at its Pea Ridge, Mo., facility in violation of State regulations restricting the emission of particulate matter from industrial processes. The variance contained incremental dates for achieving compliance with applicable regulations with final compliance dates of December 31, 1978, for furnace and cooler No. 1; December 31, 1978, for furnace and cooler Nos. 2 and 3; and December 31, 1979, for furnace and cooler Nos. 4 and 5. The variance order was submitted to EPA by MDNR on March 8, 1977, as a revision to the State implementation plan. The State has failed to demonstrate that the State implementation plan, as revised, will insure attainment and maintenance of NAAQS for particulate matter. The control strategy is deficient in the same areas as the control strategy for Empire District Electric Co. (see comments above).

MISSOURI PORTLAND CEMENT CO.

The MACC initially issued a variance order to Missouri Portland Cement Co. for its Sugar Creek facility on July 28, 1976, allowing the company to operate the No. 1 clinker cooler in violation of State regulations restricting the emission of particulate matter from industrial processes and restricting the emission of visible air contaminants. The variance was renewed by the MACC on June 22, 1977. The June 22, 1977, variance, which contained incremental dates toward achieving compliance by May 1, 1978, was submitted to EPA by MDNR on July 11, 1977, as a revision to the State implementation plan. The State has failed to demonstrate that the State implementation plan, as revised, will insure attainment and maintenance of NAAQS for particulate matter. The control strategy did not adequately consider the impact of the source emissions on a monitoring site located approximately 1 1/2 miles from the plant which, on the basis of 1976 air quality data, was in violation of the primary annual NAAQS for particulate matter.

MISSOURI PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

The MACC initially issued a variance order to the Missouri Public Service Co. for its Sibley powerplant on February 23, 1977, allowing the company to operate unit Nos. 1, 2, and 3 in violation of State regulations limiting the emission of particulate matter from fuel-burning equipment used for indirect heating and restricting the emission of visible air contaminants. The Commission renewed the variance order on July 26, 1977. The July 26, 1977, variance order contained incremental dates for achieving compliance with the applicable regulations with final compliance dates of February 10, 1978, for unit No. 1; April 7, 1978, for unit No. 2; and October 10, 1977, for unit No. 3. The July 26 variance was submitted to EPA by MDNR on July 29, 1977. The State has failed to demonstrate that the State implementation plan, as revised, will insure attainment and maintenance of NAAQS for particulate matter. The control strategy is deficient in the same areas as the control strategy for Empire District Electric Co. (see comments above).

NORANDA ALUMINUM, INC.

On February 23, 1977, the MACC issued a variance order to Noranda Aluminum, Inc., for its plant at New Madrid, Mo. The variance allows continued operation of pot-line I and an associated carbon anode production facility in violation of State regulations restricting the emission of particulate matter from industrial processes. The variance order contains a number of conditions including one which limits emissions from pot-line I and the associated carbon anode production facility to a defined level of current emissions plus 5 percent. The variance may be revoked by the Commission if the NAAQS for particulate matter are exceeded at any ambient monitoring station operated by Noranda or any ambient monitoring station operated by a Federal, State, or local governmental agency within an area where Noranda's emissions have a significant effect on ambient levels of particulate matter. Unless these conditions are violated and in the absence of a showing of other changed conditions which would justify a modification, revocation, or termination of the variance, the variance is automatically renewed on a year-to-year basis. Since the variance does not contain a schedule or any requirement for complying with the approved State regulation, the effect of the variance is to grant a permanent or indefinite relaxation of the source's underlying obligations in the SIP. The proposed SIP revision was thus reviewed as a permanent or indefinite relaxation of the approved regulation as it applies to the emission sources which are covered by the State-issued variance order. The control strategy demonstration, which consists primarily of the record of hearings held before the Missouri Air Conservation Commission, did not contain adequate air monitoring or air quality modeling data to demonstrate that the State implementation plan, as revised, will insure attainment and maintenance of NAAQS. The demonstration was particularly inadequate for the secondary 24-hour ambient air quality standard for particulate matter. Air monitoring data presented at the June 1976 hearing before the Missouri Air Conservation Commission showed violations of the 24-hour secondary standard in 1974 and 1976. Although questions were raised regarding the validity of the air quality data, the data raises serious questions and clearly fails to establish that the secondary 24-hour ambient air quality standard for particulate matter is being attained in the area affected by emissions from Noranda's facility at New Madrid. In the absence of conclusive monitoring data, diffusion modeling is required to demonstrate attainment and maintenance of the NAAQS, taking into account natural background levels. The diffusion modeling submitted in support of the Noranda variance did not utilize acceptable modeling techniques for predicting the 24-hour impact of point source emissions on the affected area, nor did it consider the effect of a 5-percent increase in emissions from pot-line I and the associated carbon anode baking furnace. The control strategy also failed to adequately consider reasonable expected growth in the area. Pursuant to section 103 of the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1977, the Missouri Department of Natural Resources has recently identified the area surrounding Noranda's New Madrid facility as a nonattainment area for particulate matter. For these reasons, the proposed revision was determined to be unapprovable.

TRANSATLANTIC SUPER-APEX FARES

Order Vacating Suspension

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 19th day of January, 1978.

Transatlantic super-APEX fares proposed by various carriers

By Order 77-10-139, October 25, 1977, the Board suspended, pending investigation, super-APEX (advance-purchase excursion) fares proposed by Aeromexico de Mexico, S.A. (Aeromexico) for use between Miami, on the one hand, and Spain, on the other. The Board stated that it was suspending the fares because the United States had been unable to secure an ad hoc agreement with Mexico which would permit us to suspend the fares after they became effective, and in those circumstances, failure to suspend the fares before they became effective might foreclose any future action by this Government with regard to such fares.

The Department of State has now informed us that Mexico has signed an ad hoc agreement confirming the right of the United States to take action against the super-APEX fares after they became effective. Thus there is no reason for Aeromexico's fares to countries whose governments have signed appropriate ad hoc agreements, to remain under suspension, and this order will vacate our previous action in that respect.

Accordingly, pursuant to sections 102, 204(a), 403, 801 and 1002(j) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958,

It is ordered that: 1. Order 77-10-139 is hereby vacated insofar as it suspends and investigates the $350.00 Advance-Purchase Excursion Fare between Miami, Florida, and Madrid, Spain, and reference marks "C" and "D", applicable to Aeromexico de Mexico, published in Table 104 of Passenger Fares Tariff No. PF-4, CAB No. 44, issued by Air Tariffs Corp., Agent;

2. This order shall be submitted to the President¹ and shall be effective on January 26, 1978; and

3. Copies of this order shall be filed in the above tariff and served upon Aeromexico de Mexico, S.A. and the National Air Carrier Association.

¹This order was submitted to the President on January 20, 1978.

NOTICES

This order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Pursuant to section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, 5 U.S.C. App. I (1976 ed.), notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Numerically Controlled Machine Tool Technical Advisory Committee will be held on Tuesday, February 21, 1978, at 10 a.m. in Room 4833, Main Commerce Building, 14th and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C.

The Numerically Controlled Machine Tool Technical Advisory Committee was initially established on January 3, 1973. On December 20, 1974 and January 13, 1977, the Assistant Secretary for Administration approved the recharter and extension of the Committee, pursuant to section 5(c)(1) of the Export Administration Act of 1969, as amended, 50 U.S.C. App. Sec. 2404(c)(1) and the Federal Advisory Committee Act.

The Committee advises the Office of Export Administration with respect to questions involving (A) technical matters, (B) worldwide availability and actual utilization of production technology, (C) licensing procedures which may affect the level of export controls applicable to numerically controlled machine tools, including technical data related thereto, and (D) exports of the aforementioned commodities and technical data subject to multilateral controls in which the United States participates including proposed revisions of any such multilateral controls.

The Committee meeting agenda has five parts:

GENERAL SESSION

- (1) Opening remarks by the Chairman.
- (2) Presentation of papers or comments by the public.

- (3) Discussion of industrial robot performance criteria.
 (4) Discussion of dimensional inspection machine performance criteria.

The General Session of the meeting is open to the public, at which a limited number of seats will be available. To the extent time permits members of the public may present oral statements to the Committee. Written statements may be submitted at any time before or after the meeting.

With respect to agenda item (5), the Acting Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Administration, with the concurrence of the delegate of the General Counsel, formally determined on January 27, 1977, pursuant to section 10(d) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, as amended by section 5(c) of the Government In The Sunshine Act, Pub. Such matters are specifically authorized under criteria established by an Executive Order to be kept secret in the interests of the national defense or foreign policy. All materials to be reviewed and discussed by the Committee during the Executive Session of the meeting have been properly classified under the Executive Order. [Docket No. S-593]

SUN TRANSPORT, INC.

Application

Notice is hereby given that Sun Transport, Inc., P.O. Box 280, Clayton, Del. 19703, has filed an application dated November 19, 1976, as amended, with the Maritime Subsidy Board (the Board), pursuant to Title VI of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (the Act), for an operating-differential subsidy contract, to expire December 31, 1978, unless extended, to operate the S/Ts America Sun, 80,735 deadweight tons (dwt), Pennsylvania Sun, 53,463 dwt and Texas Sun, 53,453 dwt, in the carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities in the foreign commerce of the United States (U.S.) from ports in the U.S. to ports in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.), or other permissible ports of discharge. Dry and liquid bulk cargoes may be carried from the U.S.S.R. and other foreign ports inbound to U.S. ports during voyages subsidized for carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities to the U.S.S.R., or other permissible ports of discharge.

Full details concerning the U.S.-U.S.S.R. export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities subsidy program including terms, conditions and restrictions upon both the subsidized operators and vessels, appear in Title 46 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Part 294.

For purposes of section 605(c) of the Act, it should be assumed that should the Board grant the requested approval, the vessels named above will engage in the described trade, on a full-time basis, during the indicated time period. Under such approval, each voyage must be approved for subsidy assistance prior to its commencement, and the Board will act on such request(s) as an administrative matter for which there is no requirement for further section 605(c) notice(s).

Any person having an interest in the granting of the application and who would contest a finding by the Board that the service now provided by vessels of U.S. registry for the carriage of cargoes previously specified is inadequate, must on or before February 13, 1978, notify the Board's Secretary, in writing, of his interest and of his position, and file a petition for leave to intervene in accordance with the Board's rules of Practice and Procedure (46 CFR Part 201). Each such statement of interest and petition to intervene shall state whether a hearing is requested under section 605(c) of the Act and, with as much specificity as possible, the facts that the intervenor would undertake to prove at such hearing.

In the event a hearing under section 605(c) of the Act is ordered to be held with respect to the subject application, the purpose of such hearing will be to receive evidence relevant to (1) whether the application herein described, with respect to the vessels to be operated in an essential service and served by citizens of the U.S., would be operated in addition to the existing service or services, and if so, whether the service already provided by the vessels of U.S. registry is inadequate, and (2) whether in the accomplishment of the purposes and policy of the Act additional vessels should be operated thereon.

If no request for hearing and petition for leave to intervene is received within the specified time, or if the Board determines that petitions for leave to intervene filed within the specified time do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Board will take such actions as may be deemed appropriate.

[Docket No. S-589, Sub.-1]

COVE TRADING INC.

Amended Notice

A Notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of January 23, 1978 (43 FR 3147) advising that Cove Trading Inc. requested certain written permissions pursuant to section 805(a) in connection with an application filed under the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, (the Act), for operating-differential subsidy (ODS) on the SS Cove Trader (formerly the Transeaster) with respect to bulk cargo carrying service in U.S. foreign trade, principally between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. The following request for section 805(a) written permission was inadvertently omitted from the Notice, namely,

For Cove Shipping Inc., an affiliate of Trading, to operate the SS's Mount Navigator, Mount Explorer, and Cove Communicator in the domestic trade.

It will be necessary to extend to Cove Tankers Corporation, a subsidized operator in the grain trade to Russia and an affiliate of Trading, the foregoing written permission requested by Trading.

Such written permission is required under section 805(a) notwithstanding the fact that a voyage of the Cove Trader in the proposed service for which subsidy is sought on which the vessel engaged in domestic intercoastal or coastwise trade would not be eligible for subsidy.

Any person, firm, or corporation having any interest (within the meaning of section 805(a)) in such application and desiring to be heard on issues pertinent to section 805(a) and desiring to submit comments or views concerning the application must, by close of business on February 8, 1978, file same with the Secretary, Maritime Administration, in writing, in triplicate, together with petition for leave to intervene which shall state clearly and concisely the grounds of interest, and the alleged facts relied on for relief.

If no petitions for leave to intervene are received within the specified time or if it is determined that petitions filed do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Maritime Administration will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

In the event petitions regarding the relevant section 805(a) issues are received from parties with standing to be heard, a hearing will be held, the purpose of which will be to receive evidence under section 805(a) relative to whether the proposed operation (a) could result in unfair competition to any person, firm, or corporation operating exclusively in the coastwise or intercoastal service, or (b) would be prejudicial to the objects and policy of the Act relative to domestic trade operations.

The applicant agency desires that the lands be withdrawn and reserved for continued use of the Beaver Creek radio relay site.

All persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management on or before February 27, 1978.

Pursuant to section 204(h) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, notice is hereby given that an opportunity for a public hearing is afforded in connection with the proposed withdrawal. All interested persons who desire to be heard on the proposed withdrawal must submit a written request for a hearing to the State Director, Bureau of Land Management, 555 Cordova Street, Anchorage, Alaska 99501, on or before February 27, 1978. Notice of the public hearing will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER giving the time and place of such hearing. The public hearing will be scheduled and conducted in accordance with BLM Manual, Sec. 2351.16 B.

The Department of the Interior's regulations provide that the authorized officer of the BLM will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demands for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of assuring that the area sought is the minimum essential to meet the applicant's needs, providing for the maximum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's, and reaching agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

The authorized officer will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn and reserved as requested by the applicant agency. The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The Secretary's determination shall, in a proper case, be subject to the provisions of section 204(c) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, 90 Stat. 2750. The above-described lands are temporarily segregated from the operation of the public land laws, including the mining and mineral leasing laws, to the extent that the withdrawal applied for, if and when effected, would prevent any form of disposal or appropriation under such laws. Current administrative jurisdiction over the segregated lands will not be affected by the temporary segregation. The segregative effect of this proposed withdrawal shall terminate on October 20, 1991, unless sooner terminated by action of the Secretary of the Interior.

All communications (except for public hearing requests) in connection with this proposed withdrawal should be addressed to the Chief, Branch of Lands and Minerals Operations, Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, 555 Cordova Street, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. 50-401, 50-402 and 50-403]

CAROLINA POWER & LIGHT CO.

Availability of Initial Decision of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board for the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant, Units 1, 2, 3 and 4 and Issuance of Construction Permits

Pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the United States Nuclear Regulatory Commission's regulations in § 51.52(b)(3) of 10 CFR Part 51, notice is hereby given that an Initial Decision dated January 23, 1978, by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board in the above captioned proceeding authorizing issuance of construction permits to the Carolina Power & Light Company for construction of the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant, Units 1, 2, 3, and 4 located about 20 miles southwest of Raleigh, N.C., in Wake and Chatham Counties, is available for inspection by the public in the Commission's Public Document Room at 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. and in the Wake County Library, 104 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N.C. 27601.

The Initial Decision is subject to review by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board prior to its becoming final. Any decision or action taken by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board in connection with the Initial Decision may be reviewed by the Commission.

The Initial Decision is also being made available at the Office of Intergovernmental Relations, 116 West Jones Street, Raleigh, N.C. 27603 and at the Triangle J. Council of Governments, P.O. Box 12276, Research Triangle Park, Durham, N.C. 27709.

Based upon the record developed in the public hearing in the above captioned matter, the Initial Decision modified in certain respects the contents of the Revised Final Environmental Statement relating to the construction of the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant, Units 1, 2, 3, and 4, prepared by the Commission's Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation. Pursuant ant to the provisions of § 51.52(b)(3) of 10 CFR Part 51, the Revised Final Environmental Statement is deemed modified to the extent that the findings and conclusions relating to environmental matters contained in the Initial Decision are different from those contained in the Revised Final Environmental Statement, dated March 1974. As required by § 51.52(b)(3) of 10 CFR Part 51, a copy of the Initial Decision, which modifies the Revised Final Environmental Statement, has been transmitted to the Council on Environmental Quality and distributed to the Environmental Protection Agency and other interested agencies and persons in accordance with § 51.26(c) of 10 CFR Part 51.

Pursuant to the above mentioned Initial Decision, the Commission has issued Construction Permits Nos. CPPR-158, CPPR-159, CPPR-160 and CPPR-161 to the Carolina Power & Light Company for construction of four (4) pressurized nuclear reactors, known as the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant, Units 1, 2, 3, and 4, each designed to operate at a core power level of 2775 megawatts thermal with a net electrical output of approximately 900 megawatts.

The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the construction permits. The application for the construction permits complies with the standards and requirements of the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations.

The Construction permits are effective as of their date of issuance. The earliest date for the completion of Unit 1 is June 1, 1983, the latest date for completion is June 1, 1984. The earliest date for the completion of Unit 2 is June 1, 1985, and the latest date for completion is June 1, 1986. The earliest date for the completion of Unit 3 is June 1, 1989, and the latest date for completion is June 1, 1990. The earliest date for the completion of Unit 4 is June 1, 1987, and the latest date for completion is June 1, 1988. Each permit shall expire on the latest date for completion of the facility.

In addition to the Initial Decision, copies of: (1) Construction Permit Nos. CPPR-158, CPPR-159, CPPR-160 and CPPR-161; (2) the report of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards dated August 19, 1977; (3) the Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation's Safety Evaluation Report, dated December 22, 1972, and its four (4) supplements, dated April 27, 1973, May 6, 1974, July 30, 1977, and September 20, 1977, respectively; (4) the Preliminary Safety Analysis Report and amendments thereto; (5) the applicant's Revised Environmental Report dated March 18, 1972 and supplements thereto; (6) the Draft Environmental Statement, dated November 1972; and (7) the Revised Final Environmental Statement, dated March 1974, are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room at 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. and at the Wake County Library, 104 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N.C. 27601. Copies of the Initial Decision and the Final Environmental Statement are also available for public inspection at the above clearinghouses in North Carolina.

Single copies of the Initial Decision by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, the construction permits, the Safety Evaluation Report and supplements thereto, and the Revised Final Environmental Statement may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Project Management.

CONNECTICUT CITIZEN ACTION GROUP, ET AL.

Denial of Petition for Rule Making With Regard To Stationing a Full-Time Federal Employee in the Reactor's Control Room

Louis J. Sirico, Jr., Esquire, filed with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission a petition for rulemaking dated January 21, 1977, on behalf of the Connecticut Citizen Action Group, the Public Interest Research Group, Free Environment, the Iowa Public Interest Research Group, Citizens United for Responsible Energy, Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Good News General Store Cooperative, Requesting the Commission to amend its regulations in 10 CFR Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities".

The petitioners requested the Commission to amend 10 CFR Part 50 to require that:

1. Nuclear reactors be located below ground level;
2. Nuclear reactors be housed in sealed buildings in which permanent heavy vacuums are maintained; and
3. A full-time Federal employee, with full authority to shut down the plant in case of any operational abnormality, always be present in a reactor's control room.

The petitioners stated that the requested amendments would conform to reactor safety proposals discussed in the recent presidential campaign and that, as an interim measure, the proposal set out in the petition would significantly increase the protection offered to the public.

A notice of filing of petition for rulemaking was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 10, 1977 (42 FR 13365). The comment period expired May 9, 1977. Nine interested parties have submitted comments regarding part 3 of the petition (full-time Federal employee in the control room). None supported the petition.

It was noted in the March 10, 1977, FEDERAL REGISTER notice that in November 1976, the Commission staff undertook an assessment of the feasibility of instituting a program of full-time inspection at operating reactors. It was also stated that this assessment which contains an analysis of various alternatives for inspecting operating reactors, including as one of the alternatives the placement of a full-time NRC employee in the control room of each nuclear powerplant, was expected to be completed by mid-1977. This study, which was broadened to also include the inspection program at reactor sites under construction and during the testing phase prior to commercial operation, has been completed. The study concluded that the current inspection program can be improved by increasing NRC inspector presence on site and by increasing capabilities to perform independent verification.

After consideration of the results of this study of alternative inspection programs and their associated costs and benefits, the Commission decided to alter its inspection program. Based on this Commission decision and on the OMB-approved budget, an NRC resident inspector will be assigned to each site where there is an operating reactor and at selected construction sites. The NRC Regional Office will provide periodic technical support. There will be increased capability for independent verification of licensee actions.

The Commission has decided to deny the portion of the petition for rulemaking concerning stationing a full-time Federal employee in the reactor's control room with full authority to shut down the plant in case of any operational abnormality on the grounds that the current inspection program, which will be improved by increasing onsite presence and by increasing capabilities to perform independent verification.

ification, adequately provides for fulfillment of NRC responsibilities with respect to audit and inspection of nuclear powerplants. The other portions of the petition are being handled separately.

A copy of the petition for rulemaking and copies of the letters of comment concerning the petition are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room at 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

DUQUESNE LIGHT CO. ET AL.

Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued Amendment No. 12 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-66, issued to Duquesne Light Co., Ohio Edison Co., and Pennsylvania Power Co. (the licensee), which revised Technical Specifications for operation of the Beaver Valley Power Station, Unit No. 1 (the facility) located in Beaver County, Pa. The amendment becomes effective as of its date of issuance.

The amendment revises the Technical Specifications to allow the use of improved Licensee Event Report and Monthly Operating Report formats, deletes the requirement for an Annual Operating Report, deletes the requirements concerning respiratory protection which are now stipulated in 10 CFR § 20.103, raises the reactor trip system interlock setpoint for the turbine impulse chamber pressure from 55 psia to 80 psia, and clarifies the intent of the Technical Specifications concerning the steam jet air ejector isolation valves to specify that these isolation valves may be opened during mode 4 of plant operation so that the containment air pressure is maintained subatmospheric during plant startups.

The applications for the amendment comply with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment. Prior public notice of this amendment was not required since the amendment does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the issuance of this amendment will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR § 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with issuance of this amendment.

DUKE POWER CO.

Granting of Relief From ASME Section XI Inservice Inspection (Testing) Requirements

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has granted relief from certain requirements of the ASME Code, Section XI, "Rules for Inservice Inspection of Nuclear Power Plant Components" to Duke Power Co. The relief relates to the inservice inspection (testing) program for the Oconee Nuclear Station, Units 1, located in Oconee County, S.C. The ASME Code requirements are incorporated by reference into the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Part 50. The relief is effective as of its date of issuance.

The relief is granted, on an interim basis, pending completion of our detailed review, from those inservice inspection and testing requirements of the ASME Code that the licensee has determined to be impractical within the limitations of design, geometry, and materials of construction of components, because compliance would result in hardships and unusual difficulties without a compensating increase in the level of quality or safety.

The request for relief complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the letter granting relief. Prior public notice of this action was not required since the granting of this relief from ASME Code requirements does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the granting of this relief will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR § 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with this action.

For further details with respect to this action, see: (1) the request for relief dated October 1, 1976, and (2) the Commission's letter to the licensee dated January 18, 1978.

These items are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., and at the Oconee County Library, 201 South Spring, Walhalla, S.C. 29691. [Docket No. 50-278]

PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC CO., ET AL.

Proposed Issuance of Amendments to Facility Operating Licenses

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of an amendment to facility operating license No. DPR-56 issued to Philadelphia Electric Co., Public Service Electric & Gas Co., Delmarva Power & Light Co., and Atlantic City Electric Co. (the licensees), for operation of the Peach Bottom atomic power station, unit No. 3, located in Peach Bottom, York County, Pa.

The amendment would revise the provisions in the technical specifications to permit operation of Peach Bottom Atomic Power Station Unit No. 3 with a new fuel type during cycle 3 and to include technical specifications associated with the operating limits for the new fuel. The proposed amendment would also revise the technical specifications based on the results of the ECCS reevaluation for Peach Bottom unit No. 3 using the approved 10 CFR 50 Appendix K models as required by our March 11, 1977, exemption published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 21, 1977 (42 FR 15379).

Prior to issuance of the proposed license amendment, the Commission will have made the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act) and the Commission's rules and regulations.

By March 6, 1978, the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of section 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER notice and section 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, and to Troy B. Conner, Jr., Esquire, 1747 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20666, the attorney for the licensees.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitions relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board, designated by the Commission or by the chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see the applications for amendment dated August 30 and December 19, 1977, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., and at the Government Publications Section, State Library of Pennsylvania, Education Building, Commonwealth and Walnut Streets, Harrisburg, Pa. 17126

[Docket No. 50-277]

PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC CO., ET AL.

Proposed Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of an amendment to facility operating license No. DPR-44, issued to Philadelphia Electric Co., Public Service Electric & Gas Co., Delmarva Power & Light Co., and Atlantic City Electric Co., (the licensee), for operation of the Peach Bottom atomic power station unit No. 2, located in York County, Pa.

The amendment would revise the provisions in the technical specifications relating to the maximum average planar linear heat generation rates (MAPLHGR) for the Peach Bottom unit No. 2 fuel. In response to the requirement of the order for modification of license and exemption granted to the licensee on March 11, 1977, the licensee has submitted on December 18, 1977, a reevaluation of the emergency core cooling system (ECCS) cooling performance. This reevaluation not only corrected the errors noted in the March 11, 1977, exemption but also included the effect of certain other recently approved changes in the ECCS evaluation models. If and when authorized, the amendment would permit a change, generally an increase, in authorized maximum average planar linear heat generation rate (MAPLHGR), and is the aspect of the amendment covered by this notice.

The Commission will act upon the amendments upon: (1) The completion of a safety evaluation by the Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation; and (2) completion of the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act) and the Commission's rules and regulations.

By March 6, 1978, the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license.

Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of §2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER notice and section 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, and to Troy B. Conner, Jr., Esquire, 1747 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20006, the attorney for the licensee.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon the Commission or licensing board, designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see the applications for amendment dated December 19, 1977, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., and at the Government Publications Section, State Library of Pennsylvania, Education Building, Commonwealth and Walnut Streets, Harrisburg, Pa. 17126.

REGULATORY GUIDE

Issuance and Availability

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has issued a guide in its regulatory guide series. This series has been developed to describe and make available to the public methods acceptable to the NRC staff of implementing specific parts of the Commission's regulations and, in some cases, to delineate techniques used by the staff in evaluating specific problems or postulated accidents and to provide guidance to applicants concerning certain of the information needed by the staff in its review of applications for permits and licenses.

Regulatory guide 1.72, revision 1, "Spray Pond Piping Made from Fiberglass-reinforced Thermosetting Resin," describes a method acceptable to the NRC staff for implementing certain requirements with regard to the design, fabrication, and testing of fiberglass-reinforced thermosetting resin piping for spray pond applications in light-water-cooled reactors. The original issuance of this guide endorsed ASME boiler and pressure vessel code section X, "Fiberglass Reinforced Plastic Pressure Vessels." This revision was developed to endorse instead ASME boiler and pressure vessel code section III code case N-155, "Fiberglass Reinforced Thermosetting Resin Pipe," and also to reflect additional staff review.

Comments and suggestions in connection with: (1) Items for inclusion in guides currently being developed, or (2) improvements in all published guides are encouraged at any time. Comments should be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch.

Regulatory guides are available for inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. Requests for single copies of issued guides (which may be reproduced) or for placement on an automatic distribution list for single copies of future guides in specific divisions should be made in writing to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Technical Information and Document Control. Telephone requests cannot be accommodated. Regulatory guides are not copyrighted, and Commission approval is not required to reproduce them.

(Docket No. 50-338)

Issuance of an Amendment to Facility Operating License

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the initial decision of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, dated December 13, 1977, as modified by the Board order dated January 13, 1978, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued amendment No. 1 to facility operating license No. NPF-4 to the Virginia Electric & Power Co. authorizing operation of the North Anna power station, unit No. 1 in a hot standby condition, in accordance with the provisions of the amended license and the technical specifications. The amended license is effective as of its date of issuance and shall expire on six months from said date, unless extended for good cause shown, or upon earlier issuance or denial of a subsequent licensing action. NPF-4 issued on November 26, 1977, authorized fuel loading and maintenance of the North Anna power station, unit No. 1 in an operational mode 5 condition (cold shutdown condition). The technical specifications were attached to the license as Appendix A—Radiological Technical Specifications, and Appendix B—Environmental Technical Specifications. The North Anna power station, unit No. 1, is a pressurized water nuclear reactor located at the licensee's site near Mineral in Louisa County, Va.

The initial decision as modified by the Board's order will be subject to review by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board prior to its becoming final. Any decision or action taken by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board in connection with the initial decision as modified by the Board's order may be reviewed by the Commission.

The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the amended license. The application for the license complies with the standards and requirements of the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations.

The Commission has determined that the issuance of this amendment will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR Section 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement, or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with issuance of this amendment.

For further details with respect to this action see a copy of: (1) the initial decision, dated December 13, 1977, as modified by the Board's order dated January 13, 1978; (2) amendment No. 1 to NPF-4 with page changes to Appendix A—Radiological technical Specifications, and Appendix B—Environmental Technical Specifications; (3) facility operating license No. NPF-4, complete with technical specifications (Appendices A and B); (4) the report of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, dated January 17, 1977; (5) the Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation's safety evaluation report dated June 4, 1976 and its eight supplements; (6) the final safety analysis report and amendments thereto; (7) the applicant's environmental report dated June 17, 1970, and supplements thereto; (8) the draft environmental statement dated December 12, 1972; and (9) the final environmental statement dated April 1973 and its addendum, dated November 1976. These documents are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room at 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20555, at the County Administrator's Office, Louisa County Courthouse, P.O. Box 27, Louisa, Va. 23093, and at the Alderman Library Manuscripts Department, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va. 22901. A copy of the amended license may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Project Management.

Copies of the safety evaluation and its supplements (Docket No. NUREG-0053) and the addendum to the final environmental statement (Document No. NUREG-0134) may be purchased, at current costs, from the National Technical Information Service, Springfield, Va. 22161.

Please take notice that Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa.,

has submitted to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission an application for a license to authorize the export of a pressurized water reactor with a thermal power level of 3,002 megawatts to Spain and that the issuance of this license is under consideration by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

No license authorizing the proposed reactor export will be issued until the Nuclear Regulatory Commission determines that the export is within the scope of and consistent with the terms of an applicable agreement for cooperation arranged pursuant to Section 123 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (Act), nor until the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has found that:

(a) The application complies with the requirements of the Act and the Commission's regulations set forth in 10 CFR, Chapter I, and

(b) The reactor proposed to be exported is a utilization facility as defined in the Act and the Commission's regulations.

Unless on or before March 6, 1978, a request for a hearing is filed with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission by the applicant, or a petition for leave to intervene is filed by any person whose interest may be affected by the proceeding, the Director of the Office of International Programs may, upon the determinations and findings noted above, cause to be issued to Westinghouse Electric Corp. a facility export license and may cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice of issuance of the license. WISCONSIN PUBLIC SERVICE CORP., ET AL.

Granting of Relief From ASME Section XI Inservice Inspection (Testing) Requirements

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has granted relief from certain requirements of the ASME Code, Section XI, "Rules for Inservice Inspection of Nuclear Power Plant Components" to Wisconsin Public Service Corp. (the licensee). The relief relates to the inservice inspection (testing) program for the Kewaunee Nuclear Power Plant (the facility) located in Kewaunee County, Wis. The ASME Code requirements are incorporated by reference into the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Part 50. The relief is effective as of its date of issuance.

The relief is granted on an interim basis, pending completion of our detailed review from those inservice inspection and testing requirements of the ASME Code that the licensee has determined to be impractical within the limitations of design, geometry, and materials of construction of components, because compliance would result in hardships or unusual difficulties without a compensating increase in the level of quality or safety.

The request for relief complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the letter granting relief. Prior public notice of this action was not required since the granting of this relief from ASME Code requirements does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the granting of this relief will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR § 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with this action.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the request for relief dated July 18, 1977, and (2) the Commission's letter to the licensee dated January 18, 1978.

These items are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. and at the Kewaunee Public Library, 314 Milwaukee Street, Kewaunee, Wis. 54216. A copy of item (2) may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Operating Reactors.

NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION SAFETY BOARD

(N-AR 78-5)

ACCIDENT REPORT; SAFETY RECOMMENDATION RESPONSES

Availability and Receipt

Railroad/Highway Accident Report.—The National Transportation Safety Board announces that copies of its investigation report, No. NTSB-RHR-77-2, on the July 1, 1976, accident at Des Moines, Iowa, are now available. The accident occurred when a Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. train collided with an automobile at Des Moines East 56th Street grade crossing. The car was struck broadside; the driver and her four children were killed instantly.

In determining the probable cause of this accident, the Safety Board recognizes that the automobile driver failed to stop short of the railroad track in response to the flashing signal lights and to determine if it was safe to cross the track—an often repeated failure of motorists at grade crossings. As a result of its investigation of this accident, the Safety Board on November 16 issued seven recommendations, Nos. H-77-25 through 31, to the National Safety Council, the Association of American Railroads, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the Federal Highway Administration, the Federal Railroad Administration, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co., respectively. (See 42 FR 60237, November 25, 1977.)

Recommendation H-77-25 to the National Safety Council asked the council to serve as a national focal point and coordinator for the total development, implementation, and evaluation of a nationwide "Operation Lifesaver" railroad/highway grade crossing safety program, this program to be undertaken with the full support and cooperation of all interested groups and agencies, especially those to whom the other recommendations were addressed, and the States.

The President of the National Safety Council on January 3 assured the Safety Board that it would accept the assignment as the umbrella organization for the development, implementation, and evaluation of a standard railroad-highway grade crossing education program, adding "... a concentrated effort to make the motoring public aware of this hazard is needed."

RESPONSES TO SAFETY RECOMMENDATIONS

Aviation: A-77-68.—Letter of January 11 from the Federal Aviation Administration concerns one of several recommendations issued by the Safety Board as a result of its investigation of the Southern Airways DC-9-31 accident at New Hope, Ga., April 4, 1977. The recommendation asked that FAA formulate rules and procedures for the timely dissemination by air traffic controllers of all available severe weather information to inbound and outbound flight crews in the terminal area. (42 FR 57577, November 3, 1977.)

FAA reports that in June it began work on a study to achieve a more effective method of collecting and disseminating weather information throughout the air traffic control system; a draft report, "Aviation Weather System Program Plan," is now being evaluated.

This document prepared by the Aviation Weather System Planning Team presents FAA plans for developing and implementing improvements to its current capability for providing hazardous and routine weather information to pilots and controllers. Hazardous weather is defined therein as weather conditions that pose an unacceptable threat to the flight of aircraft, FAA said.

The plan includes actions to review and modify existing procedures and the qualification of personnel responsible for analyzing and disseminating weather. As a result of this plan, an FAA task group is working on a program aimed specifically at disseminating weather data in terminal locations. The final plan for terminal severe weather advisories will include a means of delivery which would not derogate the controllers' primary responsibility, the separation of aircraft.

Highway: H-77-7 and 8.—Letter of January 13 from the National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior, responds to recommendations issued last August 11 concerning stone retaining walls of the George Washington Memorial Parkway. (42 FR 41679, August 18, 1977.)

The National Park Service reports that it has met with Federal Highway Administration officials and will develop, in consultation with FHWA, a number of roadside barrier designs suitable for park roads and parkways use. When designs are prepared which are esthetically pleasing, FHWA will be asked to crash test the designs and advise as to sufficiency from a safety standpoint. The new roadside barrier design(s) will then be specified for use when new roads are constructed, when existing inadequate barriers are replaced, or when new barriers are installed as a result of road inventories and safety studies.

The National Park Service further reports that arrangements are being made for FHWA's Region 15 Office to study safety improvements along certain sections of the George Washington Memorial Parkway immediately.

NOTE.—The above notice consists of summaries of Safety Board documents made available, and recommendation responses received, during the week preceding publication of the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The accident report in its entirety is available to the general public; single copies are obtainable without charge while limited supplies last. Copies of the full text of the response letters and Board correspondence may be obtained at a cost of $4 for service and 10 cents per page for reproduction. All requests must be in writing, identified by recommendation number and date of publication of this notice.

Multiple copies of the accident report may be purchased by writing to: National Technical Information Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, Springfield, Va. 22151.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 10105; 812-4106]

ARCS EQUITIES CORP.

Application for Order of Temporary Exemption

JANUARY 27, 1978.

Notice is hereby given that Arcs Equities Corp. ("applicant"), 850 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022, a New York corporation, has applied pursuant to sections 6(c) and 6(e) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") for an order of the Commission temporarily exempting it from section 7 and certain other provisions of the Act. Applicant, in requesting such temporary exemption, has agreed that applicant and other persons in their transactions and relations with it shall be subject to all provisions of the Act and the respective rules and regulations promulgated under each of such provisions as though applicant were a registered investment company, other than section 7 and the following: Section 8, subsection (a) of section 10; subsection (a)(4) of section 13; subsections (a), (f), (g) and (h) of section 17; section 18; section 23; section 30 (except subsection (f) thereof); section 31; and section 32 and the rules and regulations thereunder. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of applicant's representations, which are summarized below.

This request has been made as an amendment to an application filed by applicant and Federated Capital Management Associates, Inc. ("Federated") pursuant to sections 3(b)(2) and 6(c) of the Act for an Order of the Commission declaring that they are not investment companies or, in the alternative, declaring that they are exempt from all provisions of the Act. Federated, a Delaware corporation, merged with applicant in January 1978. Section 3(b)(2) of the Act provides that the filing of an application thereunder shall exempt the applicant for a period of 60 days from all provisions of the Act applicable to investment companies as such. The 60-day period of exemption provided in section 3(b)(2) expired on May 13, 1977. Applicant, which is not registered as an investment company under the Act, has asked that it be exempted, as requested, from May 13, 1977, until June 30, 1978, unless the Commission acts upon the application under section 3(b)(2) of the Act in the interim.

Applicant states that prior to the merger, Federated had been a wholly-owned subsidiary of applicant except for eight qualifying shares held by officers and directors of Federated. Applicant, through Federated, owned 748,643 shares of Common Stock of Bates Manufacturing Co., Inc. ("Bates"), which shares were acquired by the conversion of a Bates Debenture in October, 1974, into an aggregate of 592,592 shares of Bates Common Stock and by subsequent cash purchases. Bates, a Delaware corporation, is engaged through wholly-owned subsidiaries in the business of owning and leasing coal properties and in the processing and texturing of yarns for fabrics. As the result of the merger between applicant and Federated, applicant succeeded by operation of law to Federated's assets and business which consisted of cash and money market securities (approximately $300,000) and the 748,643 shares of Bates Common Stock. The shares of Bates Common Stock, which amount to approximately 37 percent of the issued and outstanding shares of Bates, are pledged with Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. ("Bank"), as security on a loan.

Applicant states that 85.4 percent of the issued and outstanding shares of its common stock are owned by four stockholder groups ("Control Group"). The remaining 14.6 percent of applicant's shares are widely held by approximately 500 shareholders. The Control Group also owns an aggregate of 235,200 shares of Bates Common Stock which represents 11.6 percent of the issued and outstanding Bates shares.

Section 3(a)(3) of the Act defines an investment company as any issuer which is engaged, or proposes to engage, in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities, and owns or proposes to acquire investment securities having a value exceeding 40 per centum of the value of such issuer's total assets (exclusive of Government securities and cash items) on an unconsolidated basis.

Applicant states that if the shares of Bates Common Stock are considered to be investment securities (as that term is defined in section 3(a)(3) of the Act) it may be deemed an investment company within the definition set forth in section 3(a)(3) of the Act.

Section 3(b)(2) of the Act excepts from the definition of an investment company in section 3(a)(3) of the Act any issuer which the Commission finds and by order declares to be primarily engaged in a business or businesses other than that of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities, either directly or (a) through majority-owned subsidiaries or (b) through controlled companies conducting similar types of businesses. Applicant submits that through its working control of Bates it is primarily engaged in the businesses conducted by Bates. Accordingly, applicant believes that it is entitled to an order of exemption pursuant to Section 3(b)(2) of the Act or, alternatively, pursuant to Section 6(c) of the Act.

Applicant states that since filing the application neither it nor Federated has entered into any transaction which would be prohibited under the Act.

On January 25, 1978, the Commission filed in the United States District Court of the District of Columbia a complaint in an action entitled Securities and Exchange Commission v. Bates Manufacturing Company, Inc. Applicant was also named as a defendant in that complaint. The Commission's complaint for injunctive and other equitable relief seeks, among other things, to enjoin applicant from certain alleged violations of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act"), as amended, including sections 10(b), 13(a), 13(d), 14(a) and 14(e) thereof, and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. The alleged violations arose from (1) a previous tender offer made by applicant for its own shares of common stock and (2) reports and other documents filed by applicant under the Exchange Act relating to the securities of applicant and Bates. Simultaneous with the filing of the Commission's complaint, without admitting or denying the substantive allegations contained in the complaint of the Commission, applicant agreed to the entry against it of a final judgment of permanent injunction and other equitable relief ("Final Judgment") purportedly in order to avoid active litigation with the Commission which would involve substantial inconvenience and expense.

Applicant's Consent and Undertaking ("Consent"), which is incorporated in the Final Judgment, provides that within thirty (30) days after entry of the Final Judgment applicant shall appoint two additional new independent Directors and establish an audit committee of the Board of Directors of applicant composed of such new independent Directors. Both the audit committee and the Board of Directors shall exist as constituted for at least five (5) years or until such time as applicant shall dispose of all or substantially all of its assets, liquidate or otherwise cease to exist. The audit committee, in addition to such other responsibilities as it may be assigned by the applicant's Board of Directors, shall have the responsibility, among other things, to review as to fairness to applicant and applicant's stockholders, and to recommend to the applicant's Board of Directors the approval or disapproval of the proposed sales or purchases of applicant's securities by applicant, the proposed transactions between applicant and Bates and any proposed transactions whereby applicant will be liquidated, dispose of all or substantially all of its assets or otherwise cease to exist.

As part of its Consent, applicant has granted to Bates on option to acquire one hundred thirty-five thousand (135,000) shares of Bates Common Stock from applicant at a price of thirty-one dollars ($31.00) per share. The option is exercisable for eighty-five (85) days from the date of entry of the Final Judgment, or until such time as an Order is entered by the Commission temporarily exempting applicant from registration under the Act, whichever is later. The aforementioned option and option price were arrived at after lengthy negotiations with the Commission staff taking into account several factors such as (1) the relationship between Applicant and Bates and their respective activities and those of their controlling stockholders in effecting purchases of applicant's and Bates' securities; (2) the historical market price for shares of applicant's and Bates Common Stock; (3) all of the relevant facts and circumstances reviewed in connection with the investigation, including the fact that litigation with the Commission would involve substantial cost and expense to applicant and the fact that Adolf Marcus (a former Director of applicant) and Alexander Goren, both controlling stockholders of Applicant and individual parties to the investigation as well as named defendants in the Commission action, as part of their respective Consents, each have granted Bates an option, exercisable for eighty-five (85) days from the date of entry of their respective Final Judgment, or until such time as an Order is entered by the Commission temporarily exempting applicant from registration under the Act, whichever is later, to acquire 134,600 shares and 99,600 shares, respectively, of Bates Common Stock from Messrs. Marcus and Goren at a price of thirty-one dollars ($31.00) per share. The option price is deemed by all of the parties to be in the best interests of applicant and its shareholders.

In the event Bates does not exercise the above mentioned option granted by applicant to Bates, applicant proposes to dispose of such number of the Bates shares covered by such option required to repay the indebtedness of applicant to the Bank and to meet applicant's other obligations on such terms as the Board of Directors of applicant shall deem appropriate and in the best interests of applicant and its stockholders. In the event of the liquidation of applicant, it is anticipated that the remaining shares of Bates Common Stock owned by applicant will be distributed to its stockholders on a pro rata basis.

Section 17(a) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that it is unlawful for any affiliated person of a registered investment company, or an affiliated person of such a person, acting as principal, knowingly to purchase any security or other property from such registered company. Section 17(b) of the Act provides, however, that the Commission, upon application, shall exempt a transaction from such prohibition if evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned, and that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned and with the general purposes of the Act.

Applicant states that if applicant were deemed an investment company subject to registration under the Act, the option transaction with Bates would be an affiliated transaction subject to the provisions of section 17(a) of the Act. Applicant therefore requests an order of the Commission, pursuant to section 17(b) of the Act, exempting the option transaction from Section 17(a) of the Act in order that such transaction and the Consent may be effected.

Applicant states that it will complete the formulation of a Plan of Complete Liquidation and Dissolution, ("Plan"), cause the audit committee and applicant's Board of Directors to review and consider the Plan and effect the submission of the Plan to stockholders. Applicant's present Board of Directors believes that the liquidation of the assets of applicant and its dissolution pursuant to the Plan is the only proper course of action in furtherance of the interest of applicant and its stockholders. The audit committee will review the fairness of the Plan. Applicant represents that although the new independent Directors have not yet been designated, it appears likely that they would confirm the action of the present Board of Directors in that the liquidation of applicant would appear to be the only proper course of action under existing circumstances. In the event the liquidation of applicant is completed by June 30, 1978, or earlier, applicant will withdraw its application under sections 3(b)(2) and 6(c) of the Act. Applicant represents that the temporary exemption from the provisions of section 7 of the Act is sought on the condition that the Plan is consummated by June 30, 1978.

Section 6(c) provide that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person from any provision or provisions of the Act, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Section 6(e) provides that, if, in connection with any order under section 6 exempting any investment company from section 7, the Commission deems it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors that certain specified provisions of the Act pertaining to registered investment companies shall be applicable in respect to such company, the provisions so specified shall apply to such company, and to other persons in their transactions and relations with such company, a though such company were a registered investment company.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 21, 1978, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

CHICAGO BOARD OPTIONS EXCHANGE, INC.
AND PACIFIC STOCK EXCHANGE INC.

Order Extending Time Period Within Which the Commission Is Required To Act on Proposed Rule Changes

JANUARY 26, 1978.

In the matter of Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc., La Salle at Jackson, Chicago, Ill. 60604, Pacific Stock Exchange Inc., 301 Pine Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94104, File Nos. SR-CBOE-77-28, SR-PSE-77-36.

The Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc. ("CBOE") and Pacific Stock Exchange Inc. ("PSE") have filed, pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), 15 U.S.C. 78(s)(b)(1), and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, 17 CFR 240.19b-4 the following rule proposals:

(1) SR-CBOE-77-28.
The proposed amendment to Rule 5.5 of the CBOE rules would provide for a closing rotation on the Exchange on the last day of trading in expiring options series commencing at 2 p.m. (c.s.t.) (3 p.m., e.s.t.).

SR-CBOE-77-28 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 42 FR 63976, on December 12, 1977.

(2) SR-PSE-77-36.
The proposed amendment to Rule VI, Section 4(b) of the PSE rules would provide for a closing rotation on the Exchange on the last day of trading in expiring options series commencing at 12 p.m. (p.s.t.) (3 p.m., e.s.t.).

SR-PSE-77-36 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 42 FR 63983, on December 12, 1977.

As a result of its preliminary review of the CBOE and PSE Rule proposals, the Commission believes additional time is needed to evaluate the data supplied to it by the Exchanges and believes that the proposals raise a number of substantial questions which require further consideration before any determination is made to approve the rule proposals or to institute proceedings, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, to determine whether they should be disapproved.

Accordingly, the Commission, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, hereby extends to March 20, 1978 the time period within which the Commission must take action on the above-referenced proposed rule changes. The Commission is also extending the time period for comments on the proposed rule changes, and invites written submissions from all interested persons. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549 by March 1, 1978.

By the Commission.

MOTOR CARRIER, WATER CARRIER, AND FREIGHT FORWARDER OPERATING RIGHTS APPLICATIONS

NOTICE

JANUARY 25, 1978.

The following applications are governed by Special Rule 247 of the Commission's General Rules of Practice (49 CFR §1100.247). These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after the date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure to seasonably file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with Section 247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of section 247(d)(4) of the special rules, and shall include the certification required therein.

Section 247(f) further provides, in part, that an applicant who does not intend timely to prosecute its application shall promptly request dismissal thereof, and that failure to prosecute an application under procedures ordered by the Commission will result in dismissal of the application.

Further processing steps will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record. Broadening amendments will not be accepted after the date of this publication except for good cause shown, and restrictive amendments will not be entertained following publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a notice that the proceeding has been assigned for oral hearing.

Each applicant states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.
